Mr. Bellinger had served as first ward alderman for several terms and did not seek re-election when his term of office expired last spring.

Weathervane To Be Managed By Charcoal Pit

To judge from the reservations already made by Charlevoix, Petoskey and Harbor Springs residents, the opening today of the Weathervane Inn restaurant will be a gala event.

The picturesque dining room, on Pine River at Charlevoix's Memorial bridge, is this year under the management of the Charcoal Pit, whose Fort Lauderdale, Fla., restaurant is a favorite among West Michigan vacationers at that resort.

Both the bar and restaurant at the Weathervane will be open daily from noon until 2 a.m. serving buffet lunch and dinner. Anthony Fertitta, owner of the Charcoal Pit in Fort Lauderdale and Woodmere, Long Island, is personally supervising the Weathervane operation to make sure that the service and cuisine are of the same high standard as in the Charcoal Pit's other locations. Midwest Travel Editors Visit City During Tour

With Chester Wells, secretary-manager, and Aurey Strohpaal, publicity director of the West Michigan Resort and Tourist Association as their hosts, 17 midwest travel editors visited Charlevoix last Wednesday while on a trip through western Michigan's vacationland.

Arriving here at 8:30 p.m., the visitors were guests at a roast beef dinner at the Nautical. S. E. Coleman, secretary of the Charlevoix board of commerce and members of the association and city officials greeted the travelers and had dinner with them.

Mr. Strohpaal introduced the travel editors and Mr. Wells expressed the gratitude of the group for the hospitality shown them. Mr. Coleman, after welcoming the group, introduced the local city and board of commerce officials present.

After a tour of the community, the travelers continued their trip to Petoskey and Roaring Brook where they spent the night.

After a trip through Emmet county which included a visit to the site of the Mackinac Straits bridge, the travel editors spent Thursday afternoon and evening in Boyne City and Friday morning in East Jordan before returning to Grand Rapids.

Courier Guide For 1955 Starts With This Issue

This issue of the Charlevoix Courier marks the first edition for the '55 resort season of the Courier Guide. The Guide has been compiled as a souvenir shopping, dining and entertainment directory for the convenience of our regular subscribers, summer residents and visitors in the area. Every week additional features of interest will be found throughout the supplement. We are proud that Charlevoix and the surrounding area has so much to offer vacationists . . . and we are equally proud to present it all to you through the pages of the Courier Guide.

Distribution of extra editions of the Charlevoix Courier and resort supplement is made possible through the Charlevoix Board of Commerce.

The repair of yacht slips in the local harbor was discussed and it was decided to advertise for bids on the work which includes the installation of eight new pilings and the repair of the ends of two docks. Bids will be accepted until July 11.

Bids for group life insurance for city employees will be accepted at the same time. At the present time the city does not carry group life insurance on employees. Bids must be in by 8 p.m. July 11.

Parking on the lower drive at the Lake Michigan beach near the bath house was discussed. It was decided to restrict parking along the drive between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. Signs will be posted in the area in the near future.

The appointment of William Barber as parking meter policeman and Charles Rinehart as special officer at the Belvedere club were approved.

Summer business licenses were discussed at length and the issue referred to committee.

Another problem brought up for discussion was that of a charge on water used for sprinkling purposes. This was referred to the utilities committee.

Leonard Burns, recreational director, appeared before the council to discuss additional recreational facilities. Since all required additional financing, no decision was reached regarding the suggestions.

The Charlevoix Coal and Ice Co. bid of $13.65 per ton for a carload of coal for the city hall was accepted. It was the only bid received.

The council also approved the license of the bath house at the municipal beach to Mrs. Edward Heise Sr.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

COULDN'T believe our ears Sunday when we heard the Christmas carol, "Silent Night" on the radio. Still don't know what it was all about but all of a sudden we realized one thing... that Christmas carols are beautiful, no matter what the time of year...

Or perhaps it was played as a reminder to those people who like to do their Christmas shopping early... for the great holiday is only six months from last Saturday...

But before that holiday rolls around we have quite a few in between... The first on the list is July 4... To many it will mean a long weekend... one of the few of the summer season... for to many it has lost its real significance...

I KNOW I'll be dating myself when I say this but when I was a kid the Fourth of July was a real holiday... It started off with a parade with the band playing, all sorts of entertainment in the park, climaxed by a street dance in the evening and the most spectacular display of fireworks seen anywhere... Long ago before Charlevoix Oil was built, there was an amphitheatre on the site... created through the years with the removal of gravel from the side of the pit... In the middle of this there'd be a boxing ring and people would come from miles around to sit in the hot sun and watch the boxers batter each other to pulp... There was popcorn and peanuts and the most wonderful display of imported fruits, black cherries, peaches, plums the likes of which you never see anymore, and others that were simply fabulous...

under a net in front of Fred Myers store near the bridge... And the big lake steamers would be coming in from Chicago and points in between loaded to almost overflowing with summer visitors... Trunks almost sky-high would line the Wilbur's dock...

AND THE trains in those days were unbelievable... Resort specials from both Chicago and Detroit... And over the July Fourth weekend there'd be double-deckers so long we'd count the cars... and try to pronounce the names on the side...

The July Fourth weekend would also mark the first appearance of the old Inn orchestra on the pier for a Sunday afternoon concert... And remember the Stutz cars that would arrive with a roar and a cloud of dust and everyone would admire them and bet how fast they'd go...

BUT THAT was long ago and far away... Nothing but a memory but a nice memory that I like to take out and think about now and then... We're living in a sophisticated world today where it's beneath one's dignity to get excited about fireworks and an ice cream cone and other little things that once meant so much... But me? I guess I forgot to grow up for I still get a thrill out of just remembering... We'd like to register a request right now regarding traffic this weekend... Be careful... And if you're not you won't be going anywhere anyway so it won't matter...

THE SOFTBALL season got underway in great style Thursday night. Dean Davenport's doing a grand job in helping to organize teams and create interest in the program... So why not stop by and take a look-see at the games... They're on every night Monday through Friday...

EVERYONE'S still talking about the trip to Beaver Island last week... There were some 75 local residents who made the trip as guests of the Beaver Island Civic Association... Southern hospitality had nothing on that offered by the northern Lake Michigan island... Joe Howard who's been at the municipal dock for years and years made his first trip to the island after handling island business over here for more years than he cares to mention... No one could have been given a finer welcome as were Joey and his Rose... Capt. Mark Cross had plenty of assistance on the trip from both Joey, Commodore to you, Howard and Bill Bellingier, another old sailor... Everyone's planning a return trip so it must have been grand...

WE MENTIONED last week the bass fishing expedition to Hog Island by a party aboard Jake White's tug, the Gypsy... What we didn't hear about until later was the unplanned swimming party... Seems Carl Kohler and Don Meggison were fishing from a small boat and, when the fish didn't nibble according to schedule, they decided to move... Carl started to pull up the anchor but that's the last anyone saw of the pair until they were climbing back into the boat... "The water is cold in Lake Michigan at this time of the year" is the only remark heard from the two-some.

IT'S THE same old story every year and we don't know what the answer to the problem is... Self-respecting people who take the best of care of their own belongings who will go out and deliberately destroy other people's property... What can you do about it? We haven't the vaguest idea for if we knew we'd surely pass it along...

The city, for instance, goes to a great deal of expense and hard work to make Charlevoix attractive as well as comfortable... park benches are placed along the street for everyone to enjoy... but there's always a few wise guys in the crowd who have to move them elsewhere, toss them in the lake or damage them...

People spend time beautifying their buildings and yards so Charlevoix will be more beautiful... About that time someone pulls the blossoms off the flowers, tosses something at the house or makes a path across the lawn you'd nursed along all spring...

Someone's going to come up with the explanation... "It's the kids who do it"... It's not the kids... maybe a few who are following the example set by their elders but on the whole it's the adults... people who should know better... It's about time

Births recorded at the Charlevoix Hospital recently include:

A daughter, Jeryl Anne, born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Carey June 20.
A son, Calvin Ray, born to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bratt of Ellsworth June 21.
A son, Jack Bryan, born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Niswander June 23.
A son, Marty Ray, born to Mr. and Mrs. Mercer H. Carey of East Jordan June 23.

A daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Mason June 26.
A son born to Dr. and Mrs. David Pray of East Jordan June 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Don R. Gill of Grand Rapids are the parents of a daughter, Cynthia Marie, born June 25 at St. Mary's hospital in Grand Rapids. Mrs. Gill is the former Lois McMullen.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Danbert announce the birth of a son at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey June 25.

that people learned to have a little respect for other people's property whether it's flowers, lawns, fences and what-have-you... So how about it?

BEST OF Wishes this week to our Queen Joyce who will go to Traverse City tonight to participate in the Cherry Queen contest... We know that she's every inch a queen... she's lovely, gracious, intelligent and cute as a button... but competition will be tough... and perhaps this year the judges won't favor brunettes... But we know she has all the requisites and that's what counts... On hand to offer congratulations to her successor will be Gail Krahmke of Charlevoix, the 1954 Cherry Queen... And wouldn't it be pretty wonderful if she could pass her crown and royal robes along to Joyce... We'll be hopin' right to the final choice.

On hand to give their moral support Thursday will be the croons, local pantomime quartet who last week won the amateur talent show at Traverse City... There's Terry Davis, Quint Walker, Joe Etienne and Kit Carson who make like a cage of monkeys with their antics and have 'em rollin' in the aisles... They'll be in the show that precedes the selection of a Queen...

They're here. Come and see the splendid line of Spring and Summer samples of the Made-to-your individual measurements. Suit or Top Coat. Ladies or Gents.

When the Droughts Come

The heart-like tracks are more plentiful by the brook, now that summer's heat is at its highest. Among the rocks and roots, the ferns and grasses that bind the brook's banks to keep them from unraveling, we find an intermingling of prints big and small. In the winter some are there. In spring and fall they are plentiful. But upon a summer's morning the brookside near certain favorite deer haunts is carpeted with a dense all-over pattern of white tail tracks.

In the deep dark of the night, while the forest leaves whisper in their sleep, matronly does creep from cedar thickets, with dappled fawns mincing along behind, and drink long and deeply of the frosty, tasty brook waters. They drink from a deep inner longing to quench the fiery thirst of millions of deer tissues that urgently call for moisture. For most of the year deer have no such thirst and drink but occasionally. The succulent herbaceous plants and the moist weeds and grasses upon which they forage in the spring provide needed moisture. Fall rains and long-lasting dews wetting the whitetails' favorite foods make much drinking unnecessary in the autumn. Less water is lost from the deer through perspiration and evaporation in the cold of winter, and some moisture is ingested when particles of snow are eaten along with winter foods. But the whitetails' summer foods are the often as dry as shredded wheat biscuit, and the loss of moisture in their bodies is appalling. When summer droughts come, deer drink the most. They must, or perish. When life is driest, we need to use the simple wisdom of the deer. We are often tempted to do otherwise. When testings come, disappointments assail us, or a withering crisis, like a summer's sizzling sun, glares down upon us, we withdraw the farthest from life's refreshing streams. We worry more, we fret more. We retreat from people and mope in seclusion. The measures we take, far from bracing and renewing our strength exhaust and weaken us.

When the droughts come and we are dried out and athirst, we need best, like the deer, steal away to sources of refreshment. Worship will help, because it fixes our minds upon enduring values, the imperishables, the eternal things and the Eternal One. Besides these our low moods seem almost insignificant.

Fellowship with good people will help, too. As the merging of two brooks will make a stream larger than either of them, the confluence of two good minds will make for a strength greater than one can have alone.

Help someone else. It is easier to carry two pieces of heavy luggage, one in each hand, than it is to carry only one big piece. Two pieces balance each other. One makes you lopsided, and tires you rapidly. So another burden, added to your own, will rest you, refresh you. Try it and see.

When the droughts come, instead of exhausting yourself with fretfulness and worry, seek streams of strength and renewal.

Remodeled Mont's Restaurant Will Open Next Week

Mont's restaurant, located at 317 Bridge st., is expected to open early next week following the completion of an extensive remodeling project which has resulted in a new plate glass and Onaway stone front across the building.

The new window will give diners an unobstructed view of East Park and the yacht basin. A new aluminum and glass door to the right of the new front will serve as the new entrance into the restaurant.

New siding and a picture window have been added to the front of the second floor of the building.

Mrs. Mont Withers, who operates the popular eating place, said Wednesday that it was hoped the work which has been underway for several weeks would be completed by this weekend. In any event, she added, the restaurant would be opened some time next week.

This will mark the thirty-fifth season for Mont's restaurant.

Weathervane Under New Management

He and his wife, Sally, have rented a home here for the summer on Park Ave.

Presiding over the charcoal broiler epicurean treats will be chef Andre Lunec, who arrived this week from Fort Lauderdale's Charcoal Pit. Before taking his culinary skills to that city, Andre was with the famous Samovar dinner club in Montreal, Quebec for many years and then operated and cooked for the fashionable Mayfair Country Club dining room there.

As in Fort Lauderdale, the broiled meats and chickens served at the Weathervane will be put over the coals on open grills in the dining room, against the appropriate background of the Weathervane's huge fireplace.

Mr. Fertitta has brought with him some of the top waiters from the Charcoal Pit restaurants in the East. All of them are deft at concocting the flaming desserts that have helped make the Charcoal Pit a name among gourmets. Heading the staff is maitre d' hotel Jimmy Kearn, who owned a restaurant in Southampton, England, before coming to this country from his native Great Britain. Jimmy's decision to become an American stemmed from his visits here when he served as dining salon captain on board luxury ships of the Canadian Pacific and Cunard White Star lines. He has been with the Fort Lauderdale Charcoal Pit since its opening two years ago.

An ardent admirer of this area, Mr. Fertitta says, "All of us at the Weathervane will devote our days and evenings to providing within the restaurant an atmosphere and quality that in man's small way tries to be worthy of the scenic splendor without."

Mr. Fertitta is certainly qualified to give man's best in the way of enjoyable dining out. A third-generation restaurateur and a graduate of Cornell University, where he majored in that field, he is owner of three highly successful restaurants although still in his thirties.

Monday Marks Benjamin Yettaws' 57th Wedding Anniversary

Monday, July 4, will mark the fifty-seventh wedding anniversary of one of the community's pioneer couples, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Yettaw.

The couple will spend the day quietly at their home at 707 State st.

Mr. and Mrs. Yettaw have always resided in Charlevoix county since their marriage at a small Catholic church at Atwood July 4, 1898. Later, when the lumbering industry left the north country, the church was moved to Bellaire, where it is still in use.

Until 1921 when Mr. Yettaw became associated with the Charlevoix Coal and Ice Co., the couple divided their time between a farm in Norwood township and Charlevoix where he was engaged in several small businesses. He retired from the business in 1942.

They are members of St. Mary's church. For many years Mr. Yettaw was a member of the church board. More recently he served on the building committee for the new St. Mary's school.

Mr. Yettaw was born in Antrim county Dec. 31, 1878. Mrs. Yettaw, the former Mary Supernaw, was born in Ellenburgh, N. Y., July 28, 1877, and came to northern Michigan as a child.

They have two children, a daughter, Mrs. Ada V. Golden of this city and a son, Benjamin Jr., of Detroit. They also have five grandchildren.

Group golf instructions for youngsters will be offered twice weekly beginning July 5, Leonard Burns, recreation director, has announced.

Beginning Tuesday, July 5, all youngsters 10 years or older are invited to attend the golf instruction classes to be given by Keith Carey at the Charlevoix municipal golf course. The lessons will begin at 1 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

Anyone interested is invited to attend. Youngsters must furnish their own clubs but should not stay away because they do not have the clubs as a limited number will be available at the clubhouse.

Registration for free swimming lessons by lifeguards at the north side and Ferry ave. beaches are still being accepted.

Any child interested in attending the classes from 10 to 11 a.m. daily Monday through Friday is invited to enroll in classes offered at either the north side or Ferry ave. beaches.

Retarded Children's Center Ends A Successful Year Of Operation

The Retarded Children's Center where five local children attended school from mid-October until June closed recently after its first successful year of operation.

The children attended school half-days with Mrs. Charles Bleha as instructor from early December until June. Earlier Mrs. Frank Oleksy was the teacher.

Since no state or local aid is available for such special schools, the school was financed entirely by a tuition fee paid by the parents of the five children enrolled, by memberships in the Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children and by one fundraising project during the year. The classroom was provided by the Charlevoix board of education in the former Washington school on the north side. Equipment and supplies were purchased with donations made by several local organizations.

In making her report to the parents at a recent meeting, Mrs. Bleha said that she had enjoyed and gained much by working with the retarded children. She said that the work is essentially the same as it is with normal children and carries many of the same satisfactions and, in addition, many that are reserved only for those who work with the retarded child.

"I can see individual development for the better in each individual case and the development of the group has been a joy to me," she said. "I think you are to be congratulated that you have been able to maintain a school of this high type during its first year. I know something of the effort and sacrifice which you have put into it. It is an outstanding inspiration and example in the American tradition of recognizing a grave need and problem and then doing something about it yourself."

Following the closing of the school Mrs. Bleha has prepared a general report as to the methods and progressions requested by Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools.

School closed with the traditional picnic for the students.

Robert Cook is president of the Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children which was organized last August. Chester Edson is vice president; Mrs. Olasky, secretary and Mrs. Clyda Cunningham, treasurer.

Invite Talent To Enter Try-Outs For Lowell Showboat

Lowell Showboat is again inviting Michigan amateurs to participate in Showboat Talent Night, in a search for new acts to present in the big show, the last week in July.

Two contests will be held, July 9 and 16 at 8 p.m., giving talented young people an opportunity in try out for the professional stage. Each Talent Night is open for about 25 acts and there are no special requirements.

Several former winners of the talent contest are now appearing on television, radio and the professional stage.

Amateurs may enter by writing describing the act or number to Mr. C. H. Runciman, Chairman of Lowell Showboat Talent Night, Lowell, Michigan. Mr. Runciman will notify the act whether to appear on the July 9 or the July 16 program.

There will be six winners selected from the two contests. Each winner will receive a contract to appear on the Lowell Showboat program which will be held July 23 through July 30.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

If You Can't Lick 'em-Join 'em

Just back from visiting with my daughter's family—and playing Grandpa to two of the cutest kids you ever saw. While there I picked up a couple of new ideas on child raising:

If your child's learning to use a pen, provide an old fountain pen—filled with bluing. Looks and writes like ink, but won't stain clothes or furniture.

Maybe you have a boy, like my grandson, who thinks he's too old for a bib—but isn't. A big cowboy handana works just as well, and looks he-man to boot.

From where I sit, getting along with children is like getting along with grownups—it requires an effort to see things from the other person's point of view. At any age, there's no accounting for tastes. Take my neighbor who keeps a parakeet and drinks hot coffee in the summertime. That seems strange to me... a man who's partial to hound dogs and a cooling glass of beer. But I'd be "childish" to say it was wrong.

Cherry County Playhouse Will Open Saturday

The Cherry County Playhouse, the newest in northern Michigan summer playhouses, will open Saturday, July 2, with the play, "Tonight or Never" with Ilona Massey and Richard Midgley in the leading roles, producer Ruth Bailey has announced.

Miss Massey and Mr. Midgley will head a long list of stage and screen stars who will appear at the theatre during the next nine weeks. Among these and the dates of their appearances are Myron McCormick who will appear in "Barn Yesterday" beginning July 11; Richard Arlen in "Time Out for Ginger" July 19; Sylvia Sydney in "Constant Life" July 26 and Edward Everett Horton in "Nina", Aug. 2.

There will be a special children's performance of "The Wizard of Oz" at 11 a.m. Saturday and a repeat performance of this popular children's play July 15.

The playhouse is Arena or "Theatre in the round" type of production, the audience sitting in an oval around the center stage. No scenery will be used but settings will represent a room, with the players performing in a relaxed intimate manner. A refreshment stand will be outside the tent and an atmosphere of pleasant relaxation will be maintained at all times.

For years Miss Bailey, the producer, played the lead role on "The Guiding Light", a network radio series. Now Miss Bailey is the guiding light of the Cherry County Playhouse. As a result of her many years on stage, screen and television, she is able to beam top stars and top plays into northern Michigan.

Mrs. Charles Bleha will represent the playhouse locally. She will have tickets for sale for individual plays or for the season.

Farmers Warned To Avoid Hazards Of Insecticides

Recent accidents from handling insecticides on the farm... both in spraying and dusting, should mean greater care with the materials, says Ed Rehman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

The concentrated insecticide is especially dangerous when taken from the bag because it is poisonous, Rehman emphasizes. The liquid form of the concentrated material generally are more dangerous than the powders. But this doesn't mean, he cautioned, that powders can be handled carelessly.

Extension Entomologist, Ray Jones of Michigan State college, believes these pointers in handling insecticides are important:

Masks and protective clothing should be worn when concentrated insecticides are handled and when spraying with especially poisonous materials.

Don't put in a full day when spraying or dusting with such materials as parathion.

Don't expose yourself to drifting sprays or dusts.

Don't climb into the spray tank or dust hopper to clean them out.

Bathe and change clothes if the insecticide is spilled on your clothing.

Be sure to read the label on the container for instructions on the use of each chemical.

Superlative pitching was the by-word as the 1955 city softball season got into full swing last Thursday night at Kipke field, Dean Davenport, recreation director reported.

Two two-hit games, a three hitter and two four-hit games were posted during the first three nights of play.

In the season's opener Thursday night, Carson-Bowman, behind the two-hit pitching of Ted Potter, won over Cooper-Franklin 8-2. Nuus Edison knocked in three runs with a double and a triple. Quint Walker doubled and tripled and Guy Swanson hit two singles to pace the victors.

Glenn Ikens doubted and Walt Pouquette, in a pinch hitting role, singled, for Franklin-Cooper's two hits off Potter who struck out 11 players. Bill Bennett was the losing pitcher.

Two bad innings cost Herb Boss, pitching for Freedman's, the ball game as the Coastguardsmen scored four runs in the first and three in the sixth innings. Boss allowed only three hits with Bill Hummell, Gerry Danbert and John Clark collecting singles. For Freedman's Boss, At Fox, Tim Shores all singled and Dick Hardy doubled for four hits off Culbertson.

In one of the best ball games in some time, Fritz Puffpaff out-pitched Dean Davenport as American Mold edged City Merchants 2-1. Puffpaff allowed only two hits and Davenport four. American Mold scored two unearned runs in the last of the sixth inning and then hung out to preserve Puffpaff's victory. Fred Putman, Joe Armstrong, Gordon Mol and John Powell singled for the Moldmen's four hits. Tom LaBlance and Bib Darbee of East Jordan hit safely for City Merchants. Puffpaff struck out eight and allowed two walks. Davenport, the losing pitcher, struck out seven and walked one man.

Plans to organize a 'peanut league' for both boys and girls in the eight through ten year age group were announced this week by Dean Davenport, recreation director.

Interest in the formation of such a league has been keen so efforts will be made to register everyone interested and to set up a schedule.

Anyone interested in playing in this league is asked to contact Mr. Davenport or call 2434 and leave their name, age and telephone number.

Tuesday night special gift certificates will be offered to several lucky people attending the softball games.

Water Used Sets A Record Monday Due To Dry Spell

The amount of water used Monday by the residents of the community reached a new high when a total of 1,020,000 gallons made its way through city water mains. Roy R. Robinson, city superintendent, has reported.

The increase in water usage has been brought about by the arrival of summer residents and by the dry weather during which residents are sprinkling lawns and gardens more than usual.

In some areas there have been complaints of low water pressure. If this continues it may become necessary to regulate the hours of sprinkling and the amount of water to be used for this purpose.

Facilities at the pumping station are adequate to pump the extra water supply needed, Mr. Robinson said, but small mains, the majority of which are only four-inch mains, are not large enough to carry the increased amount necessary to its destination.

James E. Emms of Traverse City, former coach at Ludington, was the guest speaker at the regular dinner meeting of the Kiwanis club at the V.F.W. post home Monday night.

He spoke on recreation promotion for the youth of the community. He offered many ideas on financing and promoting the construction of a youth center. He concluded by saying that the nucleus of all youth recreation is a youth center, belonging to the youth of the community.

At the business meeting, tentative plans were made for the entertainment of approximately 85 crippled children who will visit Charlevoix Aug. 5. The issue will be discussed further at a meeting of the board of directors July 7 at the home of the president, Charles J. Pontius.

The July 4 meeting will be held at the Charlevoix municipal golf course where a golf contest with prizes will be held. Members will bring a basket lunch.

Two guests, Ken Smith of Camp Charlevoix and Frank Burgoine, were present at the meeting Monday.

Visitors to Beaver Isle Given Friendly Welcome

"Welcome to Beaver Island," is the friendly greeting to every visitor . . . and the islanders mean every word of it! This beautiful small island, surrounded by the blue water of Lake Michigan, lies 32 miles northwesterly of Charlevoix at the entrance of the Straits of Mackinac. Surprising to most visitors, Beaver Island is seven miles wide and fourteen miles long, with six inland fishing lakes. White sand, blue water, sheltered bays and calm inland lakes on this quaint and historic island offer sportsmen and sightseers alike a variety of rest, health and vacation fun.

The history of famous Beaver island extends back to before 1800 when traders of the Northwest Company were coming here, transacting for the big lake perch, black and small mouth bass, pike and brook trout—and trading for deerskins, fox furs and small game.

It was on Beaver Island that James S. Strang, the only white man ever to be crowned a king in the United States, had his Mormon kingdom which controlled much of northern Michigan.

At one time, Dr. Feodora Protar, a Russian nobleman exiled by the Czar for freeing his serfs, came to Beaver Island and remained as the only doctor on the island for thirty years. St. James, capitol of Beaver Island, is spiced with a flavor all its own. Fish nets drying on ancient reels, lumber mills and logging are in evidence. In winter, folks riding in horse-drawn sleighs. There is touch of old Ireland in the fenced, front yard flower gardens.

Extensive forests tunnel winding roads thru' the interior. The wildlife and scenic beauty are awe-inspiring with the wild loveliness of nature.

There is a saying on the Island, "When once you get the sand of the Beavers on your shoes, you'll always return." When you do return the Islanders say, "Welcome home."

Accommodations Good At Motels, Cabins In Area

Located on the fringe of Charlevoix, all within walking or driving distance of the city or the beaches, are many motels and cabins designed for those vacationers who desire these particular facilities.

Newest of these is Stroud's Wayside motel with 12 units located on US 31 north across from the municipal golf course.

Painted ocean coral, the attractive motel features in addition to units for from two to five guests a large lobby with a stone fireplace, comfortable lounge chairs and television facilities. The motel was converted from the former dining room known as the Wayside. The building also has its own laundry which in addition serves the 19 cabins operated by Oscar Stroud whose family has been in the resort business for 20 years.

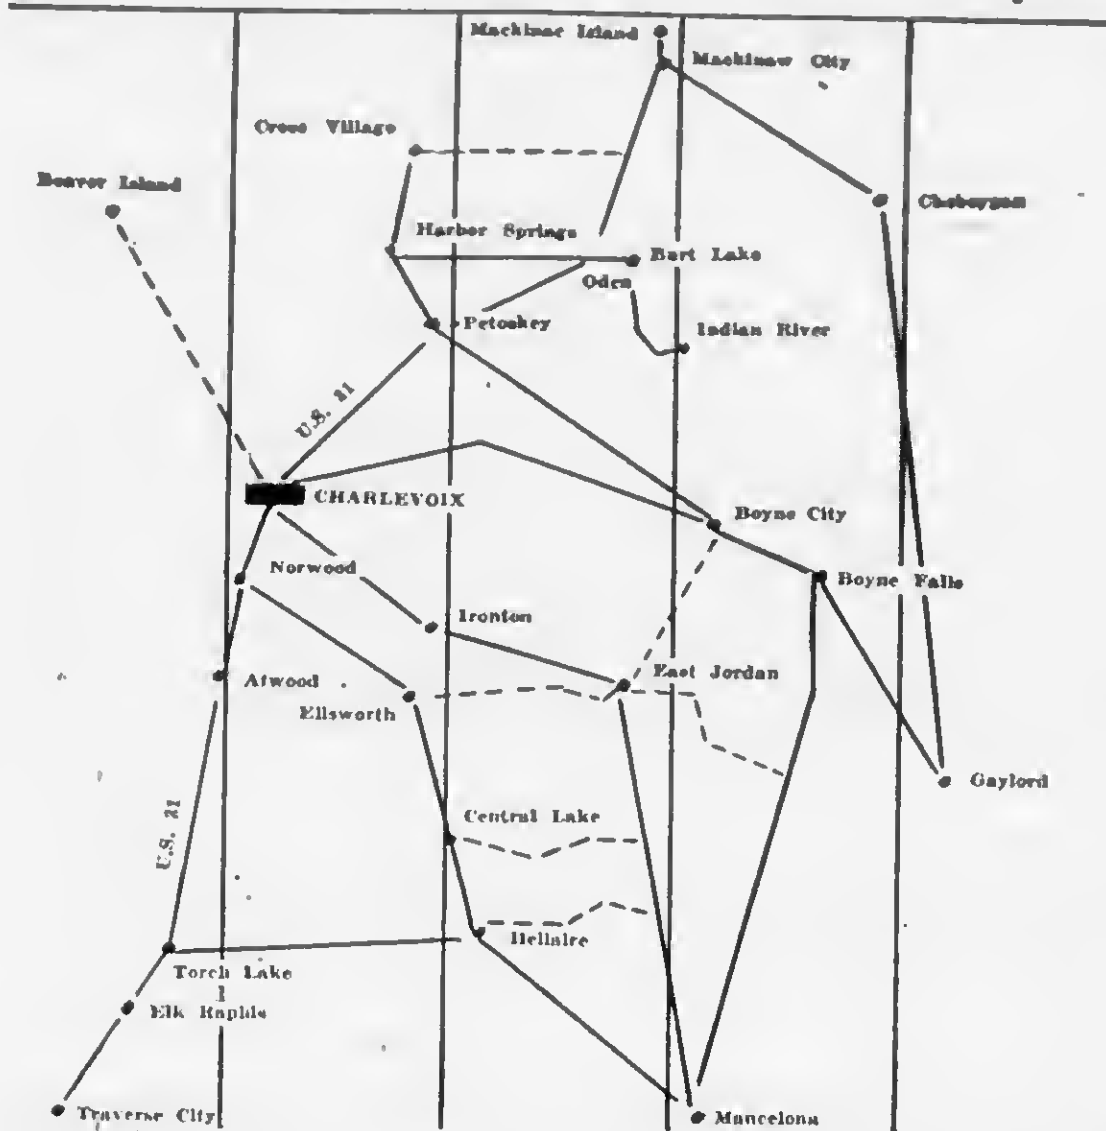

The cabins provide cooking as well as sleeping facilities and are located near the shores of Lake Charlevoix.

In the same area on the northern city limits are Foster's and Bancroft's cabins.

This will mark the eleventh year for Mr. and Mrs. Bradford V. Foster at the facilities which include 15 cabins.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bancroft are beginning their sixteenth season in Charlevoix. They have eight log cabins and one large frame building which accommodates a party of eight.

Across from the golf course to the north are cabins owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howe at 549 Petoskey ave. where accommodations include four cabins, three with housekeeping facilities. Next door are four cabins offered for rent by Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Dezell at 549 1/2 Petoskey ave.

Taylor's cabins located at the corner of Carpenter ave. and Bridge st. on US 31 are among the oldest cabins in the community. Now operated by the Robert McLeans who are beginning their thirteenth year in the business, the cabins also offer housekeeping facilities.

The Charlevoix cabins operated by Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Gibbons are located on South Bridge st. on US 31 and offer every facility. This will be the Gibbons' fifth season as resort operators.

Still on US 31 moving south is the Lighthouse motel operated by Mr. and Mrs. James Pomeranz who came here recently from Toledo. The motel has ten units.

Next is the Silver Birch motel established in 1947 by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boss. There are 20 units in the installation including the eight unit motel opened one year ago.

Bogart's motel with 11 units has been open since Memorial Day. This will be Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bogart's eighth season at the motel on US 31 south. Located on M-66 at Moy st. is the Shipshape Motel with 12 units

The Petoskey Summer Playhouse, in its newly renovated location, corner of Petoskey and Bay Streets, in Petoskey, is in its second year of production.

Summer And Winter Resort At Boyne Mt.

One of the newest and most modern resort lodges is located at Boyne Mountain, Boyne Falls, on highway 131.

Boyne Mountain Lodge is equipped with a high capacity double chair lift to thrill view-seekers in the summer and service winter skiers for its many boulevard slopes.

Besides excellent lodging in extremely modern hotel and ranch style units, guests have the use of a swimming pool containing 100,000 gallons of water. The Lodge boasts a large dining room which seats 200 people.

When weather permits, lunches are served daily on the patio overlooking the evergreen bordered slopes.

Beginning July 15th, The Trophy Room, bar and cocktail lounge, is open for dancing and relaxation fun.

which is open for the third season. Mr. and Mrs. Fred deCastro who built the installation also manage it.

15 years, it is still a baby . . . but under the excellent directorship of Bentley Lenhoff it has become, already, one of the most popular mediums of entertainment in our area. Last year there were fifteen members of the company, this year there are twenty members whose purpose is to provide topflight entertainment in bringing to their audiences the best of recent and older Broadway 'hits'. In addition, they hope . . . "to grow, to prosper . . . and to pay the rent."

The inspiration behind this dramatic promotion is a belief that Northern Michigan has more to offer its summer and winter residents than any area in the middle west. This inspiration . . . plus a heap o' faith and a heap o' talent . . . is (to quote the Lenhoffs) . . . "a feeling of doing something worthwhile . . . in troubled times making people laugh, helping people to forget their cares, and many times even accomplishing the most impossible . . . making people think!" July 1 will mark the official opening of the 1955 resort season in Charlevoix, the resort city of the north.

The date will mark the conclusion of weeks of preparation as resort operators place the welcome mat on their respective door-steps to await the influx of summer visitors.

Resort operators and business men alike are anticipating a fine season if the weather remains warm and sunny and world conditions continue in their present peaceful state.

As one operator said "Nothing in the resort business can be more disastrous than a few cold rainy days or a war threat".

Barring such major catastrophes, however, local summer hotels, restaurants, cabins, motels and rooming houses are poised to serve the vacationing public.

The Charlevoix Beach Hotel on Lake Michigan was the first of the community's summer hotels to open for the season. Under the management of the E. L. Kramers for the tenth season, the popular hotel has been open since June 20 and host to two conventions.

The Belvedere Hotel overlooking Lake Charlevoix will open Friday under the management of E. J. Edwards who is beginning his fifth year in the position. Mrs. Queenie Wood will return for her twelfth season as office manager. A newcomer, Miss Mary Elizabeth Reiser who comes here from the Palm Beach-Biltmore will assume the position of auditor. Others who are returning are Hans Schoschmig, head waiter, Robert Clintou, bell captain; Mrs. Etta Nelson, housekeeper; Willie "Spee" Jones, chef for the past six years and John D'Cecco and his orchestra who are returning for their fifth season.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Anderson will come from Florida to take charge of the bar.

Mr. Edwards, who is also manager of the Belvedere Club whose association owns and operates the hotel for its members and their guests, said that the 87 cottages on the club grounds were all taken for the season and that 25 cottagers were already here with many more expected over the July 4 weekend.

Marvin Sugden, assistant warden and foreman has headed the crew of workmen preparing the club for the current season.

The Chicago Club overlooking Lake Charlevoix on the north side of the channel which connects Round Lake with Lake Charlevoix also will open July 1.

E. Edward Wrapp has returned for his fourth season as manager of the privately-owned club house. Formerly with the University of Chicago, Mr. Wrapp now is associated with the graduate school of business administration at Harvard University.

He will be assisted in the operation of the hotel by Mrs. Merle Fogg who comes here from the Garland school in Boston, Mass., where she was head of the food department to take over the management of the club kitchen; Floyd Oliver of Seattle, Wash., and James Anderson of Chicago.

Henry Seilmeyer, club custodian, has been in charge of readying the club house and grounds for the season. He said that the 24 cottages on the grounds would be occupied this season. Several cottagers including Mr. and Mrs. J. H. King, Mrs. Robert E. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Schwarz and Mr. and Mrs. Solomon A. Smith already are at their cottages.

Other hotels and lodges are open or will open this weekend.

The Justus Hotel at 310 Belvedere ave. will open this week under the management of the new owner, Harold Justus of Detroit; the Hallett House at 312 Belvedere ave. has been open all season under the management of John Hallett who said the business had been in the family for 68 years; the Grey Gables Inn whose dining room is a feature of the hotel has been open for several weeks under the management of Mrs. Russell Dundas.

The Charlevoix Hotel, located on Antrim st., owned and operated by John Connolly, is also open year around.

The Lakeview Inn at the corner of Bridge and Antrim st. overlooking Round Lake has been opened by its owners, Mr. and Mrs. James Flynn. The hotel has been remodeled and re-decorated and parts of the large porch across the front removed. This will be the seventeenth season at the Lakeview for the Flyns.

The Tower Hotel at 209 Park ave. with its annex and guest houses will open for the sixteenth season under the management of the owner, Mrs. Eva Smith; in the same block at 205 Park ave., the Park Lane lodge will open this weekend after a remodeling and redecorating program now underway. This will mark the ninth season for Mrs. Arthur J. Mitchell at this old established hotel.

On the north side are several lodges, all overlooking Lake Michigan. Aleiare Terrace at 110 W. Dixon ave. is open for the fifth season under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Puhak of Detroit; next is the Rainbow lodge at 108 W. Dixon operated by Mrs. Marie Marshall. The lodge includes three small apartments and a recently-constructed kitchenette apartment. This is Mrs. Marshall's twelfth year in Charlevoix.

The Crestview lodge which has had the exterior replaced with new siding and painted is operated by the Charles Andersons who are spending their eleventh season in Charlevoix and the eighth at this location. The Lake Air lodge and the Flynn cottages at 104 and 102 W. Dixon ave. respectively are operated by the veteran hotelman, William A. Flynn, and Mrs. Flynn who are beginning the third year at the present locations.

Heering's popular dining room at 202 Michigan will not open this year because of the illness of Mrs. William Heering who with Mr. Heering operated the dining room and rooming house. The couple will continue to have roomers, however.

Next door at 103 E. Dixon ave. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Brock are beginning their second season at this location. They are opening the dining room and will offer breakfast and dinners by reservation as well as lease rooms.

The Palmer House at 304 Michigan ave. opened Sunday after being closed for three years. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Palmer have returned to serve home-cooked food in the two dining rooms. Breakfasts will be served from 8 to 11 a.m. and dinners from 6 to 9 p.m. The small hotel also features a number of rooms with private baths.

Across the street at 307-311 and 313 Michigan ave. overlooking Lake Michigan is Houston's under the management of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Houston who have returned for their ninth season. Their cook, Lucy Hollowell is here for her eighteenth season. The lodge features suites of rooms and meals by reservation.

On US 31 at 109 Petoskey is Miller's Northern Guest House operated by Mrs. Esther Miller of Flint. The popular rooming house has been extensively remodeled and redecorated in preparation for the eleventh season.

At 501 E. Dixon ave. the Mencairell Lodge operated by Mrs. Loretta Mencairell has been redecorated. This will mark Mrs. Mencairell's tenth season in Charlevoix.

At Berns' Guest House at 309 E. Dixon operated by Mr. and Mrs. Julius Berns for the seventh season is found one of the few places in the area serving Jewish style food and vegetarian diets. The Guest House is now open and also offers rooms.

Also on the north side are Well's rooming house at 107 E. Dixon ave.; Ingalls and Pearl's at 111 and 113 Michigan ave. respectively; Mrs. Edith Beaudoin at 105 E. Dixon ave.; Ranger's at 209 Lewis which features a dining room with meals by reservation and rooms; Boss's at 301 Michigan ave. to name a few.

The Reids Are Doing Big Things

Every summer since 1940 a few of the thousands of cars streaming up and down US 31 in Antrim County, Michigan, follow the artistic signs down a lovely Birch lined road and end up at the Reids' on the shore of Grand Traverse Bay . . . Antrim County's only craft studio. The drivers are rewarded not only by the lovely scenic woodland trip, but by visiting a unique craft shop, watching the Reids at work and seeing what they make. Here in their little shop they are not trying to mass produce "artware" but are trying to give people an honest hand-made product with a personal touch which they can get nowhere else . . . and all at a reasonable price.

Seven years ago when the pioneer blood in the veins of the John and Peggy Reid bubbled to the surface and began to show, they packed their belongings, loaded them into a trailer, and came "west" from Alfred, N. Y., where they both had studied at the New York State College of Ceramics. Their dream was the way of a life as craftsmen . . . doing a job they liked as well as they knew how. Like pioneers, they built every bit of their place themselves . . . even to the kilns and equipment for the shop . . . and each year finds them adding new space, new equipment, or just plain rearranging what they have for more efficient production and attractive display. Their aim has been to produce attractive, well-designed pottery, specializing in personalized and made-to-order things . . . things which just could not be done in a large commercial plant.

In this way they are much like the old-time village potter who made whatever his customers wanted. And like the early craftsmen, theirs is truly a family business. Grandpa does the casting, pouring and emptying the molds, and finishes, glazes, and fires the pottery; Peggy designs the pieces and decorates the pottery (and is also head chef and housekeeper), while young Johnny helps anywhere he can. Even the two big collies get into the spirit of things and greet customers as they arrive.

However, as true pioneers, they are not content just to stand still and admire the progress they have already made. They are constantly trying to improve their products by designing new pieces and developing new colors and glazes.

For anyone interested in any form of the arts, The Reids' is truly a most interesting spot to be visited while vacationing in this area. If you own an original from The Reids, you own the best in ceramic craftsmanship. Our congratulations to Peggy and John for providing Charlevoix and area visitors with their excellent craftsmanship.

"Baa-a, baa-a, Buttercup, Buttercup Butters. Tinted from her bottom up, Yellow, like the shutters!"

Cuter than a little pink poodle is a little yellow lamb called Buttercup Wichersham Butters. She saw the light of her first bright day weeks ago, but already she is beginning to exhibit a peachy and creamy complexion, with a spicy and sugar personality that makes out of her a perfect lamb of a pet.

She came by her dandelion shade after being twice dipped in a bucket of Rit by her enterprising foster mama, Cleo Butters of Sunset Lodge.

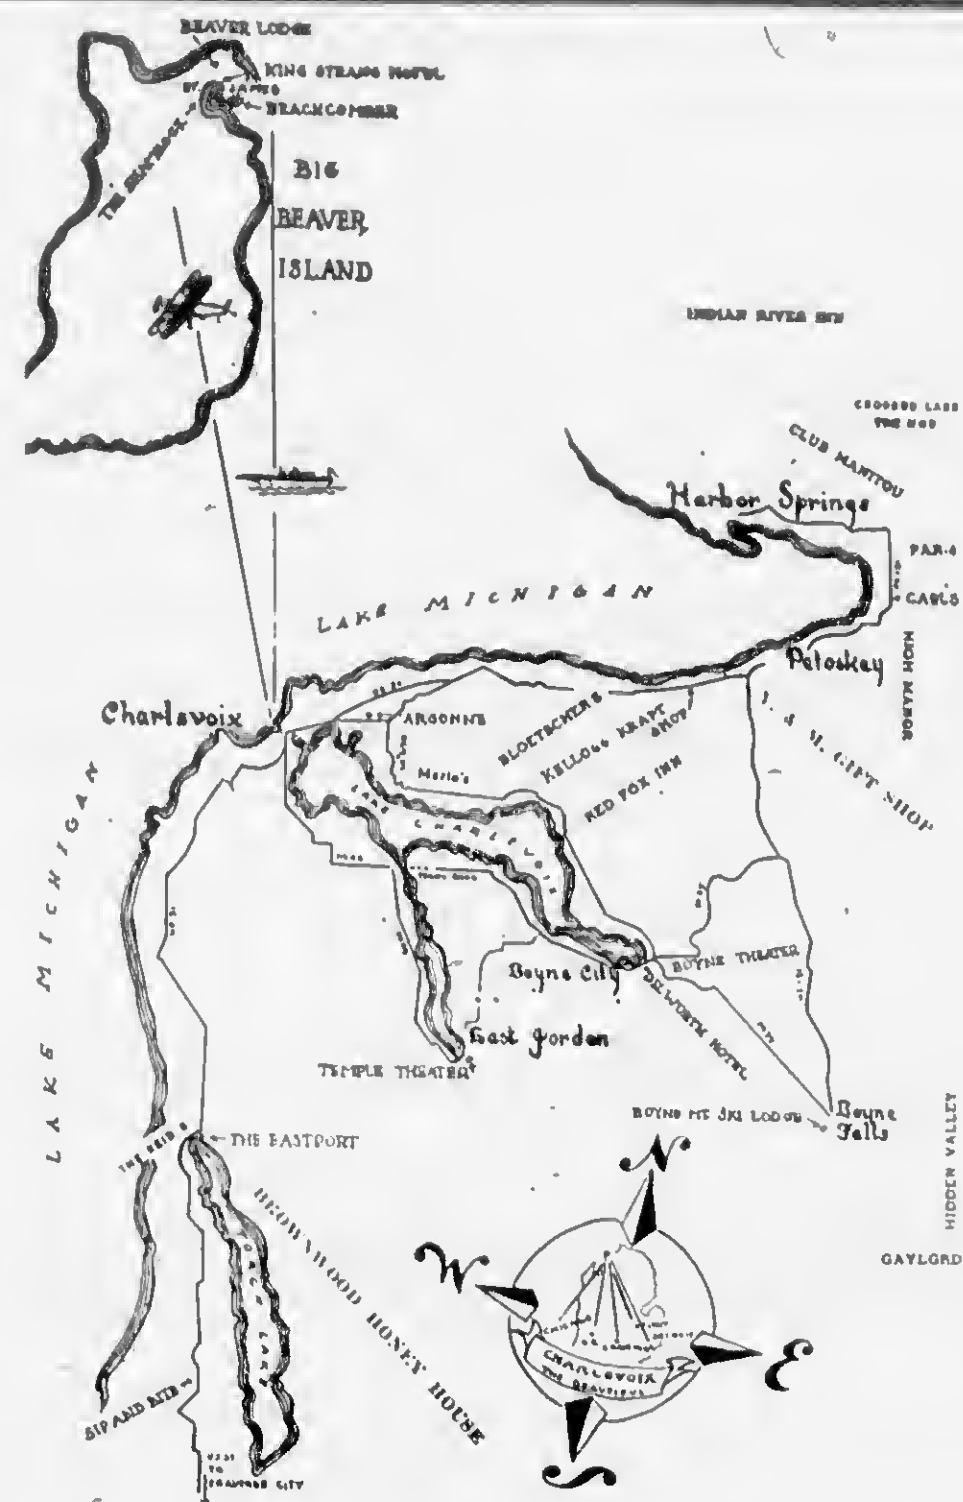

Her ears seem to have been taken off and dipped into a solution of starch, then planned back on a kimbo . . . and it's a mystery how this little bundle of poodle-cloth gets around on her crispy longlegs without crackling and splintering.

Maybe you knew . . . But I didn't . . . that little lamb don't have feet! They have hoofs (sp?) . . . that sound off in a bit of tip-toe staccato that makes you feel clumsy and awkward on a pair of squashed down arches and legs that bend!

In between her formula feedings and nap-times, Buttercup clinkies along behind her 'mama' as if she were attached to the little yellow ribbon she wears around her neck.

She just naturally commands smiles wherever she goes . . . she's a happiness lamb right out of a storybook who makes even us weathered grown-ups feel like kids again . . . and . . .

I'll never see a yellow lamb, Or even feel forlornier, If it isn't Buttercup, and Cleo 'round the corner. F. T. D.

Brownwood Honey House Is Popular Resort Gift Spot

The Brownwood Honey House is located on beautiful Torch Lake, in the heart of the Grand Traverse Cherry Land.

Owned and operated by attractive Mary Louise Morse, the shop was opened in 1946 as a Honey House on the Brownwood Acres Farm for extracting and selling their own delicious honey. Thus . . . the Honey House was born.

Discovering at once the urgent demand for a gift and craft outlet in the area, The Honey House expanded with the dream of some day making Brownwood Acres a Craft Center.

This dream has materialized as each year more craftsmen are discovered, trained, and their products developed for market.

The jams and jellies are made in the Brownwood Kitchen, of fresh, ripe fruit and cane sugar. All are cooked in small batches, just as you would do in your own home.

In the wood working shop many clever items are made, such as letter racks, cobbler benches, spoon holders, tables and hanging shelves.

They now have their own kiln, and an expert ceramist makes copper enamel jewelry and ceramic pieces.

In 1950 the vast acres of evergreens planted on the farm were ready to cut. Trained women fashion them, in the work shop, into Christmas decorations which are shipped all over the United States.

Besides the crafts from this area, they display handicrafts from all over the world. There are gifts for everyone . . . infants and oldsters alike.

Your are cordially welcomed at Brownwood Honey House on Torch Lake.

News Round-up at Camp Charlevoix

"Once again we come together" was sung with much gusto on Saturday night as boys started the 29th season for Camp Charlevoix. All day Saturday boys and parents were arriving by car, train, plane and boat, and it was a thrilling sight to see last summer's friends renewing their friendship after a year's intermission. Boys are here from Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, and Michigan.

This summer's staff numbers sixty representing twenty-one different colleges and universities. Two of our men, David Lean (British Empire 440 yd. Hurdle Champion) and Alan Charlton, are students at Michigan State and are from Australia. Armen Sahakian, an Exchange Student at Michigan State, is from Iraq and is from the University of Munich, Germany. Manny Alves, graduate of the University of Dayton, returns for his third year and is the Director of Activities.

The following men are from the University of Michigan Medical School, Roger Eggert, Terry Headington, Wally Jeffries, Don Kelly, Jack Kennedy, Ward Taylor, Jerry Turcotte. Other men on the staff are: Doug Donnan, University of Michigan, Dick Elder, Michigan State, Henry Gest, Miami University, Kyung Mo Huh (from Korea) University of Michigan, Bud Morse, Albion, Bob O'Neill, University of Miami, Bill Stoner, University of Michigan, Stan Storey, Iowa State, Jerry Webster, Kalamazoo college, Red Williams, University of Michigan, Bob Wurster, Louisiana State University.

The riding department with its thirty seven horses is headed by both Jake Whitecrow, Oklahoma A & M, and Dick Hesse, University of Missouri. They are assisted by Charlie Stansell, Oklahoma A & M, Chuck Kearney, Carroll college, and Tom Kearney, Flossmoor, Ill. Mrs. Robert O'Neill is the camp nurse.

Former campers returning as Assistant Counsellors are: Bill Fors, Dearborn, Chris Lietwiller, Bethesda, Maryland, Malcolm Campbell, Dearborn, Eddie Guest, Detroit, John McBride, Lapeer, Larry Bielat, Center Line, and Dick Smith from Dayton. Former campers returning as Counsellors-In-Training are: Doug Graham, Flint, Kent Gibbs, Jamestown, Ohio, Tom Tinsley, South Haven, Mac Gibboney, Birmingham, Tex. Huntington, Grosse Pointe, and Phil Holiday, Marion, Ind.

Harry Bingham, of Charlevoix is back for his nineteenth year as Business Manager, Joe and Helen Shaw of Oxford, Ohio, are back as the cooks for their sixth year. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elzinga are at the camp, Mrs. Elzinga as cooks' assistant, and Mr. Elzinga as an assistant in the riding department. Mrs. Mable Curtis of Elmira is the camp tutor. The seven dining room boys are from Centerline, Kirkwood, Mo. and Chelsea.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Smith of Grosse Pointe, are the directors and owners of the camp, "Ken" starting his twenty-first year at the camp, and his twenty-fourth year in camping.

Within the last week, there have been several former counsellors visit the camp. Tom Varbedian, Michigan Medical School, spent four days at the camp. Dr. William Forsythe, University of Michigan Hospital, James Land, Detroit; Dr. and Mrs. Charles Birdsall, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordie Hyde. It is always great to have these men stop in.

The Smiths would like to thank all the parents who have been so very kind in sending books to the camp. The response to the letter was very gratifying. However, we could stand about one hundred more books for the camp library.

Saturday evening started the season off with the annual pillow fights on the suspended log in the clubhouse. It was an evening of introductions, and excitement ran high as boys cheered for their favorites.

On Sunday morning at the Chapel service, "Ken" gave a talk on "Building a Reputation". In the afternoon, the physical examinations were held as were the swimming tests. Sunday evening found all three sections having Vesper Services.

The many activities started on schedule on Tuesday morning, and it was an exciting time for the one hundred sixty boys, all deciding just where they want to be.

Motorists Urged To Be Cautious

All motorists are urged to sharpen up their driving skills in terms of safe passing by Chief Clarence Hesse and Sheriff Glenn E. Rose as part of the nation-wide Slow Down and Live program now underway.

Getting ahead of the other fellow in traffic is modern traffic's most difficult maneuver, according to both Mr. Hesse and Mr. Rose who added that with the busy Fourth of July weekend at hand, this would be an excellent time for all motorists to give careful study to the 20 safety tips on passing listed below.

They include the following: Never pass on hills, curves or intersections; don't cut-in right after you pass a car; have a gap ahead, to get into when passing; use left turn signal when pulling out to pass; warn driver ahead, honk or flash headlights; go 10 to 15 miles an hour faster than the car you are passing; use care when passing several cars at a time; when passing opposite a roadside business, watch; be doubly careful of oncoming traffic at night; check for right-hand passing on four-lane highways.

In conclusion both Chief Hesse and Sheriff Rose emphasized the fact that mistakes in passing can be particularly disastrous because the car doing the passing is going faster than other traffic. They urged everyone to keep in mind the summer slogans KEEP IN YOUR LANE and SLOW DOWN AND LIVE.

A GROUP of experts has ended a conference related to the Salk polio-vaccine situation with no indication that more vaccine will be released immediately.

THE RESIGNATION of President John D. Peron, effective Nov. 1, is reported by political and military observers to be in the hands of the military forces.

NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV, Russia's new "strong man," paid an unprecedented visit to the United States embassy this week and told American officials that real results can be expected from the Geneva Big Four conference.

ALLIED Authorities have completed work on a German reunification plan to be presented to the Russians at the Big Four summit conference in Geneva. The experts reached an agreement on the final text of the plan.

A HOUSE Foreign Affairs subcommittee has recommended the creation of a new, co-operative mutual security program for the five Central American nations.

THE UN Command this week barred Allied newsmen from accepting a news conference in the 1,000-yard circular joint security area near Panmunjom.

Announce Rules On Applying For State War Bonus

Have you applied for the Korean War bonus offered by the state of Michigan?

If you were in any branch of the armed services between June 27, 1950 through Dec. 31, 1953, you are eligible for the bonus regardless of where you were stationed at that time.

Many men now serving as well as ex-servicemen have failed to apply for the bonus because they did not serve in Korea. This has no bearing on the issue. . . . you just had to be in any of the armed services during the period mentioned above.

If you are still in the armed forces you can apply by taking the bonus application blank to your commanding officer to be signed.

Application blanks are available through Ken Forbes, American Legion service officer; at the office of the county clerk in the court house; Richard Suratt, V.F.W. service officer or Frank Martin, representing the Charlevoix county Red Cross chapter.

Raymond Belding Drowning Victim In Walloon Lake

Raymond J. Belding, 7-year-old son and only child of Rodney R. Belding and Mrs. Josephine E. Belding, was drowned at Walloon Lake Wednesday afternoon.

According to Deputy Floyd Newville of Boyne City who investigated the accident, the boy was with a group of boys under adult supervision who were spending the day on Walloon Lake. The group had finished lunch and were resting prior to going swimming when the lad sought permission to go to the bus which was parked nearby. It is believed he went directly to the lake from the bus. He was found a few minutes later only a short distance from shore by an unidentified swimmer. Adults on the beach administered artificial respiration and the resuscitator was used. Charlevoix county coroner James Stackus said death was due to accidental drowning.

The body was returned to the Pontius Chapel where funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday with the Rev. Lloyd M. Schlopp officiating. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

Raymond James Belding was born in Petoskey Dec. 31, 1947, and had always resided in Charlevoix. He would have been a second grade pupil in the Charlevoix public school next year.

Besides his parents he is survived by his paternal grandmother, Mrs. A. C. Belding of Charlevoix, with whom he lived and his maternal grandfather, Clyde Green of Flint.

Two New Books By William Ratigan Make Their Appearance This Week

This week marked the appearance of two new books by Charlevoix's own William Ratigan, author of the historical novel, "Soo Canal".

The books are "Young Mr. Big", a book designed for the enjoyment of the younger reading public, and "Hiawatha and America's Mightiest Mile", a centennial facsimile edition.

Novelist Ratigan, foremost historian of the pioneer Soo Locks, in his first book, "Soo Canal" related the story of the construction of the fabulous Soo locks from the time Congress gave Michigan 750,000 acres of public lands and the right-of-way for the construction of a ship canal around the falls of the St. Mary's river to the completion of the famous locks by Charles T. Harvey 100 years ago.

The book, published last year, uncovers one of the most thrilling and adventurous tales of American free enterprise.

In "Young Mr. Big", author Ratigan retells the story for America's younger generation. . . . the fascinating story of Charles T. Harvey, the incredible Connecticut Yankee, traveling salesman by trade, who went to Lake Superior for a rest-cure and stayed to build the Soo Canal, America's mightiest mile. The thrilling account of the heroic achievement of a little known, but great, American is a story that will inspire every American boy and girl.

In the centennial facsimile edition, "Hiawatha and America's Mightiest Mile", an all-time best seller and a household favorite of generations of Americans, Longfellow's immortal epic, Hiawatha, is reprinted in an exact production of a rare first edition in celebration of its one hundredth year (1855-1955) and of its amazing kinship to the centennial twin, the Soo Canal.

Author Ratigan who has written both these books at the Dockside Press on Belvedere ave., offers an original contribution in America's Mightiest Mile, a 68-page illustrated introduction that sets forth the wonderful likeness between the legendary Indian hero, Hiawatha, and the young traveling salesman, Charles T. Harvey, who went to Hiawathaland and stayed to build the world's greatest canal.

A highlight of the Soo Locks Centennial celebration which opened July 1 is the dramatization of the historical novel, "Soo Canal", "Gangway for Tomorrow". Mr. Ratigan left today for Sault Ste. Marie where he will attend the first performance of the thrilling story of the building of the Soo Locks adapted from his novel.

The author who has resided in Charlevoix for the past seven years has a history almost as fabulous as the hero in his books. A (Continued on page 4.)

E. L. Kramer Wins Prolonged Case In Supreme Court

A prolonged controversy was settled Thursday when the Michigan Supreme Court ruled that a member of a business partnership is entitled to workmen's compensation benefits.

The case was by E. L. Kramer, partner with his wife, Irene, in the Charlevoix Beach Hotel, against the Travelers Insurance Co.

The insurance firm appealed a workmen's compensation award of $24.00 a week and a lump sum for medical expenses after Mr. Kramer slipped on stairs in the hotel July 15, 1951, and was seriously injured. He later underwent brain surgery at University Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Justice Talbot Smith observed "The problem of compensation of the partner for injuries received at his labors has been controversial for many years."

The high tribunal's opinion "The statute, as we interpret it, provides coverage to a partner for whom and to the extent that premiums are paid based on wages, earnings or profits, as well as in the partner who earns wages irrespective of profits."

The opinion underlined "or" ahead of profits, since Mr. Kramer and his wife had no fixed salary but wrote checks as money was needed.

Mr. Norman D. Auce represented Mr. Kramer in the case which was the first Supreme Court test of the 1949 amendment to the Workmen's Compensation Act as it pertained to partners who do not receive a wage irrespective of profits.

Ionian Escapee Is Captured Here By Sheriff's Deputy

Charles Noah, 19, who escaped from Ionian Reformatory June 10, was captured late Wednesday by Charlevoix county sheriff's officers and state police of the Gaylord post in an area north of the Belvedere Golf course in Charlevoix township.

Sheriff's deputy John Geer captured the escapee as he was about to start through the woods in an effort to "flush" Noah out of his hiding place. Noah offered no resistance.

He was taken to the Charlevoix county jail where he admitted breaking and entering the Airport Bar June 27 and taking $21.70.

He appeared before Justice Court Friday. He waived examination and his case turned over to circuit court. He is being held in the county jail here.

Noah and Francis Schocko, 20, of Leelanau county walked away from the reformatory June 10 and five days later stole a car near Cascade east of Grand Rapids. They drove to Leelanau and the following day came to Charlevoix. Schocko was captured June 17 in Charlevoix township on a tip from two teen-age girls. He was returned to Ionian June 29.

The boat which received a damaged shaft in the accident was towed into the harbor after it was pulled off the beach. The driver and three passengers were uninjured.

Saturday morning the station received a call from Boyne City that three men in a speed boat were speeding about the east end of Lake Charlevoix trying to capsize a patrol boat was dispatched to the area but the boaters had docked the boat and left the scene so no charges could be made.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

HAVE YOU noticed the miniature 'burrey' with the fringe on top on the street recently? We mean the baby carriage with the bouncy yellow umbrella over it. It's really on oldy (119 years old) but we don't know it's history. It's owned by Mrs. W. T. Butters of Sunset Lodge and it's young Mary Alice Negri, whose parents are the John Negris of Miami, here for the summer.

SEEMS as tho' it's a little late this year but the tulip tree in St. Mary's cemetery was in bloom last week. Don't know much about it, except that its blossoms look exactly like tulips, hence, its name. The leaves are as lovely as the flower.

THE dispatchers in the post-office sure have a tough time. Recently two letters have arrived in Charlevoix only because a couple or maybe more postal employees were on the ball. One letter came here directly from Miami, Fla., with just the word, Charlevoix, on it. Plus a notation by a postal employee, "Try Michigan". Irish Coleman at the Board of Commerce received one from Detroit addressed only: S. E. Coleman, Board of Commerce, Michigan. Now that was really a toughy but either Irish is well known or the fact that we have a 'board of commerce' rather than a chamber of commerce. Anyway, the letter reached its destination.

BOB MILES came up with what we think is a terrific idea of collecting old prints and pictures of Charlevoix. Not the originals for they're quite priceless and no one wants to part with them. But borrowing old pictures and having negatives made from them. Then, at some future date, making prints and displaying them someplace for everyone to see. One of these days we're going to ask your cooperation in the project. For as the years roll by, there are fewer and fewer of the old photographs available. We think it's a great idea. And we'd like to help in making it a reality. We'll let you know more about it when the details are worked out. For the present we'll give you a chance to dig out some old prints.

FISHING was good over the weekend for one fellow we know, Charlie Bergmann. For he came up with the most beautiful small mouth bass we've ever seen. It weighed exactly four pounds. Honest 'cause my mother weighed it. And it was 18 1/2 inches long. He caught it in Lake Michigan while fishing with Alvin Goldman, who must have that magic touch.

NOT LONG ago we had a little squib about Beaver Island needing woodchucks to do something about the cottontail housing shortage on the island. Never a guy to neglect his civic duty, Clayt Smith got himself a baby 'chuck last week and sent it post haste by special messenger aboard the Emerald Isle to Alvin.

Body Requires More Water During Hot Weather Declares Nutrition Specialist

Is your family getting enough water during these first hot days of summer? Dr. Margaret Ohlson, head of the foods and nutrition department at Michigan State University, explains that although water is not usually considered a food, it is probably the most important of all foods. We depend on water to dissolve and distribute all the food we eat and to transport the waste products formed in our bodies. Dr. Ohlson points out that with the first hot days of summer there is a sudden increase in the water losses of our bodies in the form of perspiration. This loss is necessary to keep body temperatures from rising in hot weather. But, this water must be replaced, she adds, and summer is a good time to increase the amount of liquid food served with meals. Dr. Ohlson suggests all sorts of fruit punches, iced tea and soup served either hot or cold. She points out that most fruits and vegetables contain 90 per cent or more water. Most important, Dr. Ohlson declares, is to be sure that a good cool drink of water is always at yto hand. She suggests that if your tap doesn't run cold, to out a bottle of fresh water in the refrigerator each morning and fill it regularly during the day.

An Inviting Climate

(Because of Mr. Kohn's illness, a previous article is reprinted.)

On an August evening's newscast the radio announcer ends his summary of the day's events with the weather report: "Temperatures soared today throughout the Midwest. At 3 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, the downtown Chicago temperature was a sweltering 101, Detroit 99, and St. Louis heat reached a blistering 104 degrees." It is gratifying to know that he could have added, "But in Charlevoix, Michigan, townspeople and summer visitors, bathed by Lake Michigan's offshore breezes, were enjoying a comfortable 78 degree afternoon."

Again, one can hear the 10 p.m. newscast on a late December evening. Says the Chicago broadcaster, "And now concerning today's weather, the thermometer slid to a new low for this month. Here in Chicago commuters shivered in a 3 degree below zero blast of cold as they made their way toward the Loop over icy streets. And those ice-boxes of American, Duluth, Minnesota, and Cadillac and Pellston, Michigan, seem to be vying with the Antarctic for low temperature records. The cold wave hit Duluth with a minus 7 degrees, struck Cadillac with a negative 9 and Pellston with an icy 11 degrees below zero!" At Charlevoix we look at our back porch thermometer and smile complacently as we see it registers 10 degrees above zero.

Summer and winter, this town experiences a moderate climate that gives it a wide and enviable reputation for living comfort. What makes Charlevoix so fortunate weather-wise? The lakes! The town is almost completely surrounded by large bodies of water — Lake Michigan, Round Lake, and Lake Charlevoix. And water has a faculty for moderating and tempering the extremes of heat and cold. It is slow to heat and slow to cool, while land is warmed and cooled more rapidly.

Prevailing breezes at Charlevoix come from the west and the northwest, crossing Lake Michigan, bringing along with them the moderate temperatures of the water. The prevailing winds take into inland cities the summer heat of the land they cross, or the winter cold of the terrain they travel. Even Chicago, situated on the south shore of Lake Michigan, derives small benefit from that Great Lake's moderating effects, because Chicago's prevailing winds do not cross the lake, but reach the Windy City from Wisconsin and Minnesota and other points west.

A town like Charlevoix is fortunate indeed to be located near that grand moderator — water — which tempers the extremes of heat and cold.

Faith is like a vast body of water over which the winds of life blow. A good faith moderates and tempers. It softens life's harshness, abates its excessive heat, cools its fretfulness.

A person of profound faith suffers from neither extreme — haughty pride nor self-debasement. He can never be guilty of the lordly arrogance that marks the self-made man who worships his maker! When he traces the good that has come to him to its ultimate source, he finds it origin in One greater than himself and better than himself. Nor can the person of faith be a hand-wringing self-deprecating Mr. Milquetoast, loaded with feelings of inferiority and inadequacy. He knows he is a child of God, the heir to powers that are infinite. What is God's faith? Faith moderates both extremes — self-worship and self-contempt.

Faith tempers life's other exaggerations too. Its presence gives us escape from utter hopelessness, because faith's essence is hope, the knowledge that the night is darkest just before the dawn. Nor will it allow us to be cocksure, since a final certainty about everything belongs only to Omniscience. Faith prevents groveling in unforgiven guilt and yet keeps us from acting "holier than thou". With faith in our hearts we do not leave everything in man's hands as if there were no God to help us, nor do we lazily leave all in God's hands as if there were no need to help God. Faith melts together earth and heaven, gives God's plans and man's work.

While a person of faith often feels elated, he never gets so high that he is out of touch with those less fortunate than himself. And while he sometimes feels low, he never hits bottom. Like Lake Michigan, the friendly moderator lying westward of our town, tempering summer's scorching heat and softening winter's biting chill, faith mellows destructive excesses and gives to life an alluring climate.

Eccleston-Dunkerley Marriage Vows Spoken At St. Mary's Church

Sarah Eccleston became the bride of David A. Dunkerley at a Nuptial Mass celebrated by the Rev. Dr. E. Francis Denay at St. Mary's church Saturday morning.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Anna Eccleston and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Marion S. Dunkerley of South Bend, Ind.

Baskets of white gladioli and yellow pompons decorated the altar for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, Dr. Robert L. Schwab of Milwaukee, Wis., the bride chose a gown of white French lace and tulle over crystal satin. It was fashioned with a sunple fitted bodice, an illusion-filled neckline edged with scalloped lace, long tapered sleeves and a bouffant skirt of tulle inset with wide panels of lace in the front and back. A half-hat of lace outlined with seed pearls secured her finger veil of illusion. She carried a white prayer book topped with a cascade bouquet of white roses, carnations, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Rex Gorsline of Lansing attended her sister as matron of honor. Carolyn Dunkerley of South Bend, Ind., sister of the bridegroom, and Judith Kelley of Lansing were bridesmaids.

They wore identical ballerina gowns of turquoise jeweled style with softly draped bodices and the new elongated torso and full skirts. They wore matching headpieces and white lace mitts and carried prayer books covered with matching turquoise topped with cascade bouquets of yellow carnations and ivy.

Ann Gorsline of Lansing, niece of the bride, as flower girl wore a full length white nylon dress over a turquoise slip. It was made with a collar of embroidered lace and a turquoise sash. Her shell cap was of tiny lace ruffles and she carried a basket of yellow and white pompons.

Michael Gorsline of Lansing, nephew of the bride, and Michael LaBlanc were altar boys. John W. Winn of Cleveland assisted his brother-in-law as best man. Allen Smith of Newaygo, cousin of the bridegroom, and John Bukovac of Lansing were ushers.

Mrs. Eccleston chose a dress of powder blue crepe with a fitted lace jacket and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Dunkerley, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy lace dress trimmed with pink and navy and pink accessories. Both had corsages of pink roses.

A wedding breakfast for the bridal party and the immediate families was held at the Grey Gables Inn following the ceremony. An afternoon reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Dorothy Allers; Mrs. Albert McCort of Jackson, and Frances Phillips of Mt. Pleasant.

After a brief wedding trip to northern Michigan the couple will make their home in Muncie, Ind. For traveling the bride wore a cream summer-suit and pink and navy accessories.

Out of town guests were present from Lansing, Detroit, Mt. Pleasant, Newaygo, Copeish, Milwaukee, South Bend, Hinsdale, Ill., Macomb, Ill., and Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Guilbault Entertains For Mrs. Lamoreaux

Mrs. J. E. Guilbault entertained at a luncheon at her Norwood home recently honoring Mrs. Russell Lamoreaux of Elk Rapids.

Nineteen guests gathered at the Guilbault home for a buffet luncheon served at a table decorated with a centerpiece of gardenias.

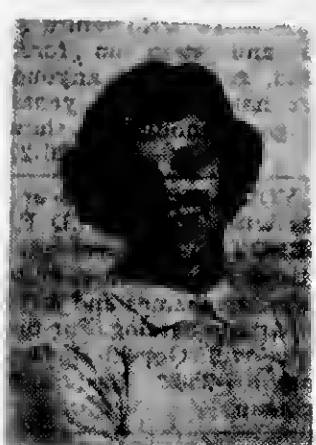

After the luncheon each guest was presented with a gardenia corsage and the honored guest with an orchid corsage.

A social hour followed, with Mrs. George Light Jr., accompanied by Mrs. Light Sr., singing several selections.

Mrs. Lamoreaux, the former Lois Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wagner, who was married October 2, was presented with several wedding gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stephens and daughter, Lucille, and a guest, Marjorie Haviland, returned to Tecumseh Monday after spending the weekend with relatives and attending a Matchett family reunion.

Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bascom have announced the engagement of their daughter, Shirley Joan, to Bard A. Miles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walker A. Miles of this city.

The couple has not completed wedding plans. Both are graduates of the Charlevoix high school.

Girlieqs

Let's face it, ma-am, dear... it wasn't altogether the whammy look in your eyes that made that man of yours propose... some of it had to do with the way you were wearing your perfume at the time. He wasn't conscious of it then, but forever and a day that fragrance you were wearing when he popped the question will remind him of 'dorable you'. This is called a subconscious affect on memories and emotions.

And that's what perfumes have been designed for since history began... practically, that is... to attract a man, catch a man, and then hang on to him. And outside of the automatic dishwasher, what's more practical to have around the house than a man!

About five thousand years ago even the pharaohs of Egypt snatched that little secret and look what they ended up with... whole harems. And perfumes and incense bottles galore to be buried beside.

Recently scientists have been taking apart our aromatic adornment to calculate 'the work'. They found that the most potent of romantic perfumes has a slight blend of vanilla and spice that reminds the poor idealistic male of home and the cookie jar. Added to this is a dash of the fragrance of new-mown grass, lilac and honeysuckle that even a Humphrey Bogart couldn't resist.

Perfumes should be carefully chosen for types and occasions. It seems that the chemicals of some folks take a stinky reaction to some of the oil bases used. It's not so hard to understand when you realize that the three types of bases used in the perfumes nowadays are musk (gland of the musk-ox), ambergris (gland of the whale), and civet (gland of the civet or skunk).

So first of all, choose it by testing it, you and the scent you buy could make horrible music together. And secondly, use it always on your skin and NEVER on your clothes because perfumes and colognes tend to get stale after exposure to air and lose their fragrance.

Thirdly, wear it on the pulse spots of the body, for perfume tends to drift upward. Dab it in back of the knee, in the crook of the elbow and on the wrist... and spray it on the soles of your feet after your morning shower.

You'll be walking on scented air... what could be sweeter? F.T.D.

A new fashion trend reflecting the popular decorator touch is colored drawer interiors. You'll find drawers lined with gay shades of red and blue.

Pest Control Needed In Management Of Forest Plantation

Pest control in forest plantations is an important part of woodland management, Clayton Healey, chairman of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District, stated today. Like other crops, trees are at times susceptible to infestation by bugs and disease. To produce quality products, these pests must be controlled.

Mr. Healey suggests that forest plantation owners examine their trees immediately to see if there are pests present. If found or they are known to be there, a plan to control them should be made. Spraying or dusting for forest insect control is effective if done at the right time of the year. Some insects that may justify control at present are spruce budworm and European pine shoot moth and European pine shoot moth and European pine shoot moth.

Mr. Healey suggests that people having insect or disease problems contact the County Agricultural Agent, Soil Conservation Service people, or the District Forester of the Department of Conservation. These people will know which bugs are injurious, and extent of damage, and what spray mixtures to use. Airplane crop spraying services are available at nominal costs to interested forest plantation owners.

Motion adopted by the following Yea and Nay vote: YEAS: Aldermen Boss, Carey, Hamilton, Kipke, Staley, and Bellinger. NAYS: None. ABSENT: None.

Alderman Hamilton offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, supported by Alderman Staley.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, it is estimated that the St. Lawrence Seaway project will be completed in or before the year 1959, hereby materially increasing the potential of shipping in the Great Lakes area, and

WHEREAS, in some instances the present railroad freight rate structure approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission imposes an advantage in behalf of the Atlantic Seaboard ports as against ports on the Great Lakes, and

WHEREAS, such inequities will tend to retard the use and development of the ports located in the Great Lakes, now, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix:

SECTION 1. That the Interstate Commerce Commission be and it is hereby petitioned to review railroad shipping rates now imposed upon freight destined to the Atlantic Seaboard ports in relation to freight charges imposed for shipping destined to the ports of the Great Lakes.

SECTION 2. That in connection with such a review the Interstate Commerce Commission provide a public hearing whereby interstate parties may be heard upon the matter.

SECTION 3. That states, counties, cities and other political subdivisions having an interest in providing port facilities upon the Great Lakes are hereby requested and urged to join in this petition and to forward its sense to the Interstate Commerce Commission and to their representative in the Congress of the United States.

SECTION 4. That the Chairman of the Charlevoix Docks and Harbors Committee is hereby authorized and directed to forward a certified copy of this resolution to the governors of all states upon the Great Lakes and to the administrative officials of the counties, cities and other political subdivisions having or intending to provide port facilities on the Great Lakes.

SECTION 5. That the Chairman of the Charlevoix Docks and Harbors Committee is hereby authorized and directed to forward a certified copy of this resolution to the Great Lakes Promotion and Protection Association, requesting and urging their cooperation in this petition and to forward its sense to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

SECTION 8. This resolution is hereby declared to be an emergency measure and shall take effect and be in force from and after its adoption. The reason for the emergency lies in the fact that the establishment of equitable railroad freight rates as herein requested is necessary to insure economic benefits of the Seaway intended in the Great Lakes area and extending into a considerable area of the midwestern United States and for the immediate preservation of the welfare of all the communities situated in these areas.

Popular Lake Michigan Beach Is Site Of Battle Of Pine River

Charlevoix's sandy beaches on Lake Michigan and Lake Charlevoix always have attracted countless swimmers and sunbathers.

During the last few days, with the mercury finding its way skyward the number of swimmers cooling themselves in both lakes has reached a new high.

The most popular of the beaches has always been the municipal beach on Lake Michigan south of the piers and lighthouses which mark the entrance to Charlevoix's land-locked harbor.

The youngsters can be seen playing on the slides or building castles in the sand and their elders romping on the beach or swimming in Lake Michigan's cool water unmindful of the fact that this very beach is the site of Charlevoix's most historic event, the Battle of Pine River.

A native rock bearing a small bronze plaque at the top of the hill which leads to the beach is the only reminder today of the battle between the fishermen of the village of Pine River and the Mormons of Beaver Island 102 years ago next Wednesday.

Charlevoix was then only a small fishing village named Pine River for the slow, lazy stream which wended its way along the base of the sand dunes to Lake Michigan near the present municipal bath house.

It was a hot day that afternoon of July 13, 1853.

The women of the community had gathered for a quilting bee at the Morrison house located on a bluff overlooking the mouth of the river and the fishermen were tending their nets at a site along Lake Michigan where Boulder Park now stands.

Late in the afternoon the fishermen noticed two boats approaching from the northwest and with the aid of a telescope counted 18 men whom they recognized as members of the Mormon colony on Beaver Island ruled by 'King James Strang', Mormon leader who had declared himself king of the only empire within the United States.

The appearance of the Mormons came as no surprise to the villagers who had given refuge to three men who had escaped from the rule of the tyrant king.

Anticipating trouble the fishermen hurried to the spot where the invaders had landed but not before the Mormons had gone to the Morrison home and demanded the release of the trio before the day was over or they would 'wade in blood'.

When the villagers arrived the Mormons ceased their threats but insisted on having the three men for whom they had subpeenas.

The fishermen, angered by the request, advised the Mormons to return to Beaver Island. The Mormons, realizing they were outnumbered, decided to return home and were enroute to their boats when a young fisherman, Louis Gebeau, recognized some acquaintances among the Mormon party, started toward the beach to speak to them. As he did he raised his gun.

One of the Mormons evidently mistook the gesture and fired at Gebeau, wounding him in the leg. The shot from the invader's gun was a signal for the fishermen to open fire on the Mormons who hurried to their boats and started to rowing toward Beaver Island. The villagers gave chase in their boats firing continually and damaging one of the Mormon boats so it had to be abandoned as all the 18 men were loaded into the remaining boat. The Mormons were later picked up by the bark, Morgan, and taken to Beaver Island while the fishermen returned to Pine River.

Several of the Mormon party were seriously wounded in the battle. As a result several Pine River residents were indicted in circuit court at St. James but none were ever arrested.

The fishermen, however, feared reprisals from the Mormons and left their recently-established homes along Lake Michigan to join families or friends elsewhere in the area as Pine River became a deserted village.

Not until the assassination of the Mormon leader, King James Strang, in 1856 when the Mormon stronghold on northern Michigan was broken and the colony disbanded, did the early settlers return to claim their former homes.

Domestication of musk ox for farm use is being tested near Huntington Center, Vt., says the National Geographic Society. Three calves, two females and a bull, were brought down from Canada's Northwest Territories. When fully grown, they will tip scales at 800 pounds each and provide excellent meat. Their wool is even more highly prized. One mature musk ox may yield several times as much wool—light, fine, soft and nonshrinkable—as a sheep.

The first week of the 1955 camping season at Camp Charlevoix started off at the usual fast pace in getting the boys acquainted with and loved in their favorite activities. After a tour of inspection, to see just what each activity offered, the boys chose the ones they would enjoy most, and Tuesday morning the camp program was off to a flying start.

Each year, one of the highlights of the season is the election of the captains and lieutenants of the Green and Greys. The entire camp is divided into two sides, the Greens and the Greys. All competition throughout the season is between these two groups. The following boys were elected to lead their men this summer: The Green Captains are: Jim Faulkner, Jimmy Rion, Dick Leavitt, Bob Wood, Jim Mogle, Tommy Drummy, and Jack Martin. The boys chosen to lead the Greys are: Dave Keller, Jim Smith, Mike Dardas, Jim Baird, Joe Whinery, Roger Lundgren, John Adams, and John Baird. These boys will be busy all summer leading their respective sides.

The first Green-Grey competition was a Capture the Flag and the Greens won in all three sections, giving them a three point lead.

On Saturday night the Opening Indian Ceremony and Initiation. The old campers blinded the new boys who were then led into the sacred council ring and Ken issued a challenge to the new boys to strive to be the kind of a camper who could be taken into the Tribe of Charlevoix at the close of the season. Jake Whitecrow, our Indian from Oklahoma danced two of his native dances. Five of the counselors spoke to the boys on five characteristics a good camper should try to develop here. Then men speaking were Don Kelly, Bud Morse, Dick Elder, Bob O'Neill, and Ward Taylor. Ken had two young warriors dig up the spirits which were buried at the final council fire in 1954, and several of the campers' messages were read. After Taps was sung, the boys filed back to their cabins.

On Sunday morning the regular chapel service was held in the outdoor Chapel which has been cleaned, and more benches put in place so as to make room for our many visitors. Bob Wurster, our counselor from Louisiana, gave a very inspiring talk on "The Pine Tree". In the afternoon, our waterfront department, headed up by Wally Jeffries, University of Michigan Medical School, and a former captain of Michigan's Swimming Team, put on a Waterfront afternoon of races and games. This was Green-Grey competition, the Greens winning two points while the Greens got one point. Some of the campers who helped their side win were: Dick Leavitt, Dave Keller, Jim Baird, Joe Whinery, Monte McFadden, Clarence Busick, John Baird, Bill McClave and Jim Faulkner.

Sunday evening the three sections had vesper services. The Intermediates and Seniors were given a fine talk by Roger Eggert, University of Michigan Medical Student.

Once more we would like to request parents NOT TO SEND CANDY, CAKE, COOKIES, etc. to the campers. This past week several boys received gifts, and these are being held for parents to take home when they visit. More next week...

One Thing Men Agree Upon !

It is in the nature of things for men to hold opinions and to argue and dispute.

Football, baseball, politics—guns, golf clubs, breeds in dogs... name a best, and you have an argument.

And so it goes through boats and trains—and horses and tennis and makes of planes.

But when the discussion turns to motor cars, you'll seldom get an argument if you name CADILLAC as the car of cars.

That's about as close as men come to universal agreement. And with good reason.

Who could look about him at the various styles in motor cars—and not give the nod to Cadillac for its great dignified silhouette?

Who could take the wheel of this dynamic performer—and not crown it the king of the highway?

Who could relax in its luxurious comfort for a mile or five hundred—and fail to recognize it as the finest riding car on the world's highways?

And who could look back over its illustrious past—or look about him at the people who own it and drive it today—and not acclaim it as the most distinguished car in the whole automotive world?

We feel assured that you, yourself, are aware that Cadillac is the car of cars. But that is but part of the wonderful Cadillac story.

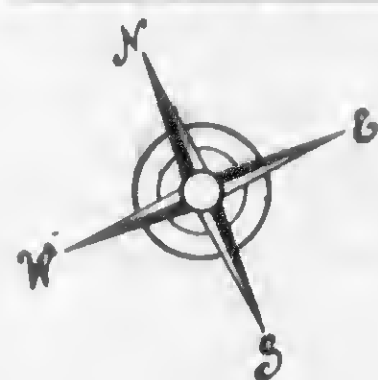

There are economy—and value—and dependability. And there are all the other sound, practical reasons for owning a Cadillac.

Come in and see us. Thirty minutes at the wheel... and you'll understand why there's no argument about a Cadillac!

Charm of Harbor Springs Impresses Summer Visitors

Visiting resorters to Harbor Springs are charmed with the sparkling white and crisp colorful geraniums of this famous resort section of Northern Michigan. Downtown Main Street snuggles along the line of the bay, which is a popular harbor for yachtsmen.

Tinkling bells announce a visitor's arrival in the shops where they are drawn by the attractiveness of the exteriors... usually an ancient shop building that has had flowered shutters added... or flower pot blanks at the windows.

One does not find the exclusive shopping in Harbor Springs confined to one section. For instance Perrin's shop of elegant gifts is tucked into a tree-shaded residential district, while the Perrin Yarn and Handbag Shop is located on Main Street in the ultra modern designed MacMartin Building. Here you find a lovely assortment of knitting and needlepoint yarns and resort novelty handbags that are 'conversation' accessories.

Spotted on a small corner at the other end of Harbor's picturesque Main Street is the exclusive shop of Natalie, Inc., of Harbor Springs and New York. This is a shopful of 'adornables' for children, and the smartest for women's casual wear, managed by Miss Eleanor McKinley.

Across the street is a famous shop uniquely called The Picket Fence, surrounded... by a white picket fence. As you walk thru the gate and down the walk to the front porch, you aren't sure that this could be a shop at all. But the little bell jingle above the door as you open it and the lovely informal display of choice gifts and glassware are assurance that this is indeed a delightful spot to browse and to buy the unusual.

Ladies and gentlemen who love to ferret the exclusive for resort shopping will find these shops among others in the fashionable community of Harbor Springs.

Charlevoix Is Home Of Popular Sporting Goods Equipment

The choice location in Charlevoix was a natural for the manufacture of sporting goods, fishing tackle and archery equipment by Stream-Eze, Inc. Plant No. 1 and the general offices are located in a resort environment on the shores of Lake Charlevoix where they produce high grade sporting goods, the majority of which are fabricated from fibre glass. The fabrication of the glass being done within the local plant.

Also included in the plant is a machine shop where skilled machinists operate to produce precision production machine work.

At the present time, Stream-Eze is under Government contract producing a Ponton boat for the United States Army, to be used by Army engineers for bridge work.

The Ponton is of plywood and metal construction, each complete unit being thirteen feet long and five feet wide. It is designed with a square type transom that is hinged so a compact ramp can be formed by fastening one or several units together according to the navigable expansion required.

Included in the sports equipment output at Stream-Eze are Flexi-Glass casting rods, trolling rods, spinning rods and ice rods. The Flexi-Glass salt water rod is designed specifically for week-fish, bay fishing and trolling.

Another popular product of Stream-Eze preferred by ardent archery enthusiasts are custom-built Tubular Glass Arrows which are closely matched for spine and weight, with a special smooth high gloss natural finish. The most popular is the select Port Oxford cedar arrow which is erected in attractive colors.

Leader in nationally famous hunting bows is the custom built Flexi-Glass bow which gives extreme hitting power and accuracy. The bow handles are saddle designed and feature take-down construction, nocks are inlaid

Word has been received by Earl A. Young that the lovely pine silhouette photo he sent to the advertising department of Wurzburg's Department Store in Grand Rapids, Michigan has been chosen as a cover for the menu in the Campau Room.

Some short copy about Charlevoix is also on the cover of the menu which will be used in the Campau Room for their summer series. A sample of the menu is on display in the Courier office display window, 101 Clinton. The photo was taken by Robert Miles, local photographer.

Petoskey Players Present Sparkling Comedy This Week

The Petoskey Players are on stage this week with the sparkling comedy "Ring Round the Moon". The show runs through Saturday in the new playhouse at the corner of Petoskey and Bay Streets.

It is a play of many moods... wistfully romantic, satirical, fantastic. To make his points about love, the author has invented a fable about twin brothers, Frederick, who is shy and sensitive, and Hugo who is heartless and aggressive.

Frederick is in love with a hussy who is in love with Hugo. To save Frederick from an unhappy marriage, Hugo tries to distract him by bringing to a ball, a beautiful dancer who masquerades as a mysterious personage and becomes the triumph of the occasion.

She is a susceptible maiden in her own right, however, and she not only breaks up all the cynical romances that have been going on before she arrived, but loses her own heart as well.

The play, written by Jean Anouilh, was a smash hit in France where it was first produced. Later, a translation by Christopher Fry met with much success in England.

Cite Safety Measures For Pleasure Craft Operators

With the advent of summer, the time for boating has arrived and more and more 'part-time' sailors are enjoying northern Michigan's beautiful waterways.

Fun-filled boat trips, however, can become nightmares in case of accidents on the water especially if the operator is not familiar with his equipment.

Because the U. S. Coast Guard is a firm believer in the old adage that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure", Robert E. Ashley, BMLC, officer in charge of the Charlevoix Lifeboat Station, is urging that all boat owners or operators check the equipment in their boats, see that it is in working order and that it meets certain specifications required by the U. S. Coast Guard.

Sometimes during the current navigation season, crewmen of the Lifeboat station will board all boats in the harbor and check the equipment. If everything is in order, a boarding card will be issued and the boat will not be boarded again this season unless it becomes necessary to ask for assistance from the Coast Guard, such as being towed to port. If the boat's equipment is not in order, a list of improvements will be given the owner and the boat will be checked when they are made.

To make it easier for boat owners or operators to make sure their boats are in 'sea-going' shape, Chief Ashley has issued a list of equipment required on all types of pleasure craft.

Life-saving equipment, lights, fire-fighting and fire-prevention equipment head the list.

Life-saving devices for boats in all classes are the same; one approved life preserver or buoyant cushion for each person aboard. No craft, regardless of size, should leave the dock without first fulfilling this requirement.

Lights are another very important piece of equipment. This applies to even the lowly canoe or rowboat which must have a white light on it if it is out on the water one half-hour before sunrise or one half-hour before sunset. The light should be placed so it is visible to other boaters at all times.

All boats other than canoes and rowboats must have running lights on the fore part of the vessel, showing red to the port or left and green to the starboard, visible from ahead to two points abaft the beam and also visible for one mile. The stern light should be white, showing all around the horizon for a distance of two miles.

Flame arrestors must be of an approved type on all vessels. All motor boats using fuel having a flash point of 110 degrees F. or less must have at least two ventilators fitted with cowls or their equivalent for the purpose of properly and efficiently ventilating the bilges of every engine and fuel compartment.

Class A boats, or those up to 16 ft. and Class I boats (16 to 26 ft) must have one hand portable extinguisher of an approved type; Class II boats (25 to 40 ft.) must have a fixed extinguisher

Weathervane Plans Grand Opening For Saturday Evening

Food, fashion and music will mark the official grand opening Saturday evening, July 9, of Weathervane Inn at the bridge in Charlevoix. Actually the Weathervane restaurant and shops unlocked their doors last week and have already attracted residents and tourists from north, south, east and west of here . . . as far as California. But next Saturday's dinner, style show and keyboard entertainment will celebrate the full blossoming of this summer social season.

Report fashions for milady, from casual togs to dinner gowns and furs, will be shown by Carriage Trade of Charlevoix and Fort Lauderdale. Conducted informally, the style parade will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the spacious Weathervane restaurant and will continue until 10:00 p.m. Adding indoor glamour to the surrounding picture-window lake view, the models will leisurely tour the dining room, stopping at tables when asked by diners about the creations being shown. They will also show in the picturesque tap room for those who reserve that dinner setting.

During the same hours Maus & Hoffman's distinguished sportswear for men and women will be on view in the shop itself, which adjoins the restaurant. Open also for browsers and purchasers will be the Shop of the Gulls, well known for its originality in gift-type objects d'art that range from compacts and lighters to imported accessories for the home.

The three Weathervane shops have already started the season by remaining open evenings, and will continue to do so.

Pianist Charles Latore is here from New York to provide music for Weathervane's grand opening. Early this week he began his season's engagement to perform nightly at the restaurant's baby grand. This is Latore's first visit to Michigan's Lower Peninsula. He is as captivated by the scenic splendor as his listeners are by his repertoire, which runs from current and old-time popular favorites to light classics. "You name it and I'll play it," says Latore. The young pianist has appeared at such resorts as the Concord Hotel at Kiamish Lake, N. Y., and at Montreal's Chez Paris and Club Flamingo. Reservations for the Weathervane's festive opening are already coming in, among them a birthday party for Harry D. Reece, who summers with his family at Ironton.

system in machinery spaces and two hand portable extinguishers; Class III boats (40 to 65 ft.), two fixed extinguisher systems in machinery spaces and three hand portable extinguishers.

The boats in the two top classes (II and III) also must be equipped with a bell and white bow light visible for two miles. Boats of more than 16 ft. must have a whistle of an approved type.

"These are a few basic requirements for safer and therefore happier boating", Chief Ashley said. "If everyone will follow these simple requirements, there will be fewer lake tragedies. It is the job of the Coast Guard to come to your assistance when you need us but we of the Coast Guard would rather see you have 'smooth (and safe) sailing' without our help. You'll have more fun".

Craft Shop Dream Materializes

It is always interesting to know the events which cause a person to take up a new profession in mid-stream and make a successful business out of it.

Such is the case of the Morfords. Health was the cause and ceramics the cure for an illness of Mrs. Morford's for which her doctor prescribed 'outside interests'.

They have opened for their second season the V and M Craft Shop which specializes in hand-craft and ceramics.

It was their dream since 1949 when, in Los Angeles Marie Morford first discovered a hidden desire to combine her draftsmanship with craftsmanship. She learned certain types of clays and minerals combined in proper consistencies are what dishes are made of, and she learned what molds are made of and how to use them by banding strips cut from old inner tubes pouring the mud, caring for the casting, then properly cleaning and decorating it.

By then the 'bug had bit' . . . and with a new electric kiln presented to her by her husband, a fascinating new career was launched.

Still continuing with her lessons, Mrs. Morford started supplying stores and individuals with her artistic ceramic pieces.

In 1954 the Morford's moved kit, kiln and kiln to Petoskey. Mr. Morford's home town. In June of that year they opened shop in a new and modern brick building on Spring st.

They had a good product of their own to merchandise, but they needed time and stock to load the shelves, so they laid in a supply of other items such as Indian made blankets, Birch bark items, etc. At present their stock is more than half their own ceramic products, such as wall plaques, porcelain plates, cups and saucers, etc.

One of the newest of their projects is ceramic jewelry, on which they worked last winter in Arizona for a supply to wholesale as well as retail. The Morford's aim now is to place before the public only such items that are handcrafted in their own shop. Mr. Morford's pet department is lawn ornaments. A prized feather in their caps was last year when they won first place, best of show, and a trophy at the National Ceramic Show at Long Beach, California. The entry was a large chop plate executed in sgraffito work, which is on display at their shop in Petoskey.

Mrs. Morford is a descendant of the world famous potters . . . The Wood Pottery . . . from England, and later, the United States. When Aaron Wood brought his discovery of a cheaper pottery to the poor people here after the Revolution. It was through his discovery of a less expensive pottery that many unfortunate people could have dishes which they could not afford before. Many of his plates with scenes of historic landmarks are classified as rare and very valuable.

Verne and Marie Morford enjoy meeting people who are interested in handcrafting and there is a friendly greeting for all who visit their shop.

Incumbents Win School Election; Reports Given At Annual Meet

Two incumbent trustees of the Charlevoix board of education were re-elected without opposition to their respective posts for terms of three years at the annual school election of the Charlevoix school district Monday.

They were E. D. Hawley who polled 40 votes and Albert H. Smith who had 38 votes. Two votes were cast for Mrs. H. E. Paddock and one for Mrs. Kit Carson. A total of 42 votes were cast in the election.

At the annual meeting which followed the closing of the polls Vernon L. Mathews presented the minutes of the last annual meeting and the secretary's report and Mr. Hawley gave the treasurer's report. All were accepted as presented by the 29 residents of the school district who attended the meeting in addition to the board of education, Supt. R. G. Bennett and Mrs. Erma Scheid, secretary.

During the discussion period which followed Mr. Bennett reported that the tentative budget for the 1955-56 school year has been set at $217,545 as compared with the adopted budget of $202,180 for the past year. The budget includes operational costs only and does not allow for the expansion of the school program or for new buildings.

Mr. Hawley's report showed that the district had found it necessary to borrow $20,000 on anticipated State Aid for the coming year and an additional $9,800 on anticipated revenue on transportation income to meet this year's budget.

The adoption of a long range planning program for building was discussed but the idea was abandoned when it was pointed out that the district still owes $180,000 on the last building program which included the addition of four rooms to the elementary building and the construction of the new unit which houses the industrial arts and music departments.

Among the other issues discussed were the introduction of a living language in the school curriculum; the adoption of an honor roll system for students as an incentive to the students; the possibility of adding art and increasing the physical education program; planning a school program to include facilities for the unusual child, including the bright and the handicapped. These were merely introduced for discussion and no action was taken.

The growing enrollment was also taken up and it was agreed that something would eventually have to be done but no positive action was taken.

In his annual report Mr. Bennett said that for the present the school would have to stick to the fundamental subjects for there were not funds to expand the program to include other desirable but not essential subjects.

He reported on the number of community groups which use the school for meetings; the enrollment in adult education programs offered by the school and the enlargement of the industrial arts and commerce departments in an effort to prepare students for vocations after leaving school.

A complete financial report will be found on page 9.

Naval Training Ship To Spend Weekend Here

The U. S. Naval Training ship, USS PCE 894, will make Charlevoix a port of call this weekend, according to a release from the Ninth Naval District Headquarters at Great Lakes, Ill.

The ship will be in command of LTJG Lewis H. Goldbeck Jr. The USS PCE 894 was built and commissioned at Portland, Ore. Like the other four PCE's of the Great Lakes squadron, the 894 can cruise eight officers and 70 bluejackets in addition to her crew.

She is equipped to train reservists in specialties from ship's cooks to boatwains mates... from engineers to electricians.

The ship was commissioned in Aug. 1944 and first operated as an anti-submarine warfare training ship in Pacific areas. During most of 1945 she served as a weather station in western coastal waters. Late in 1945 the 894 was sent to the forward Pacific area where she operated with a task unit and as a weather ship in the Guam-Marshall Island chain. In Dec. 1947 the vessel was decommissioned at the Boston Naval Shipyard and in June 1948 was returned to active duty as a training ship.

Like other PCE's, the 894 is diesel-powered and averages 13 knots. Her usual displacement is about 850 tons and she draws about nine feet. The ship is expected to dock here Friday afternoon for a weekend liberty stay and leave early Monday.

Style Show For Hospital Guild Will Be Tuesday

A benefit style show and luncheon will be presented at the Weatherhane Inn Tuesday, June 10 under the sponsorship of the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Hospital. Mrs. Alan Macdonnell, president of the organization, has announced.

Proceeds from the second annual event will be used to finance the purchase of a new children's oxygen tent for the Charlevoix Hospital.

"Around the clock" fashions will be featured at the style show modeled by Carriage Trade Inc. Mrs. Mildred Reilly who operates the shop in the Weatherhane Inn said Wednesday that among the fashions to be modeled will be evening gowns, sports and casual wear including the new Italian sport blouse worn with colorful cummerbunds and the gay country-club cotton evening costume, little furs of milk and fox and the new tuxedo jackets of doe skin embroidered with gold and colored braid.

Music for the show will be by pianist Charles Latore of New York. The luncheon will be served by the Charcoal Pit of the Inn. Tickets for the benefit event are on sale at Carriage Trade, the Charcoal Pit, Belvedere Hotel, and members of the Guild, including Mrs. James Coleman, chairman of the Ways and Means committee of the Guild.

City Council Adopts Plan On Water Mains

The problem of financing the cost of extending water mains in the city was one of the main issues discussed at the regular meeting of the City Council Monday night.

The issue was settled when the council voted to pay 60 per cent of the cost with the customer paying the remaining 40 per cent.

The matter was brought to a decision when Mr. and Mrs. Louis Juilleret appeared before the council to request the extension of the Eaton ave. water main to their property where they plan to build shortly.

Earlier Lake Construction Co. had requested a decision on the cost of a water main and sewer on Oak st. The new ruling will apply in this case. The construction company will finance the installation of the sewer to the property involved.

Prior to this action, the city

Two From County Attend Adventist Training Camp

Leo and Ronald Burnett of Bay Shore were among the 28 Michigan men who attended the Seventh-Day Adventist camp near Grand Lodge recently.

The more than 100 draft-age youths underwent a grueling two-weeks training course in soldiering. They volunteered for training, paid their own way to Grand Lodge from all parts of the country and actually paid for their training.

They are members of the Seventh-day Adventist church and learned how to be good medical soldiers. Adventists who enter the armed forces ask that they be assigned to save lives rather than take them.

Not conscientious objectors in the strictest sense of the term, the members of the Medical Cadet Corps have come to be known as "conscientious cooperators."

After training corporamen during World War II and the Korean war, the denomination decided to continue the training as long as the draft continues. Adventist leaders feel they are making a positive contribution to the nation's good and point out that for every Adventist trained as a medical soldier, somebody else can be released for a weapon-carrying assignment.

Famous Kiltie Band Will Participate In Venetian Activities

The Plymouth Kiltie Band sponsored by the Plymouth Motor Corp. of Detroit, accompanied by Plymouth's Dancing Lassies will be in Charlevoix to participate in the annual Venetian Night program and boat parade scheduled for July 30 and 31, S. E. Coleman, secretary of the Charlevoix Board of Commerce was informed in a telephone conversation with William Ramsey of the Chrysler Corp. which sponsors the band.

The band appeared in Charlevoix during the Venetian night festivities last year and met with the instant approval of the thousands of visitors who saw and heard them.

Other plans for the Venetian Night festivities are progressing well, Mr. Coleman said, in announcing that the popular Kiltie lads and lassies would return. The response for talent for the variety show which will be presented Saturday and Sunday evening in East Park has been excellent.

A number of boat owners have already announced plans for entering the Venetian night boat parade on Round Lake and competing for the top prizes totaling $250.00. The three prizes are for $100.00, $75.00 and $50.00 with every entry receiving a check for $10.00 for entering a decorated boat in the parade.

A highlight of the festivities will be the coronation of Joyce Cunningham as Venetian Queen on Sunday afternoon, July 31.

The Venetian Boat parade is presented annually on Round Lake the last Sunday in July. The parade of lighted boats under a canopy of fireworks has become known far and wide as one of the most spectacular sights in northern Michigan and is witnessed annually by thousands of visitors.

The event will be held at the Congregational church from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. with a luncheon from 12 to 2 p.m.

Mrs. Seymour is chairman of the event with Mrs. Harold Bedford serving as co-chairman.

Committee chairmen include Mrs. Ralph S. Hess and Mrs. C. S. Webster, fancy work; Mrs. C. A. Odmark and Mrs. George Smith, baked goods; Mrs. Ted Miller and Mrs. Bedford, kitchen; Mrs. Lester Smith and Mrs. A. J. Stelter, dining room.

Industrialists Are Given Invitation

The Charlevoix Industrial Development Committee has extended an invitation to summer residents who are industrialists to consider Charlevoix as a site for industrial expansion or relocation.

In an advertisement in this week's Charlevoix Courier, they asked to investigate the many advantages the city offers by contacting Roy R. Robinson, city superintendent.

Will Dedicate Site Of Bellaire Church

The Rev. Malcolm D. Thomson and members of his charge, Christ Episcopal church here, are planning to attend the dedication of a newly-acquired site of the Episcopal church of St. Sebaldus at Bellaire Sunday.

Bishop Dudley B. McNeil of Grand Rapids will officiate at the dedication ceremony at 3 p.m. Site of the proposed church is at the west end of Bellaire, a half mile from the center of town on Route 620.

Crewman Lost Overboard In Lake Michigan

An air-sea search off South Fox island 30 miles west of here in Lake Michigan for Joseph Russell, 40, of Northport, who was lost off a small freight boat, Miss Manistee, about 9 p.m. Sunday was called off at 8 a.m. Monday when aircraft from the U.S.C.G. air station at Traverse City and a patrol boat from the Charlevoix Lifeguard station failed to sight the lost seaman.

The crewman of the freighter which was enroute from Northport to South Fox island at the time reportedly fell or jumped from the boat without a life jacket. The accident was reported by radio and a plane from the Traverse City airbase was dispatched to join in the search. The man was sighted several times in the search lights but failed to grasp life preservers and lines thrown to him from searching craft.

The 40-ft. cargo boat from the Charlevoix Lifeguard station joined the search after the boat had been dispatched by Chief Robert E. Ashley, officer in charge of the station, to investigate flares seen over Lake Michigan. Later it was learned that the flares had been dropped by searching aircraft. The helicopter joined the search at daylight.

Chief Ashley said Wednesday that all craft plying northern Michigan waters in the general area of South Fox island would be alerted to watch for the body of the missing man.

Report Issued On Electricity Shows Increases

The growth of Charlevoix in the past three years might well be found in a report released this week on the increased electric sales over a period ending June 30.

In 1953 the utility department received $11,582.16 on the sale of 331,441 KW Hours to 1,368 customers.

The following year the sales increased to 439,385 KW Hours to 1,443 customers - with revenue jumping to $14,632.55.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

DID A story on cherries this week . . . and drooled most of the time, for if there's one thing we like almost as much as strawberries it's big black, juicy sweet cherries . . . It's too bad one can't have them around the calendar 'cause we have to eat so many in a few short weeks to last for another year . . . Other than knowing that they're darned good in pies or to eat as fresh fruit, we never knew too much about cherries until last fall when we had a lesson from Mr. Rosquist, who operates the Longview orchard . . . Mr. Rosquist lived in Chicago and summered here until 14 years ago when he decided to go into the fruit growing business . . . a very successful one, we might add . . . We asked him if he didn't find it difficult to learn about farming and fruits but he said that there were so many grand sources of information available today that they'd take time and a lot of study, he'd enjoyed it very much.

CLAUDE Fairman is another fruit grower who turned from another vocation to farming . . . We sometimes wonder if he knows how many acres of what he has, 'cause his farm is so large but he seems to manage very well . . . Before turning to farming he was a professional musician and for years traveled with the old Chat-aqua shows . . .

SO WHEN you want cherries for canning or eating, patronize Charlevoix county growers . . . Howard Stephens, Mr. Fairman, Mr. Rosequist or Eveline Orchards . . . which are the closest to us . . . try 'em and you'll see . . . PS . . . You might have some other grower we've missed and that's OK too as long as he's in the area . . .

YOU'VE heard the saying many times 'It pays to advertise' . . . we like to add 'in the Courier' and we have a little story that came our way to prove our point . . . It all started early in June when a stray pooch, a cocker spaniel, came crying to the door of the Al Scheids on US 31 South . . . They took the poor little thing in and started looking for a home for her but soon they were presented with a family of four non-descript puppies . . . And of course they couldn't put the family out at this critical time . . . But last week, the Scheids decided that the time had come so they advertised (in the Courier) for homes for the four pups . . . By Saturday noon all four pups, along with the mother, had homes . . . One child was so disappointed when he found that the puppies were all gone that his father asked if they'd consider giving up the mother . . . Result: a bunch of happy kids with new pets . . .

SAW THE most beautiful bass the other day . . . a small mouth bass caught by Charlie Bergmann while fishing out on the big lake with Alvin Goldman . . . It weighed four pounds, right on the nose, and was 18 1/2 in. long . . . We weighed it and measured it for Shod so we know it's right . . . We could fish all year and never get a fish like that . . . Guess no matter how many you catch, it's always a thrill to catch a honey like that . . . We know Shod has caught many but he was sure thrilled about this one . . . and generous too, for it ended up in the Goldman frying pan.

ITS ALWAYS fun to see old friends . . . We had the good fortune to see one last week that many of you will remember . . . 'Uncle' Charlie Hamilton who was once superintendent of schools here . . . way back when . . . We reminisced about all our mutual friends and had one grand gabfest . . . He wanted to be remembered to the old friends he didn't get to see . . . Remember the time we went on strike while he was here? Who says strikes and parades with placards are something new?

YOU KNOW, there are guys who do a job because they have to . . . they go to work, spend eight hours on the job doing what has to be done and no more and then go home . . . But every now and then you'll find a fellow who loves his work, who takes great pride in his job and who doesn't count the hours or watch the clock . . . Charlevoix's very fortunate to have such a person as greenskeeper . . . Ray the municipal course . . . The acreage that comprises the golf course might well be his because of the pride he takes in it . . . And now he's set up what he calls his 'nursery' . . . a place where he keeps sod in shape with which to repair the greens . . . that's on the corner across from the course where the Charlevoix the Beautiful sign is located . . . His efforts have beautified still another spot . . . If you get the idea that we think Walt Henley's doing a terrific job you're right . . . We thought you should know about it, in case you didn't.

Foot-Gibbons Exchange Wedding Vows

St. Mary's Chapel in Ann Arbor was the scene Saturday morning of the wedding of Carol Margaret Foot-Gibbons of Detroit and Lieut. Gerald George Gibbons of Charlevoix.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Foot of Detroit and Dr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Gibbons are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Fr. MacPhillips officiated at the wedding ceremony during the Nuptial Mass before an altar decorated with bouquets of white garden flowers.

The bride chose a gown of white eyelet organdy for her wedding. It was styled with a scooped neckline, fitted bodice, short sleeves and dropped waistline. The full skirt tapered to a full-length panel in back. A seed-pearl tiara secured her fingertip veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of abrium lilies and sweetpeas.

Nora Granito of Manassas, N. Y., as maid of honor wore a gown of orchid eyelet organdy identical to the bride's and a crown of flowers. She carried a colonial bouquet of sweetpeas.

Charles Gibbons of Livonia assisted his brother as best man. Ushers were Victor C. Gibbons, brother of the bridegroom and Casimir Chomicz of Detroit.

A reception in the University of Michigan League garden followed during the afternoon. Mrs. Charles Gibbons of Livonia, Rosalyn Gackstetter of Tawas City, Martha Papp of Plymouth, Wanda Perelli of Dearborn and Carolyn Fitz of Detroit assisted.

Following a wedding trip through northern Michigan, the couple will make their home at Sault Ste. Marie where Lieut. Gibbons will be stationed with the U. S. Army at Camp Lucas. For traveling the bride chose a lilac butch linen suit and gray and white accessories.

The bride is a June graduate of the University of Michigan where she was a member of the Women's Honorary Senior Society. Mr. Gibbons, a December graduate of Michigan State University in Police Administration, was a member of the professional fraternity, Alpha Pi Sigma. He has been assigned to the Eighth Army Anti-Aircraft battalion at Camp Lucas.

Bacon-Allison Marriage Vows Are Spoken In Double Ring Ceremony

In a ceremony solemnized at the First Christian church in Petoskey Saturday, Anna Louise Bacon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bacon of Petoskey, became the bride of William H. Allison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Allison.

The Rev. Floyd Emshwiller read the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with yellow and white gladioli.

Mrs. K. C. Fosterling played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied the soloist, Shirley Priebe.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a sleeveless gown of white lace over taffeta styled with a net and lace bodice which had a bolero effect and a ballerina length skirt which flared with a pleated net insert in the center. A tiara of seed pearls and orangeblossoms held her fingertip veil of nylon tulle. She carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of white carnations centered with an orchid.

Evelyn Eppler of Petoskey as maid of honor and Shirley Froy-saa of Grand Rapids as bridesmaid wore identical gowns of net over taffeta with matching boleros and head bands. Miss Eppler's gown was light green and Miss Froy-saa's yellow. Both carried bouquets of tinted carnations.

Kenneth Allison assisted his brother as best man and Alfred Allison Jr., another brother, was groomsmen. Robert Niswander and Don Taylor, both of Petoskey, were ushers.

Mrs. Bacon selected a light blue gown of shadow sheer and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Allison wore a navy dress and matching accessories. Both had corsages of white carnations.

The Maple Grove Grange hall was the site of the evening reception for 150 guests.

For traveling on their wedding trip to the upper peninsula and Canada, the bride wore a suit of charcoal and grey and white accessories.

The couple plan to make their home in Flint.

The bride is a graduate of the Petoskey high school and the School of Beauty Culture in Grand Rapids. Mr. Allison, a graduate of the Charlevoix high school, was recently discharged from the U. S. Army following a two year tour of duty, part of which was spent in Korea.

Annual Election Held By School District Monday

Ellsworth — At the annual school election held Monday, 280 voters cast their ballots. The proposition to borrow $150,000 for financing the building of additional classrooms and a gymnasium-auditorium was defeated by a vote of 148-122, and the vote on increasing the tax rate limitation six mills for 20 years was No-152, and Yes-128. William J. Goeman as trustee, secretary, Marvin Elzinga and treasurer, Anthony M. Kuiper were re-elected as members of the board of education.

At the annual school meeting held at 8:30 p.m. voters approved an increase in salaries of $100.00 each for the secretary and treasurer and $15 yearly for trustees. It was voted to have 180 days of school, and it was decided not to have the annual potato digging "vacation" this year.

News Round-up at Camp Charlevoix

The Fourth of July dawned warm and bright and the second week of the camping season was off to a flying start. We entered several of our horses in the Horse Show at Boyne City and came away with several ribbons and a beautiful gold trophy. Tom Kearney of Flossmoore, Illinois, rode Squaw to victory in the Western Pleasure Class, and as we had won the event for the last three years with another one of our horses, Patches (who was laid up with a sore foot), we were very pleased when the judge announced Squaw as the winner over 33 other horses. Charles Stansell, one of our cowboys from Oklahoma, rode Champ to a blue ribbon in the barrel-bending event. The boys who rode in the show were: Matt Budger, Flint; Jim Rion, Dayton, O.; and Dave Keller, South Bend, Ind. In the evening a huge campfire was held on the shore of the lake, and with a full moon in the background, it was a perfect evening for songs and stories around the campfire.

Kerring, Robert Helwig, Jan Gibboney, Julian Williams, Dick Cox, Greg Lohd, Gaey Murfin, and Charles Lee.

On Wednesday, the entire Junior Section took off in the large blue truck for supper at Young's State Park. They had a swim there, and returned home in time for taps at eight-fifteen. Jack Kennedy took his boys on a cook-out to Lake Michigan. These boys were: Dick Minnock, John Parr, Bill McKenzie, John Leonard, Joe Chapell, Mark Wenner and "Tip" Sempliner.

Ward Taylor and Bud Morse took their boys over to Lake Michigan on Thursday for a supper cook-out. The boys making this trip were: Mike Smullen, George Davis, Jim Mogle, Jim Cooper, Jim Brodie, Bill Jury, Bill McMullen, Ted Lilly, Bob Huguener, Tom Wright, Don Campbell, Andy Carrick, Stewart Crampton, Roger Smith, David Hinsch, and Dick Genet.

On Friday, we played host to camp Santa Maria and a great day was had in two softball games and two swimming meets, and our boys came through winning both swimming meets and the Senior Softball game. The boys who helped our swimmers win were: John Jacobs, Charles Lee, Dick Leavitt, Jim Baird, Joe Whinery, John Baird, Peck Kunkel. In the ball games, on our winning senior team, Roger Coffman pitched a fine game backed up by stellar playing by Jan Gibboney, Dave Keller, Bill Carson, Monte McFadden, Jim Faulkner, Clarence Busick, Mike Dardas, and Robby Helwig. The Intermediate team lost in extra innings, by a score of 6-3. The seniors winning score was 26-15.

On Saturday night the first skit night was held in the Bigwam. Three cabin groups put on skits plus an extra feature by some of the staff. Dick Hesse's juniors put on a rendition of "Davey Crockett", with Mike Frederick being Davy. John Parr played the piano for the skit and did a very fine job. The boys in this act were: Steve Bachle, Jack Hogan, John Baird, Mike Betley, John Drummy, and Lewis Buckingham. Roger Eggert's boys put on a skit called "After Taps at Camp Charlevoix". These boys were John Gray, Arthur Lennox, David Wilson, Andy Haiduck, John Wilson, Larry Garrett, and Joe Schmansky. The cabin of oldest boys in camp, under the direction of Wally Jefferies put on a three act skit, with Bill Carson as the announcer. The other boys were Dave Keller, Dick Leavitt, Monte McFadden, Bill Prosser, Jim Faulkner, Jerry Hill, and Roger Coffman.

We had several parents in camp over the weekend, and it was very nice to see them and to have them see the camp in action. Many of them attended the chapel service on Sunday morning in our outdoor chapel.

The Annual Grey and Green Track meet was held on Sunday afternoon, and excitement ran high as the boys tried to win events for their side. In the junior section, the boys winning events were: Lewis Buckingham, Steve Bachle, John Baird, John Thrasher and Billy Mack. In the Intermediate section, Jim Baird, Dick Gaston, and Steve Erickson were the big winners, while Jim Busick, Monte McFadden, Roger Coffman, Jim Cotton, Peck Kunkel and Jim Rion were the winners. The Grey team picked up three points, winning all three sections, so now the Green and Grey competition has taken a decided change with the Greys being ahead by two points.

LIVING TODAY

By

Rev. Wilson H. Rinker

Be Hopeful

Read Psalm 23.
Text: John 16:33; Jesus says to His disciples, "In Me ye have peace. In the world ye shall have affliction, but be of good cheer! I have overcome the world."

Jesus informs His people that they live in two spheres of life: the one, Eternal Life in Christ; the other, temporal life in the world. Eternity is a word used to designate, no beginning and no end. But Eternal Life in Christ, for a believer, has a beginning marked in terms of Redemption. It has no end, however, because it goes on eternally with God. Temporal life in the world has both a beginning and an end. It is life which is experienced by just and unjust alike. It is measured in terms of a span from birth to death. Everyone born, must, and will die, except those who are to be received by Christ as His own at His Second Coming. They will be translated.

Affliction is a part of temporal life. It has various forms, such as, pain in the body, sorrow in the heart, confusion in mind, lack of assurance in life. Whatever its form, it is the result of imperfection. Imperfection is the result of sin. Sin is the result of disobedience. Disobedience was and is the failure to obey the will of God. Disobedience came through Adam. In Adam everyone fell in sin which brought the imperfection, which manifests itself in affliction. Obedience comes through Christ, and in Christ, all, who believe in Christ, are made perfect and heirs of Eternal Life.

Believers have Eternal Life in Christ which is a guarantee of a Peace in the heart. When we possess this Peace, it does not separate us from affliction. The Peace enables us to see beyond the affliction. Affliction, in the world without Christ, spells defeat.

A Christian seeing beyond affliction notices Christ's victory over all of sin. A believer is in union with Christ, in Whom there is perfection. Christ has rightfully claimed for Himself the Glory of a Conqueror over all of the world's evil, including the last terror of life, which is death. All believers must experience affliction of some sort in the world, and all believers must experience death. But, as in affliction so in death, Christ has conquered.

In Christ we conquer. That is why Jesus said to His disciples and to us, "Be of good cheer, or in other words be hopeful, or be confident for in spite of all these afflictions which may come upon you in the world, I have overcome the world." That which appears to be defeat to the world is victory to the Christian, for time does not end the life of a Christian. His life is Eternal with Christ.

The world may take away from us all of our life's possessions, including life itself, and as a believer in Christ, we shall be clothed in the fulness of Christ's righteousness. Our Lord's earthly ministry ended even as His earthly life began — with a message of peace to His disciples. "In Christ we have peace. In the world, affliction; but be hopeful, Jesus has overcome the world."

Twin Pipes that play sweet music!

Chevrolet's "Super Turbo-Fire V8" with 180 hp.

You can spot this one by the twin tailpipes. No matter what you drive, you're going to see twin-exhaust Chevrolets pulling away—in traffic, on the toughest hills, on the long straightaways.

... Unless you have a "Super Turbo-Fire V8" of your own. And then you'll know what it's like to pilot the car that sets the pace for everything else—and doesn't pause to read the price tags!

What makes the Super seat? Chevrolet's superb valve-in-head V8, with the shortest stroke in the industry, the most power per pound, and the only 12-volt electrical system in its field—all this plus a four-barrel carburetor and free-breathing twin exhausts.

Want to sample this silk-lined cyclone? Just give us a call, any day this week, and we'll be proud to show you just how hot a V8 can be.

*Optional at extra cost.

No wonder this great '55 Pontiac is setting all-time sales records!

It's bigger, smarter and more powerful than any other car at anything like the price!

A sales success like Pontiac's starts on the drawing boards—with engineers and designers who have been schooled for years in the Pontiac idea of giving more people more car for less money.

With its long 123" or 124" wheelbase and extra, big-car hapt, Pontiac provides road-hugging comfort you get in no other car near it in price! Now take this big, roomy car and surround it with the distinction of Twin-Strake styling and Vogue Two-Toning—beauty that obviously is calling the turn on the future—and you have another reason for Pontiac's phenomenal sales success.

That alone would be enough for most cars—but not for Pontiac!

Pontiac corners the market on value with the most powerful engine within hundreds of dollars of its price. The sensational 300-horsepower

Strato-Streak V-8 with four-barrel carburetor is the most modern power you can buy. You're on even terms with anything on the road—and you enjoy the greatest economy and dependability in Pontiac history.

If by now you're thinking "This is what I've wanted all along!", we suggest you stop in and talk dollars and cents. That's when you'll get the final reason for Pontiac's record popularity—the fact that you can fit a big, powerful, future-fashioned Pontiac into any new-car budget!

You'll never find it easier to get into the fine-car class than right now!

Farmers make up half of Formosa's population, says the National Geographic Society. Many hold title to their lands. The average holding is three acres. Favorable climate, irrigation and use of fertilizers allow two or three crops yearly. Bumper rice crops in 1954 produced a record 1,873,910 tons.

Section 1. Permission is hereby granted to Top O'Michigan Rural Electric Company, a Michigan Corporation, its successors, and assigns, to construct, maintain and operate in the public streets, highways, alleys and other public places in the Township of St. James, Charlevoix County, Michigan, all needful and proper poles, towers, mains, wires, pipes, conduits and other apparatus requisite for the transmission and distribution of electricity, and to transact a local business within said Township, subject, however, to all conditions and restrictions hereinafter contained.

Section 2. The conditions of the foregoing grant are as follows:
A. The grantee shall do no injury to any street, highway, alley, or other public place, or to any shade trees, or in any manner disturb or interfere with any water or gas pipes, or with any public or private sewer, now or hereafter laid or constructed by any authorized person or corporation.

B. The Board of County Road Commissioners of Charlevoix County, or other proper authority, may in their discretion grant permission for the trimming of trees when necessary to make the lines safe and accessible, such trimming to be done under their supervision.

C. The said grantee before entering upon any street, highway, alley or public place for the purpose of erecting and constructing any poles, mains, wires, pipes, conduits or other apparatus, shall in writing notify the Board of County Road Commissioners of Charlevoix County, or the Superintendent of said Board, or other proper authority, of the proposed construction, and obtain approval thereof, and shall, if the said Board so requires, file with it a sufficient plan and specification showing the nature and extent of the proposed erection and construction.

D. E. The grantee shall save the Township harmless from any judgment that may be recovered against the Township by reason of the wrong-doing or negligence of said grantee in the erection and maintenance of said poles, mains, wires and other apparatus or construction.

F. Said grantee shall make due provision upon forty-eight hours notice in writing by rolling its wires or otherwise, for the passage of any born, building or other structure on or over any street, highway, or public place occupied by the mains, wires, poles and apparatus of said grantee.

Section 5. Nothing in this grant shall be construed to alienate the title of the public in and to any street, highway, alley or public place or any portion thereof, neither shall anything herein be construed in any manner as a surrender by the Township of St. James of its legislative power with respect to the subject matter hereof, or with respect to any other matter whatsoever; nor as in any manner limited the right of the said Township of St. James to regulate the use of any street, avenue, highway, alley or public place within its jurisdiction.

OUR CREED

The members of this Association stand united in their firm conviction that in dealing with the motoring public and our fellow man, there is a definite need for a service station where profit is valued no more than integrity—where volume is valued no more than honesty; and where honor is the watchword in sales and service.

"Operator! This is an emergency!"

Mrs. Florence Russell Mrs. Shirley Golze Mrs. Stowe and Vicky Lyn

Mrs. James K. Stowe, of Northville, was in the kitchen when she heard Vicky Lyn scream.

The 17-month-old baby had climbed to the top of the stairs. By the time Mrs. Stowe reached her, the baby had fallen to the bottom, injuring herself badly.

The frantic mother rushed to the telephone. She knew she must get someone to take them to the hospital.

When the operator, Mrs. Shirley Golze, heard Mrs. Stowe's excited voice she quickly called the Service Assistant, Mrs. Florence Russell, in case extra help was needed.

Mrs. Stowe declined the operators' offer to call the police. After making several unsuccessful calls to relatives, she finally reached her aunt, Mrs. Lester Kitchen. She sped to the house and took the Stowes to the hospital.

There little Vicky Lyn's injuries were treated and Mrs. Stowe took her home.

Mrs. Stowe wrote to Michigan Bell:

"The operators were so nice, even though they could hardly hear me. My baby was crying and I was so upset I could hardly speak. Thank you for your wonderful assistance when I needed help so badly."

Cherry Harvest Reaches Peak Of Season In Charlevoix Area

"Cherries are ripe, cherries are ripe, the robins sang one day" is a well-known nursery song but these days it might well be the theme song of Charlevoix county's cherry growers.

Last week saw the appearance of the first early varieties of sweet cherries and this week marked the beginning of the sour cherry harvest.

While Grand Traverse and Leelanau counties are touted as the heart of Michigan's cherry country, Charlevoix county with its 40 growers also plays an important role in an industry which is just becoming of age.

A check with Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent reveals that the area's growers prefer the sour varieties with only five growers marketing sweet cherries.

Largest grower of the sweet varieties is John Rosquist of Longview orchard who also raises two varieties of pears: Fairman's orchards, the most diversified with apples, peaches and pears in addition to the sweet and sour cherries. Eve-line orchards which also raises sour cherries and apples; Howard Stephens of Hortons Bay whose orchards feature sour cherries and Howard Greg of Boyne City.

Another interesting fact about the growers of Charlevoix county is that with all but five growers, the cherry orchards are a sideline and not the main source of income, Mr. Rebman said.

Mr. Rebman also said that the cherry crop this year is expected to be better than anticipated following the May 9 frost when it

Artist Merizon Is Also Philosopher

A well known artist, Armand Merizon, visited Charlevoix recently and remarked at the wonder of complete beauty surrounding the area. Looking about him with the keen eyes of a painter analyzing a familiar and fascinating canvas, artist and philosopher Merizon said almost wonderingly, "... too few people look at something with the objectivity of what it is. Their reactions are clouded with opinions and sentiments." We were talking about how the average person responds to a painting of his favorite view... or a portrait of his child, but I knew he was wondering at the same time how some people are so unconsciously aware of the beauty that surrounds them.

Mr. Merizon concentrated his first study of art at Vesper George School of Art in Boston, which he attended on a scholarship. From there he went to New York where he graduated from the Phoenix School of Design. Later, in the services of the army, he had the opportunity of painting many Paris scenes. With a background of fundamentals, he feels he has learned more from associating with practicing artists in their studios than in any school... Nature, he believes, is the greatest teacher of all.

Most of the paintings by Mr. Merizon are marine landscapes. He has a love for large bodies of water and coastal lines. His finished work is done in his studio from color film after various preliminary sketches and notes taken on the spot. He uses oil paints predominantly as a medium, although some are executed in pen and ink. Outside of a period when he taught painting and illustration at the Kendall School of Design in Grand Rapids, he has always been a free lance artist, preferring to paint what pleases him rather than to be commissioned for a specific assignment. At the present time his studio is in Frankfort, Michigan.

Mr. Merizon has won several popular awards and has held exhibits in Detroit, Grand Rapids, and out of state cities including New York. His most recent canvas, which took five weeks to complete, is hanging in the local Shop of the Gulls in the Weather-vane Building and depicts the magnificent view out the channel from the bridge toward Lake Michigan.

This painting is an interesting combination of a realistic interpretation done in a deep textured but definitely disciplined technique. It has a French Impressionist approach to painting that combines a feeling of unregulated movement and rock stability executed by a disciplined brush and with no restrictions on the amount of oil media applied.

Armand Merizon expresses the opinion of most artists who accept their talent humbly; "Art is first of all a way of life, a way of thinking, a way of evaluating."

The Northside Neighborhood Playground has been opened on Crouter st. for the use of youngsters on the northside, Leonard Burns, recreation director, has announced.

The unsupervised playground will be located on Crouter st. between Burns and Prospect aves. on property owned by John Norton and Mrs. Henry Thomason, who offered the use of the property for the playground this summer.

A basketball backboard has already been erected and a softball field will be laid out this week, Mr. Burns said.

Children on the north side are invited to patronize the playground.

A new 15 ft. springboard has been installed at the Ferry ave. dock for use by swimmers, Leonard Burns, recreation director announced this week.

The installation of the springboard resulted from countless requests for the board.

More than 100 youngsters are enrolled in the classes taught by Gordon Mel and Larry Burns, lifeguards at the two beaches.

Another recreation program which has met with success is the golf lessons for youngsters 10 years old or more. At present 15 young golfing aspirants are attending classes at the municipal golf course taught by Keith Carey, club manager.

World in Review

PRESIDENT Eisenhower arrived in Geneva Saturday night in a hopeful mood for this week's Big Four conference with Premier Bulganin of Russia, French Premier Faure and British Prime Minister, Anthony Eden.

SERVICE resumed on five Straits of Mackinac car ferries this week after striking crewmen voted to end their 18-hour walkout.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower led off Monday's opening session of the Big Four conference with a package plan for a cold-war armistice offering Russia security in exchange for a unified Germany. The plan agreed on previously by the Western leaders bars any Russian move to neutralize all Germany.

THE SENATE voted this week to let the Federal Government help states and communities give free polio shots to children and expectant mothers. The compromise bill, recommended unanimously by the Senate Labor Committee, now goes to the House where similar legislation is pending.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower has given Soviet leaders a personal pledge that the Western alliance will never attack Russia.

PREMIER Bulganin has made clear that a divorcing of Germany from the Western European alliance is Russia's price for uniting the country.

THE ARMY hopes it can keep three divisions in the Far East, as at present, and still comply with Secretary of Defense Wilson's order to reduce manpower in the Japan-Korea area.

M. Vander Ark Is Killed In Car Accident

Funeral services for Everett G. VanderArk, 48, a native of Ellsworth who was killed in a high-speed accident north of Charlevoix Saturday morning, were held at the Ellsworth Christian Reformed church Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. Henry Zwaanstra, pastor of the church; the Rev. Henry Fiske, pastor of the Alwood Reformed church and the Rev. August VanderArk of Chicago, a cousin, officiated. Burial was in the Ellsworth cemetery.

Mr. VanderArk was killed on US 31 seven miles north of Charlevoix when the car in which he was driving alone went out of control after he passed a car driven by Gerald Asmus of Wyandotte, a tourist, according to Sheriff Glenn E. Rose. The car skidded 246 ft. and rolled over five times. He was killed instantly, according to Dr. J. E. Grate, Charlevoix county coroner.

The body was taken to the Pontius chapel and later to the Hastings Funeral Home in Ellsworth. Mr. VanderArk, an employee of the Michigan Highway Department in Rockford for three years, usually spent the weekend in Ellsworth with his mother, Mrs. Maggie Kloster. It is believed he had gone to Petoskey on business and was enroute to Ellsworth when the accident happened.

Born at Mitchell in Banks township, Jan. 20, 1909, Everett Gilmore VanderArk, spent his boyhood with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett VanderArk. He was graduated from the Ellsworth high school in 1929 and during World War II served in the army from April 8, 1942 to Nov. 23, 1945, participating in three major campaigns in North Africa, northern France and the Rhineland with a military police battalion. Since his discharge he had been employed by the Michigan Highway Department in Lansing and more recently in Rockford.

Besides his mother, he is survived by a step-brother, George Kloster of East Jordan and two step-sisters, Mrs. Clifford VanderArk of Sanborn, La., and Mrs. Peter DeJong of Seattle, Wash.

Walter Real, 69 Dies Following A Long Illness

Born in Chicago May, 1886, the son of John and Augusta Weed Real, Mr. Real was a real estate dealer, politician and chauffeur in Chicago before coming to Charlevoix in 1935. He resided here for eight years before moving to his present home at Ironton.

He is survived by his wife, the former Johanna Boensch; one son, Walter Jr. of Chicago and three brothers, Edward of Stager, Ill., and George and Emil of Chicago.

• Pfc. Nathan Boss left Wednesday for his new assignment at Fort Devens, Mass., after spending a leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Boss. He was formerly stationed at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Gives Report On Dry, Hot Weather Spell

The hot, dry spell which started early in June and continued so far this month has been the subject of great concern to everyone in the immediate area particularly the farmers whose crops stand to be ruined.

Their great concern is justified for in an area which averages 2.5 inches of rain per month, only 1.52 inches of rain fell in June and so far this month only 18 inches of rainfall has been recorded, according to information obtained from Harry Ladd who collects such data for the U. S. Weather Bureau, who went on to say that of the total rainfall for June, .86 in. fell on June 6 with the remainder being recorded following a number of brief showers later in the month.

Mr. Ladd also said that since October the rainfall and snowfall have been below average with only the month of April registering a normal rainfall.

By comparison, 8.63 inches of rain fell during June 1954. Mr. Ladd is one of 130 residents of the state of Michigan who collect weather data and report their findings to the Weather Bureau once a month. Like the others, Mr. Ladd donates his services.

Legion Auxiliary Installs Officers At Joint Meeting

The recently-elected officers of the Charlevoix American Legion Auxiliary were installed at a joint installation ceremony with Boyne City and East Jordan at Boyne City Tuesday evening.

Among those making the trip to Boyne City were Mrs. Leo Allard, Mrs. Theodore Browne, Mrs. Frank Gengle and Mrs. W. E. Goss.

At the regular meeting of the Legion Auxiliary at the post home Monday night Mrs. Allard, the president, appointed her committees for the year. Among those named were Mrs. Henry Partridge community service chairman and Mrs. George Hallam, poppy chairman.

The group also voted to send cards and gifts of fruit to several members who are ill.

Drums Beat For Festival

Indian drums will be booming in Harbor Springs this weekend during the annual Ottawa Indian Pageant and Naming Ceremony held Friday and Saturday evening.

Authentic dances in colorful costumes will highlight the evening's entertainment. Several other specialty acts have also been scheduled, followed by the traditional Naming Ceremony when prominent business, naval and professional leaders will be adopted as honorary chiefs in the Ottawa tribe.

The Kiltie band and their dancing ladies, attired in colorful Scottish garb, will appear in concert in East Park Saturday night, Sunday afternoon and again Sunday evening and will also lead the parade to East Park preceding the coronation of Venetian Queen Joyce Cunningham Sunday afternoon.

Appearing on the program Saturday evening following the concert by the Kiltie band will be Rodney Croede and his entertainers; the Teensters, a girl's trio composed of Roberta Swanson, Faye Meggison and Mona Davenport; David Miles, pianist and the Squires of Camp Charlevoix, a quartet.

On Sunday the coronation ceremony in East Park will be followed by a concert by the Plymouth Kiltie band. A water show on Round Lake presented by Jimmy Ries and his Aqua-maids will conclude the afternoon festivities.

The evening program in East Park will begin at 7 p.m. and will include a concert by the Kiltie band, sea chanteys by the Camp Charlevoix Boys chorus, a concert by the Charlevoix Marine Band, songs by the Teensters and the Four Koons, a pantomime quartet composed of Terry Davis, Quint Walker, Joe Kienne and Kit Carson.

As darkness falls at 9 p.m. the Venetian Boat parade will begin as the lines of gaily and cleverly decorated boats enter the stage formed by Round Lake and circle the "stage" under a canopy of fireworks. More than 25 boat owners already have entered their decorated boats in the Venetian Boat parade, which concludes the weekend activities.

The west edge of East Park will become a midway as booths for the entertainment of the crowd are operated by local organizations.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

GOT US a gripe this week... an age-old one but we're going to air it anyway... There was an annual school meeting last week... and know what?... In a school district where there are some 1,000 boys and girls of school age... that is, 5 through 10, which means that there should be at least some 250 sets of parents only 30 people turned out for the meeting... And 12 more than that took the time to vote for the trustees who are responsible for our schools... To our way of thinking, it's a crime that more people aren't interested in the schools where their children are being educated...

HOW DID you like the Baseball All-Star game at Milwaukee last Tuesday?... It sure was a thriller from start to finish but the best part was that our National Leaguers came through with a win... It was ironic that the grand sports writer, Arch Ward of the Chicago Tribune who originated not only this big sports event but the All-Star football game held every August, plus many other equally great events, should have been buried on the day of the 1935 All-Star baseball game... His death has been a great loss to the sports world...

ONE DAY last week our neighbor, Mrs. Ed Boss, came down the block with a mango... Until then we'd seen only pictures of the tropical fruit and hadn't the vaguest idea what it tasted like... But now we know... and we'll understand why people on the South Sea island live on coconuts and mangoes... they're delicious... and very pretty too... Seems the Bosses had seen them growing in Florida but were never around when they ripened so a friend sent them several which they shared with us...

A REAL gentleman and a modest guy that Walt Henley whom we mentioned in the column last week... He insists he couldn't possibly do the grand job he's credited with doing without Keith Carey, club manager and Guy Swanson who helps with the work on the course... So we're happy to give credit where Mr. H. insists, credit is due...

WHAT with the dry, hot weather, flowers are not as pretty or plentiful this summer as in other years... But we stopped by the other day to take a look-see at the Floyd Supp's garden which is always a show place... Right now there're madonna lilies, blue delphinium, pink roses, daisies, petunias to name a few of the flowers which make it look like a rainbow...

AND speaking of flowers, if you travel the alley between Dixon and Petoskey ayes on the north side, there's a grand sight in store for you... (How do we know? We travel the alley)... Anyway, the fence at the rear of the Ernest Wazell property is heavy with red, pink and white roses, in the next block there are seeds of flowers along the fence at the Bill Kerns property and farther on are hollyhocks... seeds of 'em of every color at the rear of the Dick Fochtman property...

DON'T know how you account for it, but Traverse City sure has the luck of the gods... last week the skies opened about noon, we're told but about 2 p.m. when the grand floral parade was to begin, the weather cleared, the sun came out and the parade went on as scheduled... People had hardly left the parade route when the city had a regular cloudburst... That's luck with capital letters...

Besides countless pictures of our own Joyce Cunningham as a member of the Queen's court in the Traverse City paper, two other Charlevoix residents, the Novak twins, Carl and Charles, had their pics in Thursday's paper... taken while the two were watching the circus parade...

HAD OUT the World Almanac this week checking on something that happened to run across the Declaration of Independence... It had been ages since we'd read it so we took a few minutes and read this great document, word by word... And if you haven't done just that recently, do it... Those 56 men who signed it sure put into words of one syllable that anyone could understand what their grievances were and what they planned to do about it... It's amazing the foresight they had and the ability they had to write a declaration which has remained timeless... What was said then applies today but we guess that's always true of great and well-meaning things...

IN AN earlier issue of the Chicago Tribune written by a staff writer, Hal Foust, who was on tour through Michigan, Charlevoix rated a date line and Frank J. Novotny of Frank's Flowers rated a mention in the story... From the tone of the article the author thought this pretty wonderful country, northern Michigan... for he had the finest things to say about the beauties of the woods, flowers and countryside, mentioning particularly the lakes and beaches...

FINALLY got around to ordering a copy of Bald's book, "Michigan in Four Centuries" and was surprised to find a picture of Charlevoix among the many in the book... This was one of fish-net reefs along the waterfront... This weekend Charlevoix's waterfront will probably be filled with boats from the Chicago-Mackinac boat race which got underway at Chicago Saturday noon... It's a beautiful sight to see...

ANOTHER beautiful sight is the Venetian Boat parade scheduled for the last weekend in July... The Plymouth Kiltie band of Detroit is returning for the weekend... Everyone loved them last year... And there's a lot of other entertainment planned for the two-day weekend event... which will be climaxed by the Venetian Boat parade on Round Lake... a sight unequalled my place...

A CARD from the west coast brings the news that Mrs. George Wolf and her daughter, Vicki and Duane, arrived at Seattle after a long but interesting trip and were scheduled to sail aboard the General Mitchell July 13... They'll arrive in Japan where they'll be joining Major Wolf July 25... Enroute they stopped off to visit the Lowell Marines in Spokane... The note ends with the words... "We miss Charlevoix..."

A recent note from another traveler, Mrs. Louis O'Neill, who with her son, Edward, has been in Mexico where she held a reunion with her mother and her sister and her family at Acapulco... How these Charlevoix People get around...

NEWS OF still another traveler came in the monthly newsletter, the Beaver Beacon, sent out by the Beaver Island Civic Association... Seem a carrier pigeon banded at Buffalo, N. Y., turned up at Dick LaFreniere's island emporium last week, liked the hospitality extended by his host and has decided to stay... The State Police, we understand, are checking on him... But we'll bet that some place in his ancestry there's a bit of Irish and that he's decided he'll stay among his own on America's Emerald Isle... Can't say as we blame him any for the Irish of Beaver Island sure roll out that welcome mat and treat their guests royally...

BEAVER Island's completing plans for the annual homecoming and August dinner... which is one of the big events on the island and certainly the most popular among friends of the island residents... For, come the second weekend in August, all roads lead to northern Michigan and Beaver Island...

ALSO IN the Beacon was found this bit of news: "Since the June issue of the Beacon, more facts and information have been learned concerning the release of the article on the jet base for Beaver Island... Due to this, the Board of Directors regrets the tone of the article last month. We still want no jet base on Beaver Island... After all the efforts the island as a summer resort, one can readily understand why they were so upset by the news releases... offering the island as the site for the controversial jet base..."

AS A postscript to our story last week on cherries, Mr. Rosquist of Longview Orchard has informed us that you can place cherries in the deep freeze and enjoy them later instead of concentrating on eating too many now... Seems like a good idea... 'cause those sweet ones would sure taste good come Christmas or so...

Mary H. Carlson Awarded March of Dimes Scholarship

Mary H. Carlson of East Jordan, daughter of Albert Carlson and a University of Michigan student, has been awarded a March of Dimes scholarship by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Mrs. Walter Davis, Charlevoix county chapter chairman has announced.

March of Dimes scholarships are part of a comprehensive professional education program which ranks as the largest undertaken by a voluntary agency. Since 1938 when the National Foundation was established, $20,250,000.00 has been authorized to train the minds and hands of professional personnel for service in fields relating to poliomyelitis and other diseases which beset the community.

The scholarship awarded Miss Carlson was conferred upon recommendation of a national committee of leaders in the physical therapy profession, and affords opportunity for study in this field. She is studying at the University of Michigan, an institution approved for physical therapy training by the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association.

Mrs. Carlson is one of 53 residents of Michigan to receive a scholarship since the National Foundation in 1942 began offering physical therapy study awards to combat a critical shortage of personnel in this field. Despite a national total of 2,170 scholarships awarded to date, it is estimated that an additional 2,500 physical therapists are required for the immediate needs of patients demanding their services.

Guild Benefit Luncheon, Colorful Style Show Prove Definite Success

The world of sophisticated fashion was brought to an enchanted group of women who attended the fashion showing by Carriage Trade Tuesday at the Weathervane Inn.

The show included fashions from England, Scotland, Italy, Hawaii and unique style spots from all over the world, selected by Mildred Reilly, owner and manager of Carriage Trade shops in Charlevoix and Ft. Lauderdale, Florida.

Carriage Trade, which is labeled for fitting feminine fashion, ironically started the show with a teaser of the new "Esquire" collection adapted especially for the shop from elite men's haberdashers. Carriage Trade's own adorable model, Karen Smith, and lovely Mona Davenport appeared in Wall Street flannel walking shorts and tapered short skirts with crisp white bankers shirts spiced with bright string ties and matching cummerbunds. Each sported a whimsical head straw by the "mad hatter" designer William Hawes, discovered by Mrs. Reilly in Maine. His goofy gimmick is in naming his conversation creations, "I Want To Be Alone," et al, "Safari," "Bar Harbor," and "Coral Reef."

The first of a collection of "Country Calicos" was modeled by blond Connie Pinfold who looked like a darling Mary in a buttercup yellow cotton with full-blown pleated skirt and sprig of yellow lamb buttercup buttons on a leash. The fun design of these petite cotton prints is in the contrast of undisciplined skirt and coy wrap-around top.

One of the "Posey Sprigs," designed by Stehli of New York for Carriage Trade, was beauteous embroidered on a cloud green linen sheath, with a matching couturiere cashmere sweater, modeled by sophisticated Christina Piacentini. This recognized Stehli design is the backbone of every smart woman's resort wardrobe.

A whirl skirted, scoop necked, extreme white linen casual was modeled several times during the show by attractive Gertrude Brakeman, who displayed the adaptation of its simple design to exquisite paint-box pastel cashmires.

A lustrous pink "Sari" design by Tiana Pitelle was chosen to represent a sensational line of originals, recently heralded in Life Magazine. Modeled by sparkling Wanda Wallace, this particular creation featured a full, metallic-banded skirt, with mounded top and matching stole.

Stunning Audrey Hardy was chosen to model possibly the "raciest" fashion of the afternoon, "Darby Day", a spirited print with a newsprint background enlivened with sequined racing insignias... from bride to jockey!

Glamor guf to spike the show was a jewel studded 'phone and shell crested candle, carried by Karen and Mona as a dreamy duet who modeled pink 'n' blue, short 'n' sweet "Night Blooms", with matched peeking panties.

An important new designer for Carriage Trade is Italian Leo de Crenza, who has stunningly adapted tablecloth checks and oriental paisleys into appropriate "Americana" fashions.

(Enter the sad violins to tell us our time is up, whether we're ready or not... and we haven't yet mentioned how charming Mildred Reilly was for her show in her "pikilated poodle" dress... "B" McQuiston, shop assistant, in lustrous paisley print, piped with pink... Marge Coleman, chairman of the fashion benefit, wearing the official Carriage Trade cotton print and carrying the official Carriage Trade mark basket.)

This annual fashion panorama, sponsored by the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Hospital, has become one of the most popular highlights of the social resort season and followed a buffet luncheon served in the picturesque surroundings of the Charcoal Pit and Grist Mill Tap Room of the Inn, overlooking the beautiful channel connecting Lake Michigan with Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix.

U.S.C.G. Base For Varied Activities

to carry on the work of the Coast Guard.

The prevention of accidents which might endanger lives or property is as much a part of the work of the Coast Guard as answering a distress call. In northern Michigan this is accomplished through boarding duty which includes the boarding of pleasure craft and inspection of equipment to see that it meets requirements.

The enforcement of marine law is an equally important duty and crewmen of the local lifeboat station are called on to enforce the laws, investigate marine accidents and issue tickets for violations.

Another important job is assisting in air-sea rescues in conjunction with the U.S.C.G. Air Station at Traverse City. Boats from the local station assist in maneuvers at various times during the year and at other times are called on to assist in the operation.

Last week, there was an example of this service. The Air Station was called to assist in searching for a Northport man who fell or jumped from a small lake freighter. When the Lifeboat station looked here sighted unexplained flares on Lake Michigan west of here, the 40 ft. patrol boat was dispatched to investigate. The boat was only 20 minutes from the station when a call came from the Air Station asking for assistance. The patrol boat was contacted by radio and ordered to continue to the area east of South Fox Island 28 miles away as what had started as a routine investigation by the crew of three ended in an all-night search for the lost man as the plane dropped flares throughout the night to light the area. The helicopter joined the search at day-break. At 8 a.m. the search was called off and the crew returned here where the patrol boat was immediately serviced and prepared for another call.

In cases of drownings any place in the area, the local Lifeboat station answers the call to assist in the search for the victim. They are prepared to give artificial respiration, use the resuscitator or to drag for the body, as the case might be.

The crew of the Lifeboat station is on call at all times. The men may be on liberty but if an emergency arises, they are subject to call.

The area served by the local station and its crew extends south to a point midway between Charlevoix and the site of the next lifeboat station at Frankfort and north to a point midway between here and Beaver Island where a small lifeboat station with a crew of 11 men is located. However, at times the Charlevoix station is called on to work as far as the lighthouses at the west entrance of the Straits of Mackinac since its equipment and boats are larger and more efficient and because Charlevoix is the home of Group Charlevoix, an area office which maintains the aids to navigation from South Fox Island north to the Straits.

In addition, the local lifeboat station services five aids to navigation in the immediate area, furnishes transportation to the South Fox Island lighthouse and is responsible for three civilian aids to navigation in the Traverse City area. Boarding duty takes the crew north to Harbor Springs and Petoskey and south to Traverse City.

To accomplish its work the station here has a fleet of boats including the 40 ft. patrol boat, a 36 ft. lifeboat, a 25 ft. motor surfboat, an ice-skiff and a dory. This week a 30 ft. utility boat will be brought from the Soo to fill the complement of boats for a station this size.

And, according to Chief Ashley, when there's a free moment, there's always the "Code of Military Justice" to be studied.

Bangs Disease Cuts Livestock Profits

Brucellosis (Bang's disease) is costing the livestock farmers of Charlevoix county a lot of money. The disease takes a $100 million toll every year nationally, points out Ed Rehman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

Dairy herds in this county may lose as much as 22 per cent of their milk production and up to a 40 per cent cut in the calf crop, he asserts.

To the beef cattle farmer the loss is serious because he has to rely on the calf crop. The calf loss to the dairyman is also serious because, on the average, he replaces his entire herd every four years. With such a heavy loss, he would be forced to buy replacements.

In addition to these drastic losses, brucellosis may cause temporary or permanent sterility in infected animals, notes George Parsons, Michigan State college extension dairyman.

One out of five infected animals will become permanently sterile and must be sold for slaughter, it is estimated.

The disease in a herd of livestock means a boost in veterinary bills. So it is becoming increasingly difficult for the owner of a brucellosis-infected herd to compete successfully with a man who owns a disease-free, healthy herd.

and properly at sea at all times... that is the job of that branch of the armed services known as the U. S. Coast Guard.

Its illustrious history dates back to 1790. The present name was adopted in 1915 when the Revenue-Cutter and the Lifesaving services were merged. The service's duties increased when the Coast Guard was consolidated with the Lighthouse service in 1939 and again in 1942 when functions of the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation were transferred to the Coast Guard.

Card of Thanks
Until I am able to thank you in person, I would like to take this means of expressing my gratitude and appreciation for the kindnesses and sympathy accorded my family at the death of my husband, Charles Evans, and my father, Daniel M. Mrs. Blanche Evans

Card of Thanks
I would like to express my gratitude to the doctors and nursing staff at the Charlevoix hospital for the excellent care given me during my recent stay there.

Thoughts Afield

One of the quietest places on God's good earth is "Trail's End," my brother's cabin and forty acres of forest near the Au Sable River in Michigan's deer country. Far from heavily traveled highways and their constant hum of motors and screeching of brakes, far from the smoke and racket-laden cities, this inviting piece of silence and solitude was my first taste of a North Country retreat. There I first felt the night air throb with the whippoorwill's plaintive song, and there I first heard the snort of startled deer in the night as they caught the smell of man carried to them by pine-scented zephyrs. Fox squirrels chattered from the oaks and red squirrels scrambled down the pines and snoop and pried into the strange doings of the two-legged creatures that inhabited the cabin at the edge of the clearing. To this secluded cabin I was sent once, years ago, for an enforced rest and for recovery from a long illness. And it worked. Strength was restored, and after some weeks of physical renewal and regeneration I was allowed to return to my work.

Al, the owner of "Trail's End," uses his retreat almost solely as a place of physical rest and mental regeneration. An executive in a large industry, he is daily harassed by a multiplicity of problems with policy, men and machines, and in an environment of incessant clutter and pounding and the din voices raised above the racket of metal grinding upon metal and steel falling upon steel. When the tension mounts too high, he gratefully looks ahead across the weekdays to the coming of Saturday and Sunday and a "pause that refreshes" at his beloved Trail's End. He fishes for trout in the nearby Au Sable, or he flicks a fly to the bluegills in Tee Lake, or, lured by cool forest breezes, he sleeps.

"Regeneration" is a word theologians and ministers have seemed to monopolize. But it is not their exclusive possession. Regeneration is more than a religious word and more than a religious experience. It is a process, almost universal in the role that it plays among God's creatures. Nearly everything wears out in time, and if it is to survive, it will need mending. Shoes do.

Clothes do. Bodies do, and so do minds. A lobster loses a limb and has the astounding capacity to grow another in its place. The snail can regrow another horn from the old stump if its horn-like appendage should be lost in an accident, and an earthworm can grow a new head, and a lizard a new tail. After a caterpillar becomes quiet in the fall of the year and surrounds itself with a silken cocoon, a process very much like an inflammation pervades its tissues and they break down. Then regeneration takes place, the cells being rebuilt upon a new architectural plan. New structures are formed, such as wings and compound eyes, and old structures are completely made over — mouth parts, food canal, muscles — everything is remodeled, made over, regenerated.

We have many other synonyms for regeneration, but they all refer to the same God-given process without which life would be impossible.

When the body rests from its work and tired tissues are repaired while the mind wanders in pleasant dreams, we call regeneration "sleep."

When tired minds turn from arduous labors to refreshing literature, and muscles cramped from bending over desks and filling cabinets engage in tennis or swimming or fishing, we call regeneration "recreation."

When acres of forests, burned to ashes by man's carelessness, are replanted with thousands of seedling pines, the hopes of forests yet to come, we call regeneration "conservation."

When a person feels bloated and stained with guilt, ashamed before God and man and before his own mirror, and then senses a sudden cleansing by God's kindly forgiveness, we call regeneration "salvation."

When we are spiritually exhausted so that life sinks to a low level of gloom and grumbling, and we then mount up to an elevated position where our spirit sings about the goodness of life and of God, we call regeneration "worship."

We stay alive by regeneration — by engaging in those experiences that repair us where we are worn.

Michigan Minute

HOT Weather Politics in Michigan has both parties maneuvering for 1956 months before they go to the voters.

Presidential year traditions however over the scene as Republicans and Democrats point for another election of top state officers.

Republicans rallied under a "unity banner" behind Clifford O'Sullivan, a Port Huron attorney, whom they chose as national committeeman to replace David W. Kendall, of Jackson.

Party leaders see in the O'Sullivan election a symbol of harmony they hope will carry over into the campaigns for governor, and the others. They want to avoid the wrangles of other years.

Republicans here admit their most outstanding political characteristic is intramural fighting. Candidates for governor in recent history have all survived bitter party-splitting primary battles.

FORMERLY they have split into factions, with influential groups following both successful and defeated primary hopefuls, fragmenting the vote.

"We must unite to defeat a very formidable opponent, the opposition party," said O'Sullivan.

Republicans hope O'Sullivan and his views are the first step in reversing the tradition.

To pick O'Sullivan, the party passed over such names as John B. Martin, Jr. former auditor-general and campaign manager for the spring campaign; Owen J. Cleary, former state chairman and ex-secretary of state; and Berry Beaman, of Parma, former finance chairman.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, a power in Michigan politics still, was credited with negotiating harmony.

He conferred with the candidates, told of the problems. Whether these talks were responsible was unannounced. But the others withdrew and O'Sullivan got the job.

DEMOCRATS, confident and well-organized, are whipping things into shape for next year, too.

Chairman Neil J. Staebler is concentrating on local party organizations, building power where the voters reside and trying a technique that Republicans have long ignored.

Democrats have Detroit sewed up with a heavy labor vote. Republicans know this and have made only passing attempts to convert the voters who work in the factories.

Tradition has it that Republicans control the outstate vote, the farmers, small cities and villages.

Staebler started in 1953 to round up an organization in the rural areas. Local Democrats, who could hold their county conventions in a telephone booth, suddenly needed to hire a hall.

"Detroit always has been strongly Democratic, but we feel that the outstate vote was a vital point for us in 1954," he said.

BOTH parties are wondering what Gov. Williams will do.

Up to now he has been silent, but Democrats already are grooming heirs-apparent for the governorship. Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart has been allowed to sign important bills and make speeches.

In other years, Williams was big man in the party. Now with a full slate in top state offices, the party has a sprinkling of candidates for any post, all of them pretty well-known.

Williams has issued no ingling that he will or will not go for the 1956 Democratic convention.

He has made speeches all over the nation. He has taken on the sound of a national candidate on international and domestic issues.

On the other hand, he has traveled the state in days of yore, acting like a nominee for re-election.

THE governor has given only one sign of impatience at the situation.

Williams, who has said that Adlai E. Stevenson should try again, last week said in Chicago that the 1952 candidate should make up his mind for the good of the party.

Senator Edward Hutchinson (R-Pennville) injected one note of humor in the surge of hot weather politics. Speaking of the legislature's relations with the governor, he led off:

"If Michigan ever has another governor . . ."

CHAPLAINS were asked to help keep the peace in Michigan prisons.

They always have been a major part of the administration, but only within the prisons with the inmates. Now they are being asked to extend their horizons.

LIVING TODAY

Be Enlightened

Read Ephesians the First Chapter.

Text: Ephesians 1:18a "The eyes of your understanding being enlightened".

Christian enlightenment is a knowledge to be possessed. It is a knowledge of Jesus Christ Who is the Word of God become flesh. It is something which will not pass away with time. Christian enlightenment is a person's knowledge of Christ.

A person is a Christian only when the eyes of his heart are opened to the Spirit of Wisdom and of Revelation in the knowledge of Christ as personal savior. This is not merely a profession from the lips but it is an action of the life. It is life. It is not something which we tell others about; but, it is something of which we let others see in the experience of our living. It is not complimentary when we are in position of enlightenment but not in possession of it.

God's Word, and our knowledge and possession of it, is the secret to the Eternal Enlightenment. We can talk about the Knowledge of Christ, but if we are not in harmony with the Will of Christ, then, our knowledge is in vain. We must say and do as Paul suggested — "I know whom I have believed", and, "for me to live is Christ". Unless we know whom we believe, we cannot be sure of what we believe.

Christian enlightenment is the knowledge of knowing the Hope to which God called us. In a day of such tremendous uncertainty, knowing a little of everything, and not much of anything, standing for nothing in particular and falling for everything in general, it is the height of all glory to possess and live a Knowledge that will outlive, outmode, and outstretch the power of the atom or the length of all time itself.

To be enlightened, in the Christian sense, is to experience the immeasurable greatness of God's power in us who believe. With God all things are possible. God, working through us as willing channels, will accomplish great things not measurable in our minds. God has meant us to be channels of His Grace. He has imparted His Grace to us as a gift. In reality, we are stewards of that Grace, since we are the channels through which God imparts His Grace to a lost and sinful world. What kind of steward are you in respect to this Grace? If we retain all that we have of God's Grace and impart none of it, it is to eventually lose that Grace. To drink in and absorb it is not enough. Our task is to pass on that which God supplies us.

A spring is a spring only insofar as it offers evidence of bubbling forth water from its earthly reservoir. If it does not do this we cannot be sure that it is a spring. We can be channels of God's Grace insofar as we allow God's Grace to bubble forth through us from the Divine Reservoir. Giving our life as such a channel, we become the victors through Christ, in whom God accomplished His great power and might, when He raised Him from the dead, a Victor over death and the dark domain. This makes Christian enlightenment the Christian victory. The knowledge of Christ's Victory assures us that in Him, in faith believing, we, too, will have the same victory. No Christian need ever be frustrated or confused. Every Christian can experience the greatest joy and happiness of any person on earth.

The victory of a Christian is positive. With Christ as Commander-in-Chief, no enemy can overcome us. What matters it, if the body is killed. Christ will raise it up again into life eternal. We can lose nothing, but we have everything to gain eternally. Nothing is of ourselves, but, all is the working of God's power in Christ through the Holy Spirit.

So, wherever you are, in a world of uncertainty or sickness or in a wonderland of nothingness, think on these things and become enlightened and uplifted by the power of God in Christ. Know and give an account of the reason for the Hope that is within you.

Because Christ lives we too shall live. Know these things, and know that God is still upon the throne, and that because of the work of God in Christ, our lives can be radiant and glorious, making it possible for us once again to walk and talk with God in the cool of the day, because our hearts beat in harmony with the heart of God.

New St. Sebaldus Church Site Is Dedicated Sunday

Before a cross of cedar boughs erected by parishioners, Bishop B. McNeil dedicated the site of the new mission of St. Sebaldus at Bellaire Sunday afternoon.

More than 150 members of the new mission and friends from throughout the area gathered under a wood and canvas temporary shelter for the simple ceremony which marked a milestone in the village. Assisting the Bishop McNeil were the Reverends Francis J. Foley of Traverse City, Duane Filkins of Petoskey and Malcolm D. Thomson of Charlevoix, seminarians, lay readers and acolytes. Mrs. William Hanson and Mrs. Foley, both of Traverse City, were the organist and soloist respectively.

After the impressive dedication ceremony, the guests wandered over the site of the new church, one of the highest spots in the community. Members of the mission served refreshments.

Bill Witt's single in the last of the seventh scored Gary Kimberly with the winning run. Pitcher Ed Culbertson collected three straight hits and Gerry Donbert and Witt had two each for the victors. Bruce Fairbanks, Kilt Carson and Quint Walker had two hits each for Carson-Bowman.

Carson-Bowman clinched first place in the Class A league by edging Freedman's 5-3 and shutting out the City Merchants 7-0 to end the first round of play. A home-run by Jim Bowman with Ted Potter on base kept C-B's record intact. The blow came in the sixth inning and broke up a pitcher's battle between Potter and Herb Boss. Potter allowed only three hits, two by Dick Hardy. Boss allowed five.

The City Merchants left 14 men on base and never managed a hit when they needed it to fall to Carson-Bowman 7-0. Nubs Edison and Ken Balch led the attack with two hits each. Tom LaBlance paced the Merchants with three straight singles.

In other league games, Cooper-Franklin scored in the eighth on Bill Barber's single and Norm Helm's double to hand American Mold their second straight one-run defeat by a score of 7-6. Del Terrill and Glen Ikens both tripled for the winners. Fred Putman hit three of the four safeties off

Bill Bennett and Jim Bolby who relieved Bennett in the third inning and pitched shut-out ball the rest of the game.

Freedmans broke into the win column by upsetting American Mold 6-5. Bill Denemy's single in the sixth broke up the ball game. For the Moldmen, John Powell and Joe Armstrong had two hits apiece. The game was the third straight one-run loss for American Mold.

Class B

Dutchers scored eight runs in the seventh inning to defeat Edwards 10-8 as the second half of the B league schedule opened Monday. Mike McCann and Ron Vandenberg had four hits each for Dutchers and Dave Schuchard led Edwards with three hits.

Dutcher out-slugged Zephyr 15-10 as they scored nine runs in the fourth inning. Bud Balch and Bill Maxfield led with four hits each. Tom Lakies had a home-run and two singles and John Norton three singles for Zephyr.

Rev. J. H. Anderson To Hold Services At Bible Church

The Rev. Joseph H. Anderson, president of the Prison Missionary Association Inc. of Minneapolis, Minn., will be the speaker at special services scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday at the Charlevoix Bible Church, Independent Baptist at the American Legion post home.

The announcement was made by the Rev. Jim E. Lugibhl pastor of the church, who has extended an invitation to the public to attend the service and hear this outstanding speaker.

Converted while in prison himself, the Rev. Mr. Anderson received the call to preach and has become nationally known in his field. Since his release 28 years ago he has visited prisons from coast to coast, held city-wide revival meetings and youth rallies and given crime prevention lectures in high schools. His message will be interwoven with his prison experiences.

The Rev. Mr. Anderson has completed a six weeks Bible conference at Harbor Springs. He will be accompanied here by Mrs. Anderson, who will sing during the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Hutchins and children, Darlene and Bernie Jr., returned to their home in Toronto, Ont., Friday following a three day visit with Mrs. Hutchins' uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Russell E. Palmer. The latter's nephew, Garth Carter, who had been visiting here for three weeks returned to Sault Ste. Marie with them.

County Humane Society's Small Animal Shelter Behind Schedule

Work on the small animal shelter being erected in Boyne City by the Charlevoix Humane Society is behind schedule because of the failure to secure a well to meet requirements.

At the present time efforts are being concentrated on the kennel section of the shelter.

Since facilities have not progressed to a point where animals can be cared for, the public is being asked to be patient.

An announcement will be made

Rock Elm News

By Mrs. A. B. Lawton

Everyone glad for the rain although both storms caused some trouble on the telephone line putting it out of commission for a short time.

Cherry picking began here this past week in both the Jensen and the Porter orchards. The crop will be better than was looked for after the last freeze.

Recent word from the Frank Lowtons is that there is plenty of carpenter work at Flagstaff, also there has been some rain which helped some, but they say it seems as though Arizona never will have enough water.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Allard have had as their guests the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Polderdyk and daughter, Joyce, and a friend, Marilyn Watson, of Grand Rapids. The group, accompanied by Mrs. Polderdyk's mother, Mrs. Margaret Bacot, spent the weekend on Beaver Island.

regarding the opening of the shelter. At that time an open house will be held and the installation presented to the county.

The work of the Humane Society, however, is being carried on by Edward Erber of Boyne City, Humane officer and dog warden, who reported a busy month during June. He not only investigated complaints in the county's three urban areas but in outlying townships. At the same time he is systematically seeking out all dog owners who are delinquent in their taxes and reported a marked increase in the number of dog tags sold last month. He also said that more dogs were being confined by their owners and there were fewer reports of dog bites.

Membership in the organization is $1.00 per year. Voluntary contributions are also accepted toward the support of the institution which is considered a necessary improvement.

What the organization needs right now, Mrs. Wesley L'Huillier who organized the group in 1954 is quoted as saying, are members with organizational talent and a keen desire to establish a shelter with a supporting budget.

The next meeting will be held at the Community Room of the city hall at 8 p.m. August 9. At that time a committee will be appointed to assist in promoting the growth and usefulness of the Charlevoix county Humane Society.

Applications for membership and contributions may be mailed to Mrs. Hazel Evers, RR 3, Charlevoix.

188-hp Buick SPECIAL 6-Passenger, 4-Door RIVIERA, Model 43

This 4-Door Beauty is the Newest Hit in Hardtops

YOU certainly ought to come in and see for yourself why this new kind of hardtop is headed for the best-seller list.

It's a Buick Riviera, of course.

Which means the low and rakish look of a Convertible—a solid steel roof overhead—and no center posts in the side window areas to obstruct your view.

But that's only the beginning.

Here you get two extra doors. They open to the rear compartment. So no one in the front has to move when someone gets into or out of the rear.

Here you get massive half-pillars on either side on which the front doors latch and the rear doors hinge. (That's why you see no center posts above the door line.)

Here, too, you get wholly new principles in body design and strength that give the extra safety of rock-firm solidity at the top, sides and bottom.

And here—bless those Buick engineers!—you get a lot more room in the rear compartment.

For the 4-Door Riviera gives you over 9 inches more hiproom and 5 inches more legroom—yet with no increase in wheelbase or over-all car length.

So we repeat—you certainly ought to come in and see this stunning new kind of hardtop.

It's the very last word in beauty, comfort, convenience. It's available in Buick's two lowest-priced Series—the SPECIAL and the CENTURY. And it's all Buick—with Buick power, Buick ride, Buick handling—and the spectacular performance of Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

Drop in today—tomorrow at the latest—and learn what Buick's all time record sales year can mean to you in the way of a whopping big trade-in deal.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

Determined' Coordinated Area Development Program Announced

A determined and coordinated area development program will be launched this fall by communities north of the Muskegon-Bay City line to build new prosperity on the region's great natural advantages, an organizing committee of nine service leaders said today.

The group, headed by A. E. Steinbrecker, manager of the northern Michigan Electric Cooperative at Boyne City, met Thursday at Grayling to draw up detailed plans for an organization which will represent 29 counties under the unassuming title of Area Coordinating Committee.

The organizing committee was elected June 24 by 150 local government officials and community representatives meeting at Cadillac. The Cadillac meeting was called by the State Economic Development Commission to review the findings of the yearlong economic study that had just been completed by the commission's Northern Lower Peninsula Advisory Board. The study showed important opportunities ahead of the area in agricultural, industrial and recreational development, many of the opportunities associated with the coming of the Mackinac bridge and the St. Lawrence Seaway. The regional advisory board found lack of a coordinating are development program the biggest deficiency.

The organizing group is moving quickly and expects to announce membership of the area coordinating committee during August.

Meeting with the members of the organizing group at Grayling were George Petrie of the U. S. Commerce Department's Michigan office at Detroit and Mrs. Gertrude Bishop, Michigan Economic Development Department's district representative.

Jackson A. Raney Kiwanis President

Jackson A. Raney, Indianapolis school executive, was elected president of Kiwanis International at the recent fortieth annual convention at Cleveland.

As head of Kiwanis International, Raney will be official spokesman for almost a quarter million Kiwanians in 4,062 clubs in the United States, Canada, Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands. He succeeds Don E. Engdahl of Spokane, Wash.

Farmers Advised To Clean Grain Bins For Storage

It's time to clean out and treat grain bins before storing your new grain crop, Charlevoix county agricultural agent Ed Rebmman warns that storing new grain in untreated bins, or near old grain, makes it easy for insects to travel from old to new grain.

Here are cleaning suggestions from Ray Janes, Michigan State College entomologist: Sweep up and clean out old grain deposits in a 50 yard radius of the bin. Remove and destroy waste feeds and grain in poultry houses, cattle feed bunkers and areas where bagged grain are stored.

DDT, methoxychlor, and pyrethrin are effective as sprays for grain bins. Spray two weeks before putting in the grain. But under no circumstances should you use chlordane or lindane.

Remember, farmers are responsible for keeping their 1955 wheat clean while it's in their home storage, says Agent Rebmman.

Girligigs

I'm a kid again when I visit a zoo . . . and if I weren't pushed along from one cage to the next I would stand for hours and watch the monkeys pinch cooties off each other.

The beautiful animals don't fascinate me half as much, for some reason or other, as the funny looking ones. And as long as I left myself wide open with that statement, I may as well admit that the feeling seems to be mutual . . . some of them look me straight in the eye, and smile.

The boss and I stopped in recently at the new zoo in Traverse City, mainly to say 'hi' to Buttercup Wicksham Butters (year 1954 at Butter's Lodge) whom we knew and loved since he was a yellow dyed-in-the-wool lamb. The signs aren't up on all the wire cages yet so I'm not sure whether I saw him or not.

In fact, without identification, I'm not sure when the coyote's weren't hyenas and they wouldn't set up a howl for my particular benefit to distinguish them.

But the big black bear with the pointed brown schnozz was definitely a bear and the owl was an owl. And altho' I made a fool of myself when I remarked about how unfair it seemed to put a jack-ass in the same cage with a pheasant as we walked away the boss said it was unfair, yes . . . but it's a peacock in the same cage with a burro.

One chocolate ice cream cone later I made friends with a

U. S. Postoffice Department Seeks Offers To Lease

Anyone interested in renting a building to the U. S. Postoffice department for use as a postoffice here may submit an offer to H. P. Nelson at Grand Rapids by Aug. 28, according to an advertisement for proposals to lease post-office quarters released last month.

The lease on the present post-office site expires June 9, 1956. The building must have a floor space of approximately 2400 ft. and must have heat, light, power, water, toilet facilities, plumbing, heating, lighting fixtures, safe or vault and all necessary furniture and equipment. The lease on such a building would be for a term of five or 10 years.

Proposals with or without any combination of the above will be considered, Peter H. Timmer, local postmaster said.

Mr. Timmer went on to say that the Post Office department is not erecting buildings at this time but will enter into negotiations to rent a new building (if built according to specifications) with the idea of acquiring ownership over a period of years and paying enough rent to pay for the building and allow a modest return on the investment.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Mr. Timmer at the local postoffice.

Local Artist Mapped Resort Region

You shouldn't be too surprised if one day you happened to walk into a place in another part of the world and found a map of the Charlevoix area hanging in a prominent place. It more than likely would be one of the colorful Michigan maps, originally designed by Mrs. Earl A. Young, which have been sent out all over this country and abroad to be used as artistic and informational wall hangings.

The first of the three editions printed by the Michigan Lithographing Company of Grand Rapids was published in 1935 and includes the Little Traverse region from Cross Village to the north, and south of Charlevoix to Atwood. The second edition of pictorial maps is of the Grand Traverse region, centered with Traverse City, bordering Atwood on the north and extending south to Frankfort. Thirty-five hundred copies of each were put into circulation.

The third and most current map published and released recently shows Mackinac Island, with an insert of the pipeline and the famous bridge now under construction. Five thousand of these lithographs are now being circulated.

It has taken many months of preliminary research in compiling authentic pictorial and geographic data prior to the actual execution of the maps at a drawing board. Preliminary sketches were made on the spot, and many interesting old time characters, with first hand information, have been interviewed for the verification of questionable historic facts. Harold Titus and Carl Detzer were among other famous area authors who offered information which contributed greatly.

Mrs. Young is the former Irene Harsha, daughter of the former Mr. and Mrs. Horace Harsha, well-known early residents of Charlevoix. She pursued her love of art by attending the Art Institute in Chicago and the College of Wooster, Wooster, Ohio. After completing her studies, she taught several years at Southampton on Long Island, N. Y.

After a brief professional career she returned to her home town of Charlevoix and became the wife of Earl A. Young, local realtor. Although Mrs. Young has led a busy social and home life as the mother of three daughters and a son, she has found time, through the years, to accomplish many artistic projects.

Over a period of years an idea is easily abandoned for more active demands on time and talent, but Irene Young has managed to keep her enthusiasm alive for an idea conceived twenty years ago, to depict this beautiful Michigan region in its true form and color and historical lore.

Harbor Springs' Indian Pageant Is July 22-23

Harbor Springs — Ships of the Great Lakes Naval Training fleet will be in the Harbor this week-end for the annual Indian Pageant and Naming Ceremony, Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 p.m.

Aboard the flagship will be the commandant of the Ninth Naval District, Admiral Emmet Forrestel, who will be inducted as an honorary chief in the Ottawa Tribe during the pageant.

Admiral Forrestel announced that the Navy ships, which will arrive on Thursday, will be open for visiting between the hours of 1:00 and 4:00 p.m., both Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Officials of the Michigan Indian Foundation, who sponsor the pageant each year, revealed that Bertram Rowe, well-known Bay View Concert singer, has been signed to sing four solos during the pageant presentation. Other featured attractions include the aerial "Anteleks", high wire acrobatic team, Indian dances in authentic and colorful costumes by the Hock-Wacipi troupe of Detroit, and a short historical pageant of the Harbor Springs early Indian settlement.

The pageant will be presented in the beautiful rustic Ottawa Indian Stadium which has a seating capacity of 8000.

Manistee Theater To Present Mystery

On Wednesday, July 20, the Manistee Summer Theatre offers one of the most recent releases on its schedule to date, the well-known thriller, "Dial M For Murder", featuring Michael Kepp and Don Garner, and introducing Martha Gable. Miss Gable has played a long list of leading roles at summer theatres in the east in previous years, as well as several TV appearances in New York. After the summer at Manistee, she goes to Twentieth Century Films in Hollywood.

Jeff Manning, for three summers a favorite with Roxsall audiences, returns to Manistee for Dial M, and will remain with the company through the remainder of the season. Others in the cast include William Carnahan and Todd Jones, with Madge Skelly directing, and setting by Rosemary Pechin.

A year-round crew of weathermen live on the highest point of the northeastern United States, New Hampshire's 6,288-ft. Mount Washington, says the National Geographic Society. The weathermen reported the greatest gust of wind ever measured on earth, 231 miles an hour, in April, 1934.

Playhouse Presents 'Charley's Aunt'

You can't keep a good man down, or for that matter a good woman. The Petoskey Playhouse tried, but because so many people who saw her last year and because many people who missed seeing her, want the opportunity to do so, the Petoskey Playhouse is bringing back, "Charley's Aunt". She's from Brazil — where the nuns come from. And she's only at the Playhouse for a limited time — until July 23rd. Charley's Aunt has proven to possibly be the greatest all time audience favorite throughout the world.

Portrayed again by Bob Gray, who may likely prove again to be the hit of the Playhouse season.

Six Townships Included In T-B Cattle Test Program In County

Tuberculin testing of cattle for re-accreditation of Charlevoix county as a modified tuberculosis free area will soon begin under the co-operating program of the Michigan and U. S. Departments of Agriculture in the drive to eradicate animal tuberculosis.

Plan Airplane Tour To Observe Soil Conservation Work

The Charlevoix Soil Conservation District is sponsoring an airplane tour on Saturday, July 23. This air tour will show anyone who is interested in taking the trip some of the different programs and practices that have been put into operation through the service of the Soil District.

These practices will be indicated to the people before they take the tour; the location of these sites will be marked with huge numbers readily available from the air. Some of these practices and points of interest, are as follows: run-off plots, rotary pines, Boyne Mountain, contour strips, straight strips, contour orchards, grass waterways, reeds canary and diversions.

The Boyne City Airport is furnishing one plane, the Charlevoix Airport another plane and the Michigan Flying Farmers is furnishing additional planes. The cost of this tour is $3.50 for about a forty minute ride over Charlevoix county. Tickets for the Charlevoix area may be purchased from the Charlevoix Co-op, Stephens Implement Co., John Wieland and Robert Straw.

These tours start at 9 o'clock in the morning and planes will leave at forty minute intervals. Anyone who is interested in taking the tour may select the time that they wish to go. For more information regarding this air tour contact anyone of the Soil District directors, William Grimm, farm planner or Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

Bovine tuberculosis has cost Michigan dairymen and stockmen hundreds of thousands of dollars. Under certain conditions this disease is transmissible to man. It can also be spread to swine, poultry, and other animals.

Available figures for Charlevoix county on the last test show 3,082 cattle with three reactors and .097 percent infection. This is considerable lower than the national average of .11 percent.

It has been the policy of the Department to test one half of the cattle in each county every three years and the infection must not exceed one half of one percent for the county to qualify for accreditation. The last estimate gives Charlevoix county a cattle population of 9,172 head. All of the cattle in the following townships must be tested, Wilson, Southarm, Eveline, Marion, Norwood and Charlevoix.

Whenever reactors to the tuberculin test are found, they are appraised on the farm and must be shipped direct to a federal establishment for slaughter. Approved establishments in Michigan for receiving tuberculosis cattle are the Detroit Stockyards, Wolin Packing Co. at Flint and the Murray Packing Co. of Plainwell.

Tuberculin testing in Charlevoix county will be under direct supervision of Dr. Earl Fairbanks of Hawks, area veterinarians whenever their services are available.

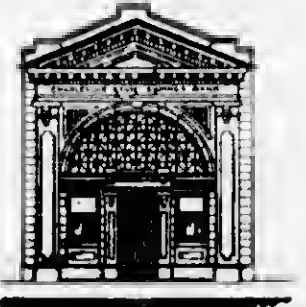

Although tuberculosis infection in cattle has been reduced by tuberculin testing in the past, this disease can re-establish itself under favorable conditions and the cooperation of the herd owner with the veterinarian is needed so that tuberculosis can be eradicated.

News Round-up at Camp Charlevoix

The third week of camp started off Monday with the Election of cabin representatives to the Camp Council. This is the group that decides to which charities the chapel collections go, and they give the staff the campers' viewpoint on many things. The boys who were elected to this group are: Chris Olson, Jerry Crum, Bill Mack, Dick Daley, Jack Sluiter, Steve Bachle, Leeds Davis, Tom Parsell, Steve Feinstein, Roger Smith, Ted Lilly, Jim Baird, Bob Hicks, Bill McKenzie, Joe Schemm, Chop Martin, Peter Nathan, Gary Murfin, Jim Smith, John Jacobs, and Monte McFadden, who was elected President of the Campers' Council. In the evening, Alan Charleton and Hank Gest took their boys out for a supper cook-out. Three cabin groups went in to the movies in town, the men taking their cabins were Bud Morse, Ward Taylor, and Roger Eggert.

On Tuesday morning, twenty-five boys plus Ken, and four staff men Charles Stansell, David Lean, Alan Charleton, and Bob Wurster took twenty five boys to Mackinac Island for the day. It was a beautiful day and the boys returned to camp about nine o'clock in the evening with many tales of this historic island. Several of the boys got the autograph of Michigan's Governor Williams. This trip is given each year to the first fifty boys who are enrolled. Last year we had eighty boys enrolled on the last day for this summer. The other twenty five boys will be taken the first week in August.

Wednesday evening the "Capture the Councillor" was held with all the campers combing the woods looking for the councillors who were in hiding. It was Green and Grey competition and as the reward on each councillor was different, the Greens won by capturing those men with the highest price on their head. It was a lot of fun, and the campers loved it.

Thursday afternoon, Bud Morse and Ward Taylor took their boys on a horseback overnight and from all reports it was a great success. The boys on this trip were: Bob Huguener, Tom Wright, Don Campbell, Dick Genet, David Hirsch, Roger Smith, Stewart Crampton, Andy Carick, Mike Smullen, George Davis, Ted Lilly, Bill McMullin, Bill Jury, Jim Mogle, Jim Cooper, and Jim Brodie. That evening we had two cabins leave camp for a supper cook-out. John Headington and Jack Kennedy took the following boys: Jeff Gorsuch, Floyd Gaunt, Joe Whinery, Merick Pease, John Bahl, Bob Hicks, Richard Gaston, Dick Minnock, John Parr, Bill McKenzie, Joe Chappel, Tip Sempliner, and Mark Wenner.

Bob O'Neill took his cabin on Friday for a supper cook-out. These boys were: Charles Lee, Gary Murfin, Robby Helwig, Greg Zolad, Al Williams, and Jan Gibbons. The tennis instructors, Hank Gest, "MO" Khung, and Stan Storey took their star tennis players over to the Belvedere Hotel to play against some of the children over there. Our boys going were Jim Baird, Joe Whinery, Steve Erickson, Peck Kunkel, Bill Prosser and Jim CoMon. Though we lost 4-3 in matches, it was a fine experience for the boys. Saturday was a regular day in camp with the evening being devoted to "Skit Night". Jerry Turcotte's cabin put on a skit "The Lighthouse Keepers Daughter". It was very well done. Other

Play House Director Comes Up With Answer On Summer Stock

This is a welcome opportunity to write about the appearance of a visitor to Northern Michigan. The visitor is called Summer Stock.

Summer stock in Michigan is rapidly growing. This area of the North has been blessed in the past two years with the appearance this year of a fine tent theatre, Cherry County Playhouse, in Traverse City, and the appearance last year of our own in Petoskey, the Petoskey Playhouse.

What is summer stock? It's a combination of many things. Its glamour and excitement on opening nights. Its drudgery and hard work in getting ready for those opening nights. Its a sixteen hour work day, and a seven day work week. For those who are in it, its receiving less financially than an actor could receive in almost any other field were he to work as hard and as long. To the neighbor, its noise. To those whose money is in it, its madness. For the woman who has a child with a toy shovel and pail in hand, the sign "Playhouse" means nothing more than a wondering question "Where is the sandbox?"

Summer stock at the Petoskey Playhouse begins in the winter. Plays have to be selected and actors have to be hired. Always kept in mind is the thought, "Who and what will the public like?" And, occasionally, as has happened to us for the past two years, a location has to be secured.

Once the season has started a new play must be put into rehearsal every Wednesday. It must be rehearsed, its lines must be learned, its scenery constructed, cabins giving skits were Jerry Webster's and Jack Kennedy's group did a version of the TV show "The Medic".

Sunday morning, Bob Wurster gave a very inspiring talk at the chapel service, speaking on "The White Doves". One of the guests at the service was Mr. C. S. Mott, of Flint, Michigan, who told me that he attended a camp, the first camp in America, back in 1888. On Sunday afternoon, a free waterfront afternoon was held and the campers enjoyed the freedom of it. Vespers were held in all three sections on Sunday night.

Great preparations are being made for the Annual Carnival to be held this coming Saturday afternoon, the 23rd. We are looking forward to having many parents here. It is always such a pleasure to have you come, and we look forward each week to the weekend when we know we will have many visitors.

its publicity spread, and it must in all ways be made ready for the opening night audience. This often means working on forthcoming show, not only in the daytime, but after a performance of a present show. For instance, this week the play that audiences see is "Charley's Aunt". But the play that is being rehearsed is "The Little Hut". Changing a show every week means working late into the night. It often means writing a story, such as this, at three o'clock in the morning.

The dictionary might define summer stock as "live stage presentations for summer audiences", but those who work in it, those who see it and enjoy it, would call it something else. Its work, its entertainment. Its sometimes in the black. It more often sees red. It can't be defined. It has to be seen. There's nothing like it. Its summer stock.

World in Review

THE BIG FOUR powers finished their historic summit meeting Saturday in agreement on a long-range plan to relax world tension and improve confidence among nations.

DECISIONS of the Big Four conference called for an Aug. 29 meeting of the United Nations subcommittee on disarmament to take up the proposals made at Geneva. They also directed their foreign ministers to meet in Geneva in October to work out a plan for renouncing Germany and giving Europe a security plan designed to calm those who fear another German upheaval.

FORMER Secretary of State Cordell Hull, father of the United Nations, died at the age of 83 Saturday as a new generation of diplomats strove to achieve the world peace which was his chief goal.

ABOUT 8,000 members of the American Legion will assemble in Detroit August 4 for the opening of their four day state convention. Election of a state commander and more than 50 resolutions are scheduled to come before the delegates.

THE NAVY will run its biggest Arctic operations this summer using 117 ships to send supplies to Far North bases for building the DEW line (distant early warning line of radar).

RUSSIA is reported apparently satisfied with a Western pledge to work for a truce in the observance of the Indochina truce pact.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower declared this week that the Geneva conference brought "a sharpened realization by the world that the United States will go to any length, consistent with our concepts of decency, justice and right, to obtain peace."

THE HOUSE has rejected a proposed substitute for the sharply different highway construction bills being pushed by Republicans and Democrats. It put off until later this week the showdown between the Democratic plan, involving new taxes, and President Eisenhower's proposal to raise money through long-term financing.

THE HOUSE this week passed and sent to the Senate a measure authorizing the states to create local militias. The purpose is to create a corps of men in each state trained to handle local wartime problems in case National Guard units are called to federal duty in an emergency. This plan was part of President Eisenhower's original blueprint for expanding the military reserves.

City Employees' Pay Raised By Insurance

Following action by the Charlevoix city council Monday night, city employees will receive the equivalent of a 5 1/2 percent pay raise in the form of a new life insurance policy and a prepaid hospital insurance.

After a report on the four bids submitted earlier for life insurance on city employees, the council accepted the bid submitted by the Lincoln National Life Insurance Co. to provide a $1,000 life insurance plus an additional $1,000 accidental death and dismemberment policy. In addition the city will pay the Hospital surgical-medical insurance for the employee and his family which the employee now finances.

Fire Department Having A Busy Month Of July

The Charlevoix fire department has had one of its busiest months with 15 calls so far in July, Morris Elzinga, fire chief said Wednesday.

Only two of the reported fires were in buildings, the South Bend Tool and Die Co. on Cherry St. and the Weatherman Inn where small fires were soon extinguished with little damage.

The 11 other fires were grass fires caused by carelessness in the majority of cases, Mr. Elzinga said. All were caused by residents burning paper and trash in trash burners with sparks or pieces of burning paper escaping and starting fires in nearby fields.

Residents who own vacant lots where grass and weeds have grown up are asked to cut them down in an effort to eliminate fire hazards from a spark or a lighted cigarette. Fires caused in this manner could become serious if they should spread to nearby woods or a residential area with everything as " tinder dry " as it is at the present time, Mr. Elzinga added.

The city council Monday night discussed the seriousness of the situation and asked residents to cut long grass and weeds in an effort to lessen the hazard.

Chest Board To Meet August 9 To Adopt Budget

A meeting of the Charlevoix Community Chest board of directors has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 9, at the high school industrial arts room for the purpose of adopting the 1955 budget for the annual Community Chest fund drive.

Representatives of organizations planning to participate in the Community Chest drive are invited to attend this important meeting.

Because the fund drive will be held earlier this year than in the past, it will be necessary for all organizations wishing to participate in this united fund raising drive to submit their requests for funds as soon as possible. Robert Lieberman, chairman of the board said. These requests should be submitted in writing and mailed to Mrs. Charles Duerr, 209 Dixon ave. prior to Aug. 9 or presented at the meeting on that date by a representative of the requesting organization.

Any organization which has previously received funds through the Community Chest is asked to present a brief financial statement showing how the funds were utilized. Requests from organizations which have not participated previously will be considered on the basis of intended use of funds.

Requests for funds have already been received from the Salvation Army, the Scenic Trails Council of the Boy Scouts and the Michigan United Fund. Two of these organizations have increased their budget for the community so the Community Chest board is most anxious to have all requests in so a budget may be set for the forthcoming drive.

Coast Guard Searches For Lake Victim

Coastguardsmen from the Charlevoix Lifeboat station late Tuesday joined the search for a professional skin-diver, Edward Howe, 31, of Grand Rapids who drowned at 3 p.m. Tuesday off Cross Village when he dove into Lake Michigan from a boat owned by a friend, Gene Parks, also of Grand Rapids.

Parks said that Howe, who did not have on diving gear, went into the water about 2,000 ft. off Cross Village, 22 miles north of here to recover a map which had blown from the boat into the water. Parks said How never came up from the dive.

The Charlevoix Lifeboat station was called at 8:40 p.m. to assist in the search. A small motorboat was taken to Cross Village by truck but a choppy sea caused by off-shore winds hampered operations and the crew returned here at 1 p.m. Robert E. Ashley, BMLC, officer in charge of the lifeboat station, said. The 40 ft. patrol boat was dispatched at 9 a.m. Wednesday to continue the search.

The Parks boat is a 31 ft. cruiser. The pair were enroute to the Straits of Mackinac at the time of the accident.

Howe is survived by his wife and six children of Grand Rapids. It is understood that Mr. Howe was employed by the Walsh Construction Co. which has the contract for new construction at the cement plant.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

WASNT that a wonderful rain Friday . . . or did you happen to catch a glimpse of it . . . When we could have done with 20 hours we got 20 minutes . . . just enough to settle the dust . . . But we were grateful for even that much 'cause if it hadn't rained we'd have had to say good-bye to one of our old friends, Angus Fochtman . . . Needing rain as we did . . . and still do . . . he went around all last week, when everyone else was complaining about the weather, spreading the news that it would rain come Friday . . . It did or he would have been leaving town by fast freight.

AFTER ALL the heat we've been having, the weather got down to 70 degrees Sunday and everyone was shivering . . . Gee, you can't win for losin' when it comes to weather . . . And now everyone will sit around all week with crossed fingers hoping it won't rain 'til after Venetian night weekend . . . or if it does that the rains will be over by Saturday . . . If it isn't one thing it's six . . .

A 'WHATSI?' for lack of a better name, made an appearance over on the south side last week in the neighborhood of the Orin Cunningham — Frank Burgoine homes . . . It was a bird belonging to the egret or heron families . . . standing about a foot high with a bill four to five inches long and a breast like a rooster with fluffy, loose feathers . . . After looking in bird books and asking everyone in sight, they decided it belonged to the egret tribe . . . which naturally belongs near the water so Mrs. Burgoine boxed him up and took him out to the McGeahg creek area and released him . . . hoping he would find his way home . . .

SOMETHING new and different in the way of crops is being raised here this year . . . Never heard of it being grown this far north and chances are the name will be changed from white to northern gold but anyway, Pete Burns has quite a tobacco crop . . . Some 80 plants in all . . . We understand he's taking orders for the stuff . . . Seems one of his students, Vicki Miller, had her aunt, Mrs. Charles Powell, send some seed last spring . . . Frank Novotny cooperated by planting the seeds and nursing the stuff along until it could be planted outside . . . Now the first of the plants is about to bloom . . . Pete isn't quite sure what the procedure is so if any of you tobacco experts have any advice, pass it along to Charlevoix's tobacco king . . . He plans to save some of the plants so the school youngsters can see how it grows . . .

Someone told him that the pioneers cured tobacco in the good old days by boring holes in maple trees, filling said holes with the raw tobacco and leaving it to be aged or cured or what have you by the maple sap . . . Primitive? Sure, but who knows, maybe it'll work.

FROM Gilbert Powers a clipping in a Los Angeles, Calif., paper about the pheasant at Iron- ton what chases cars . . . An AP release which made its way across the country . . .

And from Miami with a clipping from the Miami Herald magazine section written by Arthur Juntunen of the Detroit Free Press on "Bridge brings boom to Michigan area" . . . It was sent with a note from Mrs. John A. (Sue Webster) Starnes who was a bit perturbed that this section of Michigan never got a mention . . . He came as far north as Grand Haven, hit all the top resorts on the Port Huron side and in the UP but the greatest of the resort areas in the state along lower Michigan's northwest coastline were ignored . . . But all in all it was a good story with pics of the bridge area . . . And the visitors moving north will come this way . . . we hope . . . From Sue a big 'Hi' to all her friends here . . .

A NOTE to anyone who might recover bottles with cards from the Great Lakes Fishery Investigation U. S. Fisheries and Wildlife, Ann Arbor . . . The finder is asked to return the card which is found in the bottle partially filled with sand (the bottle, that is) to the sender with the information on where it was recovered, etc. Seems a number of youngsters have found them and have destroyed them instead of returning the cards . . . Charles Pierce has recovered three found along Lake Michigan between South Point and Norwood . . . David Joslyn of Ypsilanti also found a tube put afloat by the Department of Zoology, Great Lakes Research Institute at the U. of M. . . Last week Mrs. C. C. Coulter reported finding one near Fisherman's Island . . . Seems the bottles were put afloat at some point along the lake to test lake currents, etc. . . We understand that when the card is returned the finder will be notified where and when it was tossed overboard . . . Lots of fun and an easy way for the researchers to collect data . . . So don't forget, if you find one return the enclosed card with the info asked to the sender . . . You don't even have to add a stamp . . . By the way, just seeds of them turned up on the beach at Little Traverse Bay almost a week before any were found south of Charlevoix.

Farm economists at M.S.U., after a careful study, believe that farm prices will rise about 6 per cent in the next five years. Farm costs will go up slightly.

Farm Safety Week is July 24-30.

Charlevoix Known As Convention City To Varied Organizations

Charlevoix has long been known as the convention city of the north with a variety of organizations gathering here for conventions of from two to five days.

Conventions are "big business" in any community, but in a summer resort it means even more, for if the conventioners like the city, they will return later with their families for a longer and more leisurely visit.

So far this year, four conventions have been held here at the popular convention hotel, the Charlevoix Beach Hotel, owned and managed by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kramer.

The number includes the conventions of the Michigan Sewage and Industrial Waste Association, the Michigan Movers and Warehousemen's Association, the Michigan Association of Plumbing Contractors and Michigan Consumers Finance which brought to Charlevoix approximately 800 members who spent a total of 14 days in the city.

Two more organizations have completed plans for conventions here later this summer with a third making inquiries with a good possibility that Charlevoix will be named as the convention site.

Last year the figures reached more than 3,000 people who attended 10 conventions. Conventions spent some 30 days in the city from mid-June to late September.

In the majority of cases the number of people brought to the community by conventions is higher than the figure given, for many members bring their families and remain in northern Michigan for post-convention vacations.

This year the summer season opened with the visit of the Bay City Chamber of Commerce aboard the S. S. South American. The ship, with more than 300 cruises aboard, docked here for a five-hour lay-over during which the group was entertained at the Beach Hotel where local headquarters for the cruise was established while the group was in Charlevoix.

The idea of a local headquarters was so well received that the Chamber has decided that hereafter officials will make a trip to all ports of call in advance of the cruise to establish a local headquarters, according to a communication from Glenn MacDonald, editor of the Bay City Times and a member of the Bay City organization.

The Michigan Sewage and Industrial Waste Association conducted its convention with the adoption of a resolution expressing its gratitude to the "Charlevoix Beach Hotel management which through their gracious hospitality, good service and delicious food contributed greatly to the enjoyment of the Association's stay in Charlevoix."

Representatives of the other organizations which chose Charlevoix and the Beach Hotel as convention sites have been equally as generous in their praise of the facilities and the courtesies shown them by the city of Charlevoix.

'The Little Hut' Forecast Hit At Potoskey Theater

The current production at the Potoskey Playhouse is the farce comedy, "The Little Hut". Its a ribald and bawdy tale, that is not recommended for those who are easily shocked and for the children. In fact, any one under 17 years of age will not be admitted this week.

The story concerns two men, one woman, and an ape, all stranded on a desert island. The difficulties that arise between the husband and the lover make humorous entertainment for those who are broad minded.

The Potoskey Playhouse is literally "sticking its neck out" in doing this show. There will be many who will condemn it as nothing but obscenity. But there will be those, and they will be many, who will laugh loud and long at the situation that these three people find themselves in. In the words of the producer director of the Playhouse, Bentley Lenhoff, "We in the field of theatre are committed to doing all types of shows for all types of people. The great writers of the past have chosen not to ignore the bawdy, the shady, and the risqué, simply because it was bawdy, shady, and risqué. They have felt that it was their duty to reflect life in all of its manifold forms. It is so with us at the Playhouse. A shady story is only shady to those who think in those terms. And it's shady when it need be told in hushed whispers and behind lockers or behind fans. This week the fans are down, and as the actors raise their voices to every part of the auditorium, we hope the audience will do what they can to enjoy themselves. They may have done were they

Ball-Gibbons Marriage Vows Are Exchanged In St. Mary's Church

Bouquets of red and white gladioli decorated the altar of St. Mary's church Saturday morning for the wedding of Donna Kay Ball and Dr. James J. Gibbons. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie T. Ball. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Gibbons.

The Rev. E. Francis Denay performed the double ring ceremony during the Nuptial Mass. Mrs. C. D. Guiken was the soloist and Mrs. Frank Oleksy the organist.

Mr. Ball gave his daughter in marriage. She chose a gown of white tulle over satin fashioned with a fitted bodice of unpressed pleated tulle, portrait neckline and short sleeves. The bouffant skirt which ended in a chapel length train was trimmed with lace medallions highlighted with seed pearls and rhinestones. A satin cap encrusted with seed pearls secured her fingertip veil. She wore long white gloves and carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid.

Mrs. Frank Burgoon attended her niece as matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of pink crystal-embroidered with a scooped neckline and bouffant skirt and a matching pink picture hat. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Patricia Ball, sister of the bride, and Mary Ann Gibbons, sister of the bridegroom, were junior bridesmaids. They wore identical ballerina length gowns of pink nylon fashioned with small collars and bouffant skirts, matching pink headbands and carried colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Victor Gibbons assisted his brother as best man and another brother, Charles Bennett were ushers. Mrs. Ball chose a dress of navy crystal-embroidered with white accents and navy and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Gibbons, mother of the bridegroom, wore a beige suit dress and silver and beige accessories. Both had corsages of red roses.

Immediately following the wedding a breakfast for the bridal party and 30 guests was held at the Hotel Dilworth in Boyne City.

For traveling on their brief wedding trip, the bride wore a sheath dress of beige lace over tulle and white accessories. The couple plan to make their home in Detroit where Dr. Gibbons, a recent graduate of the University of Michigan school of medicine is serving an internship at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital. Mrs. Gibbons, who plans to teach at Livonia, is attending summer school at Bay View. She also attended Central Michigan college in Mt. Pleasant.

Among those from away who attended the wedding were Mrs. William Hillenbrand, Mr. and Mrs. William Hahl and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gibbons of Detroit and Lt. and Mrs. Gerald Gibbons of Sault Ste Marie.

Erickson-Allison Wedding Vows Are Exchanged In Boyne City

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Allison Jr. will make their home at 1006 Durand ave. in Flint following their wedding at the First Methodist church in Boyne City Saturday.

The bride is the former Leola Jean Erickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Griffin of Boyne City. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Allison Sr.

The Rev. Forrest E. Mohr officiated at the double ring service in the presence of 300 guests. The organist, Emma Strandstad, played a program of traditional music and the wedding march, and accompanied the soloist, Devere Middleton. The church was decorated with garden flowers and lighted tapers.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, chose a street length gown of white lace over blue tulle, a matching lace hat and white accessories for her wedding. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Howard Crozier of Boyne City was her sister's only attendant. She wore a pink pleated casual dress, white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Kenneth Allison assisted his brother as best man and ushers were Lindy Erickson of Boyne City, brother of the bride, and Mr. Crozier.

A reception was held at the V.F.W. post home following the ceremony.

Mr. Cole will also be in charge of the boat parade in which all island craft including pleasure craft and fish tugs will be entered. The decorated boats will circle the harbor and anchor before the playground where the Rev. Fr. Prizes will be offered for the most attractive floats and boats and much planning is now underway by island residents competing for the prizes.

mime quartet, the Four Coons. Dr. Walter F. Hoffman will be master of ceremonies.

The first fireworks over Round Lake as night falls will mark the beginning of the colorful Venetian Night boat parade. The beauty of the boats decorated in a variety of themes carried out in lights and lanterns and kept secret until the parade, will be reflected in the quiet waters of Round Lake as the boats parade around the mirrored "stage". More than 25 boat owners are vying for the $225 in top prizes offered for the best decorated boats.

Judges for the event will be Marshall Sayles of East Jordan, Guy C. Conkle and Arthur K. Rouse of Boyne City. They will ride on the U. S. Coast Guard cutter with Queen Joyce during the parade.

The unique water parade and fireworks will conclude the weekend activities which mark the peak of Charlevoix's summer season.

The weekend activities will open Friday night with a waterfront dock dance at the municipal dock under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Community Chest board of directors. Music for the dance will be played by John Kroken and his orchestra.

The program on Saturday evening will open with a concert by the Kiltie band beginning at 7 p.m. and followed by a variety show with Rodney Creech as master of ceremonies. Appearing on the program will be the Teensters, a girls trio singing popular selections, David Miles, pianist, the Squires of Camp Charlevoix, a male quartet and Rodney Creech and his entertainers.

East Park will be the site of all programs during the weekend event.

The Chrysler Corporation's famous Plymouth Kiltie band, which will be making its second appearance here this weekend features 16 "pipers", seven drummers, a drum major and four Scottish girl dancers.

The band is recognized as one of the finest of the few authentic bagpipe bands in North America and is claiming a record of medals and prizes earned in band and dance competition at Highland festivals. The groups has traveled as far as Philadelphia, Pa., in the east and Dallas, Tex., in the southwest while appearing in parades, civic events, fairs, auto shows and visits to Veterans and Children's hospitals.

All members of the band are employees of the Chrysler Corporation, Detroit Area Plant, and do their piping and drumming in their spare time. Ninety-five percent are native-born Scots and the remaining five percent second generation Scots. Most of the men are veterans of World Wars I and II.

The band was organized in 1936 by a group of Chrysler employees who believed that from the large number of employees of Scottish descent at Chrysler's, the nucleus of a good Kiltie band could be recruited.

Mr. Ramsey, manager and drum major and a native of Lanarkshire, Scotland, who came to the U. S. 35 years ago, claims that his men are among the world's most talented players of the bagpipe, one of the most intricate and difficult of all wind instruments to master.

This year when the band visits Charlevoix the members will be wearing a new dress of Scottish imported Bonnie Prince Charley's Royal Stuart Trappings.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Modern Science Finally Catches Up With Grandpa

I got put in my place the other night. Deserved it, too. My father-in-law said we were due for bad weather. "Birds are flying low," he reported. "That means a storm."

I started to josh with the old gentleman about being superstitious. Then my nephew Jim, on vacation from college, pipes up. "Grandad's right," he says.

"At least, that's what they say at school," Jim goes on. "The heavy air you get before a storm forces insects down low—so high-flying birds have to swoop along the ground if they want to eat."

From where I sit, there's probably sound reasoning back of most old sayings... back of anything people have learned to believe in. Take the idea of a slither in time saving nine—sparing rods and spoiling children—of drinking hot milk, or a refreshing glass of beer, at bedtime. You may not hold with any of these beliefs yourself... but it's not smart to give them the "bird."

What Do You See?

Most of us are nearly blind. Even those whose eyes test 20-20 have limited vision. We don't see well.

Give yourself a simple test and see how well you do.

Without looking at the person nearest to you, describe his or her clothing (in polite, inoffensive language, of course). What color shirt and trousers and tie, or dress, or blouse and skirt, is the person wearing?

You have seen your neighbor's car dozens of times. What kind of ornament decorates the radiator? What color are the seat covers? What is the first number on the license plate? The last number?

What color eyes does your grocer have? Your milkman? The paper boy? Your service station attendant?

Who ushered at your church last Sunday? Was the last person you saw passing your home old or young, a man or a woman?

Do you say, "I saw, but I forgot?" That won't do — not if we apply the deeper meaning of seeing. There is a sort of seeing that is shallow, in which things pass before our "line of vision," but leaves no impression upon the mind. Those things can hardly be forgotten because they never registered, were never remembered — even for a moment. Then, again, some seeing is meaningful because it is penetrating and attentive — like the first breathtaking glimpse of our first-born child, or the way the wife looked when you announced that at last you had the down payment for your first home, or better yet, the way she looked when you could first call her "Mrs." Or, do you remember the first tremulous steps your baby took, or the look on his face on his first Christmas, or the doctor's expression when, after the fever broke, he said, "Your child will be all right now in a few days?" These things you saw and remembered because they interested you. They "counted" with you.

As evening falls, a man stands on a marsh's edge where ducks swim about, family style. Man and duck have eyes constructed very much alike, with iris, cornea, pupil, lens, retina, and optic nerve. But what do they really see?

The duck will notice those things in which ducks have a vital interest — an insect upon the water's surface, or a predaceous hawk circling high in the heavens, hungry for warm duck flesh. And the man will behold and mark those things that interest him and the wider his range of interests, the broader and richer his mind, the more he will observe. If he is a meat-hungry poacher with a gun, he will see ducks as meat. If he is an engineer, he will see ducks as examples of propulsion, their paddles efficiently placed near the rear of their bodies to give them more "push," as a marine motor is housed astern. But if the man has an expansive, inclusive mind, he sees more than duck meat and an example of naval engineering. He sees more than his own practical interests. He is attentive to swimming ducks, drowning insects, waving rushes, evening mists dimming the evening sunset and enshrouding the shining waters. The "practical man" has only partial vision, for he sees only what he came to see, and what his past experience compels him to notice. The growing soul sees these things and more too. He looks for the new, the thus-far-unnoticed, the wholesomely different, and he stuffs it into an already full mind. And the mind stretches to a greater magnitude. This kind of appreciative seeing always results in greater minds and bigger men.

How about it now? What do you see? Just what you expected and hoped to see? Concerning your church, are only those sermons "good" which reinforce your own thinking, or are you glad when your minister offers you new insight and a point of view which collides with your established convictions? And of course, there are our neighbors to be seen. Does it please us to say of those we know, "What did I tell you? That's all you can expect of her!" or "Didn't I tell you he would act like that?" Or are we happier to confess "I expected him to act as mean as always. But there's a kindness in him I hadn't seen until now!"

Having good vision means having a broad awareness and a deep appreciation of what is going on around us. The difference between a pessimist and an optimist is not in what life offers them, but what they chose to see.

The difference between the irreligious and the religious is not that some have no revelations of God and others do. The revelations are here for everyone. The difference is in the beholders. What do you see?

News Round-up at Camp Charlevoix

The fourth week of camp started off with the camp having its pictures taken. Paul Gach from Grosse Pointe is the official Camp Photographer and he spent both Monday and Tuesday here snapping group pictures, pictures of boys in their activities, and pictures of boys from the different cities from which we draw many boys. Now we are all anxious to see these pictures plus the colored slides he took. Monday evening Mr. Gach showed us the colored slides he took here last summer and it was fun for the staff and boys seeing themselves.

On Monday evening the entire Junior Section went on a sleep-out up in our orchard, and Dick Hesse and his staff of twelve men. The boys were greatly excited and enjoyed this adventure very much.

Tuesday saw two trips leave camp, a horse-back trip and a canoe trip. The horse-back trip was taken by cabins 12 and 13. The boys and men on this trip were: Don Kelly, John Rose, Marston Price, Chuckie Hirsch, Bill Rands, John Lambrecht, Jim Baird, Jib Bailey, Tom Irmischer, Jeff Gorsuch, Floyd Gaint, Joe Whinery, Merrick Pease, John Bahl, Bob Hicks, Dick Gaston, plus the cowboys. Cabin 19, under the guidance of Manny Alves took the canoes and came down the Jordan River. These boys were Cliff Bean, Jim Rion, Peck Kunkel, Eddie Barton, John Mueller, Hickman Price, Jim Smith, Bob Wood.

There is always so much talent in a group as large as this that we had a talent show on Wednesday night, and it was a lot of fun to see and hear both campers and counsellors perform for the camp. Those adding their talent to the show were: Annin Sahakian, Doug Donnan, Peck Kunkel, John Wilder, The Squires (a quartette made up of four of our dining room boys), Bud Morse, and Don Kelly. It was a very fine evening with Hank Guest as the M. C.

Thursday saw trucks and cars leaving here all day long taking cabin groups out on trips, cook-outs, and to the movies. It was a very busy day, and cabins 1 and 5 were the first to leave. Bill Stoner and his boys and Jerry Webster and his boys took off to Lake Michigan. Cabin 3 with Doug Donnan in charge went down to Whiting's State Park. Cabin 9 with Hank Guest as the counsellor also left for an overnight. Don Kelly and Alan Charlton took their boys into town on foot having a picnic supper by Lake Michigan and then took in the movie.

Friday evening was spent in preparation for Saturday's Carnival and those parents who were here on Saturday to enjoy the affair knew that the boys worked hard on their booths.

Saturday was a great day in the history of the camp as the finest Carnival ever was held, and both boys and the many, many parents had a great time. Cabin 2, under the direction of Stan Story won the prizes as both the most original booth and also the booth taking in the most tickets. The boys who worked in this booth were: Tom Drummy, John Deane, Larry Crum, Tom Cook, Jimmy Sprow, Steve Irmischer, and John Adams. Our visitors entered into the spirit of the Carnival and everyone had a splendid time.

On Sunday morning, Bob Wurtster, our handicraft counsellor from Louisiana, spoke at the chapel service to the largest Chapel crowd we have ever had. His sermon was both inspiring and most helpful. Chris Lietz, who sang a solo "Into the Woods My Master Went". The parents present were very generous, as the chapel collection, which goes to charity, was the largest we have ever had. The boys are very grateful to all of you who were here as it means that the Camper Council can do much more than they had planned on.

Parents are advised to mark their calendars with red circles around August 19th. As our annual rodeo is that afternoon at two thirty and that evening is our Final Indian Ceremony. The boys leave camp on Saturday morning August 20th.

More next week.

Wheat Support Price In County Set At $2.00

1955 crop soft white wheat in Charlevoix County will be supported at $2.00 per bushel. The national average on which the county rate is based is $2.06 per bushel. The support is 2 cents higher than the minimum rate announced in April which was based on the national average support of $2.06 per bushel.

Support rates of the 1955 crop, chairman Hardy of the Charlevoix County ASC Committee explains, are based on 82 1/2 percent of parity as of July, 1955. The minimum support originally announced was based on parity in August 1954. Under the law the final support may be higher than the figure originally announced but it may not be lower.

The 62 1/2 percent of parity support rate chairman Hardy says, applies only to the 36 commercial wheat States. In the noncommercial States where acreage allotments and marketing quotas are not in effect the support is 75 percent of the support in commercial States. Michigan being a commercial State, the support is at the higher level.

To be entitled to price support the grower in commercial States must be in compliance with the 1955 wheat acreage allotment established for his farm and be eligible to receive a wheat marketing card on all the other farms in the county in which he has an interest in the wheat crop. Supports will be loans and purchase agreements available from the time of harvest through January 31, 1956. Loans mature March 31, 1956 in Michigan and other mid-west and western States but in 16 eastern and southern States the maturity date is Feb. 29, 1956.

Community A.S.C. Committees To Be Named At Elections

The yearly elections held for the election of community ASC committees and the county ASC committee will be held in the near future, ballots going out to every known eligible voter not later than August 12. Ballots will be received in the Charlevoix County ASC office, Bank Bldg., Boyne City after August 15 and until August 22, 1955.

Townships are grouped together for the purposes of the ASC election into communities where one elected committee will sometimes serve from one to three townships in the community. The communities are as follows: Bay, Boyne Valley, Chandler and Hudson community; Hayes, Charlevoix and Peaine community; Melrose and Evangeline community; Marion and Norwood community; South Arm community; and Wilson community.

The ballots may be mailed to the county office or brought in person and after the election is closed, on August 23, a county tabulation board will meet and count the ballots, after which the persons elected will be notified and the chairman of each elected committee will come into the county office on August 30 to elect the county ASC committee for the coming year. All members of committees take office on September 1.

Ring Test Is Valuable For Brucellosis

The milk ring test for brucellosis in cattle is a valuable device but must go hand in hand with a blood test in the job of stamping out brucellosis, declares Ed Rebmman, Charlevoix County agricultural agent.

Big advantage of the milk ring test is that it can screen rapidly the herds that are to be tested for Bang's disease. Rebmman says the ring test sports the herds where the disease may be present. That saves time and expense in the tedious job of testing all herds.

But the test has many limitations that make it unsafe as a standard for determining which cattle are brucellosis-free. George

Cattle Infection Is Possible After Brucellosis Tests

Herd owners who buy an animal that has passed a brucellosis-clean test still can't be sure that the costly disease won't be spread in the rest of the herd, points out Ed Rebmman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

The sales slip that certifies the clean test does not guarantee that the animal has not been exposed before the test was made. And that exposure to the disease is important, Rebmman insists, because the incubation period of the disease is a long one. Sometimes it runs past 200 days.

An individual test for brucellosis may indicate that an animal is brucellosis-clean. But that doesn't mean, Rebmman says, that it has not been exposed from another animal in the herd and later will come down with the disease.

If the owner of the herd sells the exposed animal he would be complying with the law if he receives a certificate which indicates a clean test.

That means, points out Dr. Glen Reed, Michigan State college's extension veterinarian, that a herd owner would be wise to use extra care when he buys replacement stock. The buyer can insist on knowing the brucellosis status of the remainder of the herd from which he plans to buy replacements, the veterinarian suggests.

An animal that is to be added to an accredited herd in Michigan must be tested before purchase, then brought to the farm and kept separated from the rest of the herd for 30 days. Then the animal is tested again before allowed to join the herd.

Even these precautions, Dr. Reed insists, are not fool-proof because of the longer incubation period of the disease.

LIVING TODAY

By
Rev. Wilson H. Rinker

Be Alive

Read Romans 12:1-2 R.S.V.
Text: Romans 12:1-2 "Never flag in zeal, be aglow with the Spirit, serve the Lord. Rejoice in your hope, be patient in tribulation, be constant in prayer." R.S.V.

These verses are a call to awake from the sleep of spiritual lethargy and to live jubilantly for Jesus Christ. Paul calls us to live at the zenith of our Realization in Christ, the Son of God. He speaks to the Christian community. His voice is emphatic and positive, when he says, "Be zealous, be aglow with the Spirit, serve the Lord. Rejoice in your hope, be patient in tribulation, be constant in prayer". Paul's words are mandatory in essence and in statement. He speaks authoritatively and urgently. This is a call to everyone who claims to walk beneath the Banner of the Cross. Christians are urged to reveal those they are and whom they serve, eliminating all apology for having made their association with Jesus Christ and the Church of His Institution.

Christians are in the possession of the most dynamic Power in existence. It is not always evident. It should be. The world, outside of Christendom, is not convinced our power is the Power which is ours in Christ, because in many instances, those who profess Christ fail to live Christ. God has made it possible for everyone, who names the Name of Jesus, in sincerity and obedience, to live according to the urgent commands revealed in the words of our text. This life is possible, regardless of the environment in which we may find ourselves. Many are the times, I know, when we find it difficult to reconcile our present circumstances with our understanding of God's Holy Will and Word. But God knows what is best for us. I call you Christians to awake, to rise up, to live visibly, as well as inwardly, the Life of Eternal Worth that is yours in Jesus Christ.

The eleventh verse urges us to "serve the Lord, aglow with the Spirit", never permitting our zeal for serving Him to fade away. Some of us wax splendidly but we deplorably have a tendency to make a brilliant and flashing beginning; that is to say, the sun dawns brightly, as it does on a clear cloudless morning, but the noonday brings with it a haze, while the evening ushers in a sudden frost and finally an apparently welcomed darkness. Perhaps the reason for this occurrence is found in the last four words of the text. We have not been "constant in prayer". "Being constant in prayer" is the key to the fulfillment of the rest of the text in the life of a Christian. When we become lax and careless in our prayer life, immediately the words of our text fall into a negative assertion. It can be no other way, because, without faithful and diligent praying, we do not have a zeal to serve God; we do not aglow with the Spirit; we do not rejoice in our hope; we are not patient in tribulation. It comes negative. A careless prayer life breeds deadness in spiritual life, just as the lack of food would bring physical death.

Prayer is the key to a worthwhile Christian life. It is through prayer that God will nourish the Spirit of man, even as through food a man's body is nourished and sustained. Through prayer, offered in the Name of Jesus Christ, the only prayer which is heard by God, we tap the Eternal Reservoir of God's Eternal Power. Then, we become aglow with the Spirit, because we have had close and constant communion with God. Then, we become filled with a zeal to serve the Lord which will not die. But, be constant and consistent in prayer.

As Eternal children of an Eternal God, we can not afford to attempt to rely upon ourselves, nor upon the government, nor upon the strength of many armies, but rather depend upon the Power which is received through the medium of prayer.

When we pray in the Name of Christ, God hears, and through the Holy Spirit, God bestows the necessary strength, ability and courage to meet the tasks of the day serving the Lord. When Christians, through constant prayer, become aglow with the Spirit, this old world will experience a Spiritual Revival such as it has never seen. You who are pure in heart, rise up, rejoice, wave your glorious banner on high; the banner which is the cross of Christ your King. Proclaim your hope, herald forth the Good News of the Gospel, which is God's Redemptive Act in Jesus Christ. Pray, that sinners, in response to the work of the Holy Spirit, may see their plight and come to recognize their salvation through Jesus Christ. Then may they realize that "blessed only are the pure in heart, for only they shall see the Lord".

Capt. J. F. Howard Reports A Busy Season

Charlevoix's waterfront is having one of its busiest seasons in recent years with all city-owned slips and many privately owned docks filled to capacity over the weekend, Capt. Joseph F. Howard, harbor master and official greeter, reported this week.

"In our best season", he said, "a total of 872 pleasure boats of every description visited Charlevoix and if the number continues at the present rate a new record will be set this year. Last weekend all the slips were full and many boats were tied up at other docks on Round Lake, and they're still coming in."

And Capt. Howard should know for he meets every visitor to Charlevoix's land-locked harbor, assigns each a berth, delivers mail and dispenses information on lakes and harbors along the big lake, delivers messages from friends and offers advice on where to shop for the best buys in food, fun and fashions, as the case might be.

Tiny cruiser or palatial yacht, every boatman receives the same heart welcome and generous assistance. This coupled with the fact that the facilities offered here are the finest on the Great Lakes has done much to make Charlevoix a port of call for most yachtsmen.

Some visitors stay overnight and others remain for a week or more but regardless of their plans, all are accorded the same reception from this 'ambassador of goodwill' who knows that sooner or later all yachtsmen return to Charlevoix.

When visiting boat-men talk of weather, wind or other things dear to the heart of a sailor, Capt. Joe answers them in the same 'salty' manner for he was literally reared on the water. Born in Cleveland in 1877, he went sailing on a great lake ore boat at the age of 13 years. Later he signed with the old Berry Line which operated a transit company between Chicago and Milwaukee and worked in every job from the fire hole and engine room to the top deck of lake steamers such as the Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Manitou and Puritan, vessels familiar to many older residents of the area today.

On one trip to Charlevoix he met an Irish colleen, Rose O'Neill, whom he married in 1906.

After 12 years with the O'Neill fisheries which her father owned, he became associated with the late O. E. Wilbur who was the agent for the Northern Michigan Line and other transit companies whose ships made Charlevoix a regular port of call during the first quarter of the century.

Later, when Mr. Wilbur returned and the city purchased the property where the municipal dock is now located, Capt. Howard assumed the job of managing the dock and has an office to the right of Pine river which connects Lake Michigan with Charlevoix's natural harbor. All lake traffic must pass his door and, like "the man by the side of the road", he has become a friend of all men whose ships sail into the local harbor.

In addition to his many duties along the waterfront, he keeps a 'log' of all visitors including their home addresses and, come Christmas, each will receive a Christmas greeting from the city of Charlevoix addressed in long-hand by Capt. Joe.

Jean Schumacher, Bernard Zeitler Exchange Marriage Vows In Ruth

Jean Schumacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Schumacher of Ruth, and Bernard Zeitler, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zeitler, Sr., exchanged their marriage vows during a Nuptial Mass celebrated at St. Peter and Paul church in Ruth Saturday morning.

The Very Rev. Frank Kaufman read the service in the presence of 500 guests before an altar decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and pompoms.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle for her wedding. It was fashioned with a fitted lace bodice, Queen Anne collar and long sleeves. Points of lace extended midway to the hem-line of the bouffant skirt. A Dutch cap trimmed with seed pearls secured her fingertip veil of nylon tulle. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

Nancy Schumacher of Ruth, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Patricia McIntyre of Uby, Theresa Zeitler, sister of the bridegroom and Beverly Rago, both of Detroit were bridesmaids. They wore identical ballerina length gowns of pink and white nylon and tulle styled with fitted bodice and bouffant skirts trimmed with pink velvet ribbons. Their pink flower head dresses and short veils matched their bouquets of pink roses.

Donald Zeitler assisted his cousin as best man, and groomsmen were James Bown and, also of Charlevoix, Thomas Sullivan of Marlette and Darrell Schneebarger of Ann Arbor.

John Zeitler Jr., of Oxford, brother of the bridegroom and Leo Wahla of Uby were ushers.

Mrs. Schumacher selected a gown of red and lavender interchangeable crystalettes styled with a fitted bolice, scooped neckline and full skirt and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Zeitler, mother of the bridegroom, wore a princess gown of pink nylon and white accessories. Both had corsages of white roses.

A wedding breakfast at the Knights of Columbus hall in Ruth was followed by an evening reception and dinner for 550 guests. White gladioli and pompom mums enlivened the tiered wedding cake.

For traveling on their brief wedding trip through northern Michigan, the bride wore a white nylon organza dress embroidered with orchid flowers, matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

The couple will reside here until September when the bridegroom returns to his studies as a senior student at Central Michigan college in Mt. Pleasant.

The bride is a graduate of St. Peter & Paul high school in Ruth and attended the University of Detroit and Central Michigan college. A graduate of the Charlevoix high school, the bridegroom is a veteran of four years service in the U. S. Air Force and is now a student at Central Michigan college where he is affiliated with the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity.

Wedding guests were present from Ann Arbor, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Port Huron, Elkton, Bad Axe, Harbor Beach, Uby, Charlevoix, Saginaw and Grosse Pointe.

Fr. A. B. Klyber To Be Speaker At Novena Here

St. Mary's parish here is pleasantly anticipating the arrival of the Rev. Fr. Arthur B. Klyber, Redemptorist missionary, as speaker at a Novena in preparation for the Feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary, the Rev. E. Francis Denay, pastor of St. Mary's church, announced this week.

The Novena services will be held nightly at St. Mary's church at 8 p.m. Sunday through Aug. 15.

The Novena speaker, Father Klyber, has behind him years of experience as a missionary priest.

Born in New York City in 1900 of Jewish parentage, he enlisted in the U. S. Navy at the outbreak of World War I, was assigned to the Sixth Submarine Flotilla and in Feb. 1918 was transferred to the Submarine base at San Pedro, Calif.

Here, through the companionship and good example of a Catholic shipmate, he became interested in Catholicism and two years later, in 1920, was received into the Catholic church.

After completing his enlistment of more than four years, he applied for admission to the Preparatory College of Redemptorist Fathers at Kirkwood, Mo. Later he continued his studies at the Novitiate at DeSoto, Mo., for one year before entering the Seminary at Oconomowoc, Wis. In June 1932, he was ordained into the priesthood. Another year of theology was followed by six months of intensive training for the work of preaching. In Jan. 1934 he was assigned to the work of missions at home.

He did mission work in parishes at Glenview, Ill., St. Louis, Mo., and Wichita, Kans., and in 1950 became novitiate master at DeSoto, Mo., a post he filled until 1952 when he assumed his present duties at Omaha, Neb.

Father Klyber's interest in the Jewish people has never flagged through the years. Time-consuming as many of his assignments have been, he has written numerous pamphlets and several articles on their behalf.

Father Denay of St. Mary's church has extended a cordial invitation to all parishioners as well as to the many summer residents in the area to attend the Novena services at the church at 8 p.m. nightly Sunday, Aug. 7, through Aug. 15.

Fire Destroys Large Area Of Pasture Land

A fire believed to have started by a lighted cigarette thrown from a passing car burned over 20 acres of pasture land on the Hayes township farm of Lee Sneathen Jr. and threatened a 30 acre field of oats about to be harvested and a stand of 12 ft. pine trees before it was extinguished by the Charlevoix fire department.

Mr. Sneathen was attempting to plow an area between the burned over field and the oat field when the fire department arrived and with the use of its efficient new equipment was able to halt the blaze.

Fourteen Charlevoix volunteer fire-fighters and several neighbors who were fighting the fire with wet feed bags assisted in quelling the blaze.

Mr. Elzinga said Wednesday that the fire department had received five other calls to extinguish grass fires within the city in the past week.

He again warned all residents to be careful when burning paper and trash or when burning grass for beach parties for with the fields and woods tinder-dry, a fire can be out of control in only a few minutes. The carelessness of a passerby was responsible for Monday's fire which burned over the large field and except for the fast work of the fire department might have wrought more damage.

Large Crowd Enjoys Venetian Boat Parade, Other Weekend Events

One of the most successful Venetian Night programs presented in recent years was witnessed over the weekend by a crowd of several thousand visitors who invaded the city over the weekend for Charlevoix's big mid-summer event.

It is estimated that well over 20,000 local residents, summer visitors and weekend visitors saw the Venetian Night boat parade on Round Lake Sunday night to climax the weekend festivities.

Woodbury Ransom's boat decorated as a whale complete with water spout won the first prize of $100; Alfred Strauss' "Cat and the Fiddle" placed second and received $75 and Don Campbell's pinwheel won $50. Each entry received a $10 entry prize.

One of the most enjoyable events this year was the appearance of the Plymouth Kiltie band of the Chrysler Corp. of Detroit. After presenting concerts in East Park Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon which featured the four Kiltie Lassies in Scottish dances, the group boarded the White Swan Sunday evening and presented a third concert from their anchorage in Round Lake. A great favorite with their audiences at all times, the Kiltie band headed by William Ramsey as drum major and manager, played requests which ranged from the popular Davy Crockett to Onward, Christian Soldiers, and featuring countless Scottish favorites. All members of the band are veterans of both World War I and II and served with Scottish, Canadian or American units in historic battles of both wars. Many of these men were introduced during the various programs.

The coronation ceremony during which Venetian Queen, Joyce Cunningham, received her floral crown from Mr. Ramsey was a highlight of the Sunday afternoon festivities. Introduced during the program were members of her court, Roberta Swanson and Darlene Mason, Mayor James Hiller and Cmd. Edward K. Shanahan, president of the Charlevoix board of commerce. H. B. Schofield was master of ceremonies and presented Queen Joyce with a bouquet of roses from the Little Traverse Florist Association and the members of the court with nosegays.

Kiwanis Club Is Host To Crippled Children Tuesday

The Charlevoix Kiwanis club entertained 80 crippled children from northern Michigan who are undergoing therapy treatment at the Children's clinic at Traverse City and 10 counselors Tuesday afternoon.

The youngsters, most of whom are handicapped as a result of polio, were treated to a train ride by the chief therapist at the clinic. The children left the train here and were entertained by the local Kiwanis club and served a lunch including sandwiches, fruit, cookies, soft drinks and ice cream.

Since the north-bound train was late, the youngsters had only little more than an hour here.

The Kiwanians were expecting the visitors Friday and had planned an afternoon's entertainment at Camp Charlevoix where Ken Smith, camp owner-manager had arranged to present a rodeo. When they arrived unexpectedly Tuesday the impromptu party was hurriedly arranged by Charles J. Pontius, president of the club, with the assistance of other Kiwanis members and their wives.

Hold Eastern Star Rites For Mrs. Rose

Eastern Star rites for Mrs. S. M. Rose, 88, were held at the Pontius Chapel Saturday. The Rev. Kenneth Mitchell officiated at the service. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Mrs. Rose, widow of one of Charlevoix's early civic leaders, died Wednesday at the Melling Nursing Home in East Jordan where she had been a patient since October.

Second Salk Vaccine To Be Given Monday

All first and second graders who received their first Salk anti-polio vaccine shots in April are scheduled to receive their second shots of the series at a clinic to be held Monday at the kindergarten room in the Charlevoix Elementary school building. Dr. A. F. Litzenger, director of District Health Department No. 3, announced Wednesday.

The clinic will be held beginning at 10 a.m. Monday and will continue until all youngsters receive their second shots.

The vaccine will be administered by Doctors Robert C. Martin, Isaac Terr, G. B. Saltonstall and L. E. Grate who are cooperating in the program.

At the time the first vaccine was given last spring 185 shots were administered. Mrs. Jeanne Miles, school and community nurse who is arranging the clinic said. The children were students in the Charlevoix public school, the Norwood township school, the Ironton school and St. Mary's parochial school.

Parents are urged to bring their children to the clinic at 10 a.m. Monday to receive their second shots. No "make up" clinic will be held. If a child is ill and unable to attend, parents are asked to notify Mrs. Miles.

Only children who were in the first and second grades in schools in the area or children who have transferred here whose parents have the child's health record will receive the shots, Dr. Litzenger said.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

DON'T know if it will do any good but right now we're serving an ultimatum . . . Either there's a change in the weather or we're gonna quit workin' . . . Wouldn't it be wonderful if we could get away with that? . . . But all kidding aside, ain't it awful . . . this weather we mean . . . No one remembers a time when we have had such a long spell without rain or relief from the heat . . . And we don't mind saying we don't like it . . .

TALKED with some farmers in the area over the weekend and they're just sick . . . as who wouldn't be when you'd lost your crops for the year . . . Everyone keeps hoping and praying . . . surely there'll be a break soon . . . Prayers for rain have been offered in our churches every week . . . One little guy was heard Sunday to say that he prayed for rain but not 'til after the ball game . . . Clyde Smith told us recently that it was so dry that even the grasshoppers had deserted the countryside . . . And that's getting pretty bad . . .

THE FIRE department was called out Monday to fight a fire in Hayes township caused, they believe, by pure carelessness . . . The fire started along a road where they think a cigarette was thrown from a car . . . Only by the quick-thinking and hard work of a lot of people was a 30 acre oak field, just about to be harvested, and a stand of pine trees saved . . . So for heaven's sake, be a bit more careful . . . These are critical times and it's about time people realized it . . .

DID YOU ever lose your last nickel through a grating in the sidewalk? . . . When we were little it seemed as tho' we were always dropping our pennies or nickels which would roll along and drop through the grating . . . You don't see very many of those "thieves" around anymore . . . Noticed the other day that the one in front of the Central Drug store had been cemented over . . . Wonder who got all that change we used to see in the bottom . . .

WEATHER or not . . . the plans for the Beaver Island homecoming are going on . . . Scads of people from Charlevoix are planning on going and everyday many former island residents living elsewhere are dropping the Emerald Isle for the trip "over home" as many former islanders refer to the island . . . We talked with Mrs. Margaret Hanley who is back on the island from Milan (where she teaches) . . . She tells us that everyone is busy with plans for the event . . . We asked about the fireworks during our conversation and found out for the first time the details of the "big explosion" over there a few years ago . . . We've mentioned it before . . . the night of the celebration, when someone accidentally set off the whole box of fireworks . . . Seems it was Frank Nackerman's cigar which started the bombardment . . . Fireworks were going off in every direction and the entire population had to take for cover or run the risk of being "shot" by a Roman candle or some other bit of fireworks . . . From a distance, they said, it was something to see . . . There was only one trouble . . . there weren't many of the island's residents or visitors that far away . . . When the smoke settled, the fireworks were over but only a few people had seen them . . . So we're betting right now that Frank Nackerman will be placed under guard, come Aug. 14, so the same thing won't happen again . . .

REMEMBER that "funny" bird we mentioned a week or so ago . . . the one that the Cummings and Burgoins found and later took to the country and released? . . . Seems before he got to that part of town he had a little run-in with a dog named Rags who belongs to the Clarence Helges . . . Early the same morning that he showed up at the Bur-goins, Rags came tearing from the Heises backyard smack into the screen door in an effort to escape from the "monster" which had invaded his domain . . . His owners rushed to his rescue and were amazed to find this "fighting" bird in the yard, looking very vicious . . . They watched him for some time and his mood did not change so they left him strictly alone . . . After a while he wandered away and Rags was able to return to the yard . . . Whoever he was, the bird sure caused a lot of comment during his brief trip into town . . .

ANOTHER Venetian Night weekend has come and gone . . . Knowing a lot about the work and planning that went into the event, we'd like to say "well done" to those few people who gave their time and talents to making it a success . . . For an event as big as this one, it is surprising the few people who actually participate in it . . . that is, in the planning and promotion . . . So to those unsung heroes without whom there would be no Venetian Night program and parade on the beach . . . Whether you realize it or not, there are those of us who appreciate what you are doing . . .

CHARLEVOIX will be represented in great style at the Soo Centennial this weekend . . . Along with the presentation of the pageant "Gangway for Tomorrow", the dramatization of Bill Ratigan's novel, "Soo Canal", the Charlevoix high school band will march in the big parade scheduled for Saturday afternoon and officially represent Charlevoix at the big celebration . . . A real sharp outfit, that band, and we know they'll do us proud . . .

FROM FAR across the Pacific a greeting from Mrs. George Wolf and daughters, Vicky and Dulcie McClure . . . A note written aboard the USS Mitchell brought the news that their journey had been cold and rainy (Can you imagine that?) . . . that they had experienced a couple "ahandon ship" drills . . . and as Phil wrote, "Hope we never have to really abandon ship" . . . On board ship were 300 dependents of servicemen, 50 Korean officers, 173 troops plus the crew and that's not counting the enlisted men going to Korea as a unit . . . it's like Lake Charlevoix beach on a very hot afternoon only worse . . . She concluded . . . "We're enjoying our venture and very anxious to get to Tokyo and see what is ahead of us . . . We are all standing the trip well including Pierre (the cat) but there have been times when we wished we'd never left home" . . . The ship was scheduled to dock July 25 so no doubt there's been a happy reunion in Tokyo and things are going much smoother . . .

DON'T know what you're sentiments are about the proposed jet airbase for northern Michigan but we're pluggin' for Kalkaska county . . . If those 12,000 acres of flat lands where not even a deer or a rabbit will live can be salvaged from the elements, we say fine . . . And Kalkaska county could sure use that addition to its population . . . We're hopin' that who ever makes the decisions sticks to his guns and settles this darn thing once and for all . . . for Kalkaska county, that is . . .

Don't forget the W.S.C. summer bazaar beginning at 10 a.m. and chicken pie supper at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 11, Methodist church. 32-33x

Not diggety darn! . . . this is the most ruffling news since the first stalwart American male walked out of Bernuda in a pair of shorts. He's put ruffles on his shirt! And he not only likes 'em, he loves 'em . . . and enough to pay a fancy price for his fancy.

Strictly for dress . . . so far, anyway, the frilled front and cuffs make a man feel like a new man. And to think it took him over a century to rediscover that wearing a ruffle gives him a bit of alright feeling about himself. And it will certainly make his hostess feel as if he cared enough to wear the very best!

I guess Dior had so many feminine backs turned on him that he decided to put our waistline, hips and bosom back in their proper places. His H and A silhouettes have already faded into oblivion limbo . . . and this week it's the Y-line for daytime, and an upside-down Y-line for evening. Why . . . I dunno.

I wonder what stylist Dior will do with the letter Z when he picks that out of his alphabet cereal some morning. Before that happens we hope he switches to Bopsies or Tweedlies or something.

Malloy-Holloran Marriage Vows Spoken In Double Ring Ceremony

St. Mary's church in Muskegon was the scene Saturday morning of the wedding of Mary P. Malloy and Terrence J. Holloran.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Malloy of St. James and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Holloran of Muskegon are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Fr. Raymond T. Dark officiated at the double ring service during the Nuptial Mass celebrated in the presence of 250 guests. Bouquets of pink and white gladioli decorated the altar for the occasion. Emmett Friar was the organist and Eleanor Bareman the soloist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Francis Brown of Muskegon, the bride chose a ballerina length gown of white rosepoint lace and tulle over taffeta for her wedding. It was styled with a lace bodice, a scooped neckline of scalloped lace and long sleeves which came to points over the wrists. The bouffant skirt of tulle and net had vertical inserts of lace. A queen's crown secured her shoulder length veil and she carried a white Missal topped with an arrangement of white orchids and white satin streamers.

E-nadette Malloy of Chicago, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. Anthony Sass of Muskegon, twin sister of the bridegroom was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of mist green crystalettes fashioned with fitted bodices and myriad pleated bouffant skirts. They wore small crowns similar to the bride's and carried colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Lowell Moore of Muskegon assisted the bridegroom as best man. Robert Malloy of Chicago, brother of the bride, was groomsmen and John J. Holloran, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Sass, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, both of Muskegon, were ushers.

Mrs. Malloy selected an aqua print silk crepe dress, white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Holloran, mother of the bridegroom, wore an aqua print crepe dress, white accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast for the bridal party and 40 guests was held at the Falcon's hall which was also the site of the evening reception for 250 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. John Czekuc and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ryan of Muskegon were masters and mistresses of ceremonies. Assisting at the buffet supper and reception were Loyola Malloy of St. James, Mrs. Bert Kainers, Mary Weiss, Eleanor Bareman, Betty Dawes, Monica Holloran and Mrs. Francis Brown, all of Muskegon.

After a two week wedding trip through the east and Quebec in Canada the couple will reside at 1062 W. Dale ave. in Muskegon. For traveling the bride wore a pink suit and white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of St. James high school and Mercy Central school of nursing in Muskegon. She is now a member of the nursing staff at Mercy Hospital there after a year spent at Hines Veterans Hospital in Hines, Ill. The bridegroom is a graduate of St. Mary's high school in Muskegon and a veteran of two years Army service. He is employed by Thompson Products in Fruitport, Michigan.

Charles Bennett Wins City Golf Title And Trophy

Charles Bennett won the first annual city golf championship in the play-off with Bob Wallace at the Municipal golf course Sunday and the Frank B. Poole trophy.

Bennett, playing with a handicap of 23 strokes, defeated Wallace, championship flight winner, 3-2 in the final round Sunday before a large gallery.

The putting of the second flight winner who went on to take the title was excellent, according to Keith Carey, club manager, who said it was this which won him the title in the final round.

Wallace, playing without a handicap, had a score of nine under par for the 88 holes he played in the tournament.

Bennett will have his name engraved on the Frank B. Poole trophy. The trophy will remain at the municipal golf course clubhouse. Later he will be presented with a small trophy which he may keep.

Thirty-four local golfers were entered in the first annual city golf tournament. Perry Smith was first flight winner and Grover Genett, third flight winner.

"Bill" Huckles Announce Sale Of Camera Shop

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. "Bill" Huckles announced this week the sale of their East Jordan camera shop and photographic studio to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. "Jerry" Rogers, Jr. on Aug. 1.

The new owners have resided in East Jordan since Mr. Rogers joined the studio staff in November, 1954. Previously, they had their own photographic operation in Lansing and later Mr. Rogers served as cameraman with TV stations there.

The Huckles, who work as a photographer-reporting team, plan to devote more time to special-ized photo illustration work and to newspaper and magazine assignments in Northern Michigan.

Moving to Northern Michigan from Detroit, the Huckles have operated a studio in East Jordan for nine years. It had been until 1946, twenty-nine years since East Jordan's business district included a portrait studio. William Boswell Jr.'s death in 1917 closed the "gallery" he had built and operated in the present Hill, drug building... a photographic operation started by his father, William Boswell Sr., twenty-seven years earlier, in 1900.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zeiler were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Snider and two children of Grand Rapids who spent a week here, Mrs. A. C. Peterson of Benton Harbor who was here for two weeks and Clair Peterson of Holland who spent a week here.

Essenberg - Way Marriage Vows Are Exchanged

Miss Lorraine Joan Essenberg was united in marriage to Douglas William Way in a lovely summer wedding in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Essenberg of Atwood Saturday evening, July 30 at 7 p.m.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Way, brother of the groom of Harrison. Candelabra flanked by ferns and baskets of assorted glads provided a fitting background for the bride party.

Miss Karen Potts, organist, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist Mrs. Allen Klooster, who sang, "I Love You Truly" just before and "O Promise Me" just after the entrance of the bride party. After the speaking of the vows she sang "The Wedding Prayer".

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a wedding gown of slipper satin, trimmed with lace insets and rhinestones and fashioned with fitted bodice, net yoke and long sleeves coming to points over the wrists and the full skirt ending in a train. Her finger tip veil was held in place by a titha trimmed with seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried an arm bouquet of pink and orchid sweet peas with white ribbon streamers tied in with sweet peas.

The brides attendant was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ted Essenberg, who wore a formal of white net over tulle and carried a bouquet of pink and orchid sweet peas. White mums formed her headpiece.

Dawson Way served as best man for his brother and Danny Titonenberger, nephew of the groom was ring bearer. Vonda Mae Essenberg, niece of the bride served as flower girl, wearing a blue satin tunic with net over-skirt.

Mrs. Essenberg, mother of the bride, wore a street length orlon and cotton dress of pink with white dots and white accessories. Mrs. Way chose a street length dress of grey with white dots, black accessories. Their corsages were fashioned with white mums.

Following the ceremony a reception for 65 guests was held on the large porch with Mr. and Mrs. Julius Essenberg as master and mistress of ceremonies.

Noreen Essenberg and Bob Joliffe assisted in the gift room; Mrs. George Koster and Mrs. John Rittman in the kitchen and Misses Mary Kay Goeman, Minnie DeVries, Peggy Doctor and Marcia Ritsma served the guests.

The wedding cake baked by the bride was decorated by Jennie Veestra.

Following the reception the young couple left on a northern wedding trip, the bride traveling in a blue dress with full pleated skirt, white accessories and wearing a corsage of white mums.

On their return they will reside at 1084 E. Huribut in Charlevoix where the bride is employed as a nurse's aide at Charlevoix and the groom is employed at Penetration Sales and Service.

Out of town guests included relatives and friends from Grand Rapids, Manton, Rapid City and Harrison.

Ellsworth's T. E. Boss Makes News Articles

Ellsworth may be small in size and population but it makes the news. Following a write up this spring about our Township Clerk, T. E. Boss, who was re-elected and started his 47th year in office, Mr. Boss and friends have received word from far places. Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Postmus, who are living in Alaska where Adrian is stationed with the Air Force at Fairbanks, picked up their newspaper one day to discover their home town mentioned in a little article concerning Mr. Boss. They sent the newspaper to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Klooster in Ellsworth.

Then last week Mr. Boss received a friendly letter from a former Ellsworth resident, who now lives in Miami, Florida, with clippings from a Miami paper concerning the same article.

Possibly a number of people here will remember the Madell family who resided here. Mr. Boss' letter came from Lila Mae Madell Durgan, who with her husband owns and operates the Oaks Hotel in downtown Miami.

Special Service

The Atwood, Ellsworth Christian Reformed churches and the Atwood Reformed church held a special prayer service for relief from the drought night in the Ellsworth church, with Rev. Henry Zavantera, Rev. Neal Punt and guest pastor Rev. G. A. Galberts participating in the service.

Birthday Party

A trip to TV program "Deputy Don" Tuesday, July 28 was the highlight of the birthday celebration for Dougie Klooster on the occasion of his third birthday. Eleven little friends joined him in the visit with his mother, Mrs. Allen Klooster, Mrs. Ted Essenberg, Mrs. Marvin Wynema and Mrs. Ron Sitzema.

When You Have to Escape

Every time we walk through field or forest, by merry brook or laughing lake waters, something tries to escape us. A chipmunk scoots to his hideaway hole beneath a nearby log. With a wild furor for so small a bird, a weevil leaves her brookside nest. At the very last moment possible, before the human intruders brush against her ground-hugging home, she escapes them. Frogs leap into the stream from their log perches, and deer bound from hidden forest glades. Stroll leisurely over any meadow, drowsing in the summer's sun, or amble over any shadow-strewn woodland trail and you will hear the sounds of hurrying feet and beating wings. Your wild brethren will flee from you.

Escape is a necessity at times. Although life presents crises when we must stand and fight, it offers just as many critical moments when we must escape or perish. A chipmunk may be heroic in fighting a larger chipmunk or a fox squirrel. But a chipmunk that fights a man is mad. A man who wrestles with a burglar may show courage. But only a fool will fight a Mississippi flood or a tornado alone and with his bare hands. The wise man escapes. Wisdom is demonstrated in knowing when and how to fight, and when and how to escape.

The magnitude of the problem of handling our tendency to escape is manifest in the lives of many of the outstanding personages of history. Some had odd fears and handled them badly. Joseph Pulitzer, the founder of a great newspaper dynasty, suffered from a fear of noises. Even the sound of silverware being placed on the table at mealtime greatly disturbed him. Other noises that entirely escape our attention seemed like an uproarious clamor to Pulitzer. To escape the din of an unsympathetic civilization, the publisher had a soundproof room built on a yacht and lived at sea.

Benito Mussolini had a fear of closed places and escaped to an office as big as a gymnasium. Napoleon and Kaiser Wilhelm were so afraid of cats that they were thrown into an emotional turmoil at the sight of one and would take flight at once if at all possible.

Some people try to escape life's problems by fleeing home to mother or getting involved in frantic activity so that they have "no time to think", by moving from job to job and from town to town, by drinking themselves into insensibility, or by taking narcotics, by thoughts into fantasy, make-believe, irresponsibility and insanity, or by suicide. All of these flee by escaping into greater weakness or death. The wise escape by seeking refuge in some strengthening influence. There they find a power that enables them to handle life in a masterful fashion. No German writer has produced literature more lasting than that of Goethe. But Goethe's writing was a product of his occasional running away — an escape from society. "Without absolute solitude I am unable to produce anything at all," he once said. He discovered to silence and seclusion a power for thought and creativity that could not be found in a world of crowds. That power went into his writing, and his writing went back to the world. Goethe escaped not into weakness but into strength.

In the Gospel of John the story is told of how, "When Jesus therefore perceived that they would come and take him by force, to make him a king, he departed again into a mountain himself alone." He withdrew from the crowd. He escaped. But he didn't remain withdrawn. After a time he returned to the throngs, inwardly strengthened, prepared to make a greater impact upon the world than any other person in history and to split time into B.C. and A.D.

When life gets to be too much for us, that is the kind of escape we need — a retreat into strength. Some find music helps them. They make off to a concert and come away refreshed, stronger, ready to tackle any job the morrow can bring. Art or literature, or a visit with a friend can fill the need. Or best of all, as Jesus so often proved, we escape from all other friends to the one Friend whose presence is power.

From lowly chipmunk to conquering Christ, all creatures know the need to escape. The weak withdraw to greater weakness. The wise escape to a source of strength.

Four Local Scouts On Canoe Voyage

Two Cross Village Residents Rescued From L. Michigan

Two Cross Village residents were rescued from Lake Michigan a mile west of Good Hart late Wednesday afternoon by the 50 ft. schooner, Queria, after spending three hours in the water following a boating accident.

The pair, Jack Keller, 31, and Walter Babus, 14, both of Cross Village, said they were thrown into the water about 3:30 p.m. when their 21-ft. outboard motor boat capsized. They floated in the water with life jackets until picked up by the schooner which radiated for assistance from the U. S. Coast Guard in searching for the missing boat and transporting the victims to Cross Village.

The 40 ft. patrol boat from the Charlevoix Lifeboat Station which was enroute here after spending the day at Cross Village searching for the body of Edward Horton, 31, of Grand Rapids who was drowned Tuesday answered the call. Returning to the scene of the mishap, the patrol boat took Keller and Babus aboard, searched in vain until darkness fell for the boat and then returned the pair to Cross Village.

The boat in charge of Robert E. Ashley returned to the local station at 9:30 p.m.

Edward Horton To Star In "Nina"

Edward Everett Horton stars in Nina this week at the Cherry County Playhouse in the fifth play of the summer theatre season.

Edward Everett Horton brings a rich theatrical background to the Playhouse stage. His face became familiar to the nation in such movies as "Top Hat" with Fred Astaire; "Down to Earth" with Rita Hayworth; "Ruggles of Red Gap"; "Lost Horizon"; "Shall We Dance"; and "College Swing".

Although Mr. Horton has appeared in more than 100 movies, the legitimate theatre has remained Mr. Horton's favorite medium. The scope of his varied career on the stage has included musicals such as "The Merry Widow" with Helen Hayes and "The Merry Widow", an N.B.C. spectacular, and on the George Gobel and Bob Hope shows.

Miss Martha Linden, who has played "Nina" with Mr. Horton in more than a score of summer theatres, joins the Traverse City resident company in supporting roles. Miss Linden appeared opposite Clifton Webb in "The Present Laughter", which was followed by "The Men We Marry" and "Cry of the Peacock". TV watchers have seen her frequently, especially on the Ezio Pinza show. Miss Linden has appeared with Mr. Horton in "Present Laughter", "Springtime for Henry" and now "Nina". Lee Henry heads the list of resident company actors in supporting roles. Mr. Henry is familiar to Cherry County Playhouse-goers for his successful portrayal of Charlie Reader in "The Tender Trap."

Cadillac

The Great Practical Luxury!

This message is addressed particularly to those who have been thinking about purchasing a Cadillac—but who, for one reason or another, have not considered acting on the impulse this year.

For you, there is interesting and valuable information in the paragraphs which follow.

In the first place, there is no reason why anyone should ever put off ordering a Cadillac—once the decision for ownership has been made. For a Cadillac represents one of the soundest and most practical investments in the automotive world.

You can become the owner of a 1955 Cadillac for little more than you would pay for many so-called medium-price cars.

And this is only half the picture, insofar as cost is concerned. For when the time comes to sell your Cadillac, you will find that the car has held its value far beyond anything you could logically expect.

Authoritative price figures, based on year-after-year studies, reveal that a Cadillac may be expected to return its owner a larger share of his original investment than any other motor car built in the land.

And then consider Cadillac's economy of operation.

The car will run as far on a gallon of gasoline as most standard automobiles—and it is so soundly built and so soundly engineered that it is all but free from any save routine service requirements.

And here is the most interesting news of all: If you act quickly, the chances are that you can get early delivery of a 1955 Cadillac!

True, we have a backlog of Cadillac orders—but many of these are for future delivery or for special combinations not now available.

So—if you have thought of owning a Cadillac—come in now. Because of our low used car inventory, we are in an excellent position to make you a liberal allowance on your present car.

We have a Cadillac waiting to give you the most thrilling demonstration of your life. Why not make it today?

County School Superintendents Meet For Convention At Houghton

Michigan's 83 county superintendents of schools met last week for their annual summer convention at Houghton with headquarters at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

The many new changes in the School Code which became effective July 1 and the enabling act which makes it possible through referendum for Michigan Public School employees to participate in Social Security benefits aided in making this conference an important workshop with which to spark the new year ahead.

Dr. Clair Taylor, state Superintendent of Public Instruction, outlined the role of leadership that county superintendents must assume as new and varied responsibilities are being added to their office duties. Jack Milligan, assistant superintendent, very ably led a question and answer session on all sections of the school code on such matters as annexation, property transfers, regulations for giving districts new official names, bonding, and other issues which have direct relationship to the duties of the county office.

Lawrence VanZwol, acting executive secretary of the Michigan Public School Employees Retirement Fund Board, presented the new Social Security-Retirement plan and gave full details for the elections to be held by school people in December.

Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools, represented this county at the convention.

Chicago Club Has 75th Anniversary

The Chicago Club, one of northern Michigan's oldest resort colonies, observed its seventy-fifth anniversary at special festivities at the club over the weekend.

A round of parties for club members and their guests, many of whom were former residents of the Chicago Club, marked the anniversary.

Overnight guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Smith on Tuesday, were the former's aunt, Mrs. Will Smith, her son, Bryce Smith and daughter, Aletha, and Helen LaPage, all of Detroit.

Individual-Line Residence Phone Rates Increased

The rate for individual-line residence telephone service in Charlevoix will go up 30 cents a month under last week's order by the Public Service Commission, according to C. L. Johnson, area manager for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

Rates for all other classes of service in the community will remain unchanged. Mr. Johnson said, except for exchange line mileage charges for both residence and business customers and a number of adjustments involving auxiliary services furnished business customers. Included in the latter category are such items as private switchboards, key telephone systems, inter-office communication systems, etc. It was pointed out that while the cost of providing these auxiliary services has risen substantially, there have been no rate increases affecting most of them for five years.

Mr. Johnson pointed out that the increase in residence individual-line rates recognized the greater value of this high-grade service and would help compensate for the additional investment involved in furnishing it.

Mrs. Glenn Haas and children, Timmy and Katie, have returned to Chelsea after spending two weeks at Pine Point during which they visited another son, Paul, who is at Camp Charlevoix and Mrs. Haas' grandmother, Mrs. A. J. Usher.

55th Annual Pilgrimage To Beaver Island Set For Aug. 14

On the passenger list of the motorship, Emerald Isle, which ferries passengers to Beaver Island will be found such names as McNifferty and Boyle, McDonough and O'Donnell along with Gallagher, Mooney, Malloy and Green as former residents of America's Emerald Isle and their families return for the fifty-fifth annual homecoming Aug. 14.

Or even if the name happens to be Breitenstein, Franchetti, Olson or LaMont you'll find a bit of Irish blood inherited from a Green, Bonner, Donlevy or Conningham as the annual pilgrimage to Beaver Island, more familiarly known as the homecoming gets underway.

Change Location Of Walloon Auction Sale

The location of the Walloon Lake auction scheduled for Aug. 6 will be held at the March Inn Roller Rink instead of the American Legion hall as advertised last week.

The change in location was made after last week's advertising appeared.

any and all who seek it in her role as homecoming queen.

While all these preparations are going on boatmen are busy decorating their boats for the second annual blessing of the boats at the waterfront late Sunday afternoon following the boat parade around St. James harbor. The Rev. Ft. Joseph Herp, O.F.M., pastor of Holy Cross church, will officiate at this impressive ceremony.

Island residents, young and old, newcomers and native-born alike, are busy planning floats for the big parade through town. Last year 20 floats were entered in the parade. This year even more are being planned around the theme of "Beaver Island on Parade".

All this will be climaxed by the homecoming dance at the parish hall Sunday evening. The Manly Sunnyside Trio of East Jordan will make the trip to the island for the dance at which the Irish jig will be as popular as the waltz and the mambo.

And in between there'll be open house at every island home as residents welcome back their wandering sons and daughters who have settled elsewhere or greet god-children and grandchildren who are making their first appearances.

On Sunday morning the majority of island residents and visitors alike will attend Mass at Holy Cross church where many of them were baptized and later married.

There'll be prizes offered for everything from the best decorated float to the best dancer but to these island people the fun of working together and displaying their island at its best comes first for though they are second or third or even fourth generation Irish all are proud of their Irish ancestry and want the visitors to see their "bit of Ireland" in the new world at its best.

In order that visitors might attend the festivities the Emerald Isle of the Beaver Island Boat Co. has planned extra trips for the convenience of those who might wish to attend the homecoming. The boat will leave at the usual time at 9 a.m. Saturday morning and again at 4:30 Saturday afternoon. On Sunday the boat will leave Charlevoix at 9 a.m. and leave the island on the return trip at midnight so visitors may attend all the homecoming events.

More than 100 people have been killed in tractor accidents on Michigan farms during the past five years.

News Round-up at Camp Charlevoix

The fifth week of camp started off at a great clip after a week-end of fun with a great influx of visitors to enjoy the fun. Bob O'Neill took his cabin of boys on a two-night out trip down the lake to Young's State Park. These boys were: Robby Helwig, Jan Gibboney, Greg Moor, Charles Lee, Gary Murfin, Dick Cox, and Al Williams. Monday night was a section night in both the junior and senior sections. The seniors had a Green-Grey Capture the flag event with the Greens winning. The juniors had a boxing show with the Greens winning too. The highlights of the boxing matches was Teddy Jordan beating Mike Carraher. The green-grey competition is now all tied up at 7-7. Bob Wurster took his cabin of boys into the movies. These boys were: Mike Browning, Ricki Croy, Jimmy Mueller, Roy Gettel, Leeds Davis, Jon Howard, and Bill Washburn.

On Tuesday morning the three cabins of our oldest boys took off after an early breakfast for the annual trip to Beaver Island, the only place in America ever to be ruled by a "King". The island is full of Mormon tradition and as it is about a three hour boat trip out to the island, the boys really look forward to this adventure. Wally Jefferies and his boys, Dick Hicks, Roger Coffman, Bill Carson, Jim Faulkner, Bill Prosser, Monte McFadden, Dick Leavitt, and David Keller took this trip, plus Manny Alves and his boys, Cliff Bean, Jim Rion, Jim Smith, Steve Langer, Bob Wood, Hickman Price, Peck Kunkel and Eddie Barton. Jerry Turcotte and his boys on the trip were: Charles Rust, Hanny Carpenter, Tom Layne, Mike Dardas, Chris Klie, Jim Cotton, John Jacobs, and Clarence Busick.

Also on Tuesday, a horse-back trip went out for cabins 16 and 17. The cowboys took this trip out which included the two counselors Dick Elder and Armin Sahakian and the following boys: Ben Douglas, Devy Barnes, Jim Varndon, Harold Emmons, Ken Hamlin, Chop Martin, Bill McGliver, Howard Schumner, Matt Buder, Alan Gornick, Jim Hartman, Don Ringsred, Howard Keys, and Jon Schmidt.

Wednesday saw the boys return from Beaver Island, and as usual several of the boys were sea-sick either on the way over or on the way back. Bob Wurster took his cabin out on a cook-out.

Thursday was a busy day at camp as the Senior section was busy getting ready for its annual dance with camp Chipewa Trail. The "Bigwam" was carefully decorated, a buggy with two characters on the seat was placed in one corner, a platform for the caller was built and lined with straw. Dick Leavitt, Monte McFadden, Tom Layne, Jim Cotton, and David Keller were the helpers. The girls arrived about five thirty, fifty strong, and after a tour of the camp, a delicious supper was served, each couple having a place card to denote their places. The dance started at eight and it was a great success. Del Terrill, the Charlevoix high school coach, was the caller for the square dances, and one of our Counsellors-in-Training, Doug Graham, organized the round dances and kept things moving. The girls left at ten thirty, and everyone agreed that it was a most pleasant evening. The juniors had a cook-out that evening, and three of the intermediate cabins were out on overnight trips.

On Friday, the camper council met and decided two important questions. One was that they decided to have the "Mugwump" run for a week. This is an annual green-grey competition in which a "Mugwump" (a sort of wooden bird) is run the length of the cabin row with the opposing side trying to get it away. The council also decided to give a contribution to the building fund of St. Mary's church in Charlevoix, the Catholic church in town to which our boys go each Sunday morning for Mass. A committee was appointed to look into the matter.

On Saturday evening we had our weekly skit-night, with four very clever skits being given. Don Kelly's cabin gave a very funny Mystery play as did Terr Headington's. Manny Alves group gave a play "Percy Crossing the tracks". Dave Lear's cabin of boys sang and acted out "Waltz Matilda". Dave being one of our two Australian Counsellors, was right in his element teaching the boys this song.

On Sunday morning Doug Donnan was the speaker at Chapel and gave the boys much to think about. In the afternoon, a Green-Grey swimming meet was held. The Greens won the Senior and Intermediate competition, with the Greys winning the Junior. The boys who won events were: Dave Keller, Dick Leavitt, Steve Langer, Jim Brodie, Jim Mogle, Dick Gaston, Art Lennor, John Howard, Ricki Reichelt, and Bruce Welker.

Sunday evening the entire camp was taken into town to see the Annual Venetian Night. We want to thank the parents who were so kind as to come out to camp and take some of our boys in their cars. Our Boys' Chorus sang a group of numbers as we have done for the last twenty years. The boys, under the direction of Bob Wurster, did a very fine job.

The camp pictures have arrived and there is great excitement in the dining room as boys gather around the display.

More next week . . . Yellow undercoating is one of the things to look for in buying a car, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This means the melon has ripened on the vine. But, they caution, beware of soft spots which may indicate rough handling, over-ripeness and spoiling.

Petoskey Playhouse Featuring Revue "Three To One" This Week

Featured at the professional Petoskey Playhouse this week is the brilliant musical, "Three To One". As its name implies, this is a production of outstanding singing, dancing, and comedy numbers. Employing a dancing chorus of twenty, a singing chorus of twenty-five, and making use of many others for featured roles, this is, by far, the biggest production of the season at the Playhouse. In fact, it's one of the biggest productions to play this area of the North in years.

"Three To One" is a revue. It's a compilation of song, dance, and comedy. Much like Vaudeville when it was in its prime, a revue does not concern itself with a plot. Each number in a revue has its own story or plot, but each story is not connected to the others. It's pure entertainment for entertainment's sake.

"Three To One" is a compilation of three well-known revues which played on Broadway in the mid-forties. The three were "One for the Money", "Two for the Show", and "Three to Make Ready", and they featured such names as Imogene Coca, Sid Caesar, Red Buttons, Fred MacMurray, Marge and Gower Champion, and many other notables. Taking the best materials from these three smash revues, "Three To One" boasts of such well-known songs as "How High the Moon", and "Old Soft Shoe", such dances as "Calypso Joe", and brilliant comic satire in takeoffs on James Joyce' "Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man" and Rogers and Hammerstein's all time smash hit, "Oklahoma". It spoofs and makes fun of almost everyone and everything. Yet it has its moments of tender love and sympathetic feeling.

In all, there are approximately one hundred different roles in this revue. Because there is no plot which weaves itself through the revue, each actor in the production is able to portray several different parts.

The Playhouse has been "pointing" toward this one all summer. Extra time has been spent and extra help has been employed to bring to this area a truly memorable evening of musical comedy.

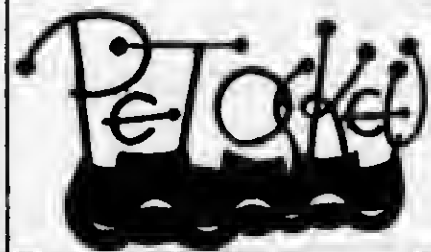

It's an excellent and enthusiastic cast. It's theatre for the whole family. It's one show you won't want to miss. It's "Three To One", and it's at the professional Petoskey Playhouse.

City Council Restricts Heavy Trucks On Belvedere, Ferry Ave.

Heavy truck traffic on designated sections of Belvedere and Ferry avenues will be prohibited between June 15 and Sept. 15 following action taken by the Charlevoix city council at its regular meeting Monday night.

Signs will be erected shortly advising truck drivers of the new order. The Charlevoix police will also join in enforcing the order which will become effective as soon as the signs can be posted.

The action came after a delegation from the Belvedere club attended the meeting and asked that Belvedere ave. from Alice st. east and Ferry ave. north from Eaton ave. be closed to heavy truck traffic because the roads are not constructed for heavy duty traffic.

The council voted to advertise for bids on city public liability insurance which expires Aug. 25 and for hospital medical surgical insurance for city employees. Bids on both will be accepted until Aug. 22. It became necessary to ask for bids on the health insurance because Blue Cross insists that all employees must carry it if they are to continue under the new set-up whereby the city will pay the insurance for its employees. Since some employees are now insured with other companies or do not wish to be covered by Blue Cross, the City must advertise for bids for another insurance which will include hospital and surgical medical needs.

The sale of a small parcel of land near the airport to Gordon L. Freedman of Freedman Aircraft Corp. for expansion purposes was approved. At the same time Mr. Freedman asked that certain stipulations which were placed on the property purchased earlier be lifted now that they had been met.

William DeLong, representing the company which audits the city's books, appeared before the council and suggested certain changes in the present bookkeeping system for the purpose of clarification of funds. His suggestions were approved.

The request by Walter Howe for the extension of the city water system be extended north on Mercer Blvd. was denied. It would have been necessary to supply Mr. Howe's request with water from the golf course which would not be feasible, especially in winter.

The airport manager's license was approved for another year. Joseph McPhillips is the manager. The Council directed the city clerk to write a letter of commendation and gratitude to the Chrysler Corp. for the services of the Plymouth Kirtle band during the recent Venetian Night weekend.

Rev. L. L. Lewis To Fill Baptist Pulpit Sunday

The Rev. L. L. Lewis of Millington will fill the pulpit at the First Baptist church Sunday when he will appear at services at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m.

The Rev. Mr. Lewis was formerly pastor of the local church. Since the departure of the Rev. W. N. Carr last spring, the church has been without a pastor and the pulpit has been filled by a minister from Ellsworth and more recently by ministers from the Baptist camp at Lake Louise.

Style Show For Hospital Guild To Be Friday

Full fashions featuring campus clothes, mother and daughter combinations, suits and costume suits for all women, smart styles for the matron, casual clothes for all age groups and appropriate accessories will be modeled by the Kelly Kay Shop at the benefit tea and style show Friday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Grate, South Prospect ave., under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Hospital.

Funds raised at the event which will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. will be used to purchase a sterilizer for the isolation ward at the Charlevoix hospital.

Modeling the lovely fall fashions in wool, silks and winter colors shown in a rainbow of colors varying from the soft pastels of the cashmeres in the rich browns and moss greens so popular this year will be Mrs. S. Odenheimer, Mrs. B. F. Hassenbusch, Mrs. Jack Goldman, Mrs. James Winman and daughter.

Special Clinic Planned For Salk Vaccine

A special clinic for children who did not receive their second shots of Salk anti-polio vaccine Monday will be held at the office of the District Health Department in the City Hall from 2 to 3 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 17. Dr. A. F. Litzenberger, department director, has announced.

A total of 40 children have yet to receive their second shots, records show. Twelve of the group attended the clinic earlier this week and were sent home because they had 'sniffles' and sore throats. Others were out of town or were ill at home.

Because of this a second clinic will be conducted by Dr. Litzenberger at the health unit office on the first floor of the city hall.

Mrs. Jeanne Miles, school nurse, who is arranging the clinic urged all parents to bring their children to the special clinic as this would be their last opportunity to receive the vaccine.

At the clinic held Monday at the kindergarten room, 136 youngsters who received their first shots last April were given the second of three shots by Doctors Robert G. Martin, G. B. Saltonstall, L. E. Grate and Isaac Tiers. Nurses who assisted Mrs. Miles were Mrs. Marion Rice, Mrs. Mildred Brown and Mrs. Esther Carey. Mrs. Dorothy Melroe and Miss Arlyle Roberts assisted with the records. All youngsters were given stickers after receiving the vaccine.

The third shot in the series will be administered sometime during the coming school year, probably in the spring. Dr. Litzenberger said.

Plans Announced For 'Monkey' Golf Tournament August 21

Initial plans for the annual club membership 'monkey' golf tournament and potluck supper at the Charlevoix Municipal golf course were announced this week by Keith Carey, club manager.

The annual event, which is designed for the entertainment of club members, will be held Sunday, Aug. 21. Players will tee off at 3 p.m. All persons planning to attend are asked to register at the clubhouse so food can be planned.

Winners in the men's 18-hole best-ball tournament held Sunday at the Municipal course also were announced this week.

Bob Carey and Chum White with a score of 66 placed first in a field of 40 entries. Bob Livingston and Chuck Post placed second with a score of 68 and Bob Wallace and Dal Henry were third with a score of 70.

Episcopal Church Guild To Hold Bazaar, Luncheon

A summer bazaar and luncheon will be held at the Parish hall of Christ Episcopal church Saturday, Aug. 20, under the sponsorship of the Afternoon and St. Martha's Guilds of the church.

The luncheon, which will feature creamed chicken on hot biscuits, potato chips, relishes and a beverage will be served from 12 noon until 2 p.m.

The bazaar will offer aprons, fancy work suitable for gifts, baked goods and jams and jellies and will be open from noon until 5:30 p.m.

Mrs. Clyde Roller is general chairman of the event.

Ellsworth Area Children To Get Shots On Tuesday

All children in the Ellsworth area who received their first Salk anti-polio vaccine shots last spring will receive their second shots at a special clinic scheduled for Tuesday, Principal Richard Lathers has announced.

Dr. Jerry VanDellen, assisted by public health nurse, Mrs. Olga Butcher, will give the second shots beginning at 8:30 a.m. and continuing through 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Youngsters eligible for the shots will be those who were first and second graders last year.

August Term Of Circuit Court Opens Monday

The regular August term of circuit court is scheduled to open here Monday with the Judge Charles L. Brown presiding.

Two men who were arraigned at a special session of circuit court Friday will be sentenced next week. They are Jack B. Kirchmeyer 32, of Pontiac who pleaded guilty to a charge of uttering and publishing bad checks and Charles Nnah, 19, of Charlevoix an escapee from Ionia Reformatory, who pleaded guilty to a breaking and entering charge. Both are held at the Charlevoix county jail.

Kirchmeyer was arrested in Bay City July 28 after passing a bogus check. He was arraigned in Justice court here the same day before Justice John Connolly. He was held at the county jail when he failed to furnish bond. It is understood that he was wanted in several other northern Michigan counties for the same offense.

Neesh who escaped from Ionia Reformatory June 10 pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the Airport Bar on June 27 while hiding out in the area. He was captured June 29 near the Belvedere golf course in Charlevoix township. At the time of his escape, he was serving a 1 1/2 to five year sentence for unlawfully driving away an automobile.

One other criminal case, that of M. R. Gilson, charged with soliciting collection accounts without bond, is listed on the current court calendar.

Also to be heard during the August term of court are seven civil cases and 12 chancery cases including seven divorces.

Bradley Stanton Will Open A New Toy, Game Shop

One o'clock Friday afternoon, Aug. 12, will mark the opening of a new business on Bridge St. in Charlevoix. Owned and operated by Bradley Stanton, the shop will specialize in toys and games for all ages. It will be located at 411 Bridge, in the Krahne Building, formerly occupied by Mailbox's Outdoors Outfitters.

According to Mr. Stanton, the shop will feature record players and records, children's books, furniture, coats, dolls and doll carriages.

Other attractions will be electric trains, wheel goods, plush toys, educational toys and games and a complete line of hobby supplies. Included will be the very latest in patio and parlor games.

Mr. Stanton has announced that a contest will be held next week to choose a winning store name. The instructions and rules will be printed in the next issue (August 18) of the Courier.

Extensive decorating and remodeling has been under way in preparation for the opening tomorrow (Friday). The first twenty children to visit the store will be given a coupon for a free Dairy Queen treat.

J. H. Oldhams Have Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Oldham, summer residents at Pine Point for many years, observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Breckenridge, Mich., Wednesday.

Charlevoix friends surprised them with a card shower in honor of the occasion.

Roy Robinson Resigns Post As Charlevoix's City Superintendent

Roy R. Robinson, city superintendent for the past two years, has resigned the position effective Sept. 1, Mayor James Hiller has announced following a special meeting of the city council at which the resignation was presented and accepted.

In his communication to the council Mr. Robinson said "I have publicly stated that when the time came that I could no longer justify my salary, I would resign. I feel that the time has come."

Mr. Robinson added later that under Charlevoix's present form of government, that of a fourth class city charter, that his authority was limited to a point where he could no longer justify his salary of $9,000 a year.

In his letter of resignation he added his gratitude to the mayor and council for their splendid cooperation during his service here and hoped that the community would continue to grow and prosper.

After accepting his resignation with regret, the council authorized Mr. Robinson to advertise in a number of municipal magazines for a city administrator at a salary of $5,000 to $6,000 annually.

Mr. Robinson will leave here Sept. 1 to accept a position as city manager at Kingston, N. C., a home-rule city which provides for a city manager at a salary of $10,000 annually. The industrial city is located in the southeastern part of the state 80 miles from the Atlantic coast and is one of the principal tobacco buying markets in the state. It has a population of 22,000 and anticipated annexation is expected to increase the population to 28,000 shortly. It has 60 small industries in the city and a large Dupont company plant was opened recently in an adjacent area. Many Kingston residents are employed at the new plant. It has 240 city employees, a 10-man police force and a 34 man fire department.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson plan to sell their home here and leave for the south on or before Sept. 1.

Rehearsals For "Heaven Bound" Are Being Held

Voices, rich and strong, can be heard on the evening air as a choir of 35 men and women rehearse for the presentation of the Biblical play, "Heaven Bound" at the Charlevoix high school auditorium Aug. 21.

Horatio Jackson is directing the play which tells the story of mortals who are seeking entrance to the kingdom of heaven and the temptations which are placed in their path by the Devil.

The play is being presented for the benefit of the Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children which maintains a school for the retarded children of the area during the school year.

Beaver Island Homecoming Is This Weekend

By car, by train and by bus former Beaver Island residents are arriving at Charlevoix enroute to the fifty-fifth annual Beaver Island homecoming. From Charlevoix the trip will be made aboard the motorship, "Emerald Isle" except for the tardy ones who will fly from the Charlevoix Airport to the island.

Everything is in readiness for these visitors from throughout the middle west who are going "home". They're sure to be greeted at the dock by someone they know for everyone up and down the 17 mile long island knows who is expected for the August weekend.

Time was when the gathering was one big picnic with each family furnishing its own fried chicken and whatever else they wanted. The fried chicken, however, was a "must". But in 1932 all this was changed and the event, known through the years as the August dinner became a homecoming for all former island residents who had moved from their beloved island to make their homes elsewhere.

Today all former island residents, or its "adopted" children, and there are many, plan from one year to the next to return to Beaver Island for the annual (Continued on Page 5)

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

GOT TO see Pete Burns' tobacco crop over the weekend, all 80 plants which are the first things we've seen that look fresh and green and not parched as a result of the hot dry weather. It's in full bloom with lovely pinkish lavender flowers that are lovely to see. Was disappointed tho' because the dorned stuff doesn't have any taste to it. We expected it to taste like it does when the smoke emerges from a cigar, cigarette or pipe. One person we talked to about the tobacco is a bit concerned about the whole situation. Seems, it is supposed to be raised on a quota basis with each grower allowed only so many acres. This fellow's afraid that when Pete throws his crop on the open market the bottom will drop out of said market and wham... a depression or something.

THIS unusual weather has also brought to light another plant not native to this section of the country... cotton. We saw our first cotton plant Saturday when we dropped in to say hi to Stanley Barger. He's raised them from seed and now has five or six potted plants which are now blooming with the pods forming. Something to see. Like Pete Burns, he's saying one so the youngsters at school this fall can see how it grows. It's kinda thoughtful of both guys, we'd say.

JUST heard this story the other day so tho' I'd pass it along 'cause we think it's most unusual. This spring we noticed an ad in the Lost and Found column of the Courier, for a parakeet. Seems as tho' somebody's bird has taken off into the wild blue yonder or greener fields or something. Some five weeks later Mrs. Earl Kroll, who lives at Iron-ton called and wanted to know if we could remember anything about the ad because her youngsters had come home with a parakeet they'd found near the Iron-ton ferry. After some searching we found the information she wanted, a description and the phone number. We were so sure it couldn't be that bird that we never gave it another thought until we ran into Mrs. Miles Russell the other day. Seems she was the one who'd lost the bird. She said the bird was theirs and that it had been gone for more than five weeks when the Krolls found it. They brought it home, it made its way about the house as if knowing it was home but the crazy mixed-up bird hasn't said a word since it was found... despite the fact that it had quite a vocabulary before. A case of amnesia, no doubt.

MONDAY will mark the tenth anniversary of V-J Day. A day that seems a century ago and yet is so fresh in so many people's memories. In the early summer of 1945 following V-E Day in Europe, everyone knew that the end of the war was only a matter of time for the Allies were making great strides in the Pacific. But they also felt it would mean the invasion of every island until all of Japan was taken. And then came the news of a bomb... a bomb that was comparable to heaven knows how many of those dropped earlier... just one bomb that raised such hoveat at Hiroshima and later Nagasaki. No one could believe... no one could imagine anything so destructive but when the war ended as it did we had to believe it. It was the first time we'd heard the words 'atom bomb'... it looks today as tho' that first bomb dropped 10 years ago last week spread its mushroom shape about the world for from now on in we'll be living in its shadow, so to speak. The new generation takes it for granted. Us? We had the 'mistortune' to grow up in a time when wars were something one studied about in history books... not something one learned to live with. Guess we have but one choice... to learn to live with the threat of war and the A-Bomb and its even more vicious relative, the H-Bomb. They call it progress. We sometimes wonder.

ONE NICE thing about Charlevoix... you meet such nice people... and we did just that the other day when we met a guy from the Deep South by the name of Eldon Roark with the accent on the 'ark', huh... of the Memphis, Tenn. Press-Scimitar. He writes a column for said newspaper and was on his way to Canada, picking up bits of interest enroute. City Supt. Roy Robinson had him in tow when we met him and he was in the midst of a concentrated tour... but we gathered it wasn't taking much sales talk to sell him on Charlevoix with Lake Michigan at its front door, Round Lake in the parlor and Lake Charlevoix off the back stoop. He'd learned a lot about our early history plus a good bit about the Mormon kingdom of St. James and still had quite a ways to go. One got the idea that he was an apt and eager pupil. He especially liked our flower baskets which have caused a lot of comment (all good) this summer. Getting back to Mr. Roark... he had the nicest accent... the kind you can slice with a not-too-sharp knife. One of the most charming things in the south, for our money. He said he'd mention us... in his column... We're waiting.

DON'T know if you've noticed it or not but there's a huge chain straight out of a logging camp, no doubt, doing duty as a 'fence' on the Kit Carson lawn at the corner of Michigan and Dixon ave. Its king-size links are painted a pink to match the decoration on the house and 'threaded' through white posts it's just about the most attractive and unusual thing we've seen... and certainly gives the place a certain distinction.

The annual summer party of the Petoskey Chapter of the D.A.R. was held at the Bay View Inn Friday with 46 members and guests present. The luncheon table was tastefully decorated with summer flowers and flags.

Mrs. Earl A. Young, regent of the chapter, welcomed the guests and presided at the meeting. The Charlevoixes, Mrs. C. S. Webster, Mrs. Charles Bellinger and Mrs. E. D. Hawley, of Charlevoix sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the invocation and later in the program sang several other selections.

Among the visitors present were several state officers including Mrs. Robert Willoughby of Plymouth, state treasurer; Mrs. George Nie of Dearborn, state press chairman; Mrs. M. D. Slough of Detroit, state programs chairman; Mrs. R. N. Aspergren of Kalamazoo, state board member. Another Chance

A Hidden Brook monstrous blackened stumps of ancient white pines squat awkwardly among the graceful white birches. These charred remnants of the tall timber that once covered the northland seem to frown as if in painful memory of the green glory they once knew. More than half a century ago those stumps bore the thick boles of majestic pines that stretched seventy feet and more above the forest floor. In early springtime multicolored warblers rested from their migrations amidst the cool blue-green needles of the outstretched boughs. The great cones hung heavily from the limbs and lay thick around the roots. To these stores of handy provender came the black-capped chickadee, the brown creeper and the brown thrasher, the red squirrel, gray squirrel, chipmunk and white-footed mouse. Deer occasionally browsed upon the foliage and twigs, and porcupines and snowshoe hares gnawed upon the bark. Mourning doves cherished the widely extended boughs for their

Then came the despoiler. Seeking timber fit for the tall masts and long spars of the world's clipper ships and suitable for the paneling of the interiors of mansions or the making of window sashes, doors, furniture, shingles and matches, lumbermen came to the north country. Armed with axe and saw, the army of plunderers fell pitilessly upon the forests. Giant pines fell, bowing over dozens of smaller trees beneath their crushing weight. And after the axe and the saw came the fire. Some fires were set by a lumberjack's careless use of match or pipe. Some were set for the purpose of burning brush and trash. And other fires were started by farmers in a mad haste to clear the land of the rubble left by lumbermen by the fastest possible means. In the eighteen nineties the smoke of northern Michigan forest fires blew into Chicago 200 miles across Lake Michigan.

The ugly reminders of those days of waste and holocaust are

Mr. J. W. Robinson accompanied with his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Harmon of Lansing spent two weeks in North Carolina visiting with a daughter who lives there.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Howard and children spent two days of last week vacationing in the upper peninsula.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Howard spent Sunday with their mother, Mrs. Carrie Henning of Pleasant Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Crowell spent the past week vacationing in southern Michigan and Wisconsin.

Those vacationing this week at the Rustan are: Mr. and Mrs. Cery and daughter, of Detroit; and their daughter and son-in-law of Oklaoma; Mr. and Mrs. John McCarthy and her mother and father and brother and sister of Mt. Morris; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kieffer and Mr. and Mrs. James Andrews and two children of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

Bob Webb of Cadillac who has been picking cherries at the William Gaunt farm is staying over for a while helping with the farm work.

with us yet all over our north country, and at Hidden Brook. The scorched stumps scowl as if afflicted by sharp recollections of those cruel yesterdays. Never again will the northland be the same. Virgin forests will nevermore shade the brook and rivers. All future growth must be less than first growth. The woods of today and tomorrow must, at best, be second growth or a later growth.

But something else is here in the northland besides charred stumps, dark reminders of past sins against the good earth. Among the haleful stubs of the white pines arise the supple, graceful white birches. They are second-growth trees, flourishing well amidst the mouldering wastes of faded forests. During youth the white birch loves the light and so arises readily from cut-over, burnt-over land that is exposed to the open sky. And to many of us, these second growth trees possess a beauty that surpasses the rather solemn glory of the white pine. They are emblems of the pardoning grace of nature and of God. They are symbols of the second chance that is given to burnt-over lives.

Some time ago, two young people from downstate came to me with an upsetting problem and as bleak an outlook as any youngsters are apt to have. The girl was extremely pretty and gracious, and the boy handsome and intelligent, with an enviable scholastic record. The girl had lost track of her parents since her father's and mother's release from imprisonment. The boy's home had been split by divorce. Unsure of everything excepting that they were starved for affection and had found it in each other, they had drifted into intimacies that now seemed to have precipitated an ultimate disaster. They were unmarried and expecting a child. Overwhelmed by shame and regret and jarred by blasted hopes for further education, they were timed and tearful.

After a long visit in which they unburdened their hearts of remorse and worry, I told them the story of Hidden Brook's blackened stumps and white birches. Young eyes moistened with tears of relief and reassurance. And after a simple prayer, they left our door with lightened step. Some hours later, in a holy place softened by candlelight, they were married. Not many months ago I christened their babe and heard their glad story of broken hopes that had mended and of a new life begun. They have begun their "second growth".

There is no devastation so great that God can not cover it with a fresh, new beauty.

Because Buick sales are soaring past all records—

We're declaring a profit-sharing bonus for you

1. You Profit on the Trade-In Deal —with the biggest allowances in our history.

2. You Profit on the Buy You Make —because in Buick you get the thrill of the year—in style, power, performance, value.

3. You Profit on the Resale —because a Buick always resells high—brings you more money when you trade it in.

$2280.88 delivered locally

—less the whopping big allowance we'll make on your present car!

12-door, 6-passenger Buick SPECIAL Sedan, Model 48, illustrated. Any state and local taxes, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. A wide variety of extra-cost equipment and accessories available at your option.

Thus we've never seen before—a sales year that's shattering every record in the Buick book—a soaring success far greater than the one that moved Buick so solidly into the Big 3 of America's best sellers.

So we're going to share profits with you—by stretching our regular big trade-in allowances to practically our break-even point.

That means you can now buy the most wanted Buick ever built—for less than ever before.

That means you can have Buick style distinction and prestige—Buick room and comfort—Buick size and solidity—for plenty dollars less on the profit-sharing deals we're making now.

And that means you can have, at a terrific buy, the hottest-action Buick in history—with walloping V8 power raised to new highs, and with the spectacular performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflo*—world's first and only transmission using the switch-pitch principle of the modern plane's propeller.

Come in today—tomorrow, for sure—and see for yourself that you can now make the biggest buy of the year on the car that's far and away the thrill of the year.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

Thrill of the year is Buick—

Biggest-selling Buick in History!

(So we're trading high, wide—and then some!)

News Round-up at Camp Charlevoix

The sixth week of camp started off with our long horse-back trip leaving camp. Our riders all summer long anxiously look forward to this trip as only the best riders are chosen for it. All five cowboys go on this trip, and it was quite a sight to see them riding along the road with our chuck wagon bringing up the rear. This wagon carries the food, and is equipped with a folding table which lets down to permit space for serving. The boys on this trip were Matt Buder, Dick Cox, Dave Kellert, Bob Wood, Peter Nathan, Jim Smith, Dave Wilson, David Ferguson, Stewart Crampson, Chuck Werth, Ricky Croy, Mike Browning, Bill McKenzie, Clarence Buslek, Ken Hamlin, Jim Mogle, Charles Lee, Andy Haiduck, Roger Smith, Don Ringsred, and Arthur Lenox. All boys and men reported a great trip.

Also on Monday, Jerry Turcotte took his cabin group on a canoe trip down the Jordan River. Charles Rust, Chris Kille, Jim Cotton, John Jacobs, Hanny Carpenter, Tom Layne, Mike Dardas were the boys on this trip. It was also on this day that the "Mugwump" officially started. Both the Greens and the Greys were ready for the fight to gain possession and gain points by showing the Mugwump. It was the start of real hard competition for the boys.

On Tuesday, Cabin 5 with Jerry Webster and John McBride in charge took an overnight trip to Bell's Bay. The boys on this trip were: Kit Redding, Jack Shiliter, Jim Coyte, Teddy Jordan, Mike Carragher and Paul Haas. Cabin 18 went into Charlevoix to the movie.

Wednesday was a regular activity day and as there were no trips leaving camp, it was sort of a breather. Several cabins did, however, go into town to the movies.

Our second twenty-five boys and four men left for the Mackinac Island trip on Thursday morning early. These were boys who were enrolled last summer for this 1955 season. We had the pleasure of having lunch at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Hickman Price, whose two sons are campers with us. Mrs. Price is a commissioner of the island and had everything arranged for a delightful day. It was most gracious of her to open her home to us, and the boys and men greatly appreciated this kindness.

On Friday several cook-outs went out and boys are enjoying these so very much. It was a regular day in camp, and activities were going full-force as usual.

On Saturday night, the cowboys were all set to have a real Western Campfire in the council ring. Saddles were put around for decoration, saddle blankets were hung around, three horses were brought down, and a huge fire was burning brightly, boys were all gathered around the campfire, and before we could sing the first song, the clouds opened up and CAMP CHARLEVOIX had its first real rain of the season. Six weeks of camping, ten weeks passed, and it had to rain right then. Of course, we were all so very pleased that it really didn't matter.

Sunday morning, Wally Jeffries head of our waterfront, was the speaker at Chapel. Several parents were present and it was good to have them there. On Sunday noon, Mrs. Smith (Ruby) supervised the Annual Birthday Party. Thirty-four campers and staff sat at the birthday table which was beautifully decorated and was centered by a huge fruit bowl made from the knot of a tree. A quartette from Charlevoix was imported for the entertainment, which also consisted of piano solos by Peck Kunkel and Dave Koller. Don Kelly and Bud Morse of the staff also sang two songs. Bob Wurster, our handcraft man, and Betty O'Neill, our nurse, also did much to add to the beauty of the table decorations. Each honoree received a small gift from the camp. It was a grand party, and everyone had a fine time.

Sunday evening, the Juniors had their Vesper Service in the Paul Bunyon ring, and ended it with a feast of watermelon. The Senior and Intermediates had their vesper service in the Bigwam, where Don Kelly gave the talk.

See you all on Friday, the 19th, for our rodeo in the afternoon, and again in the evening for the final Indian Ceremony. This morning forty three campers started work on the Indian Dances under the guidance of Jake Whitecrow.

One County Man Up For Induction

One Charlevoix county draft registrant will be called for induction into the armed services to fill the September draft quota and another will be called for pre-induction physical examination. Mrs. Eleanor Left, clerk of the draft board said Wednesday.

The names of the men to be called will be announced following a meeting of the board.

On Monday William D. Bennet of Charlevoix, a volunteer, and Kenneth L. Fogley of Boyne

City will report for pre-induction physical examinations.

"Light" Snack For Ducks

Coming back from Balesville the other night I noticed a powerful light at Whitley Fisher's Duck Farm. Seemed to be shining out over the water.

I stopped to ask Whitley what went on. He took me down to his pond and pointed out a 200-watt bulb—rigged up on a pole about three feet above the surface. The light was attracting thousands of insects for the ducks to eat.

Seemed kind of odd to me—but Whitley was enthusiastic. "Best idea I ever heard of," he claims. "Keeps the feed bill down—and the bug population, too. Why do you suppose I never thought of it before?"

From where I sit, Whitley's the type who's always ready to pioneer a worth-while new trick. Me, I stick to old methods. Just a case of personal feeling, I guess. . . . like the way you may prefer coffee with meals while I always prefer a traditional glass of beer. Not that I'd claim you're wrong—respect for the other man's opinion is my "guiding light."

Announce College Credit Courses To Be Offered For Year 1955-56

Information concerning college credit courses to be offered at the Petoskey high school during the 1955-56 school year was announced this week by A. D. Shankland, director of adult education in the Petoskey schools, who said that courses would be offered through the cooperation of the Field Service Program of Central Michigan college and the Board of Education of the Petoskey schools. The classes will be taught by members of the Central Michigan college staff.

Plans now call for offering six hours of credit each of the semesters of the coming year. Final registration and organization of classes is scheduled to take place during the week of Sept. 12. All classes will give resident credit, which means that credit is exactly the same as though earned on the campus of Central Michigan college.

The six hours to be offered at Petoskey will be selected from the following group, depending upon the interest of the students: English 101 (3 semester hours), freshman composition; Speech (2 semester hours) fundamentals of speech; Speech 210 (1 semester hour), parliamentary law; Personnel 101 (1 semester hour), planning for college and life; Sociology 151 (3 semester hours), introductory sociology; Biology 151 (3 semester hours), human biology and Mathematics 151 (3 semester hours), remedial and functional math.

Under this program it is possible for a student to earn six semester hours of credit each semester or 12 hours for the entire year which is about the same as could be completed in a semester at college. These credits would be accepted by Central Michigan college toward graduation. One hundred twenty-four semester hours are necessary for a degree from Central Michigan college.

Following registration there will be 15 additional instructional meetings of the class with each class meeting for 2 1/2 hours once

Local Archers To Entertain Straits Group On Sunday

Charlevoix archers will entertain the members of the Straits Field Archery Association at the last regular tournament of the summer season Sunday, it has been announced.

The tournament, with from 30 to 40 archers from six northern Michigan communities participating, will be held on a 14-target course set up on the Mathews farm southeast of here on M-66.

Shooting will begin at 10 a.m. and continue through the day and will be open to all archers wishing to participate and not limited to club members from Alpena, Onaway, Rogers City, Boyne City, Petoskey and Charlevoix.

in week for 15 weeks.

All individuals who wish to take classes for college credit will follow the regular admission and registration procedures as established by the college. The cost of the courses is $10 per semester plus $4.00 registration fee. (One hour is $10 plus the registration fee of $4.00; two hours $20, plus the fee, etc.) Students will be expected to buy books and other necessary instructional materials.

Under this plan Korean Veterans may begin their college training under Public Law 550 when they meet the requirements of the Veterans Administration.

Any student who had completed high school is eligible to take the courses, or any adult 21 years of age, who has not completed high school may make application for admission as a special student. High school graduates who are unable to attend campus classes may begin a college program under this arrangement. Those who are employed full time will find it possible to earn regular college credit which may be applied should they later enroll in a college.

While these courses give college credit and will be taken by students who plan to use their credits later, it should be understood that adults who are not planning to attend college but who are interested in taking work on a college level are also encouraged to enroll.

Enrollment is open not only to residents of the Petoskey school district but to anyone in the surrounding area. Anyone interested in obtaining further information on the program may contact Mr. Shankland at DI 7-2575 in Petoskey.

Mr. Shankland, in announcing the above program, said that if enrollment warrants it, additional classes will be offered. It is hoped that this program will develop into a full year's work and eventually into a two-year Junior College.

Maria's Susan Lake Inn Venture Made Success By Bill Georges

Once in a while you come across a positive proof that success can be an adventure . . . or vice versa, an adventure can become a success. The Bill Georges, owners and operators of Maria's Susan Lake Inn, have proved in three short resort seasons that success is sweet, but hard earned by beginners' hardships.

You might say it all began on October 20, 1950, when Maria Moertl, secretary to the head of the forestry department at Schwaz, Tyrol, Austria, was married in a civil ceremony to William George, civilian tourist from the United States. The union brought together two young people with ambition and enthusiasm that had been acquired from entirely different walks of life.

MSU 4-H Show At East Lansing Aug. 30-Sept. 2

The climax of the year for some 60,000 4-H Club members in Michigan comes Aug. 30 to Sept. 2, when 2,500 of them show the fruits of their work at the 40th annual State 4-H Club Show. The event is slated at Michigan State University reports K. C. Festerling, District 4-H club agent.

The youngsters will compete for statewide honors and cash prizes. Highest honors will go to two boys and two girls who earn top awards in achievement booth competition. Achievement booths are made up into an attractive display of 4-H Club accomplishments. The four winners will receive a trip to the National 4-H Club Camp in Washington, D. C., next June.

Final training and elimination meetings to cut down on the number of entries in state competition are slated for the northern district this month, Standish, August 10; Gaylord, August 11; and Cadillac, August 4-5 and August 8-9. Those 4-H Club members from the Upper Peninsula who will participate in the State Show were selected last week during the annual 4-H Club encampment at Camp Shaw.

The judging schools and elimination listed above will apply to 4-H members judging dairy, livestock, poultry, crops, vegetable garden, home improvement, food preparation, food preservation and clothing.

At 18 months a Holstein heifer should weigh about 860 pounds, a Guernsey 660 pounds, a Jersey 615 and an Ayrshire 690.

State's Visitors Get Assurance From HDA Signs

Americans are 'sign-conscious' people. They are in the habit of accepting 'seal of approval' products or services wherever they are found.

That is why tourists look for the sign shown here when traveling through Michigan.

To them the "HDA, Health Department Approved" means that the resort owners are offering the best accommodations from the standpoint of protecting your health and safety, according to John Reynolds, sanitarian of District Health Department No. 3.

This sign, which is now displayed in many resorts in this area, is furnished through the local health department only to those resort operators whose establishments meet the standards of health and safety recommended by the Michigan Department of Health. This assures you, the tourist or customer, of a safe water supply, adequate sewage disposal facilities, proper ventilation and protection against common hazards.

Resort owners earn the right to display the sign through their own efforts. They are not required by law to meet the HDA standards. Acceptable accommodations may also be found at some resorts not displaying the sign.

Its presence is an easily identifiable assurance to you, the traveler, of adequate protection for you and your family.

second summer and show an increase of 20 per cent over the first year. With their third season not half over, they are satisfying 80 per cent more customers than the year before.

The Inn specializes in both German and American recipes. Bill bakes breads and pastries which are served fresh daily, and Maria concentrates on culinary concoctions she learned as a young girl in her mother's kitchen.

Her favorite is Sauerbraten . . . made from choice sirloin of beef which is cured in a sweet-sour brine for seventy-two hours, then roasted and served with an out-of-this-world sour cream sauce.

We agree with Bill that in any language you love it. People do!

'Three To One' To Be Held Over By Popular Demand

Held over by popular demand at the Petoskey Playhouse this week is the sparkling musical revue, "Three to One".

Area audiences seem to appreciate this change of pace in programming, as the Playhouse, normally a legitimate group, takes a "busman's holiday" and offers variety in the form of musical comedy.

"Three to One" is a compilation of three revues that played on Broadway in the mid-forties.

"One for the Money", "Two for the Show", and "Three to Make Ready". Using the best materials from each, "Three to One" boasts of such fine musical and dance numbers as "Calypso Joe", "Tender Tottier Tossie", and the ever popular "How High the Moon". There is also excellent comedy and a show-stopper in the form of a hilarious takeoff on Rogers and Hammerstein's immortal "Oklahoma", called "Wisconsin, or Kenosha Canoe". "Three to One" plays nightly at the Playhouse until Saturday with a matinee every Thursday.

The added rehearsal time that is gained by holding over "Three to One" is being spent on the Playhouse's next play, "Death of a Salesman", which opens Tuesday, Aug. 16 for a week's engagement. The Playhouse has been looking forward to this one all summer long. A modern classic, and the center of critical acclaim and controversy, "Death of a Salesman" is a provocative and challenging production. It demands the best in acting, directing, and scenery. Telling poetically and with deep emotional insight, the story of a man's attempt to find himself and of a man's attempt to find his position in society, this modern day tragedy offers the best that theatre can offer in live enlightenment and entertainment.

Del Terrill Resigns As Red Rayder Coach

Del Terrill, Charlevoix Rayder football and basketball coach since 1950, resigned the position unexpectedly Tuesday.

In submitting his resignation, Mr. Terrill said that he was leaving the teaching and coaching field to accept a position as district representative with a sporting goods firm, Lowe and Campbell of Detroit which handles Wilson sporting goods.

The Charlevoix board of education accepted the resignation at a special meeting Wednesday night, Supt. R. G. Bennett said.

Mr. Terrill came here in 1950 from Traverse City as a successor to Ray L. Kipke who retired after 22 years as Rayder coach.

During his five years here his gridiron squads have won three Northern Michigan Class C conference titles and his basketball team set a new record last year by winning its fifth consecutive loop cage title. In addition his basketball teams have won five district tournament titles and two regional titles. The most recent was this year when the Rayders played Loughton in the quarter-finals of the state tournament by a score of 51-49. Loughton went on to take the state Class C title.

In losing Coach Terrill, Charlevoix is losing an excellent coach, a man who always had the interest of his players at heart, Mr. Bennett said.

Applications for his successor are now being accepted by the Board of Education.

A native of Linesville, Pa., Coach Terrill attended the University of Cincinnati, served four years in the U. S. Army during World War II and was graduated from Wayne University in Detroit.

The family will continue to make its home in Charlevoix.

Between 1914 and 1923 he taught history at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., Ohio State University, the University of Texas and the University of Wisconsin.

He was Lincoln lecturer on the history of American civilization at Knox College in Galesburg, Ill., from 1917-22 when he retired. Since then he has devoted his time to lecturing and writing.

Ted Malpass New Director For Hospital

Three directors were named to the Charlevoix Hospital board at the annual meeting held Wednesday at the high school industrial arts room and attended by 24 local residents.

Ted Malpass of East Jordan was elected to succeed John Porter who was not a candidate for re-election. Charles Bleha and Max Novak were re-elected without opposition.

In a report given by Miss Ann Baumgartner it was revealed that 1,371 patients were admitted during the past year, 1,089 operations were performed, 1,332 out-patients cared for, 158 births recorded, 7,513 hospital days care given and 37,768 meals served. The hospital daily average was 21 patients and two babies during the year.

Gordon Freedman, in reporting on work at the hospital, said that a two-car garage with storage space and a roof cellar is now under construction at the cost of $5,760 and that the drives had been black-topped at the cost of $4,589.

Gordon Cornwell of Traverse City who assigned the building said that contractors were correcting faulty workmanship and material and other adjustments were being made as the first year (covered by a guarantee draws to a close).

Mrs. Alan Macdonell presented a report on the work on the Hospital Guild and what it had financed in the way of new equipment for the hospital. She also told the future plans of the group.

Mrs. Kit Carson, reporting on pledge collections, said that $16,000 remained to be collected. During the past year the figure has dropped from $34,000 to the present figure. She urged that all pledges be paid at the earliest date.

The secretary's report was presented.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

MORE BIRD stories recently. Here's one told us Saturday by Jerry Whitley . . . Seems Pappy (Frank) Case who lives on Park ave. had himself a pet crow which had a broken wing and couldn't fly . . . But bones will heal, the crow recuperated and started looking for greener pastures, eats out of the dog's dish as tho' it were one of the family and what it most irritating of all, pecks on the kids' window when they've been put to bed for a nap . . . As every mother knows, it's hard enough these nice days to get the youngsters to take a nap without having a pet crow which isn't really your pet waking 'em up . . . Note: Pappy, won't you please take back your pet?

DON'T know a thing about birds except that we like 'em but there have sure been a lot of little ones flitting about and chirping like mad these last few days . . . Over on Dixon ave. near the top of the hill there's some teeny brown birds that have taken over and are a little saucy and scold like mad if you walk past them on the sidewalk . . . But wouldn't it be a dull life without their sweet song? . . . Or the crow's blood-curdling caws at 5:30 a.m. . . . Such as the residents of Michigan ave. have been experiencing this summer . . .

IT'S beginning to take shape and another year will be very nice . . . that anchor on the south bank of Pine river that Dr. Hoffman's been struggling with most of the summer . . . It's going to be lovely tho' and worth waiting for . . .

THREE more of those elusive bottles thrown into Lake Michigan by the fisheries division at the U. of M. to determine currents, etc. in the big lake have been found on the south shore of Little Traverse Bay by Mrs. Edward Shanahan . . . one was found about 1,000 ft. east of Mercer Blvd. and the others near the Hayes township line . . . Both spots being on the Birchwood ranch property . . . It would be interesting to know how many were released and what percentage recovered and returned . . .

YOU probably know lots of men who like to dabble in the kitchen but we know a guy who can really cook . . . Seems he likes nothing better than to experiment with new recipes . . . His wife tells us that in all the years they've been married she's never had to cook a Sunday dinner . . . Earlier this summer, it seems, he spotted a barbecue cook book on the newsstand and for weeks they've been eating barbecued this, that and you name it . . . There's only one thing . . . he leaves every kitchen utensil in the house in the kitchen sink when he's through, but that's typical of men cooks, we understand . . . So if you'd like some good recipes we'll be happy to give you this fellow's name . . . We'd mention it in print but we're afraid he'd lose his amateur standing if we did . . .

THIS WE liked . . . that grand guy, Jack Keppinstall, trainer at Michigan State for some 40 years is pretty conscious of muscles, etc. . . . At a dinner the other night he was heard to say, in that Yorkshire accent of his, after watching a guy pat a lovely bare-shouldered lady on said bare shoulder . . . "That fellow must have studied anatomy by the Braille system" . . .

TO YOU football fans who can hardly contain yourselves 'til fall, don't forget the All-Star game in Chicago Friday . . . That gang of college players you followed so closely last year will be meeting Paul Brown's Cleveland team . . . And what a game it should be . . . We're pluggin' for the All-Stars . . . How about you?

SOFTBALL fans should get their fill of the popular sport this week . . . what with the district tournament being held here . . . The schedule looks good and the turn-out should be excellent if this weather holds . . .

ANOTHER grand event that is coming up is the presentation of the Biblical play, "Heaven-Bound", at the high school auditorium Sunday night . . . These wonderful people who are our part-time residents are offering their time and talents, and believe us they have plenty, to present this show for the benefit of the Retarded Children's school . . . We went to rehearsal last week and so help us, you get chills down your back and a lump in your throat when these guys and gals sing out . . . So plan now to see "Heaven-Bound" at the auditorium Sunday night . . . We'll promise you one thing . . . You won't be disappointed . . .

AND speaking of singing, did you know that two Charlevoix vocalists are with the Bay View choir this summer . . . They're Mrs. Lee Moerland and Mrs. Charles Pontius who sing with the choir at a program at the Bay View auditorium every Sunday evening at 8 p.m. . . . There're a number of instrumentalists on the program too . . . So if you're looking for an inspiring evening, attend one of the few remaining programs at Bay View . . .

Beaver Island Homecoming Is Held Sunday

St. James, B. I. — America's Emerald Isle, Beaver Island, was crowded almost to overflowing last weekend as hordes of visitors from throughout the midwest visited the island for the fifty-fifth annual homecoming last weekend.

Former island residents were joined by other visitors from the mainland who made the trip to Beaver Island by boat, by plane or by private yacht for the highlight of the summer season, the August dinner.

More than 600 dinners were served at Holy Cross parish hall to the visitors with the majority of the island's 400 residents assisting in some way with the affair whose proceeds are given to the church.

Major event of the afternoon was the parade of floats decorated in a "Beaver Island on Parade" theme.

First prize was won by the float entered by Allen's cabins which had six girls, Julia, Mary Agnes, Betty and Jane Allen and Mary Catherine and Ann Marie Hanney dressed as miniature cabins doing a song and dance act along the parade route. Towing the float was another carrying a model of a large cabin on the waterfront complete with beach umbrella with Pat Hanrahan of Dearborn under the umbrella and little Angela Allen playing in the sand. The float was designed and made by the girls assisted by Thomas Allen.

The float entered by Holy Cross church depicting an early mission scene with John Andy Gallagher playing the role of Bishop Baraga and a group of Indians in native costumes placed second. Bishop Baraga, an early missionary, established the first mission on the island in 1832, according to island history.

A Norse ship entered by Swede's Villa and Drive-in and a replica of the island playground complete with equipment tied for third prize.

Other floats entered in the parade included a Biblical scene entered by the newly-established Episcopal Mission; Terry Hanley as Dr. Protar, Russian doctor who served the island for many years; a huge shamrock with a party enjoying refreshments entered by the Shamrock Bar; a hunting scene entered by McDonough's store; a replica of a laundramat building and a clothes-line filled with clothes entered by Wilson's Laundramat which is expected to open soon; a beach party scene entered by Vernon LaFreniere's General store; Donat's represented by a large hay wagon loaded with happy children; Carpenter's Mill float featuring a logging operation with a croquet set made from island wood; Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman as an Indian Chief and Annie Oakley respectively representing the recently-organized Beaver Island Historical Society; a car completely covered with flowers in pastel shades around the medical emblem entered by the Medical Center; Beaver lodge waitresses from Michigan State in a fancy dishuan blowing bubbles represented the lodge.

The parade was led by State Police of the Gaylord post and U. S. Coast Guardsmen serving as a color bearer and guard.

The Beaver Island band composed of Bill Vail, Tom Allen, Davalyn and David Wilson, Peter and Jean Sorenson, Margo Colby and Ann Willis followed the colors.

The Rev. Fr. Joseph Herp, O.F.M., pastor of Holy Cross church stood on the dock and blessed the boats following the parade of decorated boats about the harbor at 5 p.m. Janie Morris of Chicago, lyric soprano, sang the National Anthem.

John W. Gallagher was master of ceremony, announcing sponsors of each float along the parade route from the Medical Center, down Hall Hill to O'Brien's and return.

Judges were Ken Gallagher of Milwaukee, Lyle Schaffer of Milan, Ohio and Mrs. Doris Huckle of East Jordan.

A dance at the Parish hall Sunday evening concluded the week-end festivities which were held under ideal weather conditions.

Most forest fires now are caused by smokers and trash burners, says Linton Carter of the Forestry department at Michigan State University.

New manuals on grading fruits and vegetables are now available from Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Fall Fashion Forecast Given At Women's Hospital Guild Tea Here

A forecast of Fall fashions from the Polly Kay Shop was given during a garden tea sponsored by the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Hospital Friday.

The lovely models mingled among the guests present on the spacious lawns of the Dr. L. E. Grate residence between the hours of three and five.

The emphasis for Autumn style is on fabric and color and the striking combinations of same, such as charcoal cashmere chosen to complement a brown tweedy mixture . . . and the torso tunic, which is new now, but familiar . . . the new-blue shades for Fall . . . and the dark, chintzy winter cottons.

Outstanding among the fashions shown was a beloved dymatched combination with a cashmere sweater top and slim, wool skirt. Fabric wools have worked their way again into stunning two-piece costume suits, featuring a sleeveless sheath dress that can be worn for cocktail, and covered later with either a fitted or box-type jacket.

One of the attractive suits shown was a grey menswear box-topper with grey leather tabs added on the sides for interest. The jacket was lined with lemon yellow to match the blouse.

Black remains the most popular for evening wear and was represented by a two piece outfit trimmed with black velvet and featuring the new, long, flared tunic.

Another sophisticated style shown in black was a jet faille with draped basque neckline and a low cowl neckline. Black velvet was shown in a tight bodice and extremely full skirted decollete gown with a striking white dicky treatment across the bosom.

Chosen from the casual department was a trim three quarter length, double-breasted olive green coat-jacket . . . a salt and pepper tweed box suit featuring a slim tweed sheath under the jacket . . . and a corduroy jacket lined with white satin and worn with a white satin blouse and a straight black skirt.

Walking shorts continue as a favorite with the school girls of all ages . . . with tartan plaids and plain menswear-heading the list in fabrics and patterns for slacks and casual wear.

The small fry choose jumper styles with full skirts and bright belts . . . and winter cottons with calico prints on dark backgrounds.

When making clothes from the man-made fibers, M.S.U. clothing specialists remind, use a well sharpened shears and the thinnest, sharpest pins you can buy. These pins are usually labeled silk pins.

Petoskey Players Presents Modern Tragedy-Drama

This season the Petoskey-Playhouse has brought to this area a well-rounded "bill of fare" in their schedule of shows. The playhouse is committed to bringing to the public the best of recent and older proven and new entertainment hits. To execute this aim a modern tragedy is being included in this summer's program.

"Death of a Salesman" is acclaimed by critics and audiences alike as one of the greatest dramas, and one of the only modern tragedies of our day and age.

The plot has to do with the last days of a failing salesman who seeks to find out, by a tragic series of soul-searching revelations of the past life he has lived with his wife, his sons and his business associates, just where and how he has failed to win success and happiness. It is a thrilling work of deep and revealing beauty.

For this weeks show the Playhouse has brought two new actors to Northern Michigan. The two are Merylyn Lancaster and Frank Braham.

Next week the Playhouse announces a change in the schedule. "Sabrina Fair", a delightful comedy in modern day "Cinderella" form will captivate the audiences.

When making clothes from the man-made fibers, M.S.U. clothing specialists remind, use a well sharpened shears and the thinnest, sharpest pins you can buy. These pins are usually labeled silk pins.

For proper fit of nylon stockings, consider not only foot and leg lengths, but foot and leg circumference and length of the foundation garment, suggest Michigan State clothing specialists.

The emphasis for Autumn style is on fabric and color and the striking combinations of same... such as charcoal cashmere chosen to complement a brown, tweedy mixture... and the torso tunic, which is new now, but familiar... the new-blue shades for Fall... and the dark, chintzy winter cottons.

Outstanding among the fashions shown was a beloved dyed-matched combination with a cashmere sweater top and slim, wool skirt. Fabric woollens have worked their way again into stunning two-piece costume suits, featuring a sleeveless sheath dress that can be worn for cocktails, and covered later with either a fitted or box-type jacket.

One of the attractive suits shown was a grey menswear box-topper with grey leather tabs added on the sides for interest. The jacket was lined with lemon yellow to match the blouse.

Black remains the most popular for evening wear and was represented by a two piece outfit trimmed with black velvet and featuring the new, long, flared tunic.

Another sophisticated style shown in black was a jet feline with draped basque neckline and a low cowl neckline. Black velvet was shown in a tight bodice, and an extremely full skirted decollete gown with a striking white dicky treatment across the bosom.

Chosen from the casual department was a trim three quarter length, double-breasted olive green coat-jacket... a salt and pepper tweed box suit featuring a slim tweed sheath under the jacket... another corduroy jacket lined with white satin and worn with a white satin blouse and a straight black skirt.

Walking shorts continue as a favorite with the school girls of all ages... with tartan plaids and plain newswear heading the list in fabrics and patterns for slacks and casual wear.

The small fry choose jumper styles with full skirts and bright belts... and winter cottons with calico prints on dark backgrounds.

Educational television station WKAR-TV will transmit two remote telecasts each day from the Centennial of Farm Mechanization at Michigan State University, August 15-20.

The Quiet Things

The best things in life are easily missed, because they are quiet. They don't shout and wave for attention.

It is easy to overlook the marsh marigolds blooming at the brookside. You can pass them by, preoccupied with your private thoughts, and they will not call out to you. Our nieces and nephews have fished within inches of their little colonies at Hidden Brook without noticing the silent nod of their bright yellow heads. Visitors trample upon them, wholly unaware of their existence. The marigolds stand at the brook's edge, brushed by passing skirts and pant-legs, and bow in courteous greeting, but they never demand recognition.

The lovely things never do. Sunsets do not. Golden fields of ripening grain, the vast chasms and colorful gorges of the Grand Canyon, the star-sequined blue-velvet midnight sky, the broad stretches of our Great Lakes and mighty seas — none of the beauties we delight in the minstrel cry for our attention.

Even the sounds that gratify the ear and soul are not noisy. The white-throated sparrow's song, the gay carol of the black-capped chickadee, the low laughter of a running, skipping brook, the soft and lazy lapping of waves upon our shores, the voices of our dearest friends — are not clamorous, but quiet.

On the contrary, unimportant events are heralded so that every passerby knows they are transpiring. The fat lady's appearance at the front side-show is heralded by the barker at the tent's entrance. The announcement of the coming of a prominent politician to town is blared from a sound truck. A luscious morsel of Hollywood gossip is studiously trotted by a Film Town rumor salesman on her weekly radio program. A small scrap of dog flesh, vest-pocket size, barks uproariously at the mailman, but at a stamp of his foot retreats, whimpering, behind the porch swing. It may be that we are captivated by the insignificant things because they are noisy attention-getters, because they are usually good advertisers.

When nothing whatsoever seems to be happening, look out! Whether it's a four-year old boy alone in the kitchen, or the loud silence of a cornfield on a summer's afternoon, quietness means something important is going on. It is the nature of quiet boys and quiet fields to be producing something.

Remember Phillips Brooks' Christmas carol, "O Little Town of Bethlehem"? My favorite stanza is the third —

"How silently, how silently

The wondrous gift is given!

So God imparts to human hearts

The blessings of his heaven.

No ear can hear his coming,

But in this world of sin,

Where meek souls will receive him, still

The dear Christ enters in."

Always, God's best gifts come quietly, like the silent growth of crops or flowering of a garden, like marsh marigolds lifting yellow heads beside the brook or the hushed resurrection of faith in a soul where it had seemed to die.

No ear can hear their coming — the cautious steps of mature thoughts in the mind of a growing child, the advent of a holy and lasting love in the heart of a man or a maid, or the approach of a prodigal son to the Father's house.

Have an attentive ear and a watchful eye for the quiet things, for where there is quietness there is power.

Women's Group Of Congregational Church Gathers

A group of members belonging to the Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church of Charlevoix gathered recently for a regular luncheon meeting at the summer home of Mrs. Allen Campbell at Norwood.

Following the one o'clock pot-luck luncheon, a business meeting was held with reports given by Mrs. Versal Seymour, Fellowship president, and Mrs. Fred Willis, treasurer, on the annual "Christmas in July Bazaar" which is a popular resort event sponsored by the organization.

Following the luncheon and business meeting, a reading was given by Mrs. Kenneth Mitchell entitled "An Atheist in our Midst."

The group then attended the summer bazaar given by the Norwood Methodist church.

News Round-up at Camp Charlevoix

As is the custom for the seventh week of camp, our long activity trips go out, and the boys who have shown the greatest improvement in each activity is chosen to go on these trips. The first trip to leave camp was the six day canoe trip into the Upper Peninsula for a trip down the Indian River. The men on the trip were "Red" Williams and Ward Taylor. The boys on this trip were Jim and Johnny Rion, Howard Keys, Jon Howard, Dick Leavitt, Dick Hicks, Mike Dardas Jan Gibbon, Jerry Feinstein. The fishermen who were taken down to Grave's crossing to fish on the Jordan River were under the direction of Jerry Webster and were Marston Price, Steve Bachle, Jack Sluter, Bill Plummer, Leeds Davis, and John Bani.

The sailing trip also left on Monday and they took the five sailboats and went down the lake to Whiting's State Park from where they put out each day. The three sailing counselors on this trip were: Jerry Turcotte, Roger Egbert, and Armen Sahakian. The boys on the trip were Dick Genet, Robbie Helwig, Tip Sempliner, Jon Schmidt, John Lambrecht, Alan Gornick, John Gray, Gary Murfin, Peck Kunkel, Jim Hartman, Tom Layne, Charles Rust, Ben Douglas, Steve Feinstein, Jim Conner, Merriek Pease, and Denny Berge.

On Tuesday Cabin 8 and 9, Hank Guest and Alan Charleton went on a horseback trip overnight. Several cabins went into town to the movies while cabin 1, with Bill Stoner, went up to Greensky Hill to see the Indian cemetery and the little chapel. It is a very interesting place and only a mile from camp. It has much tradition connected with it and our smallest boys in camp were thrilled with the trip.

One of the highlights of any season is the day when we meet Camp Algonquin in a day of competition in all sports. Our visitors came in the morning and spent the entire day on Thursday. Once again we came out ahead in seven events to five for Algonquin. We won both rifle matches, the Senior baseball game, both archery matches, the Senior Tennis match, and the Intermediate sailing race.

It was a great day and everyone enjoyed being host to another camp. In the evening, our older intermediates were invited over to Camp Ta-Wa-Ma-Na for swimming, outdoor supper, and a dance. It was a very successful party, and already the boys are talking about next year when we will be hosts to the girls here at our camp.

Friday morning Cabin 7 under the direction of Bob Wurster left to spend a night under the stars at Belles Bay. The boys making the trip were Jon Howard, Mike Browning, Ricky Crox, Leeds Davis, Roy Gettel, Jamie Mueller, and Bill Washburn. In the afternoon Cabin 2, Dick Smith, Stan Storey and their boys, had a cookout on the Lake Michigan Beach. The canoeing trip finally arrived from their week long trip to the upper peninsula. They boys were tired but had a wonderful trip.

The Annual Mile Swim down Oyster Bay was held on Saturday with 92 boys starting out. Camp boats were lined up and down the swimming lines and on the final tally we found that 59 boys finished. The winning time of the event was taken by Slim Lee with a time of 29 minutes, Jim Cotton came in with the second best time of 35 minutes and Dave Keller came in third with a time of 35 minutes and 35 seconds. The smallest boy completing the event was Sandy Macdonald of Cabin 2 with a time of 57 minutes and 10 seconds.

On Saturday evening, our cowboy put on a real Western campfire. Songs and stories provided the program and Jake Whitecrow and Dick Hesse were in their glory telling the boys some pretty "tall" Western Tales.

Hank Guest was the speaker at the Sunday morning Chapel service and gave the boys much to think about in his talk on "Reputation." Bob Wurster sang the well-known solo "My Task". On Sunday afternoon the final Green-Grey competition was held. It is the Annual Obstacle Relay which takes in every sport in camp plus some innovations, such as blowing a balloon until it is as big as a beach ball, eating shredded wheat, peanut butter, and whistling, rolling an orange with the nose, sack race, etc. plus horse events, canoeing, swimming, archery, riflery, tennis basketball, baseball, etc. It was a great event and took in close to 100 boys. After the whole thing was ended with one boy from each side building water to a boil, the Greens won, which tied up the score for the summer. The committee quickly got their heads together and came up with the idea of a quiz show in order to use brains over brawn. The event was held tonight, Monday, and for the first time in four years the Greys were the winners.

So tomorrow night, Tuesday, the Green-Grey banquet will be held with the losers providing the program, speeches, and waiting on the tables for the winners.

Thursday night is our Final Banquet, and on Friday once again we will hold our Annual Rodeo. Over 60 boys are riding in the show, and it promises to be a fine afternoon. Friday night the Final Indian Ceremony will be held, with Jake Whitecrow in charge. He has 20 campers doing Indian Dances, and from all plans so far we expect a terrific show and an audience of over 1000 people. These two events at Charlevoix have grown, and grown, each year until now they are really huge events.

It has been a great season, not one rainy day - yet, and it has made for really superb camping. Once again, "thanks" for letting your son be with us.

See you all next year . . .

Youths Escape Serious Injury In Car Accident

Two Illinois youths, Kenneth O. Fosse Jr., 20, of Glenview, and Thomas E. King Jr., 20, of Kellinworth, escaped serious injury Saturday afternoon when their car, a convertible, overturned on US-31 one-half mile south of the city limits, throwing King into a tree and pinning Fosse, the driver, under the car.

Both were taken to the Charlevoix hospital where they were hospitalized overnight and treated for bruises and abrasions. Sheriff Glenn E. Rose who investigated the accident said that Fosse, who was driving toward Charlevoix at a high rate of speed, was attempting to pass a car when he struck the rear fender of a second car driven by Malcolm MacDowell of Charlevoix. The impact threw the Fosse car out of control. It rolled over several times, throwing King 12 ft. up into a tree, from which he tumbled to the ground. Fosse was pinned under the car and was freed by passing motorists.

Both youths were vacationing at a Torch Lake resort.

Joint Meeting Of Education Boards To Be Held Here

A joint meeting of the county boards of education of Charlevoix and Emmet counties will be held at the office of the Charlevoix county superintendent of schools at the library building here Wednesday, Sept. 7, to consider a petition requesting the transfer of properties from Rosier township school district to Hayes No. 5 fractional in Charlevoix county.

The several parcels of property are located directly east of the village of Bay Shore in Emmet county all lying in the Northwest quarter of the Southwest quarter of Section 7.

Reason for requesting the transfer is that the children residing in the area are much closer to the Bay Shore school than to the Rosier township unit. Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools said.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

WE KNOW it's hard to believe, but in less than two weeks the 1955 summer season will be a thing of the past. As the season draws to a close, one of our annual fall problems will be on our doorstep... that of small animals, mostly puppies and kittens, which are abandoned by people leaving town who do not want to take the pets with them. Every year many small pets, especially kittens, are left behind which we think is pretty heartless, particularly when a little effort on the part of the owner would assure the animal of a good home. This year we'd like to advise that you call the Humane Society in Boyne City... the number is Ju 2-7100 and we're sure that some arrangement can be made to find a home for the pet. Even putting it to sleep would be more humane than leaving it to starve.

AND SPEAKING of animals, we have one little squirrel in our neighborhood... he isn't much bigger than a minute but can he get himself in a whole of trouble. Without anyone to play with he goes out to look for amusement... and he sure keeps things in an uproar. Every bird in the area has chased him at some time or other and such chattering among the birds as he causes. You wouldn't think one little guy could create such a furor.

TIS said that one calico girl is worth two velvet girls. What we'd like to know is how one tell the calico girls from the velvet ones these days when the calico prints are so fashionable, especially in winter cottons. And just everyone's wearing 'em.

DON'T know wheather you keep track of birthdays or not, but one of our favorite characters had one the other day. None other than Lil Abner who was 21 one day last week. He's had a turbulent career, you'll admit, but he's done alright by his creator, Al Capp.

THERE was another birthday last week... the first anniversary of the dedication of the area's new hospital known as the Charlevoix Hospital. It seems as tho' it's been there forever. It's certainly been a wonderful addition to our community. We take it all so much for granted that we often wonder if everyone realizes how lucky we are to have it. Maybe the majority are like most people are about hospitals. They hope they'll never have to be admitted to one but if they are they finally get around to being grateful that we have such grand facilities.

FROM Hawaii a card from John LaBlanc whose ship, the USS Henderson, stopped over in the islands enroute to Japan. He had liberty in Honolulu and found the place wonderful, he wrote. Sends his best to his friends back here. And to anyone who'd like to drop him a line his address is 2nd Div. USS Henderson (DD 785) FPO San Francisco.

MRS. Malcolm MacDowell has offered to share her recent letter from Mrs. George Wolf who with her daughters, Vicki and Dulcie McClure, arrived in Japan recently to join Major Wolf. The weather there, according to her letter, is as hot as it is here. They're settled in the Washington Heights housing area. Only she or Major Wolf can purchase foods at the Commissary. None of this sending the kids to the store for whatever it was you forgot. Quoting directly from the letter she wrote: "This whole country is just too fantastic to describe. It is a mixture of new and old. There are a lot of modern buildings scattered about but right tight to them are dozens of little homes and shops. In some places the entrances are directly on the street or highway and as you pass you are apt to be doused with a bucket of scrub water the 'mamma-san' is pitching out the door. You see everything in the line of wearing apparel... kimono and a kind of pajama suit the men wear and some of the women also. There also is a great variety of western clothing worn... little girls love the American dresses... worn very short. The wooden sandals are everywhere and make a sound all their own as the wearer 'clips-clips' around. It is a rather musical sound.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Holechek of Traverse City are the parents of a son, Ronald Dwain, born Aug. 14.

Luanne Fales Weds William Reed In Double Ring Church Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony solemnized at the First Methodist church at East Jordan Saturday, Aug. 13, Luanne Fales, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Fales, became the bride of William W. Reed, MM2, U.S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Reed of Charlevoix.

The Rev. Robert Moore officiated at the double ring service before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli in the presence of 200 guests. Fred Stecker at the organ played a program of traditional music and the wedding march and accompanied the soloist, Devere Middleton, of Buoy City.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white lace and net over satin for her wedding. It was styled with a fitted lace bodice, net yoke and a lace Peter Pan collar and long sleeves. The bouffant skirt of layers of net over satin was floor length. A queen's crown of seed pearls and rhinestones secured her finger tip veil. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and white trenched carnations.

Mrs. William Dustin of Central Lake, as matron of honor, wore a gown of aqua organza fashioned with a fitted bodice, small turn-back collar, cap sleeves and bouffant skirt sashed with white satin ribbon. Her head-dress was of white flowers and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. Walter Fales of Ellsworth, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. James Matthew of Boyne City and Carol Jean Fales, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids.

They wore gowns of coral rose organza sashed in white and white floral headdresses identical to the honor attendant's. Their colonial bouquets also were of white carnations.

Sandra Sue Fales, of Ellsworth, cousin of the bride, as flower girl was gowned identical to the honor attendant. She also wore a white floral headdress and carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Robert Reed of Charlevoix assisted his brother as best man and Richard Hardy of Charlevoix, cousin of the bride, and Noel Johnson of East Jordan were ushers.

Mrs. Fales selected a gray and pink print nylon dress and pink and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Reed, mother of the bridegroom, wore a yellow nylon dress and white accessories. Both had corsages of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. A tiered wedding cake centered the refreshment table which was decorated with summer flowers and white tapers.

Shortest-stroke V8's in any leading truck! They're of modern oversquare design, which means that the piston stroke is smaller than the bore. The result is less piston travel per mile . . . longer engine life.
Modern 12-volt electrical system! It delivers twice the punch for quicker cold-weather starting. It also provides a hotter, faster spark for better ignition.

When It Happens to You

The golden flaky flesh of brown trout decorated our dinner plates last night and tickled our palates. The trout would have been tasty in any case, whether donated by a thoughtful neighbor, purchased from a store, or eaten at a restaurant. But they were better than the best that could have come from any other source, because they were our own trout, caught on our own lines, in our own brook. Marian and I had a personal feeling toward those delectable fish. They happened to us. And a trout with whom you have matched wits, whose dashing energy you have felt surging at the end of your line, a trout whose tail beating you have heard against the inside of your creel, a trout you have cleaned and iced and fried is always the tastiest of trout. It's because such a fish is more than a fish. It is YOUR fish.

Each summer the newspapers and magazines feature photographs of our President fishing.

This year President Eisenhower is shown kneedeep in a swift western mountain stream, and again in apron bending over an outdoor fireplace, serving up his freshly fried trout to fellow campers. He loves to eat fish. But the President, like the rest of us, loves most the taste of a trout that has fought at the end of his own line.

There are at least two ways of knowing anything. We can know the FACTS about a thing, such as that a brown trout is a fish, that it is yellow-brown in color with blue-bordered red spots dotting its sides, that it spawns in the fall, and that its tribe was introduced to America from Europe in the last century. But besides the facts we can know the INFLUENCE of a thing, like the way a brown trout lures a man to a stream's bank, and playfully tests his fishing prowess, and plunges powerfully as it seeks to escape, making the line sing and

Dillers Are Honored

A pollack supper in the Ellsworth Community Hall Monday night honored the family of Rev. Herbert Diller who leave soon for his new pastorate in Lansing. Following the supper, Charles Mascho presented the honored guests with gifts from the friends in the church.

Superintendent Attends School

New Superintendent Richard Lather of Banks School left Sunday for Ypsilanti where he will attend a school for superintendents who are starting their first year in that position. This school is Monday and Tuesday. Before he returns he will attend a district presidents' meeting of the Michigan Education Association held at St. Mary's Lake, Battle Creek, Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. Lather is president of this district.

Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Don Schroeder of Pontiac visited Mr. and Mrs. Al Taylor during the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Miner Koster and son Jerry left Saturday on their vacation. They will visit in the Cadillac and Grand Rapids areas. They also attended the funeral of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence VanderWall in Forest Grove, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Koster left early Sunday morning for Grand Rapids. On Monday they attended the funeral of Clarence VanderWall in Forest Grove and returned home Monday evening.

Miss Greta Drenth and Ted Vail were in Grand Rapids the past weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan and son Kenneth of Richmond, Ohio visited Friday and Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lather and children. Mr. Morgan and Mr. Lather were classmates at John Brown University.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mascho and children of Dearborn came this past weekend for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mascho.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Alward of Ellsworth and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jablonski of Charlevoix enjoyed a trip into the upper peninsula from Saturday until Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Brown of Grand Rapids were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Zell Bricker.

Mrs. Zell Bricker received word this weekend of the death of her brother-in-law, Charles the spine tingle, and pounds of lively fat too on the inside of the trout, and the way a forkful of trout melts in the mouth and snuggles down comfortably in the stomach. There is a profound difference between knowing the facts about trout and feeling a trout's influence.

A chemist, lost and wandering in the desert, crazed with thirst, can mumble between parched and cracked lips the chemical formula for water. The facts he knows full well. But the facts won't save him. He yearns to feel the influence of water, the refreshment sweeping over him as the water pours down his throat, washing the heat from his tissues and the madness from his brain. Only the influence of water will help him.

How unaffected we often are by learning facts! Our newspapers are filled with stories about someone else's disasters and joys. We read of auto accidents and hunting tragedies and births. We are but slightly affected by the news. Then someone near us becomes involved: your brother lies near death with his chest crushed by a broken steering wheel, or a neighbor lad is accidentally shot while hunting, or your son's temperature soars to one hundred and four degrees and hovers there for days. Your daughter becomes engaged, or your own name appears in the wedding announcements, or your own child is born. Then we know a thing as more than a fact. It is an influence, a power.

We can take pain in our stride. Sure thing! If it's someone else's pain. We can give glib advice on how to handle grief—someone else's grief. We know how to face the facts—if the facts are happening to others. But until a fact becomes MY fact I never feel its full weight nor sense its importance.

Knowing the truth about people is a paltry thing when compared with knowing the people themselves, feeling the consequences of their friendship upon our lives. And isn't this a primary difference between religious philosophy and religious experience? Religious philosophy is thinking ABOUT God. Religious experience is KNOWING God, feeling the upward tug of His influence.

Few differences in this world are so impressive as the difference between knowing a thing has happened and knowing it has happened to you.

Danitt whose funeral was held Monday in Muskegon.

Veronica Lake Has Lead In Comedy

Veronica Lake, glamorous Hollywood star is appearing this week at the Cherry County Playhouse in Traverse City from August 23 through Sunday, August 28 in the hilarious Broadway hit comedy, "Affairs of State."

Miss Lake portrays a beautiful charmer who sets society in Washington, D.C. agog against a background of pertinent observations on politics and 'amour. Film-goers will remember Miss Lake's rib-tickling roles in "I Married a Witch" and "Sullivan's Travels" among the many motion pictures in which she has starred. She is making one of her rare stage appearances at the Cherry County Playhouse and will not be seen elsewhere this summer.

Girligigs

The question was brought up in an article recently . . . quote: "Does the idea of educating fish sound fantastic to you?" Unquote: Yes, the idea of educating fish sounds fantastic to me . . . and I might add, it sounds downright fishy.

But scientists are claiming that a fingerling can qualify as a brook or rainbow trout at the State Conservation Department he will be given a course in psychology that will guarantee his living to a ripe age, consummated by being deliciously butter broiled and garnished with lemon slices and delicate fish spices. What more could a poor fish want out of life!

It seems that they are being taught by electric rays not to jump at any little old lure that is dropped in from of them because it might mean that they would be jumping at conclusions. In the future, the good fish will not die young because he will have learned to disregard temptations at the top of the pool and to savor only the delicacies nearer the bottom that don't have a string attached.

The results of this experiment won't be released until next summer, so that will give us a little time to think about the psychological moral to the story . . .

Then there's something else to scratch our brains about. There seems to be another psychologist who isn't exactly making a monkey of himself . . . instead, he's making people out of a lot of monkeys. He says that in this day and age we need something to do the things for us that bore us.

I'll put my wager on the 'monkey business' . . . at least there's a mere chance that this support might eventually lead to getting my ironing done for me.

Frozen Raspberry Jam Easy to Make

It's the berries, frozen raspberry jam, that is. Because it is not cooked, the jam (it can be made from frozen or fresh fruit) must be kept frozen for long storage or refrigerated for short storage.

Almost any fruit can be used for frozen jam. In making raspberry jam, the fruit would be crushed and the sugar added. After allowing it to stand until the sugar was completely dissolved, you add the pectin, either powdered or liquid.

After letting the pectin, sugar and fruit mixture stand a few minutes, it is ready to be ladled into jelly glasses. Then let it stand at room temperature 24-48 hours or until jelled. Seal it with hot paraffin, cover and store in the freezer.

Cheboygan Team Wins Class 'C' District Softball Tourney Here

Cheboygan Bosch Beer won the Class 'C' 13th district softball tournament here over the weekend without playing a game in the semi-finals and finals Saturday night and Sunday. The team had advanced to the play-off after defeating Harbor Tackle 11-1 early in the meet and Petoskey St. Francis 3-2 Friday night.

Bosch Beer was to meet Fochtman Motors of Petoskey in the semi-finals Saturday night but the Petoskey team failed to field an eligible nine players and was forced to forfeit the game to the Cheboygan squad.

On Sunday Bosch was scheduled to meet Carson-Bowman and again won by forfeit when the Charlevoix team failed to field a full squad of eligible players.

Bosch Beer will enter the Class B regional tournament at Cheboygan Friday and Carson-Bowman will play in the Class C tournament at Roscommon.

Carson-Bowman defeated Cooper-Franklin 5-3 Saturday night to advance to the finals. Ted Potter was the winning pitcher. A two-run homer by Kenny Balch in the fifth gave Carson-Bowman the game. Fritz Puffpuff was the losing pitcher.

In the second game of the semi-finals Saturday, Fochtman Motors of Petoskey recruited a player from the sidelines when one of their regulars failed to show up. Bosch Beer protested and the officials awarded the Cheboygan team the game.

Earlier in the tournament

Cooper-Franklin defeated Home Dairy of Petoskey 4-3 and Bosch Beer won over Petoskey St. Francis 3-2 Friday night.

On Thursday Carson-Bowman defeated the Petoskey Elks 6-3 and Fochtman Motors downed Lakes of Cheboygan 4-3.

In Wednesday night games Home Dairy of Petoskey defeated Boyne City 9-5 and Petoskey St. Francis upset Ormsbee Motors of Cheboygan 5-4.

Petoskey Elks protested their game with Carson-Bowman, contending that the Charlevoix team was playing with two ineligible players, that is, players who were not on the team's roster July 15. The commission at a special meeting here Saturday, however, voted to let the victory stand because the Petoskey team had not protested during the game. The commission also agreed to let Carson-Bowman and Cooper-Franklin, who admitted fielding ineligible players, to play Saturday night with the ineligible players as long as both teams agreed. The winner of the semi-final game, however, was to field the members on its original roster in the finals Sunday. Only eight members of the Carson-Bowman team appeared Sunday so Bosch Beer was declared tournament winner.

Steam Engines Program Topic At Kiwanis Meeting

Steam engines were the topic of the program at the regular weekly dinner meeting of the Charlevoix Kiwanis club held Monday at the V.F.W. post home.

After the meeting the members were invited to the home of A.A. Schaefer on the Charlevoix-Boyne City road to see his collection of steam engines in operation.

When the Kiwanians had satisfied their cravings to ride on the engines and toot the whistles, Mrs. Schaefer invited them into her home for refreshments.

At the brief business meeting, a letter of gratitude from the Handicampers of Traverse was read by president, Charles J. Pontius.

The communication thanked the members of the local club for their entertainment of a group of handicapped children from the Children's Clinic there earlier this month.

Dr. Bruce Armstrong of Rockford, Ill., was the only guest.

All state public school employees will vote on the social security referendum Dec. 14 and 15 to determine whether they wish to incorporate their present retirement plan with social security benefits. Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools has announced.

Names of the referendum will be distributed to school employees between Sept. 1 and 15 so that each person will have a copy at least 90 days prior to the election as provided by law. Mr. Robinson said. Information booklets will be distributed to school employees explaining the proposed plan, benefits, costs and comparisons with the present retirement plan.

Each superintendent in the county will be a member of the election board in the special election with the county superintendent acting as chairman. This board will divide the county into precincts and name school personnel in each precinct to serve as committee members who will conduct the election.

For passage the referendum requires an affirmative vote by 40 per cent plus one of the eligible voters. Mr. Robinson explained in effect, any person who does not vote actually votes 'no'.

Charlevoix County 4-H Groups To Participate In State Show

The biggest event of the year for eleven Charlevoix county 4-H Club boys and girls is almost here. They will travel to East Lansing to take part in the 40th annual State 4-H Club Show held on the Michigan State University campus August 30 - September 2.

Competition will be keen, declares K. C. Festerlag, District 4-H Club Agent, since there will be over 2,000 boys and girls vying for the $33,500 in premiums and trip awards. They will represent 82 counties and will participate in exhibits, judging and demonstration contest. Festerlag adds that Charlevoix county 4-H'ers would get a boost in morale if county folks would show their backlog by attending the State Show themselves.

Humane Officer Making Check Of Delinquent Dog Tax

Did you know that it is unlawful to own, harbor or keep a dog more than four months old unless it is licensed and wears the current year metal license tag attached to its collar unless the dog is engaged in lawful hunting with a custodian?

Effective June 15 all unlicensed dogs may be declared a nuisance and as a result a penalty of "double fees" may be imposed on delinquent owners.

As part of the work of the Humane Officer in Charlevoix county, the delinquent dog tax roll has been turned over to the Charlevoix county Humane Society for collection. At this time the Humane officer, Ed Erber of Boyne City, who has been delegated the task of finding delinquent dog owners, reports that there are approximately 600 persons who have not applied for 1955 licenses for their animals.

Because dogs running at large are chasing deer and killing more wildlife and farm stock than ever before, Conservation clubs and farmers in northern Michigan are urging that Michigan State Dog laws be enforced in the area.

The kennel section of the new animal shelter now under construction at Boyne City will be ready by Sept. 1 and will be used to house dogs that have run afoul of the law. The dogs will be kept at the shelter for three days where owners may claim them after being a nominal fine. The fine will be doubled, however, if the offender becomes a nuisance. If the animal is not claimed in three days it will be placed in a new home or, if the animal is undesirable will be disposed of in a humane manner, according to law.

The Charlevoix county Humane Society was organized in February, 1954, and is supported only by voluntary contributions and membership dues of $1.00 per year.

Persons interested in seeing that all dogs receive good care and fair disposition are asked to support the program that proper facilities may be available to assure handling of the large number that may be reported as strays, trespassers or destroyers of property.

AT THE BANK

More people save at the bank than anywhere else—and here are a few of their mighty good reasons why:

"IT'S SAFE — sound bank management, carefully restricted investments, close government supervision, modern physical safeguards — plus the fact that deposits are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $10,000 for each depositor — combine to protect my savings funds at the bank as they could be protected nowhere else!"

"IT'S CONVENIENT — I like to save where I can do all my banking at the same time — under the same roof!"

"IT'S HELPFUL — my money earns interest for me while I am waiting to use it — without my having to make an investment; and when I need credit, I find that having a growing bank balance is a big help in getting a low-cost bank loan!"

"IT'S PLEASANT — I have a special, personal feeling about saving at my bank — the bankers who serve me make me feel at home, and show a real interest in helping me with my money matters!"

Some folks give one reason, some another, some a combination of reasons . . . Come in, open a savings account with us, and discover for yourself the truth of what more than 69 million Americans agree on:

"THERE'S NOTHING QUITE LIKE MONEY IN THE BANK!"

FOUR WIDELY DIFFERENT plans for disarmament have been proposed by the United States, Britain, France and Russia. The four views presented at the opening session of the United Nations subcommittee on disarmament were: President Eisenhower's program for a military blueprint exchange and air reconnaissance; a Soviet scheme for inspection and control points at large ports, rail junctions, highways and airports; A British plan for all-inclusive inspection of armed forces, armaments, aircraft, munitions plants, nuclear installations and factories; a French proposal on financial supervision of military expenditure, together with a system of penalties for the purpose of encouraging disarmament. Resulting funds would go to underdeveloped areas.

SECRETARY OF STATE Dulles reports Russia may be moving into the tense Middle East situation by offering to provide arms to Arab countries opposing Israel. Any such shipments would in effect violate Russia's Geneva conference pledge to help ease international tension.

JAPAN'S Foreign Minister was reported this week to be testing this country's attitude toward possible withdrawal of all American troops from Japan by 1958.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER this week handed out another two and a half million dollars for flood relief and arranged a conference on rehabilitation of the water-ravaged Northeastern states.

AMERICAN British and French foreign ministers will meet in New York in late September to prepare for their Geneva conference with Russia's Vyacheslav Molotov on the reunification of Germany.

First Football Practice Gets Underway Here

Fifty prospective Charlevoix Rayder football players have been reporting for regular practice sessions at Kipke field at 7 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. daily this week. Coach Don Carey reported Wednesday.

An additional 20 players, many of them experienced players, are expected to report for practice after completing summer jobs this weekend.

Coach Carey is devoting his time to calisthenics, blocking and passing drills in an effort to whip the players into shape for their opening game with Rogers City Sept. 16. He is also trying to piece together a backfield and a line, which was especially hard hit by graduation.

Among the players reporting for practice are Garry Vandenberg, a regular halfback from last year's championship squad; Joe Etienne and Gary Smith, guards, who saw quite a lot of action last season; plus other lettermen who saw limited action throughout the season, but were not members of the regular starting line-up. They include Quint Walker, end and back; Charlie Dennis and Clay Walker, defensive halfbacks; Walt Poquette, back and center; Kit Carson, a back who may be transferred to a center position.

The Rayders are losing three players who showed great promise besides those lost through graduation. They are Dick Elzinga, a regular guard last season who is not returning to school; Glenn Ikens, a junior back and end who is leaving this week to enroll at Clayton high school near St. Louis, Mo.; and George Farmer, a second string center last season who moved to New Smyrna, Fla., last summer when his father was retired from the U.S. Coast Guard.

Practice sessions may be limited to one a day beginning next week, Coach Carey said.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

IT'S cotton pickin' time . . . in our neighborhood anyway . . . The pods on the cotton plant grown by Jeanette Novak have popped open and the snowy white stuff is peeking through . . . can't quite imagine fields of the stuff . . . It must be beautiful . . .

ANOTHER crop we heard about the other day . . . and saw proof of . . . was that of tomatoes grown by the Forrest Browns in Hayes township . . . In a year when tomatoes almost aren't, Mr. Brown brought in a couple the other day that were enormous . . . We didn't weigh them but they must have weighed a couple of pounds apiece . . . He said they'd had one that was 13 inches in diameter . . . After seeing these I could believe it . . . They're the kind that grow on vines . . . And all this in a year when most people don't have tomatoes or any other vegetable . . .

TWO more of those bottles tossed into Lake Michigan by the fisheries department have turned up along the shore . . . One was found by Bill Denemy on Little Traverse Bay near the cement plant and the other by Melvin Holburn just past Boulder Park . . . Seems one could find them most any place for some 6,000 were tossed into the lake at various points to determine prevailing winds and currents . . .

IT'S been 36 years last Friday since women were given the right to vote . . . There are those who probably think that the girls always had their say-so . . . right or no . . .

IF YOU think the big boys are serious about softball, you should see the kids in the peanut league . . . It's amazing what those youngsters, all 8, 9 and 10, know about the game . . . At the play-off Friday night, everything happened . . . even to a bases-loaded homer . . . And can those little guys get around the bases . . . Irish Coleman should have been there looking over the track material . . . Even a patch over his eye didn't stop Jimmy Racignol . . . and size didn't mean a thing . . . Some of the littler ones were doing alright by themselves . . . Our ball-players of tomorrow are doing OK today . . .

AND lots of luck this week to the regional champs, Carson-Bowman, who go into the state Class C finals at Petoskey . . . They did a bit of alright at Roscommon, winning two in a row for the title . . . We're expecting big things of the boys . . . for it would be pretty nice to have a state title in a town where interest in softball runs so high . . .

WASN'T that rain we had early Sunday a gift from above . . . after a summer as hot and dry as this one, it was like the well-known, manna from heaven . . . It's too bad, tho' that we couldn't have had more rain when it was needed most . . . Farmers have had a tough lot this year with practically every crop a total loss . . . Even small gardens suffered and the small vegetables so plentiful in other years, are missing . . .

A BIG "thank you" to the cast of the play "Heaven Bound" for their efforts in behalf of the Retarded Children's Center . . . They did a terrific job . . . rehearsing on their nights-out and giving so generously of their time and talents . . . and believe us, those people have talent . . . They sing like angels and enjoy every second of it . . . Don't know who had the most fun at the party given afterwards . . . the guests or the hosts . . . One thing's for sure, we should do things like that more often . . .

WITH football practice here . . . both high school and college . . . most people have been brought face to face with the fact that the summer is practically over . . . And it just doesn't seem possible . . . Not with the temperatures as high as they've been this week . . . Three weeks from tomorrow Charlevoix will be playing its first game of the season and other teams will be playing even earlier . . .

THIS weekend will really mark the end of the summer season for Charlevoix . . . After one last big fling, we'll find the place practically deserted Tuesday morning . . . Despite the fact that the few days remaining will be gala ones as everyone gets together for the last time, it will be a bit sad too as our good summer friends say good-bye until another year . . . We often wonder if these people who are among us such a short time realize how often they are in our thoughts from the time they leave in September until they return in June . . . The things they've done, the things they've said and the role they play in our community are often mentioned throughout the year . . . This year as you leave us we hope with all our heart that you are taking with you many happy memories of your part-time home and of your friends here . . . Those of us who remain behind wish you good-speed and the best of everything . . . We'll miss you . . . and count the days 'til you return . . . 'Til then may God go with you . . . every step of the way . . .

REMEMBER recently we mentioned meeting Eldon Roark whose column, "Strollin'" appears in the Memphis (Tenn.) Press-Scimitar. He spent quite some time here, gathering all sorts of info about our fair city . . . As a result he devoted one entire column to Charlevoix and mentioned it in still another . . . Included in the full column were three pictures of Charlevoix . . . one of our city super, Roy Robinson and our flower baskets . . . a second of the channel taken from the bridge toward the pier and the third of what he calls a "boulder manor", George T. Smith's home in Boulder Park . . .

Along with a story of how we happen to have our flower baskets which have created seeds of comment all summer, he has mentioned another thing we all take for granted but something seen in few places . . . arch lights which are on all night at the expense of the city . . . Our beautiful land . . . locked harbor came in for a few words and more than a few were devoted to Earl Young and his "boulder manors" . . . and the different roofs he builds which Mr. Roark described as "large seashells worn as caps" . . . The Battle of Pine River and the Mormons and their kingdom on Beaver Island, about which he knew nothing when he came here, also brought a comment . . . along with Foster's cabins where he stayed while in Charlevoix . . . Brad Foster and how he happened to settle here were also brought to light . . . In a second column, he tells of his arrival here and his first impressions of the community . . . after the heat of southern Michigan . . . As he put it . . . "We think we've found heaven" . . . We're indebted to Mrs. Milner of the Department of Social Aid and to Letha Douglas, who received the clippings from Dorothy H. Wright, for copies of Mr. Roark's columns . . . Writer from the heart as they were, Mr. Roark's comments bring Charlevoix the kind of publicity foldin' stuff can't buy . . . We're lucky to have such a fine friend . . .

IN CASE you haven't noticed, there has been a campaign on recently for better movies . . . if you're a movie-goer you'll admit that good pictures have been few and far between although some are entertaining . . . even if they won't receive academy awards . . . In Helen Bower's movie column in the Free Press recently, a Mrs. John R. Miller of Detroit has come up with a mighty fine idea . . . If you read a worthy book that belongs in motion pictures, ask for it . . . and she suggests Bill Ratigan's "Soo Canal" as such a book, to which we know everyone will add "Right" . . . In view of the fact that this is the centennial year of the great locks and that they are the greatest in the world, carrying more cargo than any other, it should make a terrific movie . . . Don't know if anyone has inquired about movie rights but we agree with Mrs. Miller . . . that they're missing a great bet if they don't do something about it . . .

MAYBE some of you old-timers will remember the "Village Kid" . . . he's Robert C. Jarvis who was born here of theatrical parents and who went on to make his own name in show business . . . "Village Kid" was his first big role . . . since then he's been in the movies, on the stage and a director in light opera companies in Houston, Pittsburgh, Toledo and St. Louis . . . This summer he's back in his native Michigan where his career began some 53 years ago as managing director of Melody Circus, the new summer tent theatre in

Bill Grassick's Four-Piece Combo Playing At Par-4

Bill Grassick and his Continental music, a four piece combo, is now appearing at the Par-4 located north of Petoskey at the intersection of US 31 and 131.

Featuring chanteuse Betty Me-Hugh, the band comes here from the world-famous King and Price hotel located off the coast at Jacksonville, Fla.

The combo presents a continental assortment of numbers presented in an "up-tempo" melody fashion . . . show tunes, pops, ballads and waltzes featuring Harvey playing a sweet muted trumpet, and also an exceptionally mellow violin; the piano artistry of Willard Connor which blends with the brisk society tempo; Jerry at the drums, playing a brisk pulsating beat and Bill Grassick playing six instruments, saxophones, tenor, alto, and the "tiny soprano", clarinet-trumpet and trombone.

All this plus vocal numbers by the band and Betty adds up to something new and different for those who enjoy the best in entertainment.

College Courses For Freshmen To Be In Petoskey

Sufficient interest has been shown in the proposed freshman college courses to be offered at Petoskey by Central Michigan college this fall to guarantee at least two classes, A.D. Shankland who is in charge of adult education at Petoskey has announced.

Freshman Composition and Introductory Sociology will be offered and if enough demand is shown a third class may be added.

Each of these courses carry three semester hours of residence credit. There is still room for additional students in each of the two classes and enrollments will be accepted until registration day, Sept. 13. Classes will begin the following week and will meet in Petoskey from 7:30 until 10 p.m. one night a week.

If this plan is successful this semester, other courses will be offered during the spring term. For additional information prospective students may call Mr. Shankland at the Petoskey high school.

Band Celebrates Season's Close

The Charlevoix city band directed by C. A. Odmark observed the close of the current "Concert in the Park" series at a dinner at the Turkey Wing Monday evening following the rehearsal for its final concert presented last night (Wednesday).

The dinner was a token of appreciation of the band management, the city of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Peters who operate the Turkey Wing for the great efforts contributed by the individual band members during the summer concert series.

The band has played a total of 10 Wednesday night concerts and also appeared during the Venetian Night festivities July 31. The concert series started June 29 and continued through the month of August.

During the concerts the band has played a total of 108 different compositions. To accomplish this the band members have spent nearly 1,000 man-hours in rehearsal since the summer concert season opened. In addition to this, the band rehearses weekly during the winter months which, if added to the above figure, would bring the total time contributed by the members to nearly 3,000 man-hours.

The band personnel this summer has been variable with a number of members finding it necessary to drop out because of work conflicts and other commitments.

Those who have played with the band this season include:

Flutes: Barbara Smith, Connie Paul, Barbara Bice; oboe, Janet Todd; E flat clarinet, John Wynn; B flat clarinet, Emile Acelli; James Bears, Will Bellinger, Dwight Smith, Nan Drapeau, Cora Paul, Joan Hellig, Anna Portious, Sharon Belding, Kit Carson, Janet Krulik, Phyllis Williams; alto clarinet, Glenn Bears; bass clarinet, JoAnn Liston; alto saxophones, Amy Kipke, Joel Arvilla, Victor Gibbons; tenor saxophones, Carolyn Vardner, Angela Schroeder; baritone saxophone, June Guild.

The crowds attending the concerts in East Park have been very good. Continued favorable weather plus the attractive setting have drawn an estimated 5,000 people to the concerts over the 10 weeks.

Rehearsals will be suspended during the month of September. In October, however, the weekly rehearsal schedule will be resumed in preparation for next season with the possibility of some winter concerts being considered.

Scenic Trails Council Leases Camp Greilic

The executive board of the Scenic Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America, last week signed a 99-year lease provision for the use of Camp Greilic near Traverse City by Girl and Boy Scout organizations with Rotary Camps, Inc., of the Traverse City Rotary.

The 437 acres in two pieces of land for $10,000. The procurement of the property from an outside group which had owned it since the camp was organized more than 25 years ago and the signing of the lease followed many years of work on the part of interested individuals to secure the property.

Through the efforts of the Rotary Club, the Boy Scouts now have acquired the use of the camp for the duration of the 99 year lease at the cost of $1,000 for the term.

Under the terms of the lease, the Boy Scout organization is to own, maintain and operate the camp as it sees fit. This will mean that the camp will be expanded and placed in top notch shape in the near future, a spokesman for the board said.

At the business meeting which followed the signing of the lease, R. G. Bennett of Charlevoix was named to the public relations committee of the Scenic Trails Council.

Rock Elm Grange Completes Work On New Kitchen

The Rock Elm Grange No. 705 has only 27 members but when it was decided this spring that something had to be done about the kitchen at the Grange hall located on the old Charlevoix-East Jordan road 4 1/2 miles northwest of East Jordan everyone was delegated a job by the Master, Hiram Brock, and the project was started.

As a result the Grange hall now boasts a new 12 by 24 ft. kitchen constructed with lumber donated by members who also donated 1100 hours of their time toward the project.

It is equipped with built-in cupboards, plenty of drawer and storage space, topped with table-top working space, two gas stoves, two large sinks, a gas-heated steam table and a work table in the center of the room. The floor is tiled.

The Rock Elm Grange is more than 60 years old.

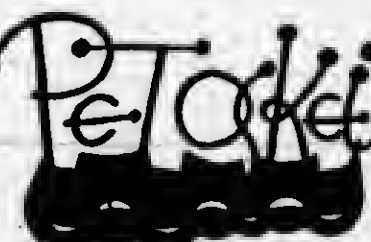

The project will be entered in a kitchen contest sponsored by the National Grange organization and the Sears Roebuck Foundation.

New school facilities at Grayling which include a new gymnasium and community building and classrooms will be opened for the first time with the beginning of the new school year according to Frank Bond, superintendent of the Grayling public schools.

The construction and remodeling program, which was started 18 months ago was financed by a $300,000 bond issue. The figure includes the cost of a new heating plant in the remodeled building.

The gymnasium has a permanent seating capacity of 1,400 which can be increased to 2,000 with the addition of folding bleachers on the floor level. The playing floor is built of cork and wood over cement. Locker and storage rooms are built under the permanent bleachers which line both sides of the playing floor.

Opposite the main entrance is the hot-lunches and banquets. The number can be increased to 800 by using the gymnasium.

Softball Games Benefit Fund For New Wheel Chair

Benefit games at Kipke field Friday night netted a total of $70 for the Billy Zeitler wheel chair fund as the capacity crowd saw the Yankees win the Peanut League championship with a 14-13 victory over the Tigers and the Charlevoix All-Stars bow to the strong Ellsworth All-Stars 11-0.

Contributions at the game totaled $55 and the sale of popcorn at Scott and Sam's refreshment stand, which was donated to the fund, netted $15 toward the purchase price of a new aluminum wheel chair for Billy Zeitler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zeitler, who is a student at the Grand Rapids Orthopedic school.

In the Peanut League championship game the Yankees came from behind, scoring three runs in the last of the seventh inning to take the title. Jimmy Ferguson's double scored Larry Kolker with the winning run. Jack Stewart led the winners with two long homers, a triple and a double. Billy Marne had three hits for the Tigers. Albert Wojan hit a three-run homer in the seventh for the Tigers. John Tuomela was the winning pitcher.

In the All-Star game, Bob Klooster, pitching for Ellsworth, limited Charlevoix to two hits while his team-mates were collecting 11 runs. Gerry Danbert and Deano Davenport collected the only safeties off Klooster. Tom Wieland and Marvin Rumbaugh homered for the winners.

New Students At St. Mary's Will Register Tuesday

All new students who will be enrolled in St. Mary's parochial school this fall are asked to register at St. Mary's convent at 1005 Bridge st. Tuesday.

This applies to all prospective second graders who attended the public school last year.

St. Mary's school will open Tuesday, Sept. 13, for the 1955-56 school year. Since the new St. Mary's school now under construction will not be ready for some time, plans are being made to conduct classes at the American Legion hall, the former Lincoln school for the present.

The first grade students will again be enrolled in the public school.

St. Athanasius has returned as principal. She will be assisted by Sister Theodore Mary, who taught here 10 years ago.

Sister Leona, who taught here last year, has gone to Munger near Bay City as principal of a larger school where she will head a faculty of three nuns and one lay teacher.

Sidney Blackmer In The Country Girl At Traverse City

Sidney Blackmer stars in "The Country Girl" this week through Sunday night at the Cherry County Playhouse in Traverse City. Mr. Blackmer, a veteran of over 100 motion picture roles, is playing the same role he created on the stage in the National Company of this production. His superb talent as an actor was recognized in 1949, when he was awarded the theatre's outstanding honor, The Donaldson Award as the best actor of the year for his performance opposite Shirley Booth in "Come Back Little Sheba."

He is playing the role of Frank Elgin, an actor who had touched the heights of success only to slide into oblivion because of an addiction for alcohol. His valiant attempts at a comeback allow Mr. Blackmer some of the most moving moments in the theatre. Jean Arnold of the resident company plays his wife, Barnett Owen, responsible for the direction of the show, it also undertaking a major role.

Others in the cast include Peter Harris, David C. Jones, Maureen Hayes of the resident company. Also Allen Pratt and Bailey Carroll of Traverse City have parts in the production.

The curtain is at 8:30 Tuesday through Sunday evenings with a 2:30 p.m. matinee on Thursday. Tickets are $1.25 to $2.85 and may be reserved by calling 3138.

'Sleeping Beauty' To Be Repeated Friday

The Junior Players production of "Sleeping Beauty" at the Cherry County Playhouse in Traverse City proved so popular last week that a repeat performance has been scheduled for Friday, Sept. 2, at 11 a.m. This fairy tale, brought to life with ballet, music and a cast of 23 boys and girls, drew a crowd of over four hundred enthusiastic youngsters.

Linda VerPlank has returned to Zeeland after spending the weekend here as a guest of Virginia Smith at the home of the latter's parents, Capt. and Mrs. H. E. Paddock.

Petoskey Players Present Comedy 'The Moon Is Blue'

This week's production at the Petoskey Playhouse is the smash comedy hit, "The Moon Is Blue". Hilarious as a movie, it's even funnier on the stage where all its funnier aspects can be freely discussed. It's definitely adult entertainment.

"The Moon Is Blue" is about a very charming and innocent young girl, Patty O'Neill, who meets a young architect, Don Gresham, on the top of the Empire State Building. It might be imagined that the young man "picks her up", in the conventional sense. However, the result of this casual meeting is that she goes to his apartment where she becomes involved in a whole series of amusing situations. He has invited her out to dinner, but instead, she determines to cook the meal for him, and the two get along swimmingly, until it turns out that Don has until the day before been more or less satisfactorily engaged to the daughter of his friend and neighbor, David Slater.

Slater arrives at Don's apartment, is attracted to Patty, and when he gets too friendly Don shows unmistakable signs of purely masculine jealousy. Matters come to a climax when Patty's father, an irate and Irish policeman, turns up and directs his anger against Don, to whom he gives a black eye. Ultimately, however, it turns out that the couple are re-united on top of the Empire State Building to live happily ever after.

James Annis Catches Large Bass Sunday

It weighed five pounds and five ounces.

Set Friday Date To Give Swimming Test

Any Boy Scout who wants to pass the test for his Merit badge or First Class badge in swimming is requested to appear at either of the Lake Charlevoix beaches at 10 a.m. Friday for the tests. Gordon Mol and the Depot beach on the north side or Larry Burns at the Perry ave. beach will give the tests.

Three Masses To Be Celebrated Sunday

Three Masses will be celebrated at St. Mary's church Sunday instead of two as was announced earlier.

The hours of Mass will be 6:30, 8:30 and 10:30 a.m.

Roy Sheldon Joins Staff Of Courier

Roy Sheldon of Otter Lake near Flint has joined the staff of the Charlevoix Courier as linotype operator.

He succeeds Lloyd Barnett who resigned recently after seven years with the newspaper.

Playhouse Star Is Back On Broadway

Myron McCormack, who recently starred in "Born Yesterday" at the Cherry County Playhouse in Traverse City has just been signed by producer Maurice Evans to do the leading role in "No Time for Sergeants" a new comedy to be produced on Broadway this fall.

Howard Brighton New Assistant For E. Jordan Football

Howard Brighton, formerly of Rosconmion has been signed as assistant football coach at East Jordan to succeed Don Carey who resigned recently to accept the job of head football and basketball coach here.

A 1953 graduate of Central Michigan college who taught at Ovid last year, Mr. Brighton now has his master's degree from the University of Michigan.

He was one of the candidates for the coach's job here.

Benefit Games Party Postponed

The benefit games party and square dance scheduled for Sept. 2 at the Norwood township hall for the Red Cross flood relief fund has been postponed until a later date.

Your Community Chest Agencies

(Continued from Page 1) the program is asking from the Community Chest the program for the year is expected to average about $8.00 per boy.

Among the activities offered through the Scenic Trails Council in which Charlevoix Scouts may participate are: adult leader program; Northern district fall camporee; Scenic Trails spring camporee; national and international jamboree; Camp Greilick; Blue and Gold banquet; weekend camping trips; canoe trips; advancement badges.

In addition to these planned programs, boys participating in the Boy Scout program have an opportunity for association and companionship as well as the chance to compete and grow with one another and to develop into good citizens... items on which it is impossible to place a price tag.

The Girl Scout Council has asked for $600, or $100 less than in 1954, from the Community Chest. This reduction is possible because the funds earmarked for the leader training program were not used. As a result the council will offer leader training courses to new leaders without asking for additional funds for that purpose.

The Girl Scout program functions under the direction of a community council which serves without compensation. All funds raised locally, either through Community Chest or Council-sponsored sales, are spent locally. The only contribution to the national Girl Scout organization is made in the form of dues of $1.00 annually paid by every Girl Scout and adult leader.

Last year 168 Charlevoix girls participated in the Girl Scout program. Of this number, more than 60 were Brownie Scouts and the remainder were Girl Scouts.

Greatest expense of the council is that of the camping program which is supported almost entirely by camping fees paid by each camper and through Community Chest funds.

Last spring 55 Brownie Scouts attended Day camp at the Charlevoix Rod and Gun club at a fee of $1.75 per girl. Only expenses were the director's salary and supplies which cost a total of $116.11.

Seventy-eight Girl Scouts attended troop camp at Camp Seagull at a cost of $307.11. Each girl paid a camping fee of $6.50 to help finance the program.

Camping expenses for the five-day program included director's salary, $84; cook, $60; food, $376; crafts, $53.73; first aid and supplies, $31.27; milk, $90.13; rent of camp, $300. All other adult leaders served at the camp without compensation.

Other council expenses for the year amounted to $143.99.

Last year the Council established a capital fund for the eventual purpose of purchasing a home for the use of Girl Scouts. This fund is supported by the sale of Girl Scout cookies and calendars and now amounts to $439.50. Funds derived from the Community Chest are used only for current operating costs.

THOUGHTS AFIELD

by
Harold E. Kohn

Soaking It In

Every brook and river, every lake and sea begins in the clouds. If you follow a stream to its source, you come at last, not to a bubbling spring, nor to the outlet of a pond or lake, nor to a melting glacier high on a mountain's craggy side. You must go farther, until your destination is reached among the rain clouds.

Lake and ocean water goes around and around in a mighty circle. First the water falls from the clouded sky where the billowing white masses of moisture are chilled by a cool wind. After pattering on roof-tops, pavements, fields and forests, on mountains and in valleys, the raindrops, scurrying through the earth to the water table underneath, to reappear in springs that form streams. Sometimes its flow is interrupted briefly while it is used by man, but at last it finds its leisurely way back to its familiar route, leading toward lake and sea. Upon these broad expanses of water the warm sun shines, slowly evaporating it into the heavens again, where it catches in the clouds. Another cold and head-on wind blows, playfully against the clouds, pushing them down their load of moisture to the earth. So the cycle continues. You will wash your face today with water in which came a fish, which ancient Egyptians stored in clay pots, and upon which young Abraham Lincoln pushed his raft load of pigs down the Mississippi toward New Orleans.

Water does man the most good when it lingers on its journey and is soaked into the spongy soil. There it is retained briefly while it does its beneficent work of dissolving minerals, carrying them into the roots of plants, providing vegetation with life-giving moisture, and collecting in underground water tables where it provides wells and springs for man's urgent needs.

When I look at our favorite brook, I sometimes think of what it represents. It is the earth's overflow. The sponge-like earth cannot soak up all the water the heavens have given it. The surplus gathers in underground pools and streams and bubbles up in the springs. And the springs, together with surface run-off waters, form our stream. Are not the best things man can offer his fellowmen made up of such an overflow? When we live most worthily, we are soaking up the good things of life, becoming saturated with them, and when we are full the overflow spills into the lives of others.

A stimulating conversation is one who has a mind saturated with what is true, good, beautiful, and interesting. The overflow runs into our listening ears like a laughing brook.

An overflowing person is one upon whose life good has fallen from above. His life is open toward God as the earth's surface is happy and receptive to the sky. He is so filled with faith, hope, and love that he cannot contain it all. The surplus spills over into the lives of others, refreshing and uplifting them.

In Mayville, Michigan, where I lived as a small lad, the town's landmark was known as "the old soak." He was always saturated with strong drink. Our generation is in desperate need of some "old soak" of another variety — God's saturated people, whose goodness overflows.

Sandwiches Have Place At Variety Of Social Events

Whether it's a meal, a late evening snack or the highlight of an afternoon party, sandwiches fit the occasion.

Supper sandwiches should be hearty, says Elaine Mishler, home economics staff member at Michigan State University; use plenty of meat or cheese on fresh buns or bread. But party sandwiches should be dainty and just as pretty to look at as they are good to eat. For these party foods, she says to be sure to contrast fillings, shapes and garnishes and display them attractively on trays and platters.

Miss Mishler passes on some tricks in making party sandwiches. The bread should be one day old as it will cut more easily. And, she adds, if you cannot buy bread sliced the thickness you want, then a sharp knife and a cutting board are necessities.

Another suggestion is to cut the bread lengthwise so the spreading of the filling will be easier and you will have less slices to handle. She points out that all bread should be sliced at the same time and before any of the actual sandwich making is done. Slicing, too, is much easier if all but the bottom crust is removed.

To prevent bread from drying out Miss Mishler suggests keeping slices stacked and in a pan lined with a damp cloth and covered with wax paper. Cover the sliced bread with wax paper and a damp cloth, too.

Butter should be creamed until

Rathgeber-Klooster Vows Are Spoken In Double Ring Service

Ellsworth — Sue Marie Rathgeber and Gordon Jay Klooster, both of Arlington, Va., were united in marriage Saturday evening, Aug. 20, in the Clarendon Methodist church, Arlington, with Dr. James Robertson officiating. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew E. Rathgeber of Arlington, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Klooster of Ellsworth.

The double ring ceremony took place in a setting of baskets filled with white floral bouquets. While the traditional wedding music was played the bridal party took their places. The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. She was attired in a dress of white eyelet organdy, ballerina length, which was fashioned with a fitted bodice and scalloped scoop neckline, a gift from the groom. Her fingertip veil of French illusion fell from a shell of stirred lace.

It is the proper consistency to spread. Melted butter only soaks into the bread and makes the sandwiches soggy. Fillings and garnishes should be prepared ahead of time and stored in the refrigerator.

When you remove the trim to make over a hat, be sure to mark the centerfront of the crown and brim, cautions clothing specialists at Michigan State University.

The couple left on a wedding trip to the Pocono mountains and will make their home in Arlington after Sept. 1.

For traveling, the bride was attired in a lavender shantung suit with a white feather hat. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jake Drenth accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Klooster and were guests at the wedding ceremonies.

Sell Potatoes In Large Crop Year Economist Says

Should I sell or should I store? That's the question Michigan potato growers are asking at this season of the year.

In answer to this question, George Mott, farm economist at Michigan State University, says that over the years it has paid to store potatoes in "small" crop years and to sell at harvest or soon after in "large" crop years. In "average" crop years, an even distribution of sales has paid off best.

July crop reports indicated a 400 million bushel potato crop—12 per cent above last year and about equal to the average of the 10 previous years.

Mott points out that during this 10-year period, the U.S. potato crop has been near 400 million bushels in five years. In four of these five years, it would not have paid to store potatoes.

In view of the present crop indications and past experience, Mott says generally Michigan potato growers will find it more profitable to sell potatoes at harvest or soon afterward this fall.

However, there are two possible exceptions, Mott advises. Growers with customers who want their potatoes regularly throughout the season will want to maintain these sales for good business relations. The other exception: if October prices are substantially lower than $1.00 per bushel, it may be profitable to hold potatoes for two or three months even though it would not pay to hold for the entire season.

Social Security Report Given By District Official

Social security benefits amounting to $36,628 were paid to 829 persons in Charlevoix county during the month of Dec. 1954, the last month for which complete figures are available, according to William E. LaRock, manager of the Traverse City district office of the Social Security Administration. This is an increase of about 40 per cent over Dec. 1953, when 692 persons were paid $26,120.

Only monthly benefits actually paid are represented by the figures, Mr. LaRock said. Lump-sum death benefits and monthly benefits which were suspended because beneficiaries had earnings in excess of permitted amounts are not included.

May Obtain Trees For Fall Planting Through The State

Order blanks for obtaining trees from the Department of Conservation arrived in the County Extension Office this week, Ed Rehman, county agricultural agent, announced today. Farmers who are interested in fall planting of trees should obtain one of these order blanks and order their trees as soon as possible. People who would like to have a selection of trees for next spring's planting should also order as soon as possible.

The trees that are available from the Michigan Department of Conservation include red pine seedlings, red pine transplants, jack pine seedlings and white pine transplants. They do not have any Scotch pine or spruce available this year. The order blanks from the Forestry Department of Michigan State University should be arriving in the very near future and might have more of a selection of trees from the University.

For the past two or three years people who have planted trees in Charlevoix county in the fall have not had very good success. The fall of 1953 and 1954 was very dry and thus livability for trees was poor. This year, of course, the season is much dryer and the chances of having a good stand are not as good as should be. Over the last few years the spring planting of trees have proved more successful than fall plantings.

A total of $20,233 was paid to 194 retired workers; the balance was paid to the families of retired workers and eligible relatives of workers who have died. The average payment to retired workers in the 15 counties served by the Traverse City district office was $54.98.

A continuing increase is anticipated due to additional persons being qualified, but even without a substantial increase, benefits paid in 1955 will exceed $440,000, Mr. LaRock estimated. The relaxation of the legal requirements which permits benefit payments to be made to qualified workers over age 72 regardless of the amount of their earnings, and also permitting a beneficiary to earn up to $1200 in a year without losing any of his monthly benefits, is expected to have a substantial effect on the amount of social security benefits that will be paid this year.

Red Cross Quota Set For County In Flood Relief

The Charlevoix county chapter of the American Red Cross has been assigned a quota of $280 to be raised to aid disaster victims in the East coast flood area, Peter H. Timmer, chapter chairman, has announced.

In response to the emergency call the county chapter is soliciting donations from all residents of the area. Contributions to the emergency fund drive will be accepted at all postoffices in the county and forwarded to the disaster area.

In making the announcement regarding the emergency drive, Mr. Timmer said it would be well to remember that the Red Cross has the full responsibility of carrying on relief to families in the flood area since by the law the government cannot assist them directly.

On Wednesday Mr. Timmer reported that the chapter had received $80.00 in emergency relief contributions and would continue to accept donations until the emergency relief quota is met.

High Winds In County Cause Some Damage

High winds which at times reached a velocity of 40 miles an hour and driving rains hit this area late Tuesday afternoon.

Sections of the city were without lights during the evening when branches, tossed about by gusty winds, broke utility wires.

Many large branches and tree tops were torn from the trees. Leo Allard, street commissioner, said street crews had been busy Wednesday clearing away the debris.

North of Charlevoix on US 31 high winds reportedly uprooted a number of trees including several birch trees which line the highway.

Several water spots were also reported on Little Traverse Bay late Tuesday afternoon. Miss Alice Chew who resides with her father, M. K. Chew at the family home on a hill overlooking Little Traverse Bay, said she saw the water spots carried by the wind onto the shore near Seven-Mile Point where it spilled its water, she said.

Yours truly is reporting in this on a favorite assignment . . . a sight-seeing tour of a perfect doll of a house, the summer home on Park Avenue which was recently completed for the James Brakemans of Charlevoix and Lansing.

This is a darling, with a difference that refuses to be quaint by creating a mood that is both subtle and gay, daring and debonair. The style might be called "classical" modern with an L-shaped wing striking out boldly from the dramatic circular living room nucleus. Counterbalancing, on the other end, is the kitchen wing and car port, sanctified by four sturdy, fluted pillars.

The exterior is sparkling white cement block accented with rose-hued sandstone, which is repeated in the living room interior with matching stone forming the fireplace wall. Choice decorator colors have been used inside against a background of rich wood paneling and elegant picture windows dramatized with blending draperies. The various living areas are separated by folding leather doors and are grouped around a modern living room piano which was laid beneath the shade of a craggy apple tree.

A purple slate floor heightens the drama of the living room which is furnished with black wrought iron, upholstered in woodpecker red, black and white. The window seat at one end is cushioned with "palette blue" corduroy and splashed with chartreuse, flamingo, and penny-colored cushions. A pier of bookshelves makes a fool for this cozy section which opens into a small, sophisticated dining room furnished in shrimp pink wrought iron against walnut paneled walls. The dining chairs are cushioned with lavender hars, chartreuse there . . . and there and there. Lending glamor to this area is an amethyst Vaseline glass chandelier. Lovely pink Fortisan drapes patterned with gold and brown hang at a large picture window overlooking the patio.

The master bedroom, dressing room and bath are king-sized and elegant. A gold waffle textured material has been used for spreads and matching draperies. The cherry wall paneling blends into a built-in headboard for the king-sized bed. The master dressing room and bath is paneled in pink combed plywood, with daphnium blue tile fixtures glamorized with a 1-o-ong lavender cushioned dressing stool. The boys' room is a boys' room, for sure. With cherry paneling, trunk beds . . . built-ins plus. Their bath is done in sea-green tile.

The kitchen is a dream, decorated in salmon pink. The white cafe curtains are patterned with a black silhouetted antique cutlery design. A movable island forms either a breakfast bar or an auxiliary for culinary work space. The very latest in electrical equipment has been installed but carefully concealed by cleverly built cabinets. A stack of woven basket bar stools stands just around the corner and ready to pull up for a breakfast or luncheon snack.

Each detail of "The Pillars" is charming . . . and the over-all picture is delightful.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

THERE'S going to be quite a hunk knibbled out of our population by the end of the month . . . what with all our college students leaving town . . . And there're quite a few . . . some 24 out of a class of 68 that graduated in June . . . plus more than 50 others who are returning to classes . . . We think that's a pretty wonderful average for a town this size . . .

IT'S mighty quiet around town tonight . . . for over the weekend we've lost the majority of our summer residents . . . That train whistle had a mighty sad sound when the Resort Special, loaded to capacity, pulled out . . . It makes one just a little sad and for a while things just won't seem right . . . But in a few weeks we'll be back on schedule and we'll go on living 'til June . . . when everyone will return . . .

RIGHT here and now we'd like to leave a little reminder with our summer residents . . . All of us back here are interested in what happens to you and yours during the months you're not in Charlevoix . . . But unless you tell us about it, we have no way of relating it to our readers . . . So if something of importance happens in your family, won't you make a point of letting us know about it, please . . .

THERE was a time when June was considered the month of brides but in Charlevoix the month of September has replaced it as the month of weddings . . . With so many brides, we'd like to wish them everything good . . .

A PICTURE of our pier made the roto section of the Detroit

Free Press last week, we're told . . . It won the top prize in the weekly photo contest and was entered by a woman from St. Ignace . . . didn't get the name . . . Mrs. Harry Ladd told us about it and she has identified those in the picture as Mr. Ladd, Ron Crump, Levi Walker and Jimmy Brady . . . Fishermen at Sunset was the name of the prize-winner . . .

EVERYONE is watching with interest our own Charlie Fairbanks who has started his first job . . . as head coach, no less, at Ishpeming . . . His football team had its first game Saturday night with Manistique and won by a score of 37-0 . . . That's don't a bit of alright . . .

Our own football season will open next week . . . a whole week earlier than usual . . . a non-loop game to give the boys a chance to iron out the kinks (if possible) before running into competition where it really counts . . . with league opponents . . .

The boys have sure been getting a workout with Coach Carey really cracking the whip as he tries to get them in shape and in working order for the opener with Rogers City . . . Boy, that's a tough assignment . . . taking these kids and not only getting them in physical condition but teaching them the fundamentals of the game plus a working knowledge good enough to move that ole ball when necessary and hold the other fellow's line when need be . . . All in three short weeks . . . We've always said there were easier ways of making a living than by coaching . . .

But coaches don't agree with you . . . That's what makes 'em the special kind of guys they are . . . A mighty fine lot and Charlevoix's been mighty lucky . . . We'll stack the three we know up against all comers . . .

NEXT Tuesday's the big day . . . Close to a thousand of our youngsters will find their way to the classrooms in our community . . . and the 1955-56 school year will be underway . . . In an effort to find something in keeping with the opening of school we came up with the idea for the picture you'll find on the front page . . . of the two sets of identical twins to be enrolled in kindergarten this fall . . . When we went to school to take the picture, everyone wanted to know where the rest of the kids were for both the Paterkas and the Arvillas had the idea that this was school . . . When we explained that we just wanted their pictures for the paper, one of the Arvilla twins (don't ask us which one) asked why they were to have their picture taken and the other kids weren't . . . Their mother, Mrs. Joseph Arvilla, came up with what we thought was a pretty clever answer . . . "Because there are so many of you" . . .

And, come Tuesday, don't forget while you're driving that a lot of these little folks aren't too familiar with this new way of life and haven't learned all the rules about crossing streets, etc. . . . For the time being, be a little more careful than usual . . . These kids are mighty nice and we want to keep them around . . .

Autumn Back-To-School Fashions Displayed In Charlevoix Shops

This is the time for fashion interest revival for young ladies returning to school. Gals who have been wandering around all summer in shorts and blue jeans suddenly develop the urge to dress up and look grown up.

Clothes are never more attractive in the stores than they are in the late summer and early fall. New and unusual styles and fabrics make back-to-school shopping fun and exciting.

Wool, as always, has a high place in school fashions. Hand some tweeds and plaids, many of them authentic clan tartans, will be found in Charlevoix this autumn. Our stores have a wide selection of youthful and durable styles for any and all school-agers from kindergarten to college campus.

Bermuda shorts and knee skirts are popular again this year. These trim sporty styles are far neater than most haphazard casual wear and are much more practical.

The woools appear in slimmer lines . . . doubtless the influence of the Paris softened look. If fullness is present, it starts at the hips for a long-torso look. Despite all the interest in dresses, knee pants and jumpers, the sweater and skirt is the most popular ensemble that is loved by every gal. They are lovely in every price range . . . from the soft, practical orlons to the expensive imported or domestic cashmires.

A turn-about to wool's invasion of the summer fashion world is the important appearance of cotton on the winter scene.

Shopping for school clothes is a very special kind of shopping that takes careful thought and consideration. Shopping for youngsters means looking for deep hems, sturdy seams and non-spot-showing fabrics.

Shopping for teensters, it means looking for what everyone else is wearing. If mother buys something she herself happens to like, she mustn't expect Sis to wear it unless all her pals do, too. Shopping for college gals means wise investing. Many college year purchases will do service for years to come.

And it doesn't matter for whom you are shopping, the best bargains are to be found at home. Our stores are supplied with the latest and smartest merchandise to be found anywhere. If you don't believe us, look around.

NW Symphony To Start Rehearsal On Next Sunday

The Northwestern Michigan Symphony Orchestra, Dr. Pedro Paz conducting, will be off on its fourth year of preparing a concert series next Sunday, Sept. 11 at 7:00 p.m.

Rehearsals again will be held in the music room at Traverse City Senior high school.

It is expected that musicians from as far away as the Straits of Mackinaw to the north and Manistee to the south will assemble for this first rehearsal. The great majority of the 40 men and women who played last season's three concerts will be back at their desks and it is hoped that they will be joined by a number of newcomers whose interest and abilities qualify them for a try-out by the organization.

"Any and all are welcome to try out," says Mrs. Frank Mitchell, president of the Symphony Society. "Dr. Paz is most understanding of and helpful to newcomers and no one who feels that he or she can perform acceptably need fear that they will be any less than heartily welcome and given every opportunity to secure a place on the roster. At this early date, we do not know that any special instruments will be in exceptional demand. Naturally, we would like to see the orchestra become larger in most sections but if special needs develop, announcement will be made."

The Rev. L. L. Lewis of Millington read the service in the presence of 80 guests. An arch interwoven with evergreens, baskets of gladioli in pastel shades and lighted tapers in candelabra formed the setting for the ceremony. Mrs. John L. Boss played a program of traditional music and the wedding marches and accompanied Roberta Swanson who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, escorted in the altar by her father, chose a ballerina length gown of white embroidered net over tulle for her wedding. It was styled with a fitted strapless bodice and a bouffant skirt which had rows of small ruffles at the hemline. It was worn with a matching net bolero jacket which had long tight sleeves and a small collar. A crown of seed pearls secured her double fingertip veil. She carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of red roses. Lorabell Elzinga, sister of the bridegroom, was her only attendant. She wore a ballerina length gown of yellow net over tulle and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

James Elzinga assisted his brother as best man and Carl Williams of Roscommon, cousin of the bride, and Harrison Elzinga, uncle of the bridegroom, seated the guests. Thomas Elzinga, brother of the bridegroom, lighted the candles.

Mrs. Liston selected an olive green dress, cocoa brown accessories and a corsage of yellow mums for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Elzinga, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy dress, white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the couple's new home at 539 Petoskey ave. A tiered wedding cake centered the refreshment table which was decorated with autumn flowers. Assisting were Mrs. Nora Buttner, Mrs. James Elzinga, Mrs. Carl Russell and Mrs. Edgar Smith.

Will Address M.S.U. Alumni

Two widely known Michigan State University personalities, John A. Hannah, president of MSU, and Clarence L. (Biggie) Munn, MSU athletic director, will be the guest speakers at the annual Tri-county Michigan State University Alumni meeting to be held at Boyne Mountain Lodge at 7 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 10. Arthur K. Rouse of Boyne City, chairman of the event, has announced.

All MSU alumni in the area are invited to attend this annual event. President Hannah, who has headed Michigan's newest University since July 1, 1941, enjoys a reputation as a public speaker, and has traveled widely throughout the United States. It is a matter of pride to him that he has visited the campuses of almost all of the land-grant colleges and universities.

A native of Grand Rapids, President Hannah was graduated from MSU and immediately joined the faculty. He was elevated to his present position in 1941. Under his guidance, the University has known its greatest growth.

Although President Hannah has never taken an active role in partisan politics, he was the choice of President Eisenhower for the important post of Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower and Personnel, a position he held from Feb. 11, 1953 until his resignation on July 31, 1954.

More recently he was named as the choice of young Republicans of the state as a candidate for governor of Michigan, but stated that he did not have political ambitions.

The other speaker, Mr. Munn, is well known to all residents of northern Michigan. While coaching at Michigan State, his teams made football history. His 1951 and 1952 Spartan teams went undefeated, the latter winning the mythical national championship. His 1953 team, first to compete in the Big Ten, won eight out of nine, tied for the conference title, received the Rose Bowl bid and then went on to defeat powerful UCLA 28-26 in one of the most thrilling Bowl contests in history.

Clarence L. "Biggie" Munn

As athletic director at Michigan State, former Spartan Coach Munn has worked just as hard at this job as he ever did at coaching football, and with quick success, enlarging the athletic facilities at the University.

The facilities of Boyne Mountain lodge including the swimming pool and the ski lift will be opened to the Michigan State alumni and their families during the afternoon of Sept. 10.

Reservations for the alumni banquet may be obtained by calling Charles Moll of Boyne Falls or Arthur K. Rouse of Boyne City.

Michigan Mirror

STATE REPUBLICANS are rubbing their hands in happy anticipation of their "open to everyone" political get-together at Mackinac Island Sept. 17-18.

They watched a similar meeting of Democratic bigwigs last month with some anxiety. But as the session continued, GOP leaders relaxed.

"They are just rehearsing the same old chatter," said a leading Republican spokesman. "They just haven't got an issue and they know it. The Republican national administration has given the country peace and prosperity; provided the working man with the best income ever, and will probably balance the budget. Personal attacks on Eisenhower have been getting them nowhere, so they must scrape the bottom of the barrel for anything to criticize."

Truman's appearance failed to produce much interest, according to GOP observers. In fact, they believe that it is Democratic worry about the former President's unpredictable statements that caused him to cancel several campaign speeches this fall—that his health as was announced.

REPUBLICANS ARE billing their meeting as the All Michigan Republican Forward to '56 Conference. Anyone interested in good government is said to be welcome.

Program calls for several nationally known speakers, like Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the national committee, to be present. There will be talks on foreign affairs, finance, domestic problems; panels on such subjects as mental health, education and state economy.

Subdivisions of the GOP will huddle to decide what should be done about winning the state election in 1956. Besides the State Central Committee, which will ponder the same problem, sessions have been scheduled for the Young Republicans, Republican women, Republican war veterans, etc.

"A BLUE RIBBON SLATE." That's the aim of the GOP and its machinations. They are hoping to find a list of "well qualified, energetic" candidates, with irresistible public appeal. Who they will be — or where they'll be found is not yet certain. In fact, recent trial balloons for candidates for the governor's race indicates that things are very much up in the air.

Peace and Prosperity for the Michigan of Tomorrow. That's the announced theme for the GOP Mackinac meeting. A necessary part of any such plan, from their standpoint at least, means the first big job to be accomplished in the organizing of their own party into a machine that can win Michigan elections.

ORGANIZED EFFORTS by many local groups will soon be made in a campaign to urge all eligible voters to register. This is part of a national drive, suggested by President Eisenhower, to get out the vote for coming elections.

Cooperating with the idea, Gov. Williams appointed a state committee to promote the idea through branches of their individual organizations — political, trade, civic, religious, etc.

Constitution Day, Sept. 17, will see the kick off of the seven day drive. The period will be called Citizenship Week. The governor has also issued a proclamation asking for wide spread participation in the promotion to insure registration of all eligible voters.

Various activities will be seen in various areas. In metropolitan areas branch registration offices will be set up, manned by firemen, policemen or other volunteers. In other localities, telephone campaigns will be organized. Bulletin boards will remind people to register. Newspapers, radio and tv will carry the message.

HUMOROUS suggestion was submitted by the editor of a northern weekly newspaper in an open letter to the "New Secretary of State — Whoever You Are."

The editor referred to the running battle about the site of the jet interceptor base in northern Michigan, calling it a "Lazy Susan basis, stopping here and there." He suggested that the matter be left to the U.S. Navy. The base could then be built on an aircraft carrier, which could steam to the area which satisfied the most political pressures. Other advantages of this plan were listed: no roads required; no television towers; no Congressional district boundaries. In the summer it could be moved from the National Music Camp area, because, he says, no enemy would be expected in attack during "music season."

SLOGANS ON license plates describing the winners of Michigan may be abandoned in 1957.

It all started when Secretary of State James M. Hare assigned a committee to a study of highway safety measures and an anonymous attorney questioned the right of the state to advertise on license plates.

Hare mentioned that the National Safety Council was recommending that states drop the slogans to make the digits more readable.

Then came the dissenters. Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council, asked Hare to spare that slogan until the facts could be gathered. He said he had a letter from the National Safety Council, denying a recommendation one way or the other on the slogans. At the moment, the issue still is unsettled.

More Jewelry For Fashionable Teens Is Vogue For Fall

Fashions in jewelry are dictated mostly by fashions in clothes. And this fall, school fashions for teen-agers call for more jewelry.

The Jewelry-Industry Council accents the popularity of French cuffs for men and of neat, man-tailored shirts for women. Both of these styles mean a wide variety of cufflinks for back-to-schoolers.

Plastic beads in popular pastels, with earrings that match, are high style for the tunic and sheath fashions that need a touch of texture and gleam to complete the picture.

Over grown jewelry for understated women's styles is a news note this fall, too. Long beads or tremendous disc necklaces and earrings have great interest with the smooth look.

Watches, of course, are the basis of the jewelry wardrobe of most teen-agers. And charm bracelets have their perennial appeal to school girls. The more jangle and spangles the better. Many of the girls have been

Class C Conference Coaches Take Stock

Ten returning lettermen including five regulars are candidates for this year's Boyne City Ramblers according to Coach Paul Pfahler. They are quarterback Boh Fitzpatrick, ends Carl Mathers all regulars and lettermen Charles Stocker and Bill Nulph, backs: John Juday, end and Nels Northrup and Ed Barden, tackles.

At East Jordan Coach Gayle Saxton has lost eight lettermen or promising players and as a result has only one back with any experience, Larry Woodcock, a letterman and line-backer last season.

are Dick Johnson, all conference center; Jerry Sweet, a guard and Ralph Wycoff, a tackle. The starting line-up for the Devils first game against St. Ignace will be selected from the 51 candidates including 30 freshmen reporting regularly for practice.

Among the lettermen lost are Joe Jankovic who moved to Niles, Denny Wilson who accompanied his family to Ionia, Ernie Hayden who has rheumatic fever Everett Ingalls, a regular line-backer and guard who is unable to play because of a back injury and Jerry Harrington who is out with an elbow injury. Four others have taken part-time jobs which do not allow them time for sports.

At Mancelona Coach Matt Jacobson is starting a rebuilding program with only three regulars. Herb Nichols, a tackle, Jim Conway, center and Gary Shisler, fullback, as a nucleus for this year's team. He will depend on letter winners Charles Devenney and Galen Christopher, backs; Fern Chapman and Bill Covert, ends plus former J-V players for his starting line-up in the game against Lake City on Sept. 16. Coach Bob Wallis at Gaylord has fared better than most coaches with eight first stringers who played offense or defense last year returning. They are Dick Tibbitts, Jan Coulters and Larry Fahler, tackles; Terry Goeha, center; Mike McKillop and Gil Middleditch, ends; Jim Glasser, halfback and Herb Van-Gilder, guard. Other lettermen are Greg Styles, guard; John Breshnahan, quarterback and Dale Middleditch, fullback.

Pellston where Ray Brown is coach is counting among its returning lettermen Frank Durka, Ronnie Keiser and Harry Ball, backs; Dale Drier, end; Bill Mallory, center; Clark Marshall, guard and Jack Schlosser, tackle. At the present time Pellston has more than 30 candidates out for football, the largest number in recent years.

Ornery Youngster

This young osprey gave the Conservation Department photographer fair warning and stood his ground on a nest of sticks built by his parents atop a swamp stump. Ospreys are by nature wary. Hard to find and few in number, the big birds are not often seen outside of museums. This unusual closeup shows the distinctive black and white coloration, sharp beak and piercing eyes of the species.

Living Memorial

A state Conservation Department worker prepares to release some of the 1313 11-inch rainbow trout turned into the South Branch of the AuSable recently in part fulfillment of the will of George Mason, former president of Nash-Kelvinator corporation, who died last fall. Mason deeded eight miles of the river to the public of Michigan and set up a fund for stocking the water annually.

Charlevoix Waterfront Program Is Concluded For The Season

Charlevoix's waterfront program was concluded with the Labor Day weekend when lifeguards manned their respective beaches for the last time.

All reported that more people had visited all three beaches this summer than any season in the past because of the hot, dry weather which made it possible for swimmers and sun-bathers to visit the beaches almost daily from late June until the present time.

In addition to their regular lifeguard duties, two of the guards, Gordon Mol and Larry Burns, who were stationed at the Depot and Ferry ave. beaches respectively, gave swimming lessons to well over 100 youngsters, the majority of whom were local residents.

More than 70 of the group completed the requirements and qualified for the certificates listed below:

Ferry ave. beach: Beginners, John and Shirley Gibson, Marsha McCall, Jackie Tonkins, Penny and Patty Graham, Jimmy LaBlance, Richard Harris, Danny Swanson, Gilbert Arnold, Ronnie Wolf, Patsy Sherwood, Kathleen Tighe of East Cleveland, Teddy Reed of Flint, Grant Klaver of Grand Rapids, Beverly Felling, Marlene Wynsma, Nancy Betty and Eddie Bokart, Connie Heckman, Jimmy and Elgie Lou Holmes, Gusie Smith, Tommy, Mary and Raymond Browe, Larry Hutchinson, Jerry and Jimmy Knoblet of Cass City.

ing, Sue Moorhead, John Hichew, Mike McDonnell, Peter Huston, Robert Schuock, William Schelman.

Canpus-Bound Students Prepare For Approaching Busy Academic Year

Campus-bound students, numbering more than 75, are busy with last minute details of packing before leaving to enroll as freshmen or to return to studies at one of two dozen colleges and universities.

Included in the number of campus-bound students are several ex-servicemen who will be resuming their studies after serving in the armed forces.

Among the first to leave will be members of the 1955 graduating class of the Charlevoix high school who will enroll as freshmen in a variety of schools. gan at Ann Arbor; Betty Berg and Roberta Swanson who will attend Western Michigan college at Kalamazoo and John Connolly and Tom Erber, who will enroll at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

Earlier Lynn Hair went to Grand Rapids to take a course as x-ray technician at Blodgett Hospital.

Several members of the class of '55 have enlisted or are planning to enlist in the armed forces. Ray Kolker enlisted in the Navy in June; David Juillerett enlisted and left last week for boot training at Great Lakes, Ill.; Dwayne Walker and Tom LaBlanc are planning to enter the army later this fall.

Pleasant; Fern Welsheimer, who plans to enroll at Tri-State college in Angola, Ind. and Charles Rose, who will attend Michigan State Normal college in Ypsilanti. All are Army veterans.

Michigan State students who are returning will include Virginia Smith who will have practice teaching in Battle Creek this fall, Mrs. Roger (Dorie Nielsen) Phend who spent the summer here, Milford Saunders, Amy Kipke, Janet Krulik, Carol Cross, Don Vratana, Robert Vratana, Richard Donaldson, Robert Miles, Larry Burns, Larry Petersen, George Haggard and William Wallace, who attended the summer session this year.

James Smith, a '54 graduate, will enroll as a freshman at Western Michigan in Kalamazoo where Dorothy Allers will return for her last year and Karen Smith will enroll as a second year student.

William Golden will return to his studies at Ferris Institute as will Barbara Poquette, who attended the summer term there and who is now spending three weeks at home before resuming her studies.

Howard Pearl, James Lewis and Tom Fessenden, who have been attending Soo Tech, a branch of Michigan College of Mining and Technology, will transfer to the main college at Houghton this fall to continue their studies.

Cadillac

No Doubt In His Mind This Time!

This happy gentleman has just taken title to his seventh motor car.

And while he would probably have difficulty recalling all the different makes and models he has purchased through the years, there is one thing he knows with absolute certainty: He never felt like this before when he took the keys and made for the open road.

For this is his first Cadillac! And what a glorious feeling it is to know he has chosen the "car of cars"!

Gone are the doubt . . . and the worry . . . and the wonder. This time he knows he's right!

And how quickly the evidence will assemble in support of his sentiment!

First of all, there will be the eloquent testimony of the car itself—its magnificent performance . . . its marvelous comfort and ride . . . and its incredible ease of steering and handling.

And then, as he travels the boulevard, there will be those quick glances of approval from his fellow motorists to tell him that he is not alone in his judgment.

And, finally, there will be that assembly of family and friends that awaits him at journey's end . . . offering final confirmation of the wisdom of his choice.

Of course, the man who takes title to a new Cadillac today enjoys the double satisfaction of having made the wisest possible choice at the wisest possible time.

Because of Cadillac's increased year-end production, for instance, he will find that he can have surprisingly prompt delivery on his new Cadillac.

And, as if this were not sufficient in itself, we are also in a position—because of our low inventory of used cars—to offer him a most generous allowance on his present automobile.

Why not come in soon—and spend an hour at the wheel—and let us acquaint you more fully with this unique opportunity?

EDUCATORS are reaching the showdown stage in their split over how to meet doubled college enrollments by 1970.

The latest developments have widened the gap between public and private schools and the opposing theories of a college education for all and training only for those who can use it.

It all started in Michigan months ago when the Association of College Presidents told Gov. Williams they would need $150 million to expand to meet the rush to the campuses.

Private and some church-concrete colleges entered the scene at this point.

Vander Werp (R-D-1) on the budgets of the state reported education and developed a smaller col-

HE FORMED a legislative committee of 10 to work with five private colleges to iron out the details.

The plan is to build up the small schools as preliminary educational steps toward the four-year specialized institutions, like Michigan State University and the University of Michigan.

It can save up to $100 million, he estimated, if we do it this way," he said.

Private colleges reacted to the proposal of the public institution presidents in varied ways.

Reduced from academic language, their comments charge that public institutions are recruiting students away from private schools and then seeking the taxpayer to finance more facilities.

Duplication of courses was another point. Three public colleges have forestry curricula, for instance.

The latest champion of the private school view was Dr. Simon Leland, dean of liberal arts at Northwestern University.

HE CHARGED that public-supported institutions have "grossly over estimated" their needs and were urging higher education upon young people whose aptitudes were inadequate to handle it.

Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University, and a champion of the theory of education-for-all, said:

"It was the most completely irresponsible speech I ever heard uttered by a college man."

More conservative but still of mind with Hannah, Dr. Harlan H. Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, said:

"I can think of a lot of expletives."

FR. CELESTIN J. Steiner, president of the University of Detroit, called Leland's speech "a clear, factual and marvelous exposition which should help clear up in the public mind a lot of misconceptions."

Fr. Steiner is a leader of the private-college group which, with some notable exceptions, would like to see the Vander Werp plan go into effect.

He said his university is not on the hunt for state money, but "we wouldn't refuse it if it came."

Vander Werp plans a series of meetings with his committee in the fall to prepare something definite to lay before the 1956 legislature.

We hope to resolve these disputes and give Michigan a realistic and economical answer to our problems of higher education," he said.

POLITICAL SEERS place significance in the company Gov. Williams kept at the governor's conference in Chicago.

They expect Williams to make his move toward the national Democratic political scene soon, and his every maneuver is tested for signs and portents.

The four-term Democratic governor took U. S. Gov. Philip A. Hart and Rep. Ed Carey (D-Detroit) to the conference—possibly for the experience.

Hart is being groomed as the heir-apparent if and when Williams ever leaves the executive office. Carey, a former CIO official, is the Democratic wheelhorse in the House.

If Williams moves out, Hart and Carey will be very much in the news as leaders of the party

World in Review

A CHARGE by Chancellor Adenauer this week that Russian troops committed atrocities in Germany in World War II touched off a bitter clash among West German and Soviet leaders and deadlocked their Moscow negotiations.

FRANCE has announced plans to give Morocco partial independence under a new pact aimed at restoring peace to the troubled North African protectorate.

THE INTERNATIONAL Longshoremen's Association has ordered its 30,000 striking dockworkers back to work after getting a promise of a legislative investigation of conditions on the New York waterfront.

A NATIONWIDE survey shows that Michigan has two of the nation's four richest philanthropic foundations. Topping the list is the Ford Foundation. The W. K. Kellogg Foundation ranks fourth.

WEST GERMANY agreed this week to set up diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union, with hopes for early release of Germans still held prisoner by the Soviets.

THE AGRICULTURAL department has reported a net farm income decline of slightly more than 4 per cent during the first half of the year. A further decline during the year's third quarter was forecast.

THE INTERNATIONAL Longshoremen's Association has seized on a face-saving means of ending their spreading week-old waterfront strike. The proposal calls for an end to the million dollar a day tactic, after which a citizens' committee would probe the bi-state waterfront policing commission which is the target of the ILA strike.

Rayder Lettermen Return To Football

Five Class C Teams To Open 1955 Gridiron Schedule This Week

Attention will be focused on the gridiron this weekend as five of the eight teams in the Northern Michigan Class C league open their 1955 football season against non-league rivals.

In games scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday, Mancelona will invade Lake City. Gaylord will entertain East Tawas and Charlevoix will travel to Rogers City to meet the Class B Hurons. On Saturday East Jordan will cross the Straits of Mackinac to meet a strong St. Ignace eleven which lost to Class B Soo College of the Canadian Soo 13-6 last week. The game will be played at 3 p.m. while at 8 p.m. Harbor Springs will host Potoski St. Francis.

The other teams in the conference, Boyne City, Grayling and Pellston, will not play until Sept. 23 when they meet league opponents.

After less than three weeks of practice coaches are faced with the difficult task of naming starting line-up which will be composed of a mix of a few scattered veterans and lettermen and many inexperienced players up from the reserves who will be playing in varsity competition for the first time.

At Charlevoix, for instance, the Rayders will be fielding one of

Install Radar Equipment On 'Emerald Isle'

Radar equipment was installed aboard the motorship, Emerald Isle, of the Beaver Island Boat Co. last week. It has been announced.

The equipment was installed at the cost of approximately $5,000 by the Raytheon Manufacturing Co. of Cleveland and is now in use.

The installation was basically a safety measure, Karl J. Erber, a director of the company, said this week. It will mean that service will not be disrupted because of fog or other adverse weather conditions and that night runs can be made if necessary. With the new equipment the crew will not have to depend on land marks, which has been necessary in the past because of inaccuracies in the compass because of the steel hull and cars being transported.

In addition, he said, there was always the hazard of the shipping channels in Lake Michigan being blocked by Great Lakes steamers which the ferry crosses enroute to Beaver Island. When the visibility was poor due to fog, rain or snow, there was always the danger of being in the path of or running a freighter. With the radar equipment in use, this hazard and many other smaller ones are eliminated.

Karl J. Erber Is New President Of Area Road Group

Karl J. Erber, chairman of the Charlevoix county road commission, was elected president of the Northern Michigan Road Commission's annual fall meeting held last week at the Park Place Hotel in Traverse City.

Named to serve with him were W. D. Munn of Isosco county, vice president; John Frederick of Alcona county, secretary; N. E. Wicks of Lake county, treasurer; and Ben Jeffers of Missaukee county, executive secretary.

Among those attending the meeting were T. B. Reynolds, engineer - superintendent, Sam Rogers and Claude Persall, commissioners and Ralph S. Hamilton, clerk of the Charlevoix county road commission.

Rename County School Under New State Code

The renaming and numbering of all school districts except primary districts as provided by the new school code which became effective July 1, were among the items of business transacted by the Charlevoix county board of education at its regular quarterly meeting held Wednesday, Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools, reports.

Under the new set-up, the Charlevoix Rural Agricultural School becomes Fourth class district No. 2, Charlevoix - Antrim county, Charlevoix.

Other districts and their new official names and addresses follow: Boyne City Rural Agricultural School to Fourth Class District No. 1, Charlevoix - Antrim county, Boyne City; East Jordan Rural Agricultural School to Fourth Class District No. 3, Charlevoix - Antrim county, East Jordan; Boyne Valley Rural Agricultural School to Fourth Class district No. 10, Charlevoix - Antrim county, Boyne Falls; Melrose township unit, Fourth class district No. 5, Charlevoix county, Walloon Lake; St. James township unit, Fourth class district No. 6, Charlevoix county, St. James; Chandler township unit, Fourth class district No. 7, Charlevoix county RR, Boyne Falls; Posey township unit, Fourth class district No. 8, Charlevoix county, St. James.

The Bay Shore school district boundary was altered to include several properties that formerly were included in the resort township unit, Emmet county.

The board also voted to continue its policy of providing subscriptions to the Humane Society's publication, "Animals", for all rural schools in the county.

Plans were made for the biennial school officers meeting to be held at Boyne City Oct. 26. Because the renaming of the several schools and the transfer of property affected other counties, a joint session with members of the affected counties was recommended.

Your Community Chest Agencies

The Community Chest agencies to be discussed this week include the Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children, a new agency, the Salvation Army and City Recreation.

The Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children, headed by Robert Cook, is a new organization in the community as well as to the Community Chest program. It was organized in Aug. 1954 and in October opened the Retarded Children's Center in the former Washington school for the retarded children of the Charlevoix area. The children, five in all, attended half-day classes from mid-October until the end of the school year.

The school was supported by a tuition fee paid by the parents of the five children who attended, the sale of memberships and contributions from other local groups. One fundraising project was sponsored during the school year.

The Charlevoix board of education furnishes a school room and finances the cost of utilities. The Association has had to finance the cost of a teacher and supplies for the classroom which last year included, among other things, tables and chairs for use

Services Held For Mrs. George Scott, Former Resident

Funeral services were held in Detroit Monday for Mrs. George Scott, 60, a native of Charlevoix who died at her Detroit home Friday. Burial was in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Born in Hayes township, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ostrum, Gertrude Ostrum was married to George Scott, in 1918 they went to Detroit to make their home.

Besides her husband she is survived by six sons and one sister. Mr. and Mrs. Pete Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott, Mrs. Charles Ivers and Lee Scott of Eastport were in Detroit to attend the services. They returned home Tuesday.

School Enrollment Reaches A Record High For Opening Day

The first-day enrollment in the Charlevoix public schools reached a new high Tuesday when a total of 869 students in the kindergarten through the twelfth grade registered for classes, Supt. R. G. Bennett reported.

The 1955 figure of 869 tops the 1954 enrollment figure by 25, Mr. Bennett said. Within two weeks the enrollment is expected to increase, thus bringing the total up to the official membership figure reached last year on the fourth Friday of September. Last year there were 877 students enrolled on this date.

Grade	1955	1954
12th	56	53
11th	66	63
10th	62	78
9th	73	64

Red Wing Hockey Star On Kiwanis Club Program

Gordie Howe, star forward on the Detroit Red Wings Hockey team, and Fred Huber, publicity director of the Detroit hockey club, will make a personal appearance before the Charlevoix Kiwanis club at 8:30 p.m. Monday, Charles J. Pontius, president of the club has announced.

Gordie Howe

The dinner meeting will be held at the V.F.W. post home and will be open to the public. A limited number of tickets will be available and may be obtained from Fred W. Willis, ticket chairman.

Howe, who this year became the third highest goal scorer in National Hockey League history, holds all team scoring records for the Red Wings. Now 27, he began in the National Hockey League at 18, the youngest player ever to enter the league. He is also the only player ever to lead the league three straight years in scoring.

Mr. Huber has served as publicity director for the Red Wings for the past 14 years. Noted as a keen analyst of the sport, he is vice president of the Amateur Hockey Association of the U.S. and spends considerable time in the interests of amateur hockey. Famed for his phenomenal memory for detail and incidents of past hockey games, he is also a regular member of the press box coaches club on Stroh telecasts.

The program will include film highlights of the 1955 Detroit Red Wings Stanley Cup playoff games, plus interesting sidelights of hockey by each of the two personalities present. A round-table discussion, which should be very interesting, will be held following the presentation.

Appearance of the two at Charlevoix is part of a state-wide tour designed to enlighten sports enthusiasts concerning the world's fastest game.

Il. B. Schofield is chairman in charge of the arrangements for the special sports program.

The enrollment in St. Mary's parochial school also showed an increase of 12 students in the second through the eighth grades. A total of 85 students are enrolled for the seven grades listed as compared to 73 last year. The youngsters in the first grade were not registered at St. Mary's this year but enrolled directly into the first grade in the public school. This was necessitated by the fact that classes are being held in the American post home until the new school is ready and space for new students was at a premium. The first graders will remain in the public school for the entire school term.

7th	15	8
6th	10	15
5th	10	8
4th	9	10

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

Hope someone knows a good safe route to Rogers City for most of Charlevoix's football fans will be heading that way come Friday to watch the Raydons in their opening game. . . Like everyone else we're waiting to see what the team looks like. . . In case you've forgotten, that happens every year at this time. . . One thing's for sure, that line's going to have to make up in scrappiness what it lacks in weight. . . cause no matter what anyone tries to tell us, this will be just about the lightest team we've fielded in one long time. . . But the kids will do OK. . . they always do. . . Don't know why I bother worrying about them except they're a right nice bunch of youngsters. . . Never said so many good-byes to so many people in our life as we have the past week, we swear. . . But it happens every year at this time. . . Old friends and new ones who, we hope, will become Hello!

Seems ages since this column appeared regularly in a few Northern Locals. This entry started with the opening of our Cheboygan Unit of Fay's Dress Shoppes five years ago and for quite a time it kept getting more and more wide spread in the northern area. Fact is, I was real happy and proud of times when I heard of its being read and enjoyed (so they said) both in and out of State.

Many changes, of course, took place in this small span of time. Just as nylon changed to Orlon, Acrilan and other numerous names for miracle synthetic blends - so did Fay's grow and improve. With the inevitable result that the writer became snored under! Along with that fact - my good customer friends were quite emphatic when they said, "Please have a new picture taken!" And that, and simply that, I could not take the time to do. Until now - and the results are obvious. Or shall we blame the printer?

What is this column? A little of this and that, really. Fashion news a few here and there plus a little - yes, a little advertising. It will be in effort readable notes on what I read and see as we try to make Fay's Dress Shoppe a greater and better Fashion Service Center for each Local.

"Fabulous" is a word much overworked today, I know, but don't sell it short in the descriptive sense of "Fabulous Fabric" in the new Playtex Girdle. It is truly all it says in the accompanying ad - Wonderful control in a "freedom" material that will wear and wear for it is "split-resistant" to the point of "no split" - p-riod. If you are already a Playtex user you will be glad to hear of this new advantage. If you haven't yet tried a Playtex - certainly now is the time to avail yourself of this terrific "living control" in new Fabricon at a new low price.

Beverly Danforth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee C. Danforth of East Jordan, became the bride of Herbert Lawrence Boss, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Boss, at a ceremony solemnized at the First Methodist church Saturday evening.

The Rev. Lloyd M. Schloep officiated at the double ring service in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends. Baskets of white gladioli flanked the pulpit and low arrangements of yellow gladioli and zinnias and lighted tapers in candelabra decorated the altar for the occasion.

Mrs. Charles Pontius sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. A. C. Belding who also played the wedding marches and a program of traditional music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white tulle with a full skirt which ended in a chapel length train. A satin band trimmed with seedpearls and iridescent sequins secured her fingertip veil of bridal illusion and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with sweetheart roses.

Sallee Keiser of Grand Rapids, as her only attendant, wore a ballerina length gown of pale green tulle with a scoop neckline, short sleeves and a bouffant skirt. She wore a matching green headdress and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

The Sense of Things Beyond

One fascination found in tramping through woods and fields lies in the surprise always awaiting the wanderer just a step beyond. The world looks unexciting and commonplace. Then the unexpected happens, and a uneventful day becomes memorable. Not long ago two friends of ours, Os and Izzy, tramped with our little family along a narrow, shadowy forest path on Wildwood, their Northern resort acreage. We had precious little time together, so our walking was to the tune of loud chatter as we caught up on the latest news of mutual friends and made plans for the future. The excited and clamorous talk, the pounding of ten feet upon the forest path and the cracking of brush as we swept clutching limbs from before our faces forewarned all denizens of the woods of our coming. Because of our noisiness, we expected to see nothing but trees and shrubs, ferns and mushrooms, and other things rooted to the earth and unable to escape us. The forest appeared utterly empty of flying or running creatures. Then past our heads, so close we had to dodge its pounding wings, there rocketed a ruffed grouse. We could almost smell his feathered dust and see the flickering sparkle of excitement in his eyes. As we watched him wing his twisting, turning way down the cramped forest aisles, we wondered aloud at his waiting there, beyond us, until we almost stepped upon him. It was as if he MEANT to surprise us by fairly exploding in our faces.

The brook bank looks deserted of life. But another step sends a leopard frog catapulting over the grasses into the amber waters. The brook itself often appears to be empty of all else but water, stones, and vegetation. Then a mighty swirl stirs up the silt beneath a log and a trim, jewel-marked brook trout dashes upstream to its den beneath the cedar roots. I've glanced up a trail when all was still and have seen a mink staring back at me. A few days ago I stepped out from behind a large poplar tree near our cabin, intending only to take a look at the meadow, and saw a huge doe strolling along within but a few yards of where I stood. She was walking upwind of me, unhurried and enjoying the late afternoon sunshine. I've knocked off my hat on a low hanging apple tree limb and reached to get it, only to have the action interrupted by the piercing stare of a raccoon who has halted his digging for grubs under decaying brush to give me an irritated "once-over." Always, lumbus to the deck of his ship because they have sailed too long without sight of land and are sure the voyage is hopeless. They are the waiters who early begin to mourn the loss of a Revolutionary War and beg Washington to surrender at Boston. They are the disciples who see their Lord crucified and with a shrug of the shoulders say, "Let's go back to our fishing!" They have no sense of the good that might be just beyond — a new continent, or a victory, or a resurrection.

Faith is that hopeful spirit that looks upon the world, upon human nature, and even upon trouble with a spirit of anticipation akin to the expectancy with which one starts a tramp down a woodland trail. "I wonder what surprise lies just ahead, we say to ourselves. 'I wonder what great good will come out of this.' From the time we first look upon our newborn child to the day we tenderly lay a loved one away in final rest, much of the wonder and glory of life abides in an awareness that "This is not all. There is more ahead."

Five Class C Teams Open 1955 Schedule

join with Talcott and Kruskie to complete the starting roster. Larson and Ed Mathew, a halfback, will do the team's kicking.
Coach Gayle Saxton will send one of the lightest and most experienced lemons in recent years against St. Ignace Saturday. Regular Dick Olson will be at center with other returning veterans, Ralph Wycoff and Gerry Sweet, playing right tackle and right guard respectively. Others in the line will be Jim Yetlaw and Ray Walker, ends; letterman Frank Russell, left guard and Rod Steenberg, left tackle. Alva Noirt, an end, Jerome Chanda, tackle and Joe Picota, guard, the latter both freshmen, also may play.
In the backfield with letterman Larry Woodcock, quarterback, will be Allen Ingalls and Gareth Thompson in the halfback berths and Dick Streeter at fullback. Woodcock weighs 155 pounds and the others between 130 and 140 pounds. Russell will do the kicking.

Gaylord's line this year will average about 173 pounds, or one of the heaviest in the league. End Gil Middleditch who weighs 145 will be the only light weight in an otherwise big line which will include Harry Wolf or Jim Jenkins, right end; letterman Larry Fahler, Greg Styles or Jerry Petraska, tackles; veteran Herb VanGilder and Dick Tibbett's guards; Terry Gochs or Terry Couch, center. Couch will also do the kicking of extra points.

Mike McKillop has been shifted from end to the signal calling spot in the backfield where veteran Jim Glasser, an excellent runner, will play halfback along with John Bresnahan or Larry Warner

'North Shore' Goes Aground, Released

The motorship, North Shore, now being used as a small coastal freighter, was pulled off a sandbar in the harbor at Northport late Friday afternoon after going aground about 3:30 a.m. Friday while trying to dock with a load of lumber aboard.

The 40 ft. patrol boat was dispatched at 8:15 a.m. after the Charlevoix lifeboat station received a call for assistance. After working all day, the Coast Guard succeeded in hauling the stranded vessel off the bar and towing it to the dock. The hull of the wooden boat received some damage which necessitated the installation of a pump to remove the water. The operation was hampered by high winds.

The motorship, formerly owned by the Beaver Island Transit Co., was sold recently to N. R. Duffney of Cheboygan and at the time of the accident was hauling lumber from South Fox island to Northport.

Aboard the U.S.C.G. patrol boat were Robert E. Ashley BM1C, Leonard Krupa BM2, Jack Hearnby Sn., Alfred Garfinkle En3, James Alger BM2 and Edward Draper Sn.

-- WARNING --

You Can Be A Sucker!

Answer this question in your own mind and you be the judge. "Am I qualified to figure the cost of a roofing, siding, or painting job?"

We think you'll agree that few people have had experience enough to give a very accurate figure. That's why we warn you to be on your guard when traveling outfits periodically campaign your town. Too often you learn too late that the price you have paid was way out of reason.

Protect Yourself

Just ask the representative of the traveling outfit to put his price for the job in writing so you can get a comparison with local dealer costs. There is no obligation on your part when you ask us for prices and we welcome every opportunity to expose those who would take advantage of your inexperience in estimating costs. We don't expect you to pay us more for a dependable job and we are mighty happy when we can save you money and not have to worry about meeting you on the street a few months later.

McDonough-Sanderson Vows Are Spoken In Double Ring Ceremony

Bouquets of white gladioli and yellow lilies decorated the altar of Holy Cross church at St. James as the wedding of Charlotte Ann McDonough and Richard E. Sanderson of Ware, Mass., Saturday morning.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William C. McDonough, Mrs. Frank Stead of Gilbertville, Mass., and Guy A. Sanderson of Belchertown, Mass., are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Joseph Herp O.F.M. officiated at the double ring service and the nuptial Mass. Eileen Gallagher was the organist and Barbara Sanderson of Ware, Mass., the soloist.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, W. Glenn McDonough, the bride chose a traditional gown of white lace and satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a skirt which ended in a chapel length train. The gown was made in Athens, Greece by Mazi. Her veil of bridal tulle fell from a crown headpiece and she carried a bridal bouquet of white roses. Mrs. Thaddeus Dana of Doughton, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of gold velvet and taffeta and a matching headpiece and carried a bouquet of bronze mimus.

Clement Skarupka of Wallington, N.J., was best man and usher were Bruce McDonough of St. James and Pat Monachino of Ilwaco, N.Y.

Mrs. McDonough selected a slate blue dress and black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Stead, mother of the bridegroom, wore a mauve lace dress and navy accessories. Each had a corsage of white gladioli and red roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at Beaver Lodge. An afternoon reception at the King Straub hotel was followed by a dance at Holy Cross parish hall.

The couple left on a two weeks' wedding trip to Bermuda. For traveling the bride chose a brown dress and avocado green accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson will make their home in Washington, D.C.

Among those from away who attended the wedding were Melya Bates of Barre, Mass., Barbara Sanderson and Bobby Sanderson of Ware, Mass., John Christopher and John Muter of Wallington, N.J., Mr. and Mrs. Pat Monachino of Ilwaco, N.Y., Susan Monachino of Elba, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Red Dana and Gretchen Barkley of Detroit.

Naval Reserves Set Up Firing Range In Area

Naval reserve training ships will conduct surface and anti-aircraft firing during daylight under visual firing conditions Sept. 14 and 15 and Sept. 28 and 29 in an area extending southwesterly from the Fox Island and west of the Manitou, according to a press release by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Provision for patrolling the area and safeguarding personnel and material in the area will be the responsibility of the squadron commander and the commanding officers conducting the practice, and no restrictions will be established relative to the movement of commerce or privately owned vessels in the area, the report states.

In order to facilitate training operations, navigation and fishing operators are requested to cooperate with the training program and to navigate with extreme caution when approaching or entering the danger area. The firing area is approximately 15 miles wide and 45 miles long. The eastern boundary line of the firing area begins about two miles south of Little Fox Island and extends southwesterly across the northwest tip of North Manitou Island.

Release 150 Turkeys In Lake County Area

LANSING — The state Conservation Department will release 150 wild turkeys in two forest areas near Baldwin this week as an extension of the current program aimed at re-establishing the big birds in Michigan.

The wild youngsters, now 15 weeks old, were hatched and raised at the Department's game farm near Mason. Seventy-five will be released in each of the two plantings.

Last year, 200 were set out in Allegan state forest and thus far seem to be faring rather well. A number of broods of young were seen there this year.

Once a year the Nile overflows its banks, spreading over its flood plain a thin layer of alluvial soil, mostly transported from Ethiopia, at the rate of 4 inches every century. Egyptian farmers, therefore, now stand 7 feet higher than in Cleopatra's time and 26 to 30 feet above the level in the days when the pyramids were built.

U. S. Senator Charles Potter Gives Report

In his report on Washington presented at a dinner meeting of the Charlevoix Kiwanis club Wednesday evening at the Argonne, Michigan's Senior Senator Charles E. Potter of Cheboygan, said that he was optimistic about the future of northern Michigan and that he felt that the construction of the Straits bridge and the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway would do much to bolster the economy of this area as well as the upper peninsula.

"I feel that in addition to the tourists the Straits bridge will attract, both the bridge and the seaway will bring new industry to an area that has been isolated from industrial centers in the past because of transportation costs," he added.

"The road program now being considered by the Administration also may help the area," he said. "The road situation throughout the country is bad," he continued. However, he said he was sure a road building program would be adopted at the next session of Congress and that it would probably be a compromise of the one suggested by the Administration and the others presented during the recent session of Congress.

In discussing the country's economy, he said that for the past two years it had been based on peace and not on war as it had been for so many years before 1953.

In reporting on the Geneva conference he said that this had been one time that this country had gone to a conference, made no concessions and signed no secret treaties.

More than 135 Kiwanis members and their guests heard Senator Potter, Herbert B. Schofield, chairman of the program committee, introduced Senator Potter.

City Council Purchases New Unit For Radio

The Charlevoix city council at its regular meeting Monday night approved the purchase of a Motorola remote control console and microphone from the county for $200.00. The monitoring unit will be installed in the city hall.

The council also gave approval to a contract with Hal Forbrig of the Lake Construction Co. for the laying of 10 six-inch sewer laterals to the curb line on Oak st. at the cost of $300.00. He also is to open the ditch for the laying of water lines on the street.

A six-months leave of absence was granted to Bruce Henley of the light department at his request. The leave becomes effective Oct. 1.

The city clerk was asked to advise a local apartment owner that his check for $157.19 would not be accepted as full payment of his water and sewage bill to date and that if payment in the amount of $192.97 has not been received by Sept. 21 that services would be discontinued as per notice mailed on or about Sept. 6. The property owner contends that the bill from January until the present time is out of line and has offered his check for $157.19 in full payment of the account. The city contends that the bill of $192.97 is correct and has ordered service discontinued if the bill is not paid.

A permit to build an addition to a dwelling in a restricted zone was given William Marne when he presented plans and a release from adjoining property owners. The plans call for an addition which would extend to within five feet of the lot line.

Bills totaling $14,066.46 were approved.

Your Community Chest Agencies

This is the fourth in a series of articles on Community Chest agencies which are designed to acquaint the public with those organizations which are supported by your contributions to the Community Chest whose 1955 fund drive is scheduled to begin Oct. 10.

The agency to be discussed this week is a newcomer to the Community Chest fund drive in Charlevoix county, the American Red Cross, which is joining the united drive for the first time following a change in policy by the national organization.

Because the fiscal year of the Charlevoix county chapter begins on July 1 and the Community Chest year begins Jan. 1, only 50 per cent of the chapter's anticipated quota will be raised in this year's fund drive.

The amount the Charlevoix county chapter is asking the Community Chest to raise is $488. The figure is based on last year's quota which was Charlevoix's share of the quota set for the county, $3,271.

Peter H. Timmer, Charlevoix county Red Cross chairman, in a report made at a recent meeting of the Community Chest board, said that the chapter operated during the past fiscal year on a budget of $2,475 which included $585.35 in loans to servicemen which will eventually be returned in small monthly payments.

Services offered to the people of the county include assistance in time of disaster. Last year families who lost their possessions in fire were given grants of $273.37; the training of lifeguards at the Aquatic school operated by the National Red Cross. Last year the chapter financed the training of three lifeguards who returned to the county to work on beaches at the cost of $135.00; the training of nurses to teach home nursing to the residents of the county. Last year the chapter sent two registered nurses to the training school at the cost of $120.00. These nurses will teach classes in home nursing in the county during the year. The chapter handles all records of Water Safety training and finances supplies for qualified instructors. Last year $213.36 was spent on this service; Christmas on the high-seas program sponsored by the Red Cross on a nation-wide basis allows chapters to contribute to a fund which provides Christmas parcels for servicemen enroute to overseas assignments at holiday time. Last year the Charlevoix county chapter contributed $15.00 to this program.

The major work of the chapter is devoted to aiding servicemen, their families and veterans and their families. In addition, assistance is often given to individuals who are not included in these categories. Last year assistance was given to 196 servicemen and their families, 34 veterans and 85 civilians.

Only paid employee of the chapter is the executive secretary who receives a salary of $63.50 a month plus $6.50 for mileage. She operates the chapter office in Boyne City and is prepared to accept calls and telegrams 24 hours a day every day, make investigations and assist servicemen, their families and veterans in solving their problems.

All other chapter workers in the county are volunteers who receive no compensation for their work.

At the meeting the Guild also voted to purchase three laundry carts to replace the home-made carts now in use.

The stamp machine placed in the lobby by the Guild is also serving its purpose, Miss Milner, chairman of this committee said.

Mrs. Don Gilbert of the sewing committee distributed T-binders to be made for the hospital. She also said that material had been ordered for layettes which the Guild plans to sew for the hospital.

Mrs. L. E. Grate reported that contributions had been made to the Guild in memory of Samuel Freedman by Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Krohn and Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman; in memory of Mrs. Irving Bettman by Mrs. Edgar Mock; in memory of H. B. Rothenberger by Mrs. Samuel Freedman; in honor of Mrs. Samuel Charles Rice by Mrs. Alvin D. Goldman by Dr. and Mrs. G. B. Saltonstall.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

IF THE weather we had over the weekend was a sample of Injun summer then autumn can go on 'til two days before Christmas. But with fall scheduled to begin today, we can look for some stormy weather of the equinox variety which can mean just about anything in the way of nasty weather. Sure hope the order for a nice fall to follow the anticipated storms was received in the right quarters. If you

Time To Count!

Whoever hath a good presence and a good fashion, carries continual letters of recommendation.

—Bacon, Isabella of Spain

Answer very frankly. Do you want for an occasion before buying your clothes? Do you usually buy a dress for a dinner, a date, or an interview, just before the dinner, date or interview? If you do, the chances are you are not getting the most "appearance value" for your money.

Looking your best consistently demands an overall schedule. Two or three times a year you decide what you need to buy and what you can afford to buy. You shop wisely without a deadline. There will still be occasions, of course, when you dash out to buy a hat, an accessory, or an extra dress or suit, but basically your wardrobe should be a planned thing — appearance wise and budget wise.

To know that you are not over-dressed you must be able to subtract and eliminate. "According to a fashion principle written for Lady's Book, January, 1849, a famous Parisian couturier pronounced that no lady should own a street costume which was comprised of more than fourteen eye arresting elements." This means that you should be able to count no more than fourteen of everything which is visible to the eye. You try it — and compare the count with what I point out next week.

This, however, wouldn't affect undergarments — not visible to the eye. And to the well-dressed woman these most intimate items are of major importance in shaping our outside efforts. Last week I urged you to investigate the new Playtex Girdle — terrific in comfort and control. I'd like now to refer you to the Playtex Living Bra. It is a nylon and elastic combination that won't shift, ride or slide — ever! The reason is the bias cut elastic side panels that self-adjust to your every motion, no matter how active you are. And believe me, it works!

To Fay's regular stock of Playtex Living Bra, sizes 32A-40C, has been added the D-lightful, D-lovely, D-version, much-called for, D cup.

And that isn't all the good news. We have it also, in BLACK.

have a good memory these last few days are reminiscent of the fall of '53... when we went to the night football games in a light jacket and not in red flannels.

AS FOR football, we'll all have a chance to see our Rayders in action against Harbor this weekend. After all, Rogers City is some 102 miles from here. But back to the game... after getting the kinks out of the workings, plugging a few gaps and correcting a few errors those kids of ours should do alright. Sure, they lost last week and everyone got a taste of defeat. Since no one likes it everyone will be in there, players and fans alike plugging a bit harder for a win. For our money the team looks OK... they're not the polished team we can expect later in the season but they'll come along... and will do a fine job of defending the title they now hold. If they'll listen to Coach Carey and remember to take one game at a time and not look past the so-called 'cassies' to the anticipated 'toughies' they'll defend it successfully. Wait and see.

KNITTERS, especially beginners have a habit of making everything either too big or too small. If you're one of those unfortunate people who have received a sweater, knit out of heavy yarn, that came to your knees and looked like a bag... chum, you're in style. Took a look at a knitting book we noticed on the newsstand and we were amazed at the latest in hand knits and if you doubt us, take a look-see... so help us, it's true.

IN THE mid-September issue of the publication, Power, published in New York will be found a mention of Charlevoix and its modernization program at the municipal light plant. It was written by R. R. Robinson, former city superintendent who is now in Winston, N.C., as city manager. In a letter from the editor, L. N. Rowley, Mr. R. was told that while his entry in the modernization citation program did not survive the final elimination, it was considered worthy of special mention. In the current issue of the trade magazine, a "round-up" of ideas gleaned from the entries will be published. Included in this will be mention of the revisions made in the Charlevoix plant... as listed in Mr. R.'s entry. Hope we get a chance to see the story.

AND SPEAKING of Mr. Robinson, he asked us, before he left, to know that you are not over-dressed you must be able to subtract and eliminate. "According to a fashion principle written for Lady's Book, January, 1849, a famous Parisian couturier pronounced that no lady should own a street costume which was comprised of more than fourteen eye arresting elements." This means that you should be able to count no more than fourteen of everything which is visible to the eye. You try it — and compare the count with what I point out next week.

Charlevoix for the south, to say good-bye to all the good friends he made here... and to thank them for all the kindnesses shown both him and Mrs. R. during their stay here... We know that, had he had the time, he could have said this ever so much better but since he didn't, we hope you'll accept our humble 'thank you' being said for him... We know that everyone's good wishes go with him to the sunny south...

A COUPLE of weeks ago we mentioned a picture entered in the Detroit Free Press photo contest by someone from St. Ignace... We should have known without being told who it was but we didn't think... By now you've probably guessed that it was Mrs. Marion Tyler Broussard, the daughter of the Fred Tylers... who's a pretty fine photographer, we understand... Hope she comes up with the grand prize...

WE UNDERSTAND that a former resident has gone into television... Someone (can't remember at the moment who it was) happened to get Grand Rapids one day last week and was more than a little surprised to see Ron Fairbanks, who now has a bakery in Grand Rapids, explaining the details of baking something or other... She was so surprised she couldn't remember what it was about... Seems he's on regularly, for the announcer told when he'd be back with a recipe for apple crisps...

IMAGINE having property... 80 acres of it... in the heart of oil country in McClain county in Oklahoma... and going to see it for the first time this week... That's what's happening to Mrs. Floyd Genia this week... Seems she and her sisters inherited the property from their father and now she's going to Oklahoma to see it and find out what it's all about... She was as excited as could be when we talked with her Sunday... And we can't say as we can blame her... Gee, maybe she'll have a gusher come in or something... Wouldn't it be exciting?

THE MINISTERS are planning what we think is something mighty fine for the youth of our community... Rev. Lloyd Schlopp told us the other day that plans were a-foot to make Thursday 'Church night' for teen-agers... Seems that's choir practice night in many churches so efforts are being made to plan activities which will attract more than the few who sing in the various choirs around the community... We think you'll agree that it's a grand idea... Your support is being solicited in not scheduling conflicting activities... We're sure everyone will give it his whole-hearted support and help in every way you can...

THOSE people from Charlevoix sure get around... Last week a card from Naples, Italy, brought the news that Edwin J. Madill, now with the State Department was in Europe on a mission... only a few days after leaving Charlevoix... A couple of days later brought the news that he was to have an audience with Pope Pius XII at the Vatican Sept. 13... What an experience is all we can add...

AND IF you live on the North side like we do and are having difficulties with your milk delivery orders it's because our faithful milkman, Sonny Belfy, and his wife are on vacation... A card from the Copper country

Charlevoix IN UNIFORM

Pvt. Thomas H. Dixon will be among the 135,000 men who will participate in Exercise Sage Thrush with the Third Infantry Division now stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

The six-weeks maneuver will be held in Louisiana. Exercise Sage Thrush is a joint Army - Air Force test exercise which will be marked by extensive use of simulated atomic weapons. The maneuver will include all types of air and ground operations.

Pvt. Dixon, who entered the army last November and took basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Dixon.

Carl Raymond Kolker EMFA, who returned to the U.S. Naval Training Station recently after spending a leave here, is now a patient at the Naval Hospital in the U.P. brought us the news, although we knew he wasn't around... the squeak of the brakes on the milk truck hadn't awakened us recently...

DID YOU notice the picture of the missing yacht, the Tyree, which with its owner, Philip Atwood of Chicago has been missing on Lake Michigan after leaving Chicago Sept. 12... It wasn't hard to tell from the background of the picture that it was taken in the Charlevoix harbor for there, big as life, was Booth's Fisheries, now Belling's and Ward's market. Incidentally, our Coast Guard was alerted to be on the look-out for the boat... but it never got this far north...

IT ISN'T the yellow rose of Texas you hear about every day... but it is a beautiful yellow Peace rose which we've been enjoying recently... especially since flowers have been so scarce this year... Like so many fall roses, it's ever so lovely... as a result of the hard work expended by our brother, Claire, whose roses are his pride and joy... If we had more than one we'd share it with you... Just as Patsy Ratigan did the other day when she brought by a lovely bouquet of fall flowers... Maybe it's because they're the last flowers we'll see for a long while but the fall flowers seem ever so much prettier than the others...

THE Charlevoix Courier this week lost its oldest rural news correspondent, Mrs. Clyde Smith, who died early Sunday after a long illness... She'd been with the Courier for 40 years and during those years one might say she wrote the history of the Barnard community... its triumphs and its heart-aches, the big stories and the little items... all of which were important to that community... In addition she was a part of the heart of the community... her work in the church and in the school will long be remembered... Her original poems which she loved to write have been the highlight of many an occasion at the church or school or anniversary party... Her passing marks the neighborliness, work in the church and community and devotion to one's family were the important things... The Courier has lost a faithful helper... We are among those who feel we have lost a real friend...

Michigan Milk Production Goes Up Five Per Cent

Michigan's milk production rose 5 per cent in the past ten years even though the milk cow population decreased 15 per cent during the same period, R. G. Warmbold, Michigan representative of the American Can Company, reported today.

Improved feeding and dairying methods bringing about greater productivity per cow were advanced by Warmbold as one of the major reasons for the increased output.

The 5.6 billion pounds of milk produced on Michigan farms in 1954 helped set an all-time national record of 123.5 billion pounds, said the official of the can company which annually produces hundreds of millions of paper milk containers. Michigan farmers shared in milk receipts totaling about $199 million, he added.

This national record, Warmbold said, was produced by 12 per cent fewer milk cows than were in America's farms in 1944, when the cow population was at a record total of 25.6 million cows. However, Warmbold pointed out, the 22.4 million cows in 1954 produced an average of 5,512 pounds of milk each, almost a thousand pounds more than the 1944 cows.

Accepted Orchard Practice Found Wrong By Test

Scientists at the Michigan State University Experiment Station have found it untrue when it comes to providing or disproving statements. Take this case:

For many years fruit growers believed that clean cultivation of orchards would bring the best results. But it took 25 years to prove to everyone's satisfaction that the statement was wrong. Horticulturists at MSU reported in the current issue of The Quarterly Bulletin that a sod mulch cover was much better than clean cultivation for Bartlett pear orchards.

The sod mulch cover actually retarded tree growth and fruit production for the first 12 years, however. But from then on the trunks grew larger and the trees produced more fruit than did the clean cultivated plot.

At the end of the 25-year test at the Grafton Experiment Station, Grand Rapids, the fertilized sod mulch had produced 1,136 more bushels of fruit. And the sodded trees had 80 per cent more fruit above two and a half inches during the six years the fruit was under a grading test.

Then, too, the sod mulch cover practically eliminated water loss in the orchard. And the condition of the soil in the cultivated plot got worse as time went on. The compacted soil caused runoff, making a drouthy subsoil. So fruit size suffered when rainfall was short.

The horticulturists found essentially the same was true for apple orchards. For cherries they conducted a leaf analysis. This showed a much better fertility level in favor of the sod mulch culture.

Geologists say the White Pine ore body in Michigan's Upper Peninsula is the largest known undeveloped copper reserve in America.

More Light Hours Will Keep Hens In Production

Smaller number of daylight hours means a shorter working day for the poultry laying flock. Now is the time to begin using electric lights to lengthen the day for the layer, according to J. M. (Mac) Moore, extension poultry specialist at Michigan State University.

Additional light in the laying house is especially valuable for keeping old hens in production when days get shorter. Moore says it's easier to keep them laying than to bring them back to production. Pullets that have been laying for a month or so may also go into a slump because of the shorter days.

Electric lights should be used in the morning or evening to make a total of 13 or 14 hours of light daily on the floor of the laying house. Morning lights don't require a dimming device but evening lights do. The dimming device is necessary so the birds can find their way to the perches.

Moore recommends 25 watts of light per 100 square feet. Light should be well distributed over the entire house, both on the floor and feeding area as well as the roosts. Use reflectors above the light bulbs, too, so that the ceiling does not absorb too much of the light.

Lights should be used regularly throughout the entire season. If not, the birds may moult and interrupt egg production.

Traffic Fatalities For July '55 Take 11 Per Cent Drop

The upward trend in Michigan traffic deaths that extended over four consecutive months was broken in July with a reduction of eleven per cent under July of last year, according to the Michigan State Police monthly report. Injuries and the total number of reported accidents, however, again increased.

There were 162 persons who lost their lives in July, 20 less than a year ago.

Injuries increased 13 per cent, or from 3,054 to 3,472, while accidents went up five per cent from 14,455 to 15,111. Nearly all of the increase in accidents occurred in rural areas.

The record for the first seven months of this year includes 1,037 persons killed, 32,685 injured and 105,336 reported accidents. Deaths are up eleven per cent from 938, injuries increased eight per cent from 30,331 and accidents gained two per cent from 103,289.

For the same period rural areas, which are accounting for an increasing proportion of the accident problem, reported more than 75 per cent of the deaths, over 44 per cent of the injuries and nearly 24 per cent of all reported accidents.

Mileage traveled for the first six months of this year, the latest figure available, was 142 billion, an increase of nine per cent over 13 billion in the same period last year. The death rate of 6.2 per 100 million miles of travel was up seven per cent.

A new variety of leaf lettuce, called Tendergreen, has been developed at MSU. It combines the good features of both Grand Rapids and Bibb varieties and will boost yields in both home garden and greenhouse.

Low pork prices are predicted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture during the coming fall and winter due to the big pig crop last spring. Michigan State nutritionists remind you to cook pork slowly and thoroughly. You may want your beef served rare, but never serve pork any other way but well done.

The Public is invited to visit our shelter, still under construction due to lack of funds to complete it. Attend our regular monthly meetings and SEE WHAT IS BEING DONE about Charlevoix County dog problem. . . YOUR INTEREST and suggestions may be a means of making our services better.

The Society supported entirely by voluntary contributions and $1 per year or more membership dues, is short more than $3,000.00 of their proposed budget for this year's operations. They are filling intentions to raise funds by public solicitation in order to keep their program in effect.

Complete financial and working budgets and records have been made available to City of Charlevoix and their officials.

Don't be fooled by believing there is NO DOG PROBLEM . . . or that the Humane Society is not doing anything about it.

BETTER HUMANE SUPPORT will bring you BETTER HUMANE SERVICES. You'll be glad your county has an animal shelter.

PUBLIC INVITED

MICHIGAN'S hard-pressed taxpayers took a breather of a sort when Gov. Williams disclosed an $18 million surplus. But they still kept paying.

The governor said that the increase in collections and a number of economies in state government had built up the surplus from the dust of a 65 million deficit two years ago.

It was at this point of fiscal desperation that the legislature passed the $30 million a year business activities tax. A business boom did the rest.

Republicans said this year's surplus would be more like $13 million. Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), chairman of the House taxation committee said:

"The governor seems to be optimistic. Seers at the Capitol immediately predicted that agencies which have been pleading for years for more cash to run their services would renew their requests and the surplus would vanish."

"THERE WILL never be a tax reduction in state government," said one bureau chief. "Services may expand, and more people may be hired, but no less money will be required."

Gov. Williams took the opportunity to blast Republicans in the legislature for piling down his appeal for more building money for state colleges and universities.

Republicans said the problems couldn't be solved with mere money, that a complete survey of needs of higher education should be undertaken.

The study is now underway under the direction of Senator Don Vander Werp (R-Fremont), chairman of the Senate education committee.

"We'll have something for the 1956 legislature," he said.

ANCIENT PROBLEM of what to do with an overflow of mentally retarded children is coming home to roost.

The governor is getting ready to call a special session of the legislature late in October to cope with the same issues that have bothered lawmakers in regular sessions for years.

The story has been told many times. There are more than 1,800 youngsters with mental problems who cannot be admitted to Lapeer Home and Training School because it already is overcrowded.

"Commitments have become a farce because there's no place to send these unfortunate," said a mental health expert.

During the last session, committees of both the House and Senate fought over bills which would take over tuberculosis hospitals at Grayling and Howell for the care of mentally retarded children.

The battles were fought and lost. Tuberculosis officials pleaded that the space would be needed if those who already had contracted the disease could be found.

GRISLY PROBLEM of traffic death will also be considered at the special session. An 11% increase in the number of fatalities for the first seven months of 1955 over last year was announced by State Police. This apparently convinced the governor that no more time can be lost before taking action.

The legislators will again be asked to pass laws which will tighten driver licensing, reduce highway speeds and provide funds to maintain files of driver records. Existing law provides for files but money must be appropriated if records are to be kept properly.

These and other laws have been recommended in past years by the State Safety Commission, but proposals frequently became enmeshed in politics.

FARM GROUPS have taken new heart in their campaign to move the state fair out of Detroit.

For years the drive has waxed hot and cold with charges flying that the Detroit fair is "a carnival" and that farmers have little opportunity to display their products in the proper atmosphere.

Latest impetus to the take-the-fair-outside campaign came with Michigan State University's centennial farm equipment exposition which drew thousands to the campus.

It was the first test of an out-state function devoted exclusively to farmers and their equipment.

The campaign to move the fair out of Detroit is getting hotter by the day," said George B. McIntyre, state director of agriculture.

Opponents of the idea say that the engineering and industrial exhibits, the sideshows and midway at Detroit is what makes the state fair solvent.

After years of deficits, the fair is now earning a small sum or "at least it's paying for itself," said McIntyre.

The final decision rests with the legislature, however, and its membership is still outstated-minded, though Detroit and other metropolitan areas are gaining in influence.

GOVERNMENT reform is continuing in Michigan, though the approach is slightly changed this year.

For five years, the Legislative Committee on State Government

Issue Injunction Against Grazing

LANSING — The people of Michigan secured a temporary restraining injunction this week against a livestock owner whose cattle grazed on state land in Oscoda county.

Judge Herman Dehnke authorized the injunction in Oscoda circuit court at Tawas City to freeze the problem of grazing trespass until a trial can be held. The cattle of defendant Charles Galbraith, Mio, were impounded for grazing on public land in 1954 and 1955.

No date has been set for the trial.

Reform has been operating as a research group, studying ways to improve the functions of state government.

There have been a number of notable ideas written into law for the agencies.

"That function is now finished and we must promote some of the other ideas we have developed," said Senator Frank Andrews (R-Hillman). He is chairman of the committee working for acceptance of new ideas. Among them: Abolition of the state superintendent of public instruction and the auditor general as elective offices.

...Makes a Man Healthy, Wealthy—and Tired!

Sandy Peterson's nephew Pete has gone back to college. He worked on Sandy's farm a couple of months last summer to get hardened up for football.

He seemed to enjoy farm life all right—but like most city kids it took him some time to get used to a farmer's schedule.

Sandy claims that when he went in to wake Pete—on the first morning—the boy looked up startled and asked what time it was. Sandy replied it was four fifteen. "Gee," Pete murmured, "if we're going to do a day's work tomorrow you'd better get to bed!"

From where I sit, we must have heard a million stories like that. But they show how some people assume their customs are the only proper ones. To most city folks getting up at 4:15 seems odd, because they don't do it. Just like some people don't think enjoying a glass of beer is "right" ... because they happen to prefer another beverage and haven't waked up to the fact that everyone has a right to his own choice.

Rayder halfback Garry Vandenberg (35), extreme left, pictured as he evaded Rogers City's end, Tom Paulus (29), for a substantial gain in the Rayder-Huron game at Rogers City Friday. Moving in ahead of Vandenberg to take out halfback Ron Idalski (15), who scored twice against the Rayders, is halfback Kenny Balch (12) with center Walt Poquette (51) and Wayne Sundberg (61) also caught in action. The Rayders lost to the Class B Huron squad by a score of 13-0.

All Conference Teams Will Go Into Action This Weekend

The Northern Michigan Class C league will officially open its league schedule this week as all eight teams play loop rivals for the first time.

Most everyone agrees that the race for the 1955 title will be closer than it has been in the past with six of the eight teams strong contenders for the title now held by Charlevoix.

On the basis of returning lettermen and their past performance, Bozoyne City, Pellston and Grayling are considered by most to be the top rated teams with Charlevoix, Gaylord and Mancelona giving all comers plenty of competition. Despite their inexperienced squads, Harbor Springs and East Jordan may turn out to be spoilers, giving a good accounting of themselves before the current season is over.

This week East Jordan will host Grayling in an afternoon game scheduled for 3 p.m. Friday. In night games Bozoyne City will play at Mancelona. Pellston will travel to Gaylord and Charlevoix will entertain Harbor Springs.

Coach Larry Baumann is planning to send a veteran team against East Jordan Friday, fielding eleven seasoned players. His line which will average 170 pounds will include ends, Mel Luter and Don Roberts; tackles, Ole Carlson and Lawrence Canfield; guards, Jim Parkinson, Steve Jorgenson, a former back, or Keith Warner with Orlin Lucksted playing center.

In the backfield will be Gary Parkinson at quarterback; Gary Worden, who was sidelined midway in the season last year with a foot injury, and Bill Kenyon or Dick Moore, halfbacks; and Lloyd Failing, fullback, Ron Kellogg, a back, Bill Holzman, Clare Madison and Paul Barry, a transfer from Midland, also are expected to see some action.

At East Jordan the Red Devils, who were defeated 32-2 by St. Ignace Saturday, are licking their wounds and looking for replacements for injured players. Quarterback Larry Woodcock, who suffered a shoulder injury in Saturday's game, is out of the line-up and Tuesday Coach Gayle Saxton had not named a substitute for the position. Veteran center Dick Johnson will be moved to the right halfback position in an effort to bolster the backfield and Jerry Harrington, who was out earlier with an elbow injury, will replace Alva Noirt at left end. Noirt is out with a leg injury.

Unless they recover from early injuries and draft some recruits, East Jordan is expected to be easy prey for the stronger, more experienced Grayling Vikings.

The Bozoyne City Ramblers received a blow this week when they learned that they would not have veteran quarterback Bob Fitzpatrick in the line-up when they go against Mancelona Friday. Fitzpatrick who had a tonsillectomy at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey Saturday was still hospitalized Wednesday. Coach Phil Pfahler, faced with finding a replacement, said he planned to send sophomore Doug Newville into the line-up for Fitzpatrick.

The remainder of the backfield will include Gary Newville, a regular lineman who has been shifted to the backfield in place of Ron Holowasko who is benched with a foot infection. Charles Stocker and Carl Sharon fullback and left halfback respectively.

In the line he plans to start Murray Northup and John Judny. Neils Northup, tackles; Bill Nulph, at end positions, Ed Barden and a former back, and Ray Mathers, guards and in Camburn, center. Rick Casper and Ronnie Hobbs will play in the defensive line-up with Bob Miller and Jerry Follitt, linemen, seeing some action.

When the Ramblers, playing their first game of the season, meet Matt Jackson's Ironmen who have a 46-0 win over Lake City to their credit, they are going to find the going rough and will have to give their best to stay on top of the heap.

Pellston is the third team to be playing its initial game Friday when they meet the Gaylord Blue Devils who won over Tawas Area 12-0 last week.

Coach Ray Brown has a number of regulars and lettermen from last year's team from which to pick his starting line-up which is expected to include ends Dale Drier and Pat Cabinaw with Len Overstreet replacing the latter on defense; tackles, Don Budinski and Jack Schlosser; guards, Ralph Betterly and Bruce Spray and center Bill Mallory.

In the backfield he plans to start Ron Keiser and Frank Dur-

Last Week With Class 'C' Teams

Five Northern Michigan Class C teams opened their 1955 football season against non-conference opponents last weekend.

In games played Friday night Charlevoix was defeated by Rogers City 13-0; Mancelona trounced Lake City 46-0 and Gaylord downed Tawas Area 12-0. On Saturday St. Ignace over-ran East Jordan by a score of 32-2 and Harbor Springs was damaged by Petoskey St. Francis 19-18.

Mancelona 46 Lake City 0

At Lake City the Ironmen had a field day as they scored at will over a Lake City eleven which offered little opposition to the Mancelona squad.

Left halfback Charles Devereux scored twice in the first quarter on runs of 30 and 25 yards with Ed Sutter kicking the extra points.

Quarterback Galen Christopher scored from the 5-yard line on a line plunge and fullback Gary Shisler intercepted a Lake City pass and went 55 yards to score in the second period. Sutter's successful conversion made the score 28-0 as the half ended.

Halfback Dick Cantrell went 50 yards and end Fayze Jabara went 35 yards on a pass from third-string quarterback Ronnie Johnson in the third period with Sutter kicking the extra point following Cantrell's TD. The kick was wide on the second try.

Halfback Tom Councillor added the final touchdown in the last period when he scored from the 12-yard line.

Gaylord 12 Tawas Area 0

Left halfback Jim Glasser accounted for both Gaylord touchdowns, going over from the one-yard line on the last play of the first quarter and running 66 yards midway in the last period on a pitch out from quarterback Mike McKillop. Dale Middle-ditch threw the key block which opened the way for the long run.

The kick for the extra point in the last period was stopped short of the goal line.

Lineman Herb VanGilder was killed in the halfback position; Clark Marshall or Jim Robinson, a transfer from Dearborn at fullback and Harry Ball or Basil Naganashre in the signal-calling position.

Garth Spencely and Robinson also may play defensive guard and Bob Wallace, a transfer from Rockford, may join the line-up as a line-backer on defense.

Pellston and Gaylord are both rated among the top teams so this game should be close. Gaylord with its non-loop victory posted an 8-0 record and is in shape for the game, which will be a grudge battle all the way with the Hornets out to even old scores.

Charlevoix will host Harbor Springs to open the league schedule. Both teams were tested by non-conference opponents last week. Charlevoix bowing to Rogers City 13-0 and Harbor Springs losing to Petoskey St. Francis by one point, 19-18.

The Rayders will be defending their title for the first time when they meet the Rams. This should though they can expect plenty of competition from Coach Hank Irspire them on to victory against the Rams, who have come a long way under his tutelage.

At this time the race for the 1955 title is wide open. Games this weekend, however, are expected to bring all eight contenders into the proper focus.

Lose First Game To Rogers City By 13-0

The Charlevoix Rayders will defend their Northern Michigan Class C title for the first time this season when they meet the Harbor Springs Rams at Kipke Field at 8 p.m. Friday.

In their opening games both the Rayders and the Rams lost to non-league opponents, Charlevoix losing to Class B Rogers City 13-0 and Harbor Springs bowing to Petoskey St. Francis 19-18.

Coach Dan Carey said this week that he is planning to send the same starting line-up against Harbor Springs as he used in the opener last week. This will include Guy Swanson and Charlie Dennis at the end positions; Gary Smith and Bruce Bergman at tackle; Joe Etienne and Wayne Sundberg at the guard positions and Walt Poquette at center.

In the backfield it will be Quint Walker at quarterback; Garry Vandenberg at fullback and Clayt Walker and Kenny Balch in the halfback spots.

Bernard Schrader Wins Honors In Indiana Matches

The Michigan State Police pistol team finished in a tie for second place in the 22, placed third in the .45 and fourth in the 38 caliber team matches of the ninth annual Indiana invitational pistol matches at Putnamville, Ind., recently. Four of their shooters, however, were individual first place winners.

Among them were Sgt. Don A. Rowners of the Seventh district headquarters who is well known in northern Michigan and Trooper Bernard F. Schrader of the Brighton Post, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Schrader Sr.

In the expert class, Trooper Schrader took top honors in the 22-caliber national match course with a 267 score.

Among the experts Trooper Schrader's 196 netted a second place finish in the 38 caliber time fire match.

Sidelined in the last quarter with a badly sprained ankle,

Tawas never threatened.

St. Ignace 32 East Jordan 2

The East Jordan Red Devils scored only two points against St. Ignace, when they trapped Al Frazier in the end zone early in the last period.

St. Ignace scored in each period during the game, racking up five touchdowns against a young and inexperienced East Jordan eleven.

Right halfback Kalbfleisch took the opening kick-off and ran 75 yards to score the first touchdown. He added a second TD midway in the last period when he picked up a fumble on his own 30 and scored.

In the second period quarterback McLeod scored from the three on a quarterback sneak with Kalbfleisch running the extra point over. Frazier scored in the third quarter on a pass from McLeod in a play that covered 25 yards and again from the 15 yard line in the last period on a reverse. Accorner kicked the extra point following the last TD.

Petoskey St. Francis 19 Harbor Springs 18

The Harbor Springs Rams rolled up a 12-0 lead over the visiting St. Francis Crusaders Saturday night before the latter caught fire in the second period.

Early in the first period halfback Kent Talcott scored from the two-yard line following a long drive and in the second period end Don Lauer intercepted a pass on his own 42 and went the distance to add a second TD to give the Rams a 12-0 lead.

Later in the period, however, the Crusaders put on a drive which took them to the Rams' eight yard line from where Terry Bremmeyer went over to make the half-time score 12-6.

Ed Stowe and Francis Cousins scored on line plunges in the third period and Terry Glaser kicked the extra point to give the Petoskey squad the important one-point margin in the final score.

Harbor fullback Jack Meyer

In the last week's games Fred Putman played at end; Charles Pierce at tackle; John Bascom and Dave Arnold at guard; Kit Carson at center and Terry Davis in the backfield. These players and others may see action again this week.

Coach Carey said that although he was not satisfied with the team's performance against Rogers City, he felt that the team had learned a lot. This week will be spent strengthening weak spots and working at bettering both their offensive and defensive attacks.

In last week's game it was halfback Ron Idalski who scored both touchdowns against the Rayders, the first coming early in the game and the second the first play of the last period.

In the last period the Rayders marched to the Rogers two-foot line but lacked the punch to move the ball into pay-dirt.

Vandenberg kicked off to Rogers City to open the game. On a series of three first downs the Hurons moved the ball to the four-yard line with Idalski carrying it into the end zone for the touchdown. The kick for the extra point went wide.

Charlevoix took the Huron kick and returned it to the 45 yard line where they started a drive that moved them to the Rogers 14 yard line where they lost possession on downs. The first quarter ended two plays later with Rogers City in possession of the ball on their own 16 yard line.

Rogers moved the ball to mid-field on two first downs but were forced to kick when the Rayder defense held. Taking the ball on their own nine, the Rayders on a series of line plays and a pass moved out to the Rogers 46 but were set back to their own 39 when an illegal full handler took a Rayder pass.

Charlevoix was forced to kick from their own 35 after losing four yards and Rogers took over on their 30 yard line. On the next play the Rayders recovered a Rogers fumble and were in possession of the ball when the half ended two plays later.

Rogers City kicked off to the Rayders to open the second half. In a series of plays which started on the Rayder 35 Charlevoix moved their ball eight yards when quarterback Leo Promo intercepted a Rayder pass. Rogers moved to the Rayder 19 before a 15-yard penalty set them back to the 34 yard line. The Rayders took over when Rogers failed to pick up yardage and lost the ball on downs on the 26 yard line.

The Rayders moved out to their own 45 yard line but had to kick on fourth down. An offside penalty plus a 15-yard penalty for unnecessary roughness and a number of line plays moved the ball to the Rayder five yard line as the third quarter ended.

On the second play of the final quarter, Idalski scored from the three yard line with Gerald Macks kicking the extra point to give the Hurons a 13-0 advantage.

The Rayders started a deter after taking the kick-off. On a series of running plays and a pass Charlevoix moved to the Rogers six but an off-side penalty set them back to the 11. On a second try they moved to the Rogers two-foot line but the Rogers defense held and the Hurons took the ball on downs.

Rogers City kicked from their own five after they failed to pick up a first down. Charlevoix lost possession of the ball after Rogers intercepted a pass. The Rogers drive was soon halted, however, when the Rayders intercepted a Huron Pass on their own 15 yard line. Charlevoix picked up a first down and had moved the ball to their own 40 yard line when the game ended.

scored the Rams' final touchdown but the kick for the extra point was blocked. Harbor Springs was on the Crusaders' nine-yard line when the game ended.

In-Memoriam

In loving memory of my father, Mr. John Durance, who passed away May 1, 1954.

A year ago the month of May, You left me Dad, and went away. I know you're happy, contented, 't' be.

But Dad, oh Dad, how I miss you. Each time I hear your favorite songs. It seems the world has all gone wrong.

For it should be your voice I hear And sometimes you seem very near.

Your old violin you loved to play Is carefully wrapped and put away.

It's a part of you I cannot share Since I brought it home and put it there.

Now with Sis, Mother and brothers three, A happy reunion up there it must be.

Your prayers are answered and for you I'm glad, But I miss you down here so very much, Dad.

His daughter, Pearl.
